P R E F A C E.

The accompanying catalogue of maps, published by the Government of India, has been compiled principally from a series of provincial catalogues, issued recently by the Surveyor General's Department in India, and presents a complete synopsis of the Government geographical publications on sale in England and in India.

The Indian Atlas being the principal standard work based upon the great trigonometrical survey, the opening pages of this catalogue are devoted to a descriptive statement of each sheet and quarter sheet, giving the date of the last edition of each at present published. Maps of India, complete in themselves (general, special, and statistical) together with some miscellaneous maps, follow, and after these in succession the provincial divisions of India and Burma, in alphabetical order, each province exhibiting its general, divisional, and district maps as far as published, as well as the standard sheets of the one-inch scale provincial series, embracing the whole of the district and Native State surveys that have been completed within each Province.

At page 145 some Frontier Maps will be found which were received after the earlier pages of this catalogue had been printed, and these could not therefore be inserted in their proper place at page 27. An Appendix (No. 1) is also attached, containing a list of maps received after the catalogue had been completed. These are not therefore included in the Index. Similar Appendices will be issued quarterly.

As regards the provincial series of Standard Sheets, in many instances the sheet in its complete form is not yet published, but contributory portions from the separate surveys of such districts or Native States as it may include, only are available; as, for example, Sheet No. 255, of the Bengal Standard Series, p. 57, covers portions of the districts of Malda, Sonthal Parganas, and Murshidabad, but, as shown in the list, these contributory portions are at present only available in three separate sheets. Although for convenience the provincial sheet number only is quoted, any contributory sheet can be supplied as a separate item.

To secure identity, the orthography of the geographical titles on the maps is reproduced in this catalogue, and in many instances will be found at variance with the now recognized official rendering, but in all cases where marked disparity exists between the old and new systems of spelling the name is given in both ways in the index.

In the accompanying catalogue a reference number precedes the title of each map kept in stock at the India Office, and to ensure identity, as well as to facilitate ready compliance with applications for maps, it is requested that in all cases the reference number and page, together with the title, scale, and price of each map required, may be quoted.

F. C. DANVERS,
Registrar and Superintendent of Records.

India Office,
1st August 1891.
