STUDIA INSTITUTI ANTHROPOS

VOL. 9

JOSEPH F. ROCK

Research Fellow, Harvard-Yenching Institate, Cambridse, Mace.

The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}$ 'mä Funeral Ceremony of the ${ }^{\mathbf{N}} \mathrm{Na}^{\text {² }} \mathrm{khi}$ of Southwest China

Described and translated from ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{khi}$ manuscripts

PUBLISHED BY ST. GABRIEL'S MISSION PRESS VIENNA-MODLING 1955

First reprinting 1972, Johnson Reprint Corporation

TABLEOFCONTENTS

Preface ..... IX
Bibliography ..... XIIIBooks chented at the ${ }^{\mathbf{Z}} \mathrm{Zhi}$ mia Ceremony ..... XV
Introduction ..... 1
 Ceremony ..... 6
Preliminary Rites ..... 6
Tranalation of the ${ }^{\text {Zhi }}{ }^{8}$ mil manu-scripts17
${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ ggo ${ }^{2}$ ddu-1 ${ }^{1}$ mun ..... 19
${ }^{1}$ Dsu- ${ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ la ..... 20
 ..... 22
 ..... 49
Div 'ts'u ..... 104

for men) ..... 107
${ }^{2}$ Te'u ${ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}$ (porformed for women) 125
${ }^{2}$ Mup ${ }^{1} \mathbf{g k u}$ ..... 132
${ }^{1}$ Mun ${ }^{2} \operatorname{miu}{ }^{2} f f$ ŭ ..... 138
 ..... 145
 ..... 148
${ }^{1} Y$ ü ${ }^{2}$ ndzi ${ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{mi}$, ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ haw ${ }^{1}{ }^{\text {shi }}$ ..... 152
${ }^{2}$ A ${ }^{2}$ ndaí ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ ..... 160
${ }^{2} 0^{2}$ ndaí ${ }^{3}$ mi, "gkv- ${ }^{8}$ chung ..... 161 $\left.{ }^{2}\right)^{2} n d z i{ }^{2} m i,{ }^{2}$ man- ${ }^{2}$ chung ..... 168

${ }^{8}$ chung ..... 169
 ${ }^{2}$ chung ..... 172
 ..... 174
 ..... 179
 ..... 182
 ..... 184
${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{\text {Its'ï }}{ }^{\text {Edenu }}$ ..... 186
 ..... 188
 ..... 195
${ }^{1}$ Ndshěr ${ }^{2}$ ndaǐ ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{mi}$, ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv-}{ }^{\mathbf{B}}$ chung ..... 199
End of Ceremony (Third day) ..... 210
${ }^{1}$ Lä."ch'ou ${ }^{1}$ ndehi ..... 211
 ..... 212
 ..... 214
${ }^{3}$ Ta'u- ${ }^{2}$ bsi ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzèr ${ }^{\mathbf{E}}$ t'u ..... 814
${ }^{2}$ Tean- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ng} \mathrm{V}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}$ 'u ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{p}$ 'u ..... 214
 ..... 214
 ..... 214
${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i, ${ }^{3}$ mang. ${ }^{2}$ chung ..... 215
${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Nyi}^{-2}$ wùa ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ch}$ 'wus ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{d}$ ü ..... 220
${ }^{1}$ Dty ${ }^{3} \mathbf{k h i}$ ..... 224
Appendix ..... 229

LIST OF PLATES

Plate ll ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k h i}$ armor worn by warriors during the $\mathrm{Nan}_{\text {chat }}$ (Kingdom).
Plate III ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-\cdot^{1} \mathrm{lo} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{dto} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}$ a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ burial ground of the Ming dynasty.

Plate $V$ Mo-so Spirit houses in La-wa-t'ang on the Gangs-dkar-gling Snow-range, west of Mu-li.

Plate VII The Seven golden Mountains and Seven blue Lakes of the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{H a}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{p}$ 'i.
Flate VIII Indraloka, the City of Indra and the elephant with the 33 heads.
Plate IX The ${ }^{1} \mathbf{H a -} \boldsymbol{2}^{2} y .^{2}$ boa. ${ }^{2}$ daw ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr or Wish-granting tree, the abode of the Garuda.

PREFACE

When I returned to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Land in 1946 under the auspices of Harvard. Yenching, it was my intention to remain there until I had once more translated the most outstanding texts of the most important ceremonies performed by the ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbas}$, at least one of each of the more alient groups as outlined in my ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi} \mathrm{Na}$ aga Cult, pp. 25-30 inclusive.

I commenced with their most primitive rite which they undoubtedly performed when they had no ${ }^{2}$ Dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas or priests, and when they were still nomads of the grasslands of Eastern Tibet. I refer to the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mu} \dot{\mathrm{an}}{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathrm{b}} \mathrm{bp} \ddot{O}_{\text {Ceremony or the }}$ Propitiation of Heaven. This was published in the XIIIth Volume of Monumenta Serica in Peking, but that particular volume hardly saw the light of day for the Fu-jen University and its press were taken over by communist elements before that volume could be distributed, although separata of my paper had been sent out before that event took place. In order that the paper should have a wider circulation it was reprinted by permission in the Annali Lateranensi of Vatican City (Rome), Vol. XVI, 1952, pp. 9-153.

The next in order of the larger ceremonies were the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k h i}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ss}_{\mathrm{su}}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{ddii}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{g} v$ (Naga Cult) and its related minor rites and the purification ceremony ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'ou ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{1}$ gv. These were published by Professor G. Tucci in Is. M. E. O., Serie Orientale Roma, IV, parts I and II, pp. 1-806, Plates 1-58.

Subsequent in line are the many ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Funeral Ceremonies and the numerous manuscripts pertainig to them, which I knew contained much of the greatest interest, and would reveal more data in regard to their ancient customs than almost any other of the $\mathbf{1 2 0}$ odd rituals. Furthermore these funeral riten have been less and less in demand since the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2} k h i}$ adopted the Chinese mode of burial in 1723 . However, the main funeral ceremony ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}$, performed for everyone no matter what his standing, was still carried out by the more orthodox ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, and it was my priviledge to attend several of them as well as the funeral rite of the wife of a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, when ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mun}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ was painstakingly enacted, the ceremony lasting five days.

After we had finished the translations of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Zhi}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{mä}$ manuscripts, Li-chiang was first threatened to be captured by over 5000 bandits who had already seized all the towns immediately to the south of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Land and thus encircled the region, and later the entire district fell into communist hands in July 1949. To continue work under such circumstances, when my ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas fled for fear of reprisals, became impossible.

During the time I translated ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2} k h i}$ literature I compiled a ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k h i}$ dictionary the loss of which was prevented by having it photostated in 1940 which copy was left in the United States while the original was sunk by the Japanese with all my other translations, notes, texts, etc., in 1944 while in transit to the States from Calcutta.

The dictionary was continually added to and corrected, up to the last minute in Li-chiang, even during the month I stayed under Communist rule. This time fortunately I lost nothing and was permitted to depart with all my material, for the Reds were local Reds, and the real Reds from the North had not yet taken over.

The present volume, to the publication of which Harvard-Yenching Institute made a financial ${ }_{j}^{j}$ contribution, proffers translations of all the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Z h i}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathbf{m a}$ manuscripts with notes on other funerals, and a translation of an ancient ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ funeral song, probably the last of that type sung in Li-chiang.

That the performing of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ ceremonies has been prohibited there can be no doubt, for it was every ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba's aim to disassociate himself as quickly as possible from his former office, and the performance of religious rites stopped immediately.

Of outstanding interest are the ceremonies ${ }^{3} D t o{ }^{1} n a{ }^{3} k$ ' $\ddot{a}$, akin to the ancient Bön ITo ceremony, and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hǎra}^{2}{ }^{2} a_{-1}{ }^{1} \| \ddot{u}{ }^{3} k$ 'ö for the propitiation of suicides, both very elaborate rituals which it will still be possible for me to prepare for publication as I have saved notes on the enacting of both, and the texts, already once translated by me, are to me still readable. Complete sets of ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ manuscripts, either originals or photostats, of all the enumerated ceremonies are still in my possession.

Notwithstanding this expressed hope, I fear that the present volume will be the last to bring complete translations of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ manuscripts, for I have come to realize that owing to the mnemonic type of writing it becomes impossible to supply the missing parts without the help of a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mb}$, and no dictionary, no matter how complete, will prove to be of any help. Were their texts fully written out either in pictographs or in syllabic characters they would always be translatable, though the language used in the texts is not the colloquial of to-day; for the interpretation of these texts priests of my generation are of paramount importance, for they alone, or some of them, still possess the knowledge. The descendants of these priests who inherited the office were, even more than two decades ago, ashamed to admit that they were the sons of ${ }^{2}$ dto${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbas}$, and even denied in front of strangers being members of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}_{-}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ tribe and said they were Han jen = Chinese.

Very few of these sons of ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{}^{\mathrm{m}}$ bas were able to read even the most common texts, let alone explaining them.

I am glad that I was permitted to rescue what knowledge there was still scripts such as no single ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba possessed, it was possible when coming across a name, either of a god, spirit, ancestor or demon, to locate his or her origin in some particular manuscript. These biographies, if they might be so termed, are to be found in the over 1000 notes in The ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a -}^{\mathbf{2}} k h i \operatorname{Na} g a \operatorname{Cult}$ and related Ceremonies, and in those appended in this work.

Since this book was written I have gone through many of the more obscure ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} k h i$ manuscripts to ferret out additional names of gods, spirits, demons etc., and their origins, not in the dictionary compiled during fourteen years of translating (most of it lost, $v . s$.). While doing so I have, however, come to the conclusion and conviction that it will be impossible without the help of a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba to give further complete translations of ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$ manuscripta especially of those of a narrative type, for less than one third of a text is usually written. Even twentyfive years ago I found that old ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1}$ mbas were then no more able to easily read manuscripts pertaining to ceremonies performed not within their memory. Thus the remaining, untranslated literature of this interesting tribe will remain an enigma.

Something I will yet be able to save, and this through the study of duplicate manuscripts, for no $\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}}$ do- ${ }^{1}$ mba wrote a text exactly alike, unless it was copying an ancient manuscript borrowed from another ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{m b b a}^{\mathbf{m}}$. These duplicates are especially helpful when it comes to transcribing names of gods, spirits, etc.. and the names of their parents, for what syllables in their names are not written in one manuscript are written in others, and of ten we find that some more conscientious ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba has written the names fully in syllabic characters on the side of the figure representing god, demon, etc., very much like Kana is employed by the Japanese.

First of importance is however the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ dictionary of both syllabic and pictographic symbols, plus the entire ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathbf{k h i}$ Bön Iconography which belongs to it. I can only hope that I be spared the time to prepare it for the printer. Time is pressing, with my elimination finis will be written to any further work on ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2} k h i}$ ceremonies and their conjoint literature.

In conclusion I wish to thank Harvard-Yenching Institute of Cambridge, Mass. for the Fellowship awarded me which permitted me to return to Li chiang to continue the work of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ translations. My thanks are also due to the National Geographic Society of Washington D.C. for the use of photographs made by me while exploring under their auspices.

Joseph F. Rock

Seattle, Washington, June 28, 1953.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

Josepf F. Rock

1) SOF. The Story of the Flood in Journal West China Border Research Society (Chengtu) Vol. 7. 1935.
2) OTLB. The origin of the Tso-la booke of divination of the Na-khi in l. c., Vol. 8. 1936.
3) HL. Hë-la or the Killing of the Soul as practiced by Na-khi sorcorera in l.c., Vol. 8. 1936.
4) NMSM. The Nichole Mo-so Manuscript of the American Geographical Society in Geographical Revue (New York) Vol. XXVII, no 2. 1937.

 dExtrême-Orient (BEFE-O) t. XXXVII, fasc. 1. 1937.
5) BODMSL. Birth and Origin of Dto-mbe Shi-lo, the Founder of Mo-so Shamaniam escording to Mo-so Menuscripts in Artibue Asiae Vol. 7. 1937.
6) RKMGMG. The Romance of K'a-mü-gyu-mi-gkyi in BEFE-O g. v. o., t. XXXIX. 1939.
7) ANKSWC. The Ancient Na-khi Kingdom of South-west China. Memoire VII and VIII, of Harvard-Yenching Inatitate, Harvard Prees. 1947.
8) MBC. The Mùan ${ }^{1}$ bpö Ceremony or the Sacrifice to Heaven an practiced by the ${ }^{1}$ Na. ${ }^{2} k h i$ in Monumenta Serica, Vol. XIII, 1948. (Peking). Reprinted in Annali Lateranensi, Vol. XVI, Rome 1952, pp. 9-158.
9) NNCRC. The Ne-khi Näga Cult and related ceremonies in Serie Orientale Roma IV. If. M. E. O., 1952, Part I and Part II. Rome, Italy.
10) ZKTRL. The Zhy̌r-khin Tribo and their religious Litoratare in Monumama Sarica Vol. III., facc. 1. 1938. Peking.
11) DNFCONKW. The ${ }^{1} D^{\prime}$ ' ${ }^{\text {N }}$ v Funeral Coremony with special reference to the origin of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-k} \mathrm{kh}$ weapons in Anthropos, Vol. 50, 1955, fasc. 1-3.

By other authors

1) J. Bacot, Les Moso, Leiden, 1913.
2) W. Kirfel, Die Kosmographie der Inder, 1920.
3) A. H. Francke, gZer-myig a book of the Tibetan Bonpos in Asia Major, 1924, 1926, 1927, 1928.
4) W. Y. Evans-Wentz, The Tibetan Book of the Dead, 1927.
5) Johannes Schubert, Na-khi Piktographie, Notizen über eine wenig beachtete Bilderschrift in Buch und Papier, 1949 Leipzig, Harrassowitz, pp. 114-142.
6) H. Hoffmann, Quellen zur Geschichte der Tibetanischen Bon-Religion in Abhandlungen der Akademie der Wissenschaften und Literatur, Mainz 1950, no 4.
7) F.D.Lessing, Calling the Soul a Lamaist Ritual in Semitic and Oriental Studies, Vol. XI, 1951. Univ. Calif. Publ.
8) Marcelle Lalou, Rituel bon-po des funérailles royales in Journal Asiatique, t. CCXL, 1952, fasc. 3. pp. 339-361.
9) Dominik Schröder, Zur Religion der Tujen des Sininggebietes in Anthropos, Vol. 47, 1952, pp. 1-79, 620-658, 822-870; 48, 1953, pp. 202-259.

Books chanted at the ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{3}$ mä Ceremony

${ }^{1}$ La ${ }^{\text {Phini }}$ 2yi-1gyi Dhīrani or magic formulae

${ }^{1}$ Div 'tu'u or erect the ${ }^{1}$ div (tree)

(Sumera)
${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh ${ }^{8}$ anii or the killing of the ${ }^{2} M u n$ and ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh domons

${ }^{\text {s Ta'u }}{ }^{1}$ yi
${ }^{4}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ gku or present a life
${ }^{1}$ Mud ${ }^{2}$ miu ${ }^{2} f f u ̆$ dead (life) offering terminate

${ }^{2} \AA{ }^{2}$ ndxí ${ }^{\mathbf{m}} \mathrm{mi}$ or grain eaten forget

${ }^{3}$ Mun ${ }^{2}$ ndzi ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$, ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{2}$ chung or to have experienced death, forget, last part

${ }^{\mathbf{M}}$ Mbu ${ }^{1} \mathrm{na}{ }^{\text {Engy }}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3} \mathrm{p}$ ' i or to break the nine apurs

${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ ' i , ${ }^{2}$ gkr- ${ }^{\mathbf{8}}$ chung, the road the gode decide, first part

${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{-1}$ wùa ${ }^{1}$ dü or ${ }^{2}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ ddo ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dia}=$ the realra of hell
${ }^{2} Y i \cdot{ }^{8}$ ndaw ${ }^{1} d i i$

${ }^{1}$ Dit ${ }^{2} k h i$ or the lowering of the ${ }^{1}$ dtv (tree)

This book is only consulted, never dhanted.

INTRODUCTION

Enough has now been written about the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2} k \mathbf{k i}^{1}}$ that it is no more necessary to explain who they are and where they dwell. Suffice it to say that they are a branch of the Ch'iang [1]* who settled in the area they now occupy probably during the Han dynasty. In pre Han days the area was inhabited by the P'u [2] tribe from whom the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ ki wrested the land, driving the P 'u into the mountains where remnants have still survived as in the hsiang or commune of Nan-shan [3] which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ call ${ }^{9} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ Iä ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dü}$ or the land of the rabits, and especially in the former semi-independent Lama Kingdom of Mu-li [4] to the north of Yung-ning [5], where they call themselves P'ö-me or P'ron-me also Ch'ra-me; in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2}$ khi manuscripts they are called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}$ 'u- m mi and colloquially ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{2}$.

When the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ actually occupied what is now the Li-chiang district is difficult to say, but Chinese History ${ }^{3}$ relates that T'ung-an Chou [6], which existed before Li-chiang, was the old Han Dynasty Tso Kuo [7] and the land was called Sant'an [8] which recalls the Tibetan name of Li-chiang which is Sa-tham. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2}$ khi's protecting deity is Ssan-ddo or Ssa-ddo ${ }^{4}$ and he is none other than Sa-tham the king of the Jang (hJang or IJang), Ch'iang?, with whom Ke -sar fought battles.

The ${ }^{2}$ P'u were undoubtedly the original inhabitants of the region for the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ themselves refer to them in some of their manuscripts ${ }^{5}$ saying: "that before the birds were the trees had been born and before the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\mathrm{k}}$ " had settled the ${ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$ u were, where the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}$ 'u had settled it was unnecessary to look for food (elsewhere), neither did the birds have to look for a roost".

There are still the Mo-so to be accounted for; I believe that they are earlier immigrants than the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. Northeast of Li-chiang are genuine Mo-so, all the different So [9] or submilitary stations formerly in southwest Ssu-ch'uan (now Hei-k'ang) are inhabited by them and so is Yung-ning which [^0]adjoins them on the west, belonging to Yün-nan. The Mo-so have no written language, hence no literature whatever, and their language is so different from the Li -chiang ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ that they must converse in Chinese. They have no elaborate funeral ceremonies and what distinguishes them most of all from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} k h i$ is that they have no ceremony akin to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ khi ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu}$ una ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bpö}$ or Propitiation of Heaven, which the Ch'iang do have in almost the exact procedure as performed by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ ki; their sacred grove in which they hold the ceremony bears the same name in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ khi as in Ch'iang, ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{1}$ bpö ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime}$ a in the former and Muan-poh tah in the latter, yet the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ are separated from the Ch'iang by hundreds of miles of most difficult negotiable mountains and rivers, and furthermore the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ are ignorant of the existence of the Ch'iang and vice versa.

The Mo-so and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ in the Li-chiang district are apparently so intermarried that it is now impossible to distinguish the two, while the Yangtze which encloses the district has been a formidable barrier, formerly traversable only on inflated goatskins, has thus kept the Mo-so of Yung-ning and those of the Wu-so [10] native districts comparatively homogeneous. The Mo-so are also immigrants in the area in which they live. Old Chinese records relate that the land in ancient times was occupied by the T'u-fan (Tibetan tribes). In the Yung-pei Fu chih of the 30 th year of Chien-lung, (A.D. 1765) in chapt. 25, fol. 7a, it is related that at the end of the Han dynasty the ancestor of the A T'u-ssu [11] of Yung-ning, Ni-yüeh-wu [12] pacified the T'u-fan and occupied their territory. In chapt. 25 , fol. 10a, we read that the Mo-so are one tribe and that they have no family names. Not a word is said about the ceremony of the Propitiation of Heaven. In the Yün-nan T'ung chih of the 30th year of K'ang-hsi (A.D. 1691), chapt. 27, fol. 41b, we learn that the Mo-so put their dead into a bamboo basket, carried them to the foot of the hills and cremated them, noble or plebeian alike without distinction; nothing is said about any ceremonies.

The Li-chiang $F u$ chih lüeh of A. D. 1743, hsia, p. 34 states that the Li-chiang Mo-so (here the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{-2}$ khi must be understood) burn their dead but do not collect the bones until the first of the 11th moon when the families of deceased persons perform (what the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas call the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ) a funeral rite.

The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ khi, judging by the many funeral ceremonies, must have had a very well organised society, its members graduated according to rank. The priests or ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas apparently ranked first, followed by officers, victorious warriors, courageous men, and men who reached a ripe old age; all had their places in society. The same system of rank was adhered to for the women. There were funeral ceremonies for people who died unattended either on the battlefield, by accident, or suicide. The common funeral ceremony performed for all was ${ }^{8} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3} \mathrm{mä}$, all the books of which are here translated for the first time. With the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä manuscripts were chanted certain books which gave the name to the funeral ceremony that denoted the rank or status of the person for whom it was performed.

First in order is ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$, i.e., the funeral ceremony performed for ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ wu the Tibetan gShen-rab(b) mi-bo the founder of the Bön religion. The funeral is thus for a priest or ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto ${ }^{1} \mathbf{m b a}$ and is very elaborate.

Second: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}$ - ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ or the funeral ceremony for the wife of ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo; her name was ${ }^{3} \mathrm{D}_{8}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{I}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{zaw}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2}$ mun, it is performed for the wife of a priest or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mba}$.

 ${ }^{1}$ ddu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzi the father of the human ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ ) race, who reached a ripe old age, ${ }^{2}$ szī- ${ }^{1}$ shĕr $=$ life long; it is or was performed only for men who lived to over sixty years of age.

Fourth: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts} \mathbf{s}^{\prime} \mathbf{- ~}^{8}$ chwua- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mun}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~N} v$ or the funeral for
 It was performed for women who lived to over sixty years of age.

The above ceremony is also called ${ }^{2}$ Sxi $^{-1}$ shĕr- ${ }^{3}$ muñ- ${ }^{1}$ shi ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$ or Long life old age Funeral Ceremony.

Fifth: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$ or the funeral for a victorious man, who had overcome his enemy, or was victorious in combat.

Sixth: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}^{\prime}{ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{N}} \mathrm{N} v$ or the funeral ceremony for a fearless, courageous ( $={ }^{\mathbf{I}} \mathbf{d}^{\mathbf{\prime}} \mathbf{a}$ ) man or warrior.

Seventh: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbbǔ}{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime}$ a ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{N} v$ or the funeral ceremony for $u$ fearless, courageous woman.

Eighth: ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{M i}-{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{1} d z u}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$ a funeral ceremony for a man and his wife held for both at the same time. No ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{1}$ mba is keen to perform such a ceremony as it is considered unlucky.

Ninth: The ceremony generally called ${ }^{1} T \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$ or demon funeral ceremony, for a common person, man or woman, usually poor and undistinguished. It is called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~T} \mathrm{~s}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$, as a person after death is considered a demon before any sort of ceremony has been performed.

Tenth: ${ }^{1}$ Der ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ a funeral ceremony for a person who died unattended and usually accidentally.

Eleventh: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$ a funeral ceremony for lovers who have committed suicide. This ceremony is usually performed with ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hăr}{ }^{2} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ll}{ }^{2}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ 'on during which the souls of suicides are redeemed; it cannot take place at the death of suicides as they can usually not be found, and their spirits are propitiated when it is believed that because of neglect they have brought trouble to the families to which they belonged, and have caused illness or epidemics among domestic animals, etc.

There is also a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ or funeral ceremoney for a dog, and a ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Lo}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$, when the soul is escorted on a wooden slider across a rope bridge over a river.
 Each of these different funeral ceremonies had its given set of books which always were chanted in connection with the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä books.

The ${ }^{3}$ Ski- ${ }^{2} l o{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony for a priest or ${ }^{2}$ ito- ${ }^{1}$ mba lasted longest for a great deal of special paraphernalia was used as a black lake of the ${ }^{1}$ Ddv demons, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ 'o-'byus were made denoting the 18 realms of hell proper and their respective rulers, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}$ 'byes of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}$ terr demons of the four quarters, and the five regional demon kings etc. Effigies of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}$ sitting in a chair, over which ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ch'ĕr ( $=$ wash away impurities) was performed etc. Over 100 books were chanted in addition to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{\mathrm{s}}$ mä books.

Next of importance was the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi} \cdot{ }^{2}$ mun or ${ }^{3} \mathrm{D}^{\prime \prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}$ - ${ }^{1}$ aw- ${ }^{2}$ gi- ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremong for the wife of a ${ }^{2}$ do $^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba. In connection with it a lake of blood $={ }^{1}$ san "khü was prepared into which an effigy of the deceased female was thrown and then retrieved while several books were recited which liberated the soul from the lake of blood and also of the black lake of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ demons.

A funerary, but not a funeral, ceremony is ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$, performed within three years after the death of a person. Unless this ceremong is performed the soul of a deceased can never reach the realm of its ancestors. It was during that ceremony that the bones of cremated corpses were gathered by their families for final interrement. This was called ' p 'er ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'phi ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'khi ${ }^{3}$ sss or white (bones), black (bones) pick up (collect). The word ${ }^{2} t$ 'ki has reference to the bones which are sharp as spines $={ }^{2} \mathbf{t}$ 'ki.

${ }^{2}$ Llü ${ }^{2} k$ 'o ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}-{ }^{3}$ sher or to call, or ransoms the soul of a deceased from a grave after an exhumation has taken place. ${ }^{2}$ Llü̈- ${ }^{2}$ k'o $=$ ground hole, ${ }^{1} \bar{o}{ }^{3}$ sheer $=$ soul ransomed, soul call.

Another ceremony performed but not actually in connection with a funeral is ${ }^{2}{ }^{3}{ }^{2}$ ì ${ }^{3}$ chung ${ }^{1}$ bpö for the prolongation of life of those left behind, it is performed usually after a funeral.

Manuscripts of all these funeral ceremonies are extant, and 'dto-'mbas disposing of their manuscripts when in need of money brought these ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ or funeral books first, as they had no more need of them, except the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä books; practically none of the other funeral ceremonies was performed within the last fifty years. During my residence of nearly 25 years in Na-khi land, I heard of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ being performed only once, and I was able to attend the latter ceremony and take notes.

One of the rarest funeral ceremonies was ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} m u \underline{ }{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ for a sister of a ${ }^{3}$ mi. No books are extant belonging to this ceremony. Sometime ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ munn ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ books have been mistaken for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{munn}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ manuscripts.

At all of these respective funeral ceremonies, special ${ }^{1}$ Dsu-gkaw- ${ }^{2}$ lia were used (see NNCRC., pp. 63-69, Plate A), a great many of which are in my possession as are the different mss., belonging to all these particular funerary rites. To publish the translations of several hundred mss., which belong to these different rituals, to say nothing of those of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony where $a^{2}{ }^{2}$ do $^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ is even disguised as a bear who builds a house of pine branches for the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{n v}=$ effigies of deceased, whose deaths have occurred more than a year, but always less than three years, would fill several volumes. This is now impoesible on account of lack of space and especially of funds.

${ }^{2} \mathrm{ZHI}{ }^{3} \mathrm{MA}$  THE GREAT ${ }^{1}$ NA-²KHI FUNERAL CEREMONY

In order to assure a person about to die, to eventually reach the realm of the ancestors, relatives will watch day and night for the moment when his or her last breath is about to be expended. When that critical moment arrives the nearest of kin places, in the case of a man, nine grains of rice and a little silver, and in the case of a woman seven grains of rice and a little silver under the tongue of the dying person. This is called colloquially ${ }^{3}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ ssaw- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{0}$ white offering then place, rice white offering then place.

Immediately after death has taken place a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba is sent for, but no inmate of a home in which a death has occurred is permitted to enter a house, and the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mba is called by means of a rock thrown against the gate of his compound. By this he will know that he is to come to a home visited by death. He will take with him two books (manuscripts), one of which is called ${ }^{2}$ Shi ${ }^{1}$ ssaw ${ }^{1}$ lü (no 1838 of our collection); by consulting this it can be determined into what the soul of the departed will be reborn. This can be ascertained by first establishing the cycle year, month, day and hour of the deceased's birth and death. This book is kept under the roof of the gate to the compound, never in the house of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$. The second book is called is untranslatable, the second part means "lamp light". The book contains 48 pages of text and each page consists of six lines. The text is written in abreviated pictographs interspersed with ${ }^{2}$ ggor- ${ }^{1}$ baw characters. It is untranslatable; the sentences represent magic formulae or Dhāraṇis transcribed from the Tibetan and Sanskrit. It is chanted when the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba lights the butter lamp in the room of the deceased.

The body of the deceased has so far not been touched by anyone. After the chanting of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{sha}^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{g}} \mathrm{gyi} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$ (no 1444 of our collection), the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ examines the corpse to establish whence the ${ }^{1} \delta^{2}$ hä or soul has escaped from the body, either from the cranial suture, eyes, ear, nose, mouth, naval, genital organs or rectum.

When this has been done the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba prepares a butter lamp, and the corpse is placed in a sitting position in the bed where he or she has died. The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba then puts the butter lamp in the left hand of the deceased if a man, and into the right if a woman. The lamp is then lighted and the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chants ${ }^{2} \mathbf{M b} \cdot \mathbf{a} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{a}^{2} \mathrm{dta}=$ lamp hand (inside) place.

This latter ceremony is a very ancient one and has not been performed for many decades, none of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto $\mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{1} m b a s ~ I ~ c o n s u l t e d ~ h a s ~ e v e r ~ s e e n ~ o r ~ p e r f o r m e d ~}$ the ceremony, and this is confirmed by the rarity of the manuscript. In all the many years among the ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \mathbf{N a} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$ I have come across only two such manuscripts among several thousand.

These manuscripts originated from the hsiang of La-pao [13] the ancient Pao-shan [14] within the Yangtze loop, northeast of Li-chiang. It is one of the oldest districts where ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$ i have settled, and ancient customs have survived in this, with difficulty accessible region. The manuscripts are probably 500 years old.

After ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{4} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dta}$ the body of the deceased is washed, dressed in new clothe, new shoes and cap, and is placed in a coffin. In ancient days the body reposed in a sitling position in a wooden box with ornamented doors either painted or carved. The box was left open and was placed in the guest room, the corpse facing the door. Since coffins came into vogue in 1723, a Chinese type of coffin is used, the quality depending on the financial status or social standing of the family.

Invited guests bring presents to the family of the deceased, either money or in kind, as rice, meat, butter, wheat or other grain. All this is entered carefully in a book, for should there be a death in the family of the giver, an equal amount is returned by the recipient.

If the deceased is an old man, especially if he had reached eighty or more years, there are special preparations, and relatives and friends come from near and far, often several days journey. These must be entertained which proves of ten very costly to the family.

If the deceased was a chief then horses used to be brought as offering to the dead. This was of late no more in vogue in Li -chiang among the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, but was customary with the chiefs of Yung-ning among the Mo-so tribe. The Mo-so of Yung-ning are much more primitive than the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ khi of Li-chiang proper, and among them have survived ancient rites which are not performed among the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$.

The chiefs of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lü}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, as the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ term the Mo-so of Yung-ning, prided themselves of their Mongol origin, for they are the descendants of officers of Kublai Khan who left them there to rule, when he was on his mard in 1253 with his army through Yün-nan to conquer the Nan-chao (Kingdom) which had its seat in Ta-li, and for the purpose of undermining the Sung dynasty from the South. For an historical and geographical account of the region I refer the reader to my $A N K S W C$.

The body of a deceased chief was put in a sitting position into an oblong box which stood erect the corpse facing the door of the guest or centre room of the main house. Neighboring chiefs and relatives who arrived for the funeral, approached the house in state, each mourner preceded by two of his retainers wearing ancient armor (see Plate II) and ceremonial swords. Other servants brought food and utensils, while each chief brought a riding horse for the spirit of the deceased. The chiefs were met by the son of the departed, also preceded by two retainers dressed in armor carrying swords. After the preliminary meeting, the retainers of both sides i.e. family of the deceased and visiting guests would dance with one hand on the sword.

The riding horses which were brought as presents for the deceased were then tied up in a row to the door of the open room in which the corpse reposed. A ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nda}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{pa}^{\boldsymbol{6}}$, if the chief was a Yung-ning Mo-so, or a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ if a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ chief, addressed each horse in the following manner: "In ancient times the mother of the horse was killed by a yak and you were left an orphan, thus you came into the service of man. You carry his loads and him also. For this man has taken you into his home and has been caring for you. To avenge you the yak has been killed, and his tail has been fastened to your belt below the bells around your neck. Now you are ready to serve the spirit of the deceased as his mount." When the priest comes to this passage, the horse so addressed begins to shake from head to tail, a shudder runs through the horse and this is interpreted as the spirit having actually mounted the horse. This is repeated with every horse presented.

In ancient days the horses were muzzled with bags full of tsamba and suffocated. They were thus sent to the nether world to carry the deceased. All the presents, like cups or other utensils, were then broken and sent with the spirit of the departed.

After each horse had been addressed as described, the retainers or warriors wearing armor squat in a row on their heels with iron helmets in their hands the reciting of the book the ${ }^{2}$ dto $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chants saying: "The soldiers have now come to escort you deceased and to clear the road for you, they are now ready to dispose of any enemy or adversary who intends to close your road." Thereupon the warriors place the iron helmets on their heads, and with sword in hand rise to the dance in front of the house and along the road.

Returning after a while they sit down again on their haunches with helmet in their hands. The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$ then declares that there are no enemy soldiers on the road, that all is peacefull, that there are no tigers about, and that the

[^1]animala which had been taken for such were only harmless pandas and squirrels, and that all was ready for the spirit to take the road to the funeral pyre. A bone of an ox is then tied to the box containing the body which, when arrived outcide on the road, is thrown away.

The ${ }^{2} d t o{ }^{1}$ mba then chants from memory: "The spirit of the chief should not feel that death is terrible, for all must die, even the strongest trees are blown down by the wind and thus they die. The rocks are washed out of their lodgement by the action of the rain which dissolves the earth into mud, and the rocks roll down the hill', etc.

In the meantime a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba has prepared a table, covered with a whito felt of sheep's wool, on which is erected the ${ }^{1}{ }^{2} h i-{ }^{2}$ lv a specially cast plowshare, silvery white and shining; this represents the cosmic mountain of the universe, this mountain the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ call ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{na} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{g} y \mathrm{u}}$. The sharp (upright) point is covered with butter which stands for the snow on Sumeru, Mount Kailas; below the supposed snow cotton is attached in a circle around the plowshare taking the place of clouds, and on the right (facing), a juniper twig is stuck into the cotton which represents 'Ha- ${ }^{2}$ yi. ${ }^{2}$ boa-' ${ }^{\text {d daw }}$ 'ndzěr or the Wishgranting tree. Flage are also fastened, one on each side, symbolizing the sun and moon which are supposed to set behind Sumeru.

In a bowl are the five grains as offering to the gods and with which ${ }^{8} \mathrm{Gko}^{2}{ }^{-3}$ (see NNCRC, pp. 124-159) is performed. Another bowl contains ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto} .^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ma}$; there is also a large shallow copper tray filled with either dry rice or other grain and into this are atuck the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dsu}$ - ${ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä $q$. v. This table with offerings is placed directly in front of the coffin.

 followed by the chanting of several manuscripts containing ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{2}$ liu or Dhāranio, mulae are to help the deceased on his way, bringing demons, who may bar his road, under the spell of these mantra and thus making them harmless or powerless.

When ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \mathrm{Mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mi}^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{\mathbf{d}}$ dshi is about to be chanted, a large, round copper tray is brought, a little water is put into it, then imitation paper money or perforated grass paper on which vegetable oil is poured. On this is arranged a strip of bamboo curved into an open spiral. Small pieces of cotton or wool are twisted to serve as wicks and these are attached at short intervals to the bamboo raph. Oil is now poured on the widk as well as into the tray, the water at the bottom preventing the oil from sinking. These are called the 13 lamps, but there are of course many more. Each relative, beginning with the chief mourner, lights one or two of these wicks (lamps) which are offered to the deceased is told to light his way with these lamps.

Beeides the above tray, the ${ }^{2}$ dto $-^{1}$ mbas also use what they call a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb} \cdot \mathrm{a}^{\cdot} \cdot \mathrm{P}^{2} \mathrm{mi}$ ${ }^{1}$ ndagr or lamp trea, similar to what the Tibetan lamas use at the Tsongkha-pa festival on the 25 th of the tenth moon, when they celebrate the death of the founder of the Yellow Sect and his ascension into the Tusita Heaven.
 front of the coffin, the head of which is in the door and the feet to the wall of the room. The chief ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ who carries the ${ }^{3}$ Muen- ${ }^{1} t^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} u$ then chants ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mb}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~d}$ shi while a second ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chants ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}{ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{4}$ ddaw ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gg} \dot{\mathrm{u}},{ }^{2} \mathbf{m b}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{3}$ dshi, also the two other mss., containing Dhāraṇī, after that the chief mourner lights the first lamp.

At the same time a piece of paper is ruled into three sections, in the first is written the text found in the first rubric of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mb}{ }^{\mathbf{\prime}} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{dshi}$. In the second rubric the clan name and the name of the deceased is entered. In the third the name of the father and mother, followed by those of the grandfather and grandmother, great grandfather and great grandmother (in all three generations). The rope of the sheep with which it was led to the slaughter is later burned with gold and silver paper, also perforated paper representing money and the strip of paper on which the names were written. This is done before the coffin.

On the eve of the actual funeral of an aged male peasant in a ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$ village, the old people will gather from all the neighboring villages, and after being regaled with food and drink, dancing and the singing of funeral songs then commence around a large bonfire.
${ }^{3}$ Muñ ${ }^{2} n d z e ̌ r{ }^{3}{ }^{3}{ }^{4}{ }^{4}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} d z h u$ is one of several types of funeral songs, sung at the death of an old man while the body is still in the house. The ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{1}$ mba at the funeral of a man will sit on the left side, the side of honor, nearest the head of the coffin which occupies the centre of the main guest room, the head to the door and the feet to the wall. Next to the ${ }^{\mathbf{d}} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ sit the old men of the village and opposite them on the right the mourners. The ${ }^{2}$ dto${ }^{1}$ mba leads in the singing, he will chant one passage at a time which is then repeated by the seated men, to the end of the 12 th page. Some will use the hollow stems of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{3}$ wuo- ${ }^{2}$ wuo (Lycesteria formosa var. stenosepala Rehd.) through which they blow like through a reed, holding the hollow hand over the lower end and moving it, effecting a tremulo; others use green leaves which they press to their lips and cause a whistling sound.

The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba carnies a staff of the slender bamboo (Arundinaria Faberi) to which a strip of white (grey) hemp cloth is tied. When they have come to the end of the twelf th page the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ breaks the staff in half and says:
 (the breaking of the staff is done at this passage, he bends the staff over his knee and breaks it in half and throws the two halves away) ${ }^{1}$ ndui ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{lv}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mi}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}$ 'o ${ }^{1} t s{ }^{\prime} u{ }^{2} t$ ' $\mathbf{u}{ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{p}$ 'u. The meaning of the phrase is: Last night the children dog protect permit, dog protect unable, dog beat, stick thin broke, the stick ( ${ }^{3} 1 \mathrm{l}$ enumerator) sins demon (on) they put; a free rendering is: Last night the children were sent to protect the dog, to protect the dog they were unable, they beat the dog and broke the thin stick; they took the atick and the sine they put on the demon. The meaning is that the faults of the decenced are now put on the demons, he is compared to a broken atick and of his oins he is now divested.

M Mug ${ }^{2}$ ndzèr ${ }^{3}$ a ${ }^{1}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ dzhu is chanted after oupper and after the performance of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{4} \mathrm{a}^{2}$ mi ${ }^{\text {s }}$ dshi when 13 oil or butter lamps are offered to the deceased. In front of the old men are long tables on which bowls of wine and food are placed for them. They remain seated till the book hae been chanted. They then rise and join the group of gueato outside to an open apot where a large log fire ie burning. There they form themselves into a circle. but not a closed one, and holding hands much like children do when at play, begin a dance. The leader of the singing and of the dance takes first a step forward and then one badkward while all the rest in the circle will follow suit; the leader singe a verse in the form of a question which is answered by one of the men blessed with a good voice. Thus they sing and alowly dance around the fire. As there is no accomodation for so many guesta, the singing and dancing is kept up all night, the men taking turns.

When they begin to sing outside around the fire the tone is changed, also the tempo. From page 13 on the song is continued outside.

When the song is finished the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mba takes a bowl of water in which sugar has been dissolved and gives it to the kneeling descendant who partakes of it. This has the meaning of imparting to the son the ability, power and personality ( $={ }^{\text {'n non- }}{ }^{-\bar{o}}$ ) of the deceased.

The song sung at the funeral of women is practically the same. The woman goes to the spring to fetch water and there she sees her image reflected, she does not realize it is hers, for the face is white, she thinks it is the reflection of the sky, she looks up but there are no stars, then she thinks it is the reflection of the grass on the land, but no grass has sprouted. She then realizes it is the reflection of her old face; she throws away the wooden scoop and bucket and wanders from place to place in search of youth, but she finds no one to sell yeara (longevity) so like the man she gives up and returns.

The following are titles of other funeral songs commonly called ${ }^{2}$ Ndzěr ${ }^{2}$ ts'o of which manuscripts are not extant, but parts of these songs can be found in the one here translated:

${ }^{2}$ NDZER ${ }^{9}$ TS'O

Very rhythmic, about $\rho=126$

This tune serves for all the other eight songs mentioned on page 12; the meaning of the title is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndzer}=$ sing, ${ }^{2}$ ts'o dance.

1) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzī}^{1}$ yü ${ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzěr ${ }^{9}$ mun $=$ Man born three venerables died.

This is a song about the death of the fathers of the three tribes as the Tibetan, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and ${ }^{\mathrm{s}} \mathrm{L} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \mathrm{u}=\mathrm{Min}$-chia [15].

This is sung in the form of question and answer, as who made the heavens? the answer is the ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathbf{z o}^{2} \mathrm{ngv-}{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ the nine celestial sons did; who spread out the Earth? the seven terrestrial daughters did (the ${ }^{1}$ Ssang ${ }^{8} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{2}$ shĕr. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}$ ).
3) ${ }^{2}$ Mùañ ${ }^{1}$ tgkye ${ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{3}$ muñ $=$ Heaven in three venerables died. This is in the song translated, also ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Du}{ }^{1}$ tgkye ${ }^{1}$ ssu-ndzěr ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ Earth on three venerables died.
4) ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{8}{ }^{2}$ ch'ĕr ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} n g v{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ Not decayed, nine venerables died. It relates of nine beings who died and where they died. In this song are also included the various wild animals and where they died.
5) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zä}{ }^{2} t^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1} \mathrm{Z} \ddot{a}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~b} b \check{\mathrm{e}} \mathrm{e}={ }^{1} \mathrm{Z}$ ä origin ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zä}$ take flight.

It tells of the 360 winged ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zä}$ demons, apparently representative of vultures who feed on the dead. As this is chanted at funerals it would indicate that in ancient times when the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ dwelt in the grasslands of northeast Tibet, the dead were exposed and given to the vultures as is still practiced by the Tibetan nomads. $30^{1} \mathrm{Z} \ddot{a}$ are mentioned in the song what their nests were composed of, their eggs, what hatched them, etc.
6) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}{ }^{2} t$ 'u ${ }^{1}$ ngu ${ }^{3} b b u ̆ e=$ The origin of the horse.
7) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'u ${ }^{2} \mathrm{la}{ }^{3} b b u ̆ e=$ The origin of the tiger.
8) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{2}$ wuà ${ }^{1}$ ssiú ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} a=$ The five kinds of courageous winged creatures (born with wings).
${ }^{2} K^{\prime}$ wua ${ }^{1} d z u{ }^{2}$ wuà ${ }^{1}$ ssui ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} a=$ The five courageous cloven-hoofed creatures. ${ }^{1}$ Dshi ${ }^{1} d z u{ }^{2}$ wuà ${ }^{1}$ ssü ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} a=$ The five courageous clawed creatures. ${ }^{2} D^{\prime} a \cdot{ }^{1} d^{\prime} a^{2} t s^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2} n y i{ }^{1} d^{\prime} a=$ Ground (land) renowned, twelve renowned. The twelve renowned residences of the former ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ kings. They are enumerated in my $A N K S W C$, Vol. 1, p. 148, note 155.
9) The type of song here translated is colloquially known as ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Z} \ddot{a}-{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{z}}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} t s^{\prime} o$ or the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Z} \ddot{a} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \ddot{a}$ dance (around a bonfire at night).
While all the singing and dancing is going on, the other ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas prepare the ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree. It is a pine tree about 20 feet tall and is erected in the court of the home of the deceased near the entrance on the east side of the court. On the top of the tree is a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wai or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'aw for the gods to repose on; it is decorated with scarfs of five colors representing the five elements, and a large flag. When the tree is erected early the next morning the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}$ mbas chant the $m s .{ }^{1} \mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{t}}{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ ts' $u=$ erect the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$, in which the origin of the tree is told. See: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dtv}{ }^{8}$ ts'u.

Early the following morning the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mbas assemble and begin the ceremony by chanting the manuscript ${ }^{1}$ Dtv ${ }^{3}$ ts'u or erect the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dtv}$ tree, q. v. This is followed by

${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{8} l u \quad{ }^{2}$ p'a ${ }^{1}$ ō ${ }^{3}$ shěr Redeeming the soul from the four sides of

It is feared that the soul while on its way to the 33 realms of the gods on high may have been lost or caught on the four sides of Mount Sumeru (Kailas), and so the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas chant redeeming the soul, calling it badk to the proper road it has to travel. There is no manuscript by that name which is peculiar to the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Z h i}{ }^{8} \mathrm{ma}$ ceremony, so the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mbas}$ use one belonging to the ${ }^{3}$ Shi ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{V}}$ Ceremony, i.e., a funeral ceremony performed for a deceased ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba. The manuscript from which this title is taken is no 1761 and is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute of Cambridge Massachussets.

Explanation of the symbols in the title:
The four lines on the top stand for the numeral four and have reference

 The four circles indicate the four faces ${ }^{2} p$ 'a or sides of the mountain. The mountain itself is always figured rising from several, usually three, terraces. See $N N C R C$, p. 423, note 770 . The symbol to the right is ${ }^{2} n v$ and represents the body of the deceased (see $S N L$, p. 5 , note 1 ). The curved line indicates the calling or redeeming action of the soul from the mountain.

Soul in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ is ${ }^{10} \mathbf{O}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ä and is written with the symbols for ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}}=$ turquoise and ${ }^{2} h a ̈=$ moon or month, below the moon symbol is the numeral seven $={ }^{2}$ shĕr, its phonetic value is here borrowed for ${ }^{\text {s }}$ shĕr $=$ to redeem.

While this manuscript is being chanted another ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba chants:

${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh ${ }^{3}$ ssü or the Killing of the ${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh demons.
For translation of this manuscript see NNCRC, pp. 116120 , also p. 122, note 94 . The ${ }^{2}$ Sissu $^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ manuscript is used as there is no book peculiar to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{9}$ mä by that title. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}{ }^{1}$ Ghügh demons are killed for it is feared that they will steal the clothes of the deceased, the food offered, or that they may even close the road of the deceased to the realm of the gods. The same objects are used as at the ${ }^{2}$ Ssu ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony. When this book is chanted a raw egg is offered to the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mun}$ and ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh demons on a live charcoal. Ms. no 1089 bears the above title and is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute.

After the chanting of the above manuscript the actual ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Z h i}{ }^{2}$ mä ceremony commences. All the books that now follow are peculiar to that ceremony. The latter begins with the chanting of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \mathrm{v}^{2}$ shu ${ }^{3}$ la when the deceased is a man and with ${ }^{2}$ Ts'u- ${ }^{1}$ yi when the deceased is a woman.

During the second day either a sheep or ox is sacrificed to the deceased and a horse is offered.

In the afternoon the people feast on the animal sacrificed, in which the deceased is told now to forget eating, when food is given him for the last time, or ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ haw ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ food distribute.

This is now followed by the chanting of other manuscripts in front of the coffin, still late in the evening when the people after having partaken of supper continue their chanting and dancing around the bonfire. Usually it is only done on the first night.
${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{mi}$ or to forget about having experienced slander follows; then ${ }^{3}$ Mun ${ }^{2}$ ndzǐ ${ }^{\mathbf{3} m i}$, forget having experienced old age and death. When the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto- ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ mba takes his funeral wand he stands by the coffin dressed in a grey felt mantel and broad brimmed felt hat he chants ${ }^{3}$ Mùen- ${ }^{1} t^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{2} \overline{\mathbf{o}}{ }^{2}$ szŭ or to hold the ${ }^{3}$ Mùn- ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'u or staff, he tells the deceased where to go and what he may experience on the road. The last book chanted in the evening is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndsherr}$ ${ }^{2} n d z{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ or to forget fright; he is told what he is to expect on the road which may frighten him and he is instructed what to do.

On the third day early in the morning incense is burned and the long funeral strip called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i or the road the gods decide is unrolled. It consists of two parts, a short one containing the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mbu}{ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}{ }^{1}$ mbu or the nine black spurs guarded by demons which the deceased has to cross, and a very long one, often 30 feet or more long, on which all the stages from the lowest realm in hell to the 33 regions of the gods are indicated. With this strip, attached to the head of the coffin in a northeasterly direction, seven

 ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ ' ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung. What the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas do and what objects are used on the strip of cloth is described under the title of each book. This ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}$ ${ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} p$ 'i has been fully described by me in the second part of my paper of Studies in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Literature in BEFE-O, tome XXXVII, part II, pp. 40-119, and Plates XV to XLI inclusive (1937).

The last books chanted after ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i, while the coffin is still in the house, in which all ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas present take part, are six books called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}$ ${ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{3}$ ch'wua ${ }^{1}$ dii or the six realms of hell. This is actually a misnomer for they are not six realms in hell but the six existences into which a man can he reborn. These books are entirely composed of Dhäraṇi and are transcriptions of original Sanskrit Mantras which have been taken over by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$, not from India but from the Tibetan. They correspond to the Ti betan book of the dead.

When these books have finally been chanted the coffin is taken out and escorted by all relatives and friends (see Plate I) to the grave. En route the party carrying the coffin will stop several times, while the eldest son crawls on his hands and knees beneath the coffin to obtain a last blessing from his father or mother as the case may be. Women are not allowed to accompany the procession to the grave, but stop at a designated place.

The grave has been usually carefully selected and the actual direction it must face has all been determined by divination. The grave is the usual shallow Chinese grave and the stones are built around the coffin, the latter is not more than one foot in the ground; old people will take a string attach it to the head of the coffin or hold it over the center, while the other end is focussed in line to a particular hill or peak; the coffin is shifted accordingly till it is in the right position.

Male relatives will then put soil in the tail of their long garment and walking sideways, with the back to the coffin, and holding up the back part of the garment will empty the soil slowly on to the coffin as they move along.

Soil is then provisionally added also rodks; the relatives prostrate themselves, and before leaving remove the Chinese characters which extend along the head of the coffin, and place a bowl with tea in front of it. All return now to the home of the deceased and the funeral is over.

When the funeral is over the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas return to the home of the deceased and take down the ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree and while doing so one ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chants the ms. ${ }^{1}$ Dtv ${ }^{3}$ khi $=$ to put down the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$. See ${ }^{1}$ Dtv ${ }^{3} k h i$.

In ancient times when bodies were cremated the bones were put into urns and temporarily interred till the performance of the ${ }^{\boldsymbol{t}} \mathrm{Khi}^{\mathrm{i}} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony when they were gathered and permanently interred in a place as figured on Plate III, while the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nv}$ was deposited into the caves of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi}-{ }^{14} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o, see Plate IV.

It has been the custom from time immemorial for the Mo-so of Yungning to escort the spirits of their dead to the southern slopes of Mt. Chha-na-do-rje (Phyag-nag-rdo-rje) at an elevation of 17,200 feet of the Gang-kaling (Gangs-dkar-gling) Range in southwest Hisi-k'ang. On these rocky slopes which form the north side of the La-wa-t'ang Valley, the Mo-so erected simple stone houses, often consisting only of one oblong, squared rock with a slab of rock on the top for a roof, (see Plate $V$ ), it was to these apecially erected stones that the Mo-so escorted the spirits of their dead after cremation.

TRANSLATION OF THE 'ZHI 'MÄ MANUSCRIPTS

${ }^{2} \mathrm{ZHI}{ }^{3} \mathrm{MA}{ }^{2} \mathrm{GGO}{ }^{2} \mathrm{DDU} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{MUN}$ or THE INDEX BOOK OF ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ZHI}{ }^{3} \mathrm{MA}$ (CEREMONY)

Every ceremony, no matter how brief or how extended, has its ${ }^{2}$ ddu- ${ }^{1}$ mun or index book in which the books to be chanted, also the objects to be used are listed, such as ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{2}$ ma (the Tibetan gtor-ma), trees, food, animals to be slaughtered as offerings etc. It usually gives drawings and outlines of the grouping of objects how the ${ }^{3} k$ 'o- ${ }^{1}$ byu or ${ }^{2}$ dsu- ${ }^{2}$ gkaw- 1 lä are to be set up and where, and what is to be painted on them etc.

For ceremonies like the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{-}{ }^{2}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~N} \mathbf{v}$, a funeral rite for a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$ or priest, the ${ }^{2}$ ddu ${ }^{1}$ mun are very elaborate and lengthy, still more so those of ${ }^{3}$ ko- ${ }^{-}$byu, etc., are drawn in detail, and how these and other paraphernalia as trees, etc., are to be grouped.

At the ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ funeral rite when ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'aw. ${ }^{2}$ sso ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}{ }^{3} \mathrm{nv}$ is chanted, a straw figure is made and dressed in female garb, for she represents the demon wife of ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo or gShen-rab, and placed on a chair, with chains, ropes, pots, etc. Inside the body, in the region of the abdomen, a bag filled with pig's blood is suspended, and when the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba comes to the passage ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'aw${ }^{2} 880 \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ ssü, i.e. kill ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'aw. ${ }^{2}$ sso. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}$, he shoots off an arrow into the figure where the bag of blood is hidden which then bursta and thus spills her life blood. The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas are nothing but realistic, and are keen to produce spectacles for the entertainment of the poor villagers who live a dreary and hard life.

Nowadays less and less of this sort of enterprise takes place, first of all on account of the cost, and second people have less time to attend such functions, although at the funeral of a ${ }^{2}$ dio ${ }^{-1}$ mba all services of the officiating priests, who come from all over the neighborhood, are given free, but still they must be entertained, and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{-}$khi have a good appetite, especially when the meals are furnished by someone else.

At the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä ceremony few objects are used and these have alieady been described in the introduction.

Seven ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{2}$ ma (gtor-ma) are figured some of which were used in olden for the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{ma}$. Some of these have been figured in NNCRC, p. 633. Other ${ }^{2}$ ito ${ }^{2}$ ma are those placed on the nine black spurs already mentioned, and a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{2}$ to ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ma}$ for the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{C}$ 'ou demons.

The books to be chanted are arranged in the sequence in which they occur in this work. Two are mentioned in our ${ }^{2} d d u-^{1}$ mun which have not been translated for the reason that none has ever been seen by my ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas or myself belonging to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}$. They are general books as ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mi}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}$ 'o ${ }^{3} \mathrm{p}$ 'u $=$ to divest of $\sin$, that is any carelessness or faults the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mbas may have committed during the performance of the funeral, these are wiped out by the chanting of this book. The other is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Bpö}{ }^{3}$ man ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dterr}$ when the road or gates are closed to the demons. This takes place at nearly all ceremonies. A translation of such a book is to be found in l.c., pp. 797-803.

${ }^{1}$ DSU- ${ }^{2}$ GKAW. ${ }^{1}$ LA

At the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} m a ̈$ ceremony only six ${ }^{1}$ Dsu- ${ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ are used. They consist of six stiff cards without any text on the reverse. On the recto of each of these cards is painted one of the walled realms in hell; these correspond to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{3} \mathbf{c h}$ 'wua ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ or the six phases of existence into which man may be reborn after his demise. I consider this believe and the entire ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$ ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1} \mathbf{p}{ }^{\mathbf{i}}$ of much later date, and to have been added after the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ came into closer contact with the Chinese and the tortures they portray in their hells as depicted on walls in chambers of Chinese temples. Lamaism has also contributed its share as has Hinduism.

In our collection are only five ${ }^{1} d s u-{ }^{2} g k a w-1 / a ̈$, one is missing; they represent cards $61 / 2 \times 31 / 2$ inches, with a narrow brown border, in the upper larger frame is figured the particular demon who controls the respective eight-sided (walled) realm outlined in the lower smaller part or frame.

Within these walled realms are either squares, triangles or circles each with a Tibetan letter. The colors of the walled realms also differ in each instance.

The first is a chicken-headed demon controlling the realm of hell or ${ }^{2}$ nyi${ }^{2}$ wùa; the second is the dog-headed demon controlling the realm of the Preta; the third with the sheep-headed demon controlling the Brute world, this is missing. The fqurth depicts a pig-headed demon who controls the human world; the fifth figures a snake-headed demon in charge of the Asuras, and the sixth is an ox-headed creature which guards the realms of the gods. These figures apparently guard the gates to these realms to see who may enter and who may not, that is be reborn in them. The ox-headed creature holds in his left hand a stick which has been cut into or marked like a ruler denoting registered sins. In his right he carries, like all the others, a long, sharply serrated knife; a long rope with which they catch their victims is the special attribute of the other five.

All the various funeral ceremonies, as already enumerated, have their special ${ }^{1}$ dsu- ${ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä, nearly all of which are in our collection.

[^2]The various realms of hell and their demon guarda are deacribed and and figured in SNL., pp. 74-108.

In our entire collection of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-2} \mathrm{khi} \mathrm{mss}$., there is only one which contains the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}^{2}$ ddu- ${ }^{1}$ mun, it is ms. no 2254, and is in the Library of HarvardYenching Institute. It commences on page 5 to end of manuacript. The first four pages pertain to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony of which this also is the only copy extant.

${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MB}^{\prime}$ A. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{MI}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{LA}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{DTA}$ or LAMP HAND (ON) PLACE

The first symbol represents a butter lamp read ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$, the second a hand ${ }^{1} l a$, holding a lamp, and the third the symbol for box $={ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}$, its phonetic value has here been borrowed for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d t a}=$ to place, to put. There are two manuscripts extant, the only ones known to me, and it is from these two that the accompanying pictographic text has been reproduced, what was not legible in one was legible in the other, and with the two texts it was possible to reconstruct the entire text, except where the names of the gods were not known and could not be reconstructed from one or two syllables preceding the figure of the deity, the custom of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}$ as being to write only one or two symbols of the name and not the entire name.

Some of the deities mentioned here occur on the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{H a}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{p}$ ' , where they are figured but not named or only partly named (see SNL, part II, pp. 100-107 and Plates $34-38$ inclusive), but the majority oft them appear in no other ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{2}$ khi texts to my knowledge. Besides gods we also find the names of spirits and ancient ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas, and the latter can be recognized by their head-dress and the sbsence of a halo. The symbols preceding the figure of a deity, etc., spell the name of the latter, which is followed by the symbol representing a lamp or that of ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung the picture of a string of carnelian, the phonetic value of which is borrowed for ${ }^{3}$ ch'ung $=$ offer, present.

The manuscripts from which the text has been coordinated are nos. 2010 and 2012 respectively. The former was labelled by my late ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbs as belonging to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ma}$ ceremony and the latter to ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi}^{-}{ }^{2} l o{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony, both are however identical. Only photographic reproductions remain in my possession, the negatives are in the Library of Congress.
${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mb}^{\mathbf{\prime}} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mi}^{1} \mathrm{la}^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\mathbf{d}} \mathrm{da}$ was performed long before coffins came into use among the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, the first burial to take place in a coffin was in $\mathbf{1 7 2 3}$. Prior to that time corpses were cremated and the ashes interred, see Plate III.

The first coffins were introduced in Yün-nan province by the father of the Mohammedan General Nazir-ed-din who was the Commander-in-chief of the capital of Karajang, the present K'un-ming. His name was Sai-yin-o-te-ch'i; be was a native of Bokhara and died at the age of 69 in the 16 th year of Chih-yüan, A.D. 1279.

The first burial in a coffin in the Li-chiang district took place from the village of Shu-ho (Ssu-ho) in 1723 when the mother of one Ho Tsung-shun who was the headman of that village was placed in a coffin and interred. It is interesting to note that burial was first tried with a woman.

Since then people have been buried in coffing in the Li-chiang district, each family having its own burial plot, usually situated in a most benutifol scenic spot at the foot of the snow range surrounded by pine or osk foreat, the trees of which are never cut. The burial ground of Li-chieng city is at the foot of Hsiang Shan or Elephant Mountain, facing weat and to the north of the city, above a lovely stream, adjoining the Lung-wang Temple. The cemetary is in the shade of large trees of Castanopsis delavayi an evergreen Chinquapin, Erythrina arborescens trees, and pines.

There is an interesting burial ground near the last village on the western arm of the Li-chiang plain, and a little to the east of it between ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mid \mathrm{lv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'ö the Chinese Heüeh-sung ta'un and 'Seaw-'ssu-' ${ }^{2}$ 'a the Chinese Wen-hua ta'un. There exists a hill with a central depression, identifying it as an ancient crater (another crater with pumice and olivin-bearing rocks is very near there at the foot of the snow range, the crater now containing a pond, is called sisting of small circular mounds, the inscriptions on the gravestones barely legible. (See Plate III.) Most of these graves date back to the early Ming dynasty. It was there that the ashes of cremated ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2}$ khi were interred prior to burial in coffing.

All women who die in childbirth, or 100 days before or 100 days after dildbirth, must be cremated as they are considered 'd'ou $=$ impure; this cremation takes place in the ravine which is to the north of the hill.

Translation of text
Page 1

Rubrics:

1) In the beginning of time.
2) first there were the stars in heaven, that day was propitious, on that day the grass was born on the land, today the grass is green, today is auspicious.
3) On the left the sun appears, today the sun is hot, on the right the moon appears, today the moon is bright.
4) In the north at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{1}$ saw- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\mathrm{o}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er the Tibetan is well versed in casting horoscope (s) for the year, this year is propitious.
 casting the horoscope for the month, this month is auspicious.
5) In the center in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzi}^{-1}$ ndsu ${ }^{-} \mathrm{I}_{\mathrm{u}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$ the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is proficient in casting the horoscope for the day (night), to-night is propitious.
6) Tonight the stars and ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{Zu}$ are propitious, today is propitious.

7) Today, I, like the chief, I, the ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} d 0^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba able to chant say to you, in the presence of you deceased.
8) I give into your hand a butter lamp which will never cease to burn.
9) You will arrive in the good land of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{H} \ddot{a}$, you will arrive in the realm of the 360 good gods on high.

Explanation of text

Ruhr. 1: We see the head of a tiger with which all texts commence, the tiger head is usually colored. It stands for ... "In the beginning of time..." as already explained, see NNCRC, Vol. 2: 387. The next symbol is not read, it represents a ${ }^{2}$ do ${ }^{1}$ mba or priest holding in one hand the funeral wand ${ }^{1}$ Mùen- ${ }^{1} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}$, such an of ficiating ${ }^{2}$ do- ${ }^{1}$ mba is termed ${ }^{2}$ Lo. ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung. ${ }^{2}$ daw- ${ }^{1}$ khü but only when he performs a funeral rite or the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony. In the other hand he holds a book.

Rubr. 2: The first symbol to the left is read 'd'ung it is an ideograph but used phonetically and is a picture of part of a string of carnelian beads such as women used to use over their hair above the forehead. In the same tone it can mean quick or quickly, and as here employed can also mean in ancient times, in the beginning, first as in time. It is then usually used in conjunction with the symbol for a crowing cock $={ }^{3} \mathrm{dgy} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$, for a cock is the first animal to stir at dawn. The upper horizontal is the symbol for heaven with three stars below; on a level with the line below is the symbol for earth, land with grass growing on it, between is the symbol ${ }^{\text {2 ghiugh }}=$ a jewel or precious object also called ${ }^{1}$ non- ${ }^{2}$ bü, it is a picture of the Tibetan nor-bu (see l.c., p.439, note 773 , and p. 457, note 776 ) or Sanskrit maṇi or cintamani $=$ jewel. It has the same reading as the swastika symbol ${ }^{2}$ ghügh and is used in conjunction with it, but the two are then read ${ }^{2}$ ghügh ${ }^{2}$ ddo meaning Swastika, the Bön gyung-drung. For the adjective good, either of the two symbols alone can be used, as can the symbol for ox, also read ${ }^{2}$ ghügh, to convey the abstract meaning good, auspicious. The upper symbol on the right is read ${ }^{2}$ szĭ $=$ grase and is here so used, below it is the symbol for turquoise, it stands here for the color green, it is rarely used for blue.

Kubr. 3: Is self explanatory.
Rubr. 4: The first upper symbol usually read 'ggǒ = above, standa here for the north, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ believing that Lha-sa is to the north, for in the north only the symbols ${ }^{2}$ dto $=a$ board, and 'p'ĕr $=$ white are written. The slope of a hill is called ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{dto}$ and ${ }^{2} k$ 'o $\overline{0}=$ at the foot of, Lha-sa being situated at the foot of a sloping hill on which the Potala stands and being the residence of an incarnate god must be 'p'èr = white (see NNCRC, p.170, no 246). The next symbol is the picture of a Tibetan $={ }^{2} g v-{ }^{1} d z u$ with a large hat. In the upper right is the head of a rat $={ }^{3} f f$ ŭ, here read ${ }^{3} k$ 'v $=$ year, for the animal cycle of 12 starts with the rat.

Rubr. 5: (See NNCRC, p.158, note 205). The symbols represent a foot treading along a road down-hill, below is the symbol for ${ }^{1}$ mùn $=$ below, for the land of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~L} \ddot{a}-{ }^{2} b b u ̆$ is to the south of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$. The symbol, when the three points are longer or the whole symbol is taller, is read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, and can also be read ${ }^{1} h \ddot{ }=$ red for the color of fire is red; when it is low it is read ${ }^{1}$ mùen $=$ below, also south, which is actually called ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}^{2}{ }^{2}$ chin- $^{1}$ mùen (see l. c., p. 248, note 498), ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ch'i being the name of K'un-ming the capital of Yün-nan, and as it is to the south of Li-chiang, the name is incorporated in the expression for south; it indicates that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ never had a single word for the various quarters of the compass. In the centre stands the figure of a ${ }^{2}$ Lä- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ. (See $N N C R C$, p. 200, note 306; p. 206, note 363.) This tribe must have had in ancient times a very distinctive head-covering or head-dress now no more in use, for a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{L a ̈} \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bbu}$ is always depicted thus. The moon symbol resting on that read ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ghügh}=$ auspicious, is here read ${ }^{\mathbf{2} h}{ }^{\mathrm{a}}$ which can mean both moon and month.

Rubr. 6: (See l.c., p. 84, note 17). The central figure denotes a ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$ pronouncing a prognosticum. The inverted moon is here read ${ }^{1} k h u=$ night.

Rubr. 7: Of the six symbols only the fifth, composed of three small circles united by lines, needs to be explained, it is read ${ }^{1} z i \ddot{ }=$ a constellation of nine otars (see l.c., p. 121, note 91).

Rubr. 8: The figure seemingly enclosed in a tent or house is called or read chief sleep. Any male head of a household in which a death has occurred is thus called. Usually the figure aloue would be called ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ - ${ }^{1}$ ssir $=f a t h e r, ~ t h e ~$ wood symbol ${ }^{2} s s$ also stands for ${ }^{2}$ swue- ${ }^{2}$ p'ä $=$ chief, as there is no symbol for the first syllable "名wue" the nearest to it " ${ }^{\text {sss" }}$ is used. He is the chief who takes care of all the guests and prepares sleeping quarters for them. Of the words ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}_{8} \mathbf{' u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{bpö}$ the first refers to the deceased who is considered a demon prior to his being escorted to the realms of the gods. ${ }^{1}$ Bpö means to chant, perform a ceremony.

The word ${ }^{1} b p$ ö seems to have one origin with Bön; the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} k h i$ are unable to pronounce final letters or consonants, so bön becomes 'bpö, in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$, it means to chant, pray, perform a ceremony. I quite agree with Hoffmann's conclusion as to the meaning of bon, it is corroborated by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{k} h i}{ }^{1} \mathrm{bp}$. In his „Quellen aur Geschichte der tibetischen Bon-Religion" he says on page 137, ,mich dünkt es, daß bon $z u$ dem obsoluten Verbum bon-pa zu stellen ist. . . und mit zlas (besser bzlas) murmeln, murmelnd rezitieren wiedergegeben wird". He states that the word lzlas-pa is especially used for the mumbling of magic words. The word zlas is pronounced da or de, it is possible that the Mo-so term for a shaman viz., ${ }^{2}$ Nda- ${ }^{2}$ pa in Yungnong is identical with it.
 orphan, and the remainder "this son good". Colloquially he is called ${ }^{2}$ zo-at the death of a mother, and colloquially she is called ${ }^{3} \mathbf{m i}-^{2}$ ch'ĕr. A deceased father is compared to a male crane who is about to rise and fly to the high clouds, like the deceased who is about to be escorted to the realms of the gods, on high. He is termed ${ }^{2}$ Gko. ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr $=$ the white crane, the crane with the siraight bill $={ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{3}$ nun ${ }^{1} d t v$. If the deceased is a mother she is called ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1}$ khü- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $-{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ bbŭe which is also a term for a female crane.

Rubr.9-10 need no special explanation, save that in rubric 9 the two figures represent, the first a headman, the second a ${ }^{2} d t o{ }^{1}$ mba and the third the deceased (see $S N L$, p. 108, also $N N C R C$, p. 276, note 582). In rubric 10 is $a^{2} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$ or butter lamp, the symbol for butter ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr and the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn. In Rubric 11 we see two gods here read ${ }^{2} 0{ }^{1} n a ̈{ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}=$ the ${ }^{2} \overline{0}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$, that is all the gods. The numeral 360 separated by the adjective ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ good refers to the 360 good gods, ${ }^{1}$ ggo $=$ on high, and ${ }^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{t}}$ 'u $=$ arrive. (See ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{\mathbf{z}} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i in SNL, II: 74.)

Page 2

Rubrics:

1) You have arrived in the land of the bright sun, and in the land of the bright moon, you are escorted on high to the realm where once born one never dies.
 ${ }^{2}$ swue- ${ }^{2}$ p'ä- ${ }^{-}$haw.
2) Of the gods (this does not refer to rubric 2 , but to the next rubric).
3) Milk the white half-breed yak, white yak, white goat and white sheep, they make butter and from 1000,100 loaves of butter make butter lamps.
4) ${ }^{1}$ Yü- ${ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2}$ llü- ${ }^{2}$ seĭ with such a lamp placed into your hand,
5) you are escorted to the land of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}$ (see $N N C R C, p .91$, note 42).
6) You have not been caught in the 18 realms of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{3}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'ou in hell.
7) You have not been caught in the 9 black houses of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ hell.
8) You have not been caught in the lake of ${ }^{1} K h y u ̈-{ }^{2} d s o{ }^{1} d \ddot{i}=$ the land of the brutes (animal world).

Explanation of text

Rubr. 1: The three symbols in the centre of the rubric read ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ mug ${ }^{2}$ shi; only the two upper are read, the third, a reclining demon referring to the deceased is not read but illucidates the second one ${ }^{\prime}$ mun $=$ a horsefly, here phonetically used for ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ to die; of the last two symbols of the rubric, ${ }^{1} g g \check{c o s}^{\mathbf{3}}$ bpŭ escorted on high, the lower one is written differently from that usually employed, it is the picture of a colander $={ }^{3} b$ pu with the steam escaping upwards instead of from below, it indicates that the manuscript is not a Li-chiang one where this symbol is not employed.
Rubr. 2: The symbol for "mourning son" is here written out more fully than in rubric 8 of page one. The sheep's head is here superimposed on a body with two legs and two arms. The symbol ${ }^{1}$ ndi (here read ${ }^{2}$ nddii) between the horns of the sheep acts as a phonetic; the sheep head in the name ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nddü}$ ${ }^{1}$ lä- ${ }^{2}$ ch'i- ${ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ ghügh is not read but indicates the person is ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{y} \dot{\text { u }}=$ alive, living; sheep is ${ }^{1} y \ddot{u}$ also ${ }^{2} b b u$, the latter is the ancient literary term. The small bymbol to the right is read ${ }^{2}$ ch'i $=$ this, a demonstrative pronoun, with ${ }^{2}$ ghügh = jewel, drawn on a stem like a flower, is phonetically employed in the name of the mourning son. The last symbol ${ }^{2}$ haw $=$ food is here a phonetic for ${ }^{3}$ haw $=$ sleep in the term for the chief representative of the household where the death took place.

Kubr. 3: contains the symbol for ${ }^{1} h a ̈=$ god or gods, the genetive is not written and the objects belonging to the gods are found in rubric 4: where we have ${ }^{1}$ ndsu $=$ halfbreed yak, ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr $=$ yak, ${ }^{3}$ ds' $\mathfrak{i}=$ goat and ${ }^{1} y u ̈=$ sheep. The symbol attached to the base of the heads and the symbol for a container serve as the verb 'ch'wua $=$ to milk, the particular animal to which it is attached. The next two symbols read from top down are ${ }^{1}$ ma- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr $=$ butter, followed by ${ }^{1}$ dtv $=1000$, and ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ the swastika here used for the numeral 100 , the last is a butter lamp or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime} \mathbf{a}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$.

Rubr. 6: shows four symbols, the lowest ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=$ land, above it ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$ $=$ the gods, and ${ }^{s}$ bpur $=$ escort.

Rubr. 7: The muskdeer head without the fangs superimposed on a human figure represents the demon ${ }^{1}$ Lä- ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou (see $S N L$, p. 13, note 2; pp.44-45; also $N N C R C$, pp. 747,382 , note 766 ), the numeral $18(10+8)$, the symbol ${ }^{8}$ ch'ou here written with coils of intestines, hence unclean, impure, follow. There are 18 realms in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}$ wùa or hell, see the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}{ }^{9} \mathrm{Nv}$ ms., ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}-{ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{1}$ ts' ${ }^{\prime}{ }^{-3}{ }^{3} h o{ }^{1}$ dü ${ }^{1}$ ts'u ${ }^{2}$ dzhu- ${ }^{1}$ zhwur, but these are apparently different from the 18 ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{9} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ou realms in hell. There remain two symbols ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mu}$. $\underline{n}^{=}=$not, ${ }^{1 '} \mathrm{a}=$ caught. The last, the head of a chicken $={ }^{1 \prime} a$, phonetically used for ${ }^{1 ' a}$ to be caught, to catch (see $S N L$, p. 79).

Rubr. 8: The first two symbols ${ }^{2} n y i=f i s h,{ }^{1} d \ddot{u}=$ land are here read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}$ ${ }^{2}$ wùa and stand for hell (see $S N L$, p. 74, also NNCRC, p.86, note 23; p. 269, note 572). There are nine black houses in hell, the black dot $={ }^{1}$ na is in the symbol for ${ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ house.

Rubr. 9: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyü}-{ }^{2}$ dso ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dü}=$ juniper, lizzard, land; of these three symbols the two upper are phonetics for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyü}^{2}{ }^{2}$ dso $=$ the animal or brute world, the third is an ideograph, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{u}=$ realm (see $l$.c., p .85 ). Often the name is written wrongly ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyü}^{2}$ sso. Of the words ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1 '}$ 'a only the negation is written. The last symbol ${ }^{3} k h i u=$ lake refers to the poison lake which is said to exist in the animal world wherein the soul may be detained (see l.c., p. 85, also NNCRC, p. 84, note 18).

Page 3

Rubrics:

1) Nor have you been caught in the land of the Preta ( ${ }^{2} Y i$ i- ${ }^{8}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ diu).
2) You are escorted to the excellent realm of the beautiful 33 gods.
3) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yui} \cdot{ }^{3}$ munn- ${ }^{2} l \mathrm{ux} \cdot{ }^{2}$ ssĭ your body and soul are now at peace, your horse is well and its mane is beautiful; I the 'dto-'mba
4) have placed in your hand the golden butter lamp, let your mouth pronounce ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{llü} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ma- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ho}$ and light your lamp and present it before the great god ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw- ${ }^{2} b b u \check{-}{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ yi- $^{2}$ nděr.
5) Before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyu}-{ }^{1}$ aw- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ds}-{ }^{1}$ lĕr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü light your lamp.
6) Before ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~T} \cdot \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbu}$ - $^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü
7) light your lamp.
8) Before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndo}-{ }^{1}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ muàn $-{ }^{1}$ ndaw ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$ light and present your lamp.

Explanation of text

Kubr. 1: The first symbol a fat-bellied demon called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi} \cdot{ }^{8}$ ndaw stands on the symbol ${ }^{1}$ dü $=$ land (see $N N C R C$, p. 86, note 29 , also $S N L$, p.82).
Rubr. 2: On the outside of the enclosure in which a god sits are two flowers ${ }^{1} b \bar{a}$, here read ${ }^{2}$ szĭ $=$ beautiful. The remainder of the symbols are self explanatory (see NNCRC, p. 300, note 667).

Rubr. 3: As the deceased is given a horse to ride, it is here introduced; such a horse is called ${ }^{3}$ Tsan- ${ }^{1}$ ngu and usually figured thus: on the top of its head is the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{n v}$ or pine branch which represents the deceased. Soul in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is ${ }^{1} \bar{O}^{2}{ }^{2} h a ̈$, it is of ten only written as here with the symbol for moon, month $={ }^{\circ} h a ̈$, more correctly it is written in conjunction with the symbol for turquoise $={ }^{1} \bar{o}$ ing to note that the symu of an image or object. In our text only $={ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}} \mathrm{I}^{2} \mathrm{hä}=$ soul. It is interestbol ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ also stands for the shadow the moon symbol is written and ahove it that for body $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv}$, it can also stand for the adjective ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv}=$ good or well, in the sense of well being.
Rubr. 4: All eight symbols before the picture of the deity are phonetically the name of the god viz: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbu}-{ }^{-}$yi- ${ }^{-}$ndeyr, but nothing is known about him. The symbol 'ch'ung = carnelian is here a phonetic for ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ung $=$ to present, offer, it is attached to the lamp.

Rubr. 5: Of the name of this god only the first syllable ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyu}$, and the last two ${ }^{2} d s-{ }^{1}$ lĕr are written, the word ${ }^{1}$ aw is omitted. Nothing is known of him. The words ${ }^{1}$ gyu-1aw usually indicate the region of Kham and part of Amdo, Gya-de;

Rubr. 6: The four symbols in this rubric are applied phonetically in the name

Rubr. 8: ${ }^{1}$ Ndo- ${ }^{1}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ muàn- ${ }^{1}$ ndaw is fully written out, the symbols being used phonetically.

Rubr.9: The first two symbols are ${ }^{2} n y i-{ }^{2} m a ̈{ }^{2} t$ 'u $=$ sun rise, hence East, the

Page 4

Rubrics:

4) ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ ddii present your lamp.
 ${ }^{1}$ ddü present your lamp.
6) Before ${ }^{2}$ T'u- ${ }^{3}$ ts ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{ui}^{3}{ }^{3}$ 6. ${ }^{2}$ wuà ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}$ - ${ }^{1}$ ddü present your lamp.
7) Before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dshi}-{ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nděr}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddui present your lamp.
8) Before ${ }^{1} L$ ĕr ${ }^{2}$ gyu- ${ }^{0} g k y i-{ }^{2} g y u{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddii present your lamp.
9) Before ${ }^{1} L e ̌ r-{ }^{2} w u ̀ a-{ }^{2} p$ 'u- ${ }^{2} t$ ts'o $^{2} \mathrm{Hä-}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dd} \ddot{\mathrm{i}}$ present your lamp.
10) Before ${ }^{2} T$ 'a- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ lĕr- ${ }^{2}$ wuà ${ }^{2} H a ̈-1{ }^{1} d d u ̈$ present your lamp.

Explanation of text

Rubr. 1: This deity or deified ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba is well known. The symbol in the upper left is read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}_{\mathrm{i}}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'h' $^{1}{ }^{1}$ muen $=$ south, it represents the tail end of the water symbol ${ }^{1}$ gyi , all streams in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ land flow from north to south not only the Wu-liang Ho mentioned by the compilers of the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}-\mathrm{Chi}$ nese dictionary, Li Lin-ts'an and Ho Ts'ai (see Mo-so Hsiang-hsing wen-tzu tzu-tien [17], p. 19, no 185). The three other symbols spell the syllables
 It can be seen how difficult it is to decipher names of gods, etc., when one or often two syllables or even more, in the better known names, are omitted. (See NNCRC, p.151, note 167).

Rubr. 2: Of the western one $={ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2} \mathbf{}^{\mathrm{mä}}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{g} v$, also only three syllables are written: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ sвä. ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung, the last ${ }^{2} l \mathbf{l u}$ is omitted.

Rubr. 3: The northern one ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ho}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{l}$, this is indicated by the upper part of the water symbol ( fl , has all four syllables of his name written ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gv}=$ bear, ${ }^{1}{ }_{\text {ssä }}=$ goral, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ 'o $=$ basket, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}=$ goitre, the tones in the name are different in all but the last syllable from the pictographs here phonetically employed. (See l.c., note 167.)

Rubr.5: Of this ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba's name all syllables are written, ${ }^{2}$ Sso $=$ dry, ${ }^{1} y u=$ decayed, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dzĭ}=$ to tie (-up) and ${ }^{2} g v=$ body. (See l.c., note 167.) He is the central one (see p. 1, rubric 6).

Rubr. 6: The name of this god is fully written out: ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{T}$ ' $\mathbf{u}=$ trough, ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathbf{t s}$ ' $\mathbf{i}=$ millet, ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{s s}^{\prime}=$ liver, ${ }^{2}$ wuà $=$ five. Nothing is known of him, he occurs only in this text as far as ascertained.

Kubr. 7: Of his name only three syllables are written $={ }^{2} \mathrm{Mi}=$ fire, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dshi}=$ bird claws, and ${ }^{2}$ nděr $=$ a pond. The word ${ }^{3}$ gko is not written. This is the only place where his name occurs as far as known.

Rubr. 8: This is the well known leader of the $360^{2} \mathrm{Bä}-\mathrm{I}^{\mathrm{d}}$ 'a; see $N N C R C$, p. 133, note 117, Plate 40 . His name is here fully written out.

Kíubr.9: Another unknown deity. His name is fully written out ${ }^{1}$ Lěr = call, ${ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ house, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{p}$ ' $\mathbf{u}=\mathbf{a}$ buble, ${ }^{2}$ tg'o $=$ dance.

Kubr. 10: ${ }^{3}$ T'a- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ lěr- ${ }^{2}$ wuà all symbols phonetically used, ${ }^{3}$ T'a = pagoda, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ breath, ${ }^{1}$ lĕr $=$ call, ${ }^{2}$ wuà $=$ five. The name of this deity occurs only in this manuscript.

Page 5

Rubrics:

 your lamp.
 lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{s}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bpa}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtui}$
4) ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba present your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{2}$ Dtü- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo present your lamp.
6) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{2}{ }^{\text {yi}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbŭ}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$ present your lamp.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} l$ lü- ${ }^{1} d d u-{ }^{2}$ ndzĭ present your lamp.
8) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Z} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}-{ }^{2}$ ghügh- ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ wuà- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$ present your lamp.
9) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} S s-{ }^{2} b b u \check{-}{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2} t^{\prime} u$ and ${ }^{2} G k a w-{ }^{3} l l u ̈-1{ }^{1} n a-{ }^{2}$ wuà

Explanation of text

Rubr. 1 to 5: represent ${ }^{2} b p o ̈-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbö}$ or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto} \cdot^{1}$ mbas, while from $6-9{ }^{2} \mathrm{Häa}{ }^{1}$ ddii or great gods, the Tibetan Lha-chhen, are figured. Their names are all phonetically rendered. The only ones known are ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dtü} \cdot\left({ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}\right.$-) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}$ (see
 Nothing is known about the other gods and ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}}{ }^{\mathbf{m}}$ bas mentioned on this page. The ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{1}$ mbas wear the five-lobed crown, or the large broad hat in which they are often figured in miniatures on the first page of a manuscript. The gods are distinguished by their pointed headdress. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \mathrm{u}_{\mathrm{an}}{ }^{-}{ }^{-1} \| \ddot{-}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ndzi}$ is always easily recognized by his high forehead as in his Chinese representation as Shou-hsing.

Page 6
Rubrics:

1) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü light your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} G v-{ }^{2} m b b u ̆-{ }^{1}$ ssä- $-{ }^{2} s s u{ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈ -}{ }^{1} d d u ̈$ light and pressent your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ nyi- ${ }^{1}$ gkyi- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ngu}$ light and present your lamp.
 lamp.
4) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{u} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ wùa, light and present your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{2}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ ${ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ saw- ${ }^{1}$ la
6) light and present your lamp.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{1}$ yü- ${ }^{2} t^{2} i$. . .? . . ., light and present your lamp.
8) You have arrived before the great ${ }^{2}$ dto-mba and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü}^{-1} \mathrm{bu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yi} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{shi}^{1}{ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$ ${ }^{2}$ mo, light and present your lamp.
9) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{s a w}-{ }^{2}$ yr- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ de ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ dd ia, light and prosent your lamp.

Explanation of text

Rubs. 2: The name of this unknown deity is fully written out ${ }^{1} \mathbf{G v}=$ to prolect, ${ }^{1}$ mbbŭ $=$ to crawl, ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} s \ddot{a}=$ goral and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ssu}=a$ die.

Rubr.3: This is not a deity but a ${ }^{4} b p o{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}$, he officiates in the realm of the ${ }^{1}$ Sou Nāga clan who dwell in water. He is their ${ }^{2}$ do ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}$ a. See NNCRC, pp. 127, 148, note 157 . His name is fully written out: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}=$ decayed, ${ }^{2}$ ny $=$ sun, ${ }^{\text {a gey }}=$ shears, ${ }^{1}$ ngu $=$ a grain box.

Rube. 4: This is also a ${ }^{2} b \ddot{p o ̈ n}^{1}$ mbö, he serves the ${ }^{2}$ Dtü Nāga clan, his name is fully written: ${ }^{\mathbf{b}} \mathrm{bpa}=\mathrm{frog},{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtui}=$ to strike as on an anvil, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}=$ muntjak, ${ }^{2}$ ny $=$ fish. See l.c., pp. 127, 148, note 157.

Rubr. 5: This is apparently a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dd} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ or great god, nothing is known of him. His symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 6: ${ }^{2}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{2}$ ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ la is a terrestrial ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba (see l.c., pp. 127, 148, note 155; p.237).

Rubr. 8: A deity whose full name is not known as only three symbols are written namely: ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{M u ̀ a n}=$ heaven, ${ }^{1} \mathbf{y} \dot{\mathbf{u}}=$ sheep, and ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{t}$ 'i $=$ a carpenters plane.

Kubr. 9: This is the famous ${ }^{2}$ dto $-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mba}$ of the father of the human ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ ) often only indicated by the symbol for pig $={ }^{\prime} b u$, the Tibetan for pig is phag, and it is here so used but not read, pha or $p$ 'a means a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~L}$ lü- ${ }^{1}$ bu or ${ }^{2}$ Ssan- ${ }^{1}$ nyi- ${ }^{1}$ p'a or genuine sorcerer in contradistinction of a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba or last syllable of his name is ${ }^{2}$ zo here written with the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{zo}=\mathrm{a}$ jar of carthen ware. See NNCRC, p.216, note 377; p.227, note 404; p.526, note 807. He wears the trident-like ${ }^{1} \mathbf{B a ̈}-{ }^{2} k$ 'o and the long feathers of the ${ }^{2} g k o-^{1} n a$ the great black vulture Aegypus monachus of the northern grasslands, the hat is nsually figured thus:

This type of hat colloquially called ${ }^{2} S s u-{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'ĕr $\left.{ }^{3} \mathrm{dtä}-{ }^{2}\right]$ ä is only worn by ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mb}$ as performing the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$ funerary ceremony; the literary name is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Bä}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}$ 'o.

Rubr. 10: This is the great ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ celestial deity ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{s a w}-{ }^{2}$ yi- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ wùa- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{de}$. It is strange that the syllable ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black often occurs in his name, it is never read and not a single ${ }^{-d}$ do $\cdot^{1}$ mbal had asked could explain its presence. I have also so far been unsuccessfull to discover his Tibetan Bön identity which must undoubtedly exist, perhaps the syllable ${ }^{1}$ na is the key to it. See l.c., p. 129, note 108, also Plate 29.

Page 7

Rubrics:

1) You have arrived before ${ }^{2}$ Muàn- ${ }^{3} \mathbf{m i}^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{\prime}$ 'ĕr- ${ }^{-3}$ nyi ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈ a}-{ }^{1}$ ddü light and present your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{1}$ la- ${ }^{3}$ wu $-{ }^{1}$ gko ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ddü light and present your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} S s-{ }^{2} b p a-{ }^{2} t s^{\prime}{ }^{\prime a}-{ }^{1} g y u{ }^{2} H a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u ̈$ light and present your lamp.
4) You have arrived before the seven ${ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{Ngaw}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ggog}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ ( ${ }^{2}$ shěr- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}$ ) goddesses light and present your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} T$ 'u $\cdot{ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{3} g k v$, light and present your lamp.
6) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ho- ${ }^{1}$ bběr- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{khyu}$, light and present your lamp.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} d d \ddot{u}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathbf{a}} \mathbf{-}^{1} \mathrm{dd} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$,
8) light and present your lamp.
9) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} P \cdot u \cdot{ }^{1} l a{ }^{3} D{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}-{ }^{2} b b u$ light and present your lamp.
10) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ngo- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{p}$ 'u ${ }^{2}$ nyu ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$, light and present your lamp.
11) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ss}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{bpa}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ung. ${ }^{2}$ sso ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$,

Explanation of text

Rubr. 1: It seems to me that this deity represents ${ }^{9}$ Muàn ${ }^{-3}{ }^{-1}$ mi- ${ }^{2}$ bpa- ${ }^{1}$ lo rather scripts. The former is the mountain god of the Am-nye Ma-chhen. The symbols used here are: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Muàn}=$ not, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nyi}=$ penis. For explanation of the former see $N N C R C$, p. 132, note 116.

Rubr.2: This is the famous deity usually called ${ }^{3}$ Shou- ${ }^{1}$ la $-{ }^{3} \mathbf{w u}-{ }^{2}$ gko, identical with the Tibetan Bön gShen-lha-od-dkar, the father of the Bön gods. His name is here written ${ }^{2}$ Shi instead of ${ }^{3}$ Shou, with the symbol for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}$ gyu- ${ }^{3}$ na
${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}{ }^{10}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}=$ Mt. Kailas. See l.c., p. 169, note 242, also Frontice-piece to first volume of $N N C R C$, and Plate C, pp.259-262.

Rubr.3: Nothing is known of this deity. The symbols used in the name are Rubr. 4: These seven goddesses are called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ and are goddesses of victory. There are also nine ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}-\left({ }^{2} \mathrm{ng} \mathrm{v}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gkv}\right)$ or nine male victors they have however no special name. The name of these seven goddesses occurs only in this manuscript (see l.c., p. 135 , note 122 ).

Rubr. 5: Although the name here written is ${ }^{2}$ T'u- ${ }^{2} g k a w{ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{\mathbf{2} g k v}$, the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}$ ${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ng}^{-}{ }^{\mathbf{j}} \mathrm{gkv}$ are meant. See l.c., p. 703; 145, note 145.

Rubr. 6: Nothing is known of this deity. The symbols used in writing his name are: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{t}$ ' $\mathrm{i}=\mathrm{a}$ carpenter's plane, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}=$ body, 'ho $=$ the milky way, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{khyu}=$ the Garuḍa and ${ }^{1}$ bbĕr $=$ rope.

 $=$ white, ${ }^{1} l a=$ hand. See $p .8$, rubric 6.

Rubr. 10: This deity is figured with hands folded; the words ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{ng}}$ o actually mean god I; it may however be part of the name of the deity, the rest of the name is written ${ }^{2} \mathbf{p}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}=\mathbf{a}$ bubble, and ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{nyu}=$ to wiggle, to shiver.

Rubr. 11: These symbols have already been explained. Nothing is known of this deity.

Page 8

Rubrics:

1) light and present your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{P} \cdot \mathbf{u}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h o u} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ ddü, light and pressent your lamp.
 your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}_{\text {sä- }}{ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ ar- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbbŭ}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and pressent your lamp.
4) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}$ aaa- ${ }^{2}$ shi- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddo}{ }^{2} \mathrm{H} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$, light and present your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{a}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}_{8}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bpa}$, light and present your lamp.

6) light and present your lamp.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ggiu}-{ }^{2}$ shr- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{nv}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Hä-}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$, light and present your lamp.
 sent your lamp.

Explanation of text

Of all these deities only one is known, namely ${ }^{1} D s a ̈-{ }^{2}$ sha- ${ }^{1}$ a- ${ }^{2}$ d do in rubvic 5. He is better known as ${ }^{1}$ Dsä- ${ }^{2}$ shin- ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{2}$ dido. See $N N C R C$, p. 149, note 162. He is the ${ }^{2} b p \ddot{P^{1}}{ }^{1}$ mbö who suppresses the ${ }^{1}$ Dsä demons. Here he is called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}$ - ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dd} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=$ great god. The word ${ }^{2}$ dido is borrowed from the Tibetan, six in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is ${ }^{8} \mathrm{ch}$ 'wuss.

In rubric 6, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}{ }^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1}$ la is written with a tiger's (head) $={ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{la}$ instead of the symbol for hand $={ }^{1}$ la. See p. 7 , rubric 9 .

Page 9

Rubrics:

1) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{ng}} 0-{ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{1} g k o{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈}-{ }^{1}$ yü-
3) ${ }^{1}$ te $\dddot{a ̈-a}^{2}$ chwua ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H} \ddot{\mathrm{a}} \mathbf{-}^{1} \mathrm{ddü}$, light and present your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
4) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~T}$ g'̈̈- ${ }^{1}$ la. $\cdot^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{3}$ dtěr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Gkyi}-^{2} \mathrm{yu}^{2}{ }^{2}$ sso- ${ }^{2}$ mbbŭe ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddü}$, light and present your lamp.
6) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} L a-{ }^{2} b b u ̌-{ }^{2} t ' u-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{H a ̈} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
 sent your lamp.

Explanation of text

Of the deities here enumerated only one is known, he is ' $\mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \mathrm{u}^{-2} \mathbf{}^{2}$ 'u${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü; the first syllable of his name is here written with the symbol for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ha}=$ god, it is the Tibetan lha $=$ god, and its Tibetan phonetic has been borrowed as happens often in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ texts. He is equivalent to the Tibetan Lha-bon-thod-dkar, he was the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bpö}{ }^{1} \mathbf{m b}{ }^{\mathbf{m}}$ of the gods and a great god himself. He was also the grandfather of ${ }^{8}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo (gShen-rab(8)-mi-bo). See NNCRC, p. 148, note 158.

All the other gods are unknown.

Page 10

Rubrics:

 sent your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{x}^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-1$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{shi} \cdot{ }^{-}{ }^{\mathbf{t}}$ 'a. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
4) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}^{1}$ saw- ${ }^{3}$ gkyi- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ diu, light and aresent your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} G k v-{ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{2}$ waw- ${ }^{1}$ mbbŭe ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈ -}{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
6) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S} s-{ }^{2}$ mun- $\cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ghügh}$,
7) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddü}$, light and present your lamp.
8) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mi}^{3} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{yi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathrm{z} h i}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot-{ }^{1} d d u ̈$, light and present your lamp.
9) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{p}^{\prime} u$ - ${ }^{1}$ ts'o ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{-1} d d u ̈$, light and pressent your lamp.

Explanation of text

The names of all the above gods occur only in this manuscript.
Rubs. 1: The symbols used in writing his name are: ${ }^{1} \mathbf{Y u}=$ decayed, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gkyi}=$ cloud, ${ }^{3}$ seam $=$ breath, ${ }^{1}$ la $=$ hand and ${ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ house.
Ruhr. 2: The first symbol is 'hag and is here not part of the name. The second symbol below is read ${ }^{2}$ gkaw and is derived from the Tibetan, the third upper is ' t 'u $=\mathrm{a}$ trough.

Ruhr. 3: The upper symbol is ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black, derived from the Tibetan character nag $=$ black, followed by ${ }^{2}$ sha $=$ meat, ${ }^{3}$ t'a $=$ pagoda, and ${ }^{1} y u=$ decayed.
Rubr.4: Of the four symbols used the first is ${ }^{1} y \mathbf{u}=$ sheep, and the third ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkyi}=$ shears.

Rubr.5: None of these symbols has appeared before in this text. The first is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head, the second is represented by a symbol whose original sound complex is ${ }^{1}$ ndi, it represents the young, curled frond of the Bracken fern, Pteridium aquilinum, which in early spring is gathered by the children for food for in the spring food is scarce and must be augmented by wild growing plants. ${ }^{\mathbf{i}} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ peasant land-holdinga are not large and if the family consists of fivo members there is usually not enough grain left to last till the first new crop comes in, hence the saying: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndi}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndi ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkwuo}{ }^{-1} \mathrm{gkwuo},{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkyi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{9}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ shĕr which literally means: fern young fern (frond) curled, child small inside again redeemed, freely translated: When the young ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndi}$ fronds appear, there is no fear of chidren to die of hunger.

The next symbol is ${ }^{1}$ zaw $=$ planet, and the last ${ }^{1}$ mbbŭe it is the picture of a book or manuscript. This is an old literary term, the colloquial for book is ${ }^{2}$ 'i'ä-gheügh.

Kubr.6: The first symbol has been explained, the second is ${ }^{2}$ mun $=$ heaveu, a conventionalized form. The third can he read 'lo and also ${ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$, it represents a valley with a spring and flowing water. Here it is read 'lo = valley; the last is the companyon of the ${ }^{2}$ Mun demons, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ghügh}$, the short lines on the arms and legs represent hair. (See NNCRC, pp. 116-120; p. 93, note 47.)

Rubr. 8: Of these four two have been explained, the second is ${ }^{2}$ yi $=$ a serow, the last ${ }^{1} \mathrm{zhi}=$ snake.

Kubr.9: Two of the symbols only need an explanation. The first is usually read ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}$ = to crow, a chicken crowing, here it is read ${ }^{1}$ khyu, 'Khyu =chicken is a Tibetan loan word and in such a case the phonetic character 'khyu is usually inserted, see p. 12, rubric 5. The last symbol is 'ts'o $=$ elephant.

Page 11

Rubrics:

 your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-\mathbf{- ~}^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{1}{ }^{1}$ saul- ${ }^{1}$ iso ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddüu, light and present your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S} s \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{bpa}-{ }^{2}$ gi. ${ }^{2}$ mun
4) ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
 your lamp.
6) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S} s \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{bpa}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{l} a-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$, light and present your lamp.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{1}$ La- ${ }^{\mathbf{g} g k o-~}{ }^{1}$ yü- ${ }^{-8} 880{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{H} \mathbf{H a ̈ -}{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
8) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}-{ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{g} k o}-{ }^{-}$gi- ${ }^{2}$ mung ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddïu, light and present your lamp.

Explanation of text

Ruhr. 1: There seems to be a repetition, or the deity mentioned on page 9, rubric 8 , is a different one. I personally believe it is a repetition.

The symbols in the other rubrics have already been explained on previous pages. There are to be questioned the last symbols of rubrics 3 and 8 respectively. These symbols are read ${ }^{9}$ Mùan = heaven, but here they have the sound value of ${ }^{\text { m m }}$, see page 10 , rubric 6 . If the last two syllables are part of the name then the following two: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} d \ddot{i}$ are correct, if they stand however for present your lamp.
 However I believe that ${ }^{2}$ gui- ${ }^{2}$ mun is part of the name, for the syllable ${ }^{2}$ mun in the title ${ }^{2}$ gui. ${ }^{2}$ mun is always written with the one of rubric 6 of page 10 , never with 'mùan $=$ heaven.

Page 12

Rubrics:

 sent your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{2}$ do- ${ }^{2}$ s so ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and pressent your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
9) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathbf{G k v}-{ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{1}$ maw- ${ }^{1}$ mbbŭe ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈ a}-{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{d d u ̈}$, light and present your lamp.

Explanation of text

Rubr. 1: The only symbol to be explained here is that for $\operatorname{dog}={ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'ö; it is the last one in the rubric.

Rubr. 4 and 5: In each of these two rubrics appears the syllable ${ }^{2}$ do $=$ board (a wooden board, pine board) in rubric 4 it is vertical and in rubric 5 it is horizontal.

Rubr. 6, 7 and 8: each have the symbol 'khü = lake, compare with the last symbol in the name on page 3, rubric 4, there the ${ }^{3} k$ ki i symbol is full of dots, it is read ${ }^{2}$ ndĕr $=$ a pond, a shallow one showing parts of the dry bottom.

Page 13

Rubrics:

1) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot{ }^{1}$ yü- ${ }^{2}$ muàn- ${ }^{1}$ yüu ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H} \ddot{a}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and present your lamp.
2) You have arrived before ${ }^{1}$ Lo- ${ }^{2} g k v-{ }^{2}$ ngaw- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{3}$ ts'ü ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H}$ au- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ddü}$, light and present your lamp.
 sent your lamp.
3) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngv}-{ }^{-1}$ a- ${ }^{2}$ gnaw- ${ }^{1}$ bbĕr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} d d u ̈$, light and prosent your lamp.
 your lamp.
 your lamp.
4) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} \mathbf{0}-\left({ }^{1} \text { geo. }\right)^{2}$ iso. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mbbu}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and prosent your lamp.
5) You have arrived before ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Gko} \cdot{ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{2}$ ar $-{ }^{2}$ na $-1 / \mathrm{l} v{ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1}$ ddü, light and pressent your lamp.
 your lamp.

Explanation of text

The symbols in the first three rubrics have already been explained.
Rubr.4: The first symbol has two readings, the primary one is ${ }^{3} \mathrm{hu}=$ the stomach of a ruminant the second is ${ }^{2}$ ngv $=$ firm, strong. This deity is usually called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{l}$ a $\cdot{ }^{3}$ gro $\cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b}$ bur, see SNL , II., p. 112, and Plate 37, sect. 100; also NNCRC, p. 131, note 111.

Ruhr. 5: In ms. no 2012 appears the syllable ${ }^{1}$ dshi $=$ claw of a bird of prey instead of ${ }^{2}$ ch' $i=$ the weight of a scale, the second symbol in the rubric.

Rubr. 6: The first character is $\overline{\mathbf{A}}$, a Tibetan syllable borrowed by the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathbf{}^{-1}{ }^{-1}$ as for the syllable ${ }^{2} \mathbf{\delta}$, this letter always stands for ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O} \cdot{ }^{1}$ geo ${ }^{2}$ aw- ${ }^{1}$ geo when it occurs alone, here it has simply the sound value ${ }^{2} \mathbf{0}$. The last symbol in the name: ${ }^{\mathbf{a}}$ chung represents an awl, it is followed by the numeral 13, i.e., 10 and 3. In ms., no 2012 the name is followed by the figure of a god. There are apparently $\mathbf{l} 3$ gods bearing that collective name.

Kubr. 8: In this ms. the head of the bird was very indistinct and it may have been that of a duck $={ }^{9} a w$, i.e., a tame duck, a wild duck is called ${ }^{2}$ mb'a; thus the name may have to be read ${ }^{2} A w-{ }^{2} g k a w-{ }^{2}$ ä- ${ }^{2} n a-1 / 2$. In ms., no 2012, the name protruding and enunciating ${ }^{\boldsymbol{a} a}$; the symbol has no other meaning. The last one in the name is that of a dragon $={ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{v}$, probably derived from the Chinese lung.

Kubr.9: The last symbol in the name of this deity is ${ }^{\text {d }} \mathrm{llu}=a \operatorname{tick}$, such as afflict sheep and cattle.

Page 14

Rubrics:

 your lamp.
 and present your lamp.
3) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Y} \ddot{\mathrm{u}} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{a}}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l u \dot{u}-{ }^{2}$ sse you have arrived at the beautiful mountain
4) and beautiful cliff which never grow old, you have arrived at ${ }^{2}$ Mùan${ }^{9} l l u ̈-{ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1}$ gi ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Kh}$ ii which never dries up, (you have arrived) at the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2}$ yo- ${ }^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ daw- ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr which never ages, and at ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N g y u}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{na}-{ }^{3}$ she- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{lo}$ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}$ gu which never grows old.
5) You have arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv}^{-1} \mathbf{p}^{\prime}$ eger- ${ }^{2} 8 s i \overline{1}{ }^{1}$ nggü which never diminishes in size.
6) You have arrived at the torch of the gods which is never extinguished.
7) You have arrived before ${ }^{2} D d v-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'er ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}^{-}{ }^{9} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} k h y u$ (Garuḍa) who is never ill and whose wings scintillate; you have arrived where ${ }^{10} 0$ - ${ }^{1}$ agr${ }^{2}$ mùan. ${ }^{2}$ ndshĕr dwells and whose voice (the thunder) never grows weak.
8) You have arrived in the beautiful 33 realms of the gods on high.

Explanation of text

Rubs. 2: The swastika is read ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{2}$ dido it is the Tibetan gYung-drung, see $N N C R C$, p. 115, note 81 , there are 18 Swastika gods called ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}^{2}{ }^{2} g y u$, they occur only here in this manuscript.

Rubs. 3: The deceased is here shown with a monkey head $={ }^{1} y \ddot{u}$, indicating that he is now considered an ancestor, see pages 1 and 2, and rubrics 9 and 2 and 5 respectively. The symbol ${ }^{2}$ sso is not read here but in conjuction with that of mountain denotes a high mountain where the thin air causes ringing in the ears; the flower symbols attached to that of the mountain imply that the mountain is beautiful, see page 3 , rubric 2 . What the meaning of the symbol ${ }^{2}$ szŭ $=$ willow leaves is could not be determined.

Kubr. 4: We have here the symbol for cliff also with a flower attached to it read Manasarowar (see $N N C R C$, p.424, note 771 ), it is only written with the abridged syınbol ${ }^{2}$ Mun instead of ${ }^{2}$ Mùsn, and the symbol for lake $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k}$ hü; of the sentence which never dries up, only the symbol for the negation ${ }^{2}$ muan is written, it is immediately to the right of the ${ }^{2}$ mun symbol. The following symbol represents a juniper growing on the mystic mountain of the universe, Sumeru, or Kailas. It is the wish-granting tree (see l.c., p. 437, note 772; use branches of Magnolia delavayi, native to, as well as cultivated in the Lichiang district to represent ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{-1} \mathrm{daw}{ }^{1}$ ndzĕr. The next important symbol is that representing ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu} \cdot{ }^{8}{ }^{8}{ }^{2} \cdot{ }^{2}$ shi- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$, the wavy lines extending from the sides near the top indicate ${ }^{2}$ saǐ- ${ }^{1}$ shĕr $=$ longevity. The next two symbols to the right of the mountain are read ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ mun $=$ never (grow) old; the word ${ }^{8}$ mun $=$ a horse fly, can mean both old in the sense of age of a man, and also deceased, dead, a polite way of speaking of the death of an old person $={ }^{8}$ mun. See page 2 , rubric 1 .

Rubr.5: ${ }^{2}$ Ddv- ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr- ${ }^{2}$ ssi $-{ }^{1}$ nggui is the mythical lion of Tibet, and with the (see $N N C R C$, p. 162, note 214). The symbol 'gkyi $=$ shears stands for "gkyi $=$ small, here: diminish in size.

Kubr.6: We see here a deity with a lighted torch, the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire is on the etick representing the torch.
 the first symbol (see l.c., p. 393, note 769); beside him is the symbol ${ }^{1}$ ngu $=$ a grain box, here it betokens ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ ngu $=$ illness an abstract idea which cannot be written with a pictograph. The dragon in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is called ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}$ - ${ }^{1} h a ̆ r=$ blue, ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ sky (heaven), ${ }^{2}$ ndshĕr $=$ power, his roar is the thunder, the line extending from his mouth indicates his voice issuing.
 ${ }^{1} g g \check{c o}^{2} l a ̈{ }^{2} t ' u=$ God of land beautiful three hundred six ten on high again arrive. The symbol ${ }^{1}$ ggor the second in the rubric represents a bench, here it stands both for the genitive case ${ }^{2}$ ggǒ and ${ }^{1}$ ggŏ $=$ on high. The symbol ${ }^{1} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} u$ $=$ trough, here ${ }^{\mathbf{t}} \mathbf{t}$ 'u $=$ arrive, is over the symbol 'dü = land, realm.

Page 15
Rubrics:
 and its mane is beautiful.
2) Let there be seen three generations in the family of the mourning son

3) Let us quickly attain long life.
4) In the East on ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngyu}-{ }^{1}$ shwua and on ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er- ${ }^{2} / \mathrm{lv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbbu}$ light your lamp; light your lamp before the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathbf{p}^{1}$ 'err ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}$, there go!

Explanation of text

Ruhr. 1: The only symbol to be explained here is the oblong one, bottom centre, it is read ${ }^{2} k h u ̈{ }^{2}=$ teeth, a mouth showing an upper and lower row of teeth, here it stands for ${ }^{1} k h \ddot{u}=$ to be at peace, at ease.

Rubr. 2: See page 2, rubric 2; the eyes with lines protruding indicate seeing, to see $={ }^{1}$ dd.

Rubr.3: The sentence reads with the Sd symbol to end of rubric: ${ }^{2}$ Sui 'sher ${ }^{2} h a w-{ }^{2} y r^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{hu}!=$ longevity duration have, let that be so! See NNCRC, p. 485.

Ruhr. 4: ${ }^{2}$ Div. ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr $=$ white (as the) conch, ${ }^{2}$ ngyu ${ }^{1}$ shwua $=$ mountain high; ${ }^{2}$ Div- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr $=$ conch white, ${ }^{2} l v-{ }^{2}$ mbbŭ rock pile, a cairn such as are erected on high mountain passes, it is the Mongol Oboe, such an Obb is indicated by the symbol representing piled up rocks. This is followed by a butter lamp and the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}=$ vagina, here for ${ }^{2}$ wuà $-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}=$ yes indeed. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}-{ }^{-1}$ la are white spirits of victory $={ }^{2}$ ngaw, see l.c., p. 140 , note 133 . The foot symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\ddot{0}=$ foot stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \mathbf{k}$ ’ $\boldsymbol{o}=$ to liberate, to be free to go; the last symbol represents a saw $={ }^{2} f(\mathrm{fŭ}$, it serves here for the imperative of go, be gone!

${ }^{8} \mathrm{MUN}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{NDZER}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~A}{ }^{1} \mathrm{LA}{ }^{2} \mathrm{DZHU}$ or SONG OF THE DEAD, RELATING THE ORIGIN OF BITTERNESS

Slow (ad libitum) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ZA}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ZA}{ }^{2} \mathrm{TS}{ }^{\prime} 0$

Tune to which ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Munn}^{2}$ ndzěr ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ää ${ }^{2}$ dzhu is sung.
This song I found recorded in a very ancient manuscript which I acquired by purchase from a peasant from north of Li-chiang in the commune of La-pao within the Yangtze loop. Manuscripts of this type are very rare indeed. The transcription and translation of this song was made from the above mentioned manuscript which bore the number 2760. However this book was lost with other ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}$ - ${ }^{2}$ khi material when the S. S. Richard Hovey was sunk by the Japanese in 1944, in the Arabian Sea, en route to the States from Calcutta. I had however found two other manuscripts bearing that title, one of which, no 1091, is no more in my possession, but a photostat copy is in my library; the negative is preserved in the Library of Congress in Washington D. C.

Only the first page and first rubric of page 2 are different from $\boldsymbol{m s}$., no 2760. The actual song commences with the second rubric of page 2 . The second ms., I was fortunate to acquire in 1947 , is practically identical with no 2760 . It is no 7020 and is in my private library.

The ms. from which the translation was made in 1940 was very old and nearly fell to pieces, but the text was still very clear. It consisted of nine folios ( 18 pages), 11 inches long, and $3^{1 / 2}$ inches wide, with each page divided into three lines.

Un the cover of ms., no 7020 is an oblong frame with double line margins crowned by a 'lěr ${ }^{2}$ mbbŭ ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ch'i $=$ love knot, the Tibetan dpal-gyi-beu, the Sanscrit Srivatsa. Within the frame on the left, is depicted a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d t o}^{\mathbf{1}}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ sitting on a bench holding the ${ }^{3}$ Mùen ${ }^{1} t^{2} u$ or funeral wand. On each side is a figure with legs astride, the left one holding a trident in one hand and the head of a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dv}$ demon with the other. The right hand one is brandishing a sword with one hand, arm raised, and in the other he also holds a 'Ddv demon's head by the hair.

Explanation of symbols in the title

The first symbol represents a large horse fly, such as occur on the high alpine meadows in the summer, they emerge only when the sun shines, and hide when overcast, they are blood suckers and a plague to both man and beast; the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ns} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ call them ${ }^{3}$ mun, here the symbol stands for ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ dead, it has also the meaning of old. ${ }^{3}$ Mun is a refined term for dead, the colloquial for dead is ${ }^{2}$ shi. Below is the symbol for tree ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr, here its phonetic value is borrowed for ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr $=$ to sing, it is often written thus: a tree which stands for the phonetic and to it attached a mouth with sound issuing, hence ${ }^{2} n d z e ̌ r=$ to sing. Another way of writing it is: a man walking along with his mouth open and on his tongue the phonetic ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr, here ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr $=$ to sing. The ${ }^{1} N a-{ }^{2} k h i$ when traveling with companions over the mountains usually sing impromtu songs, one man will improvise a line and the others wilt sing an appropriate verse in reply. Ballads or ditties are called in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bbǔ}$, the first syllable stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bbu}$ e is a ballad or ditty, or lyric song. ${ }^{2} \AA$ means the first in time, long ago, in the dim past, here for euphony's sake read in the third tone, it has reference to the origin of the subject of the song bitterness, sorrow $={ }^{2}$ dzhu the first to experience sorrow. Below is the symbol for musk deer $={ }^{2}$ lä, here ${ }^{1}$ lä means "again". The last symbol represents an ancient rifle, called ${ }^{1}$ dzhu in ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba books, ${ }^{2} d z h u$ also means to empty; here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dzhu}=$ bitterness, sorrow.

${ }^{2}$ MUN ${ }^{2}$ NDZER ${ }^{3}$ A ${ }^{1}$ LA ${ }^{2}$ DZHU

First Page:

Rubr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Wùa- ${ }^{1}$ ssí ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}{ }^{1}$ läa ${ }^{2}$ dzhu
Rubr. 3: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ t'u ${ }^{2}$ gkv ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ Bhou, ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{1}$ dzo ${ }^{2}$ shou ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ nyi
Rubr. 4: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{3}$ bbŭe ${ }^{2}$ gkv ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ Bhou
Rubr.5: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{1}$ dzo $^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nyi}$

First Page:

1) 0 ! The bitterness (experienced) by the father we will relate
2) The father's bitterness we will again relate
3) If one does not relate of the origin of bitterness then one cannot speak about it
4) One must relate of the origin of bitterness
5) Or about bitterness one must not speak
6) In the beginning of things man knew no bitterness
7) Bitterness originated at ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{2} l l i ̈-{ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{1} l o \cdot{ }^{2} \mathbf{k}$ 'o
8) At ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ 8su- ${ }^{1} l o-{ }^{2} k$ 'o it was that bitterness first came forth
9) From ${ }^{2}$ Mùan $-{ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ ssu $-{ }^{1} l o \cdot{ }^{2} k$ 'o it was that the son first led bitterness
10) At ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-1_{s 8 u} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dzhu}$ of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~A}-1 \mathrm{khi}$ bitterness first originated.

Explanation of text

Page 1
Rubr. 1: The first symbol is that of the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{d t o}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ in charge of the funeral; he is called ${ }^{2}$ Lo $-^{1}$ ch'ung. ${ }^{2}$ ndaw. ${ }^{1}$ khü, the name is not translatable, it is the official designation of such a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto.$^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mba}$, he holds in his hand the funeral wand called 'Mùen- ${ }^{1}$ ' $\mathbf{u}$ or bamboo staff, the upper part of which is of especial design (l).

Below his staff is the symbol for grain ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{0}$, here it stands for the first syllable of a ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chant beginning with $\bar{O} \bar{O} \bar{O} \bar{O}$ ! The next two symbols are read ${ }^{1} \ddot{a}-{ }^{1}$ ssĭ, the first upper represents a mouth with voice issuing from it, it means first, the beginning as of sound, here it is the first syllable in the name for father, the latter is indicated by the figure of a man with the symbol for wood ${ }^{2}$ ss on the top of his head; it is here actually read ${ }^{1}$ ssir the second syllable in the word; father is always written that way and usually without the phonetic ${ }^{1}$ ä. ${ }^{3}$ Dta is the phonetic value of the third symbol, it actually represents a box with a cover, here its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}=$ to tell, to relate. The animal head is that of a musk deer with fangs, it is called ${ }^{2} l a ̈$, it is used for the adverb ${ }^{2} l a ̈=$ again, but for euphony's sake read in the first tone. The last symbol is a picture of an ancient gun, of the flint-lock type or muzzleloader with three bullets, as such it is read ${ }^{2} d z h u$, it means to empty, and the symbol seems to indicate that three bullets were being emptied from the gun. Ite phonetic value has here been borrowed for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d z h}=$ sorrow, Bitterness, misery.
Rubr. 2: This is a repetition of rubric one with the exception that the syllable ${ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ house is used instead of ${ }^{1} \ddot{\mathbf{a}}$ in the term for father, as a variation, as he is the lord of the house or home. The meaning is the same.
Rubr.3: The first syllable has been explained; below is the symbol for trough ${ }^{1} t$ 'u, here used for ${ }^{2} t$ 'u $=$ to come forth in conjunction with ${ }^{2} g k v=h e a d$, the third syllable here meaning first, for the head comes first, hence first come forth. Below it is the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, it represents an empty trap hence nothing. Other ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas explain the symbol as the lightless moon or the new moon which is invisible hence no light, not. Below it is a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ- ${ }^{1}$ baw letter which appears to be of Chinese origin but with a totally different phonetic value and meaning, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} k h i$ reading is ${ }^{3}$ shou $=$ to speak, talk, while the Chinese reading is shang $=$ above, etc. This is followed again by the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dzhu $=$ bitterness, and below it the symbol for a manger with fodder in it, indicated by the dots or short lines, a manger is called ${ }^{1}$ dzo, here it stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzo}$ the adverb about, i.e. about bitterness, in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ the adverb follows the noun, (one) must not talk. We have again the ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{1}$ baw letter ${ }^{3}{ }^{3} h o u=$ to talk, speak, the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn and the numeral ${ }^{1}$ nyi = two, here it stands for ${ }^{2}$ nyi in conjunction with ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, $i$. e. should not, ought not to, is not needed; ${ }^{2}$ nyi also means to want, wish.
Rubr. 4: The meaning is the same as of the first sentence of rubric 3 , the only word that is different is ${ }^{3} b b u ̆ e,{ }^{3} b b u ̆ e ~ a n d ~{ }^{2} t ' u$ have the same meaning and often occur together ${ }^{2} t^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} u \cdot{ }^{3} b b u \check{e}=$ origin, it is the second symbol of the first row and represents a twig of a weed (Artemisia) of which two species occur in waste places around villages and ditches, one has white roots and has green leaves, and one has black roots and grayish tomentose leaves. The first one is always used in the purification ceremony; as representing the Artemisia it is read in the second tone. ${ }^{3}$ Bbŭe has actually the meaning moving, in the sense of a nestling making its first flight, its first attempt to leave the nest.

Rubr.5: This has again the same meaning as the second sentence of rubric 3, only here the word ${ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}=$ do occurs, it is the lower third symbol and represents a hoe, the dots below are clots of earth, actually digging, working with a hoe, hence doing.

Rubr.6: The first symbol 'ä has been explained in rubric one, ${ }^{\text {Ita'éa }}$ is the symbol below ${ }^{1} \mathbf{a}$, it representa a lump of salt $=^{2}$ 'ts'ä, here read in the first tone in conjunction with ${ }^{2}$ ä it has the meaning in the beginning of things, of life. The animal head is that of a jackal $={ }^{2} d z \bar{i}$, strange to say this symbol, unless otherwise indicated always stands for people, it is used phonetically; the preflood ancestors of man are meant i.e. of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$, the post-flood ancestors are indicated by 'tis'o an elephant. The last of the pre-flood ancestors was ${ }^{2}$ Dzī $\cdot{ }^{2}$ zä- ${ }^{1}$ ts'o ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ zä and the first post-flood ancestor, he that alone survived the it read, but is understood. In the beginning man (knew) no bitterness.

Rubr.7: The first two symbols have been explained, the third is a demon with a tail, he is called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \mathrm{ann}^{-}{ }^{3} \mathrm{llü}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ssu $\cdot{ }^{2}$ ndzŭ, he was the enemy of the father of the human race ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{-3} l u \dot{-} \cdot{ }^{-1} d d u \cdot{ }^{2}$ ndzĭ; the origin of bitterness may have originated with him but in another ms., we read: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2} t^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3}$ Ilü- ${ }^{1}$ ssu'lo. ${ }^{2} k$ 'o ${ }^{2} n n i i{ }^{~}{ }^{2} t$ 'u, here it is the name of a place and the third syllable in the demon's name $={ }^{1}$ ssu is used phonetically and the other syllables are not written. In ms.no. 1091 the phrase is written thus:
 $\mathrm{Mu}-\mathrm{li}$ [18] to the north of the Mu-li lamasery in Hsi-k'ang [19] on the banks of the Shu-gyi or Iron River; it is not the Wu-liang Ho [20] but a river which has its source in Na -wu and which river I baptized the T'ieh-ho [21], a Chinese translation of the ${ }^{\mathbf{N}} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ name $=$ Iron River; for discussion as to the source etc., of that river see my The Ancient Na-khi Kingdom, etc., Vol.I, p.110, n.60; Vol.II, pp. 384-385, n. 5. The symbol above that for trough $=^{1}$ ' $u$, represents a human heart called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ nnü, here it stands for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nn} \mathbf{u}=\mathrm{it}$, i.e. bitterness.

Rubr.8: This is identical with rubric 7 except that the word 'bbure is used instead of ${ }^{2}$ 'tu; see rubric 4.

 son (of that place) who first led bitterness. Instead of writing the symbol for son $=^{2} z o$, the phonetic of ${ }^{2} z o=j a r$ has been used as the figur of a man can be read in several ways besides ${ }^{2}$ zo. The last symbol in the rubric represents a die $={ }^{1}$ ssu, here its phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{{ }^{\text {sssu }}} \mathbf{=}$ to lead. Literally: son he bitterness first led. Below the ${ }^{{ }^{\text {ssen }}}$ sumbol is a syllabic character or ${ }^{2}$ ggo ${ }^{-1}$ baw letter read ${ }^{2}$ ssä, added to a verb it denotes the past tense. Some times instead of the ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ-' ${ }^{\text {b }}$ baw letter the pictograph ${ }^{1}$ ssä $=$ goral is used for the same purpose.

Rubr. 10: The first symbol ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\text {ä, }}$, already described, is the first syllable in the name of a hsiang [22] or commune on the western branch of the Yangtze loop and west of the snow range, namely ${ }^{4}{ }^{\mathrm{A}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{khi}$, the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{khi}$ is the second one, it represents an ear of paddy, polished rice is called ${ }^{2}$ ch'wua. ${ }^{2}{ }^{\mathrm{Ndaw}}$ - $^{1}$ ssu. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d} z h u$ is the name of a village in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{1}$ khi, it is situated on the east bank of the Yangtze between Shih-ku [23] and A-hsi [24] the Chinese transcription of ${ }^{2}{ }^{\mathrm{A}}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{khi}$ or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~A} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{khi}$ as it is also called. The symbols whose phonetic values spell the name of the village are ${ }^{3}$ Ndaw a sword or knife with a line through it meaning to cut, then the numeral $3={ }^{1}$ ssu, composed of three short lines, and ${ }^{2}$ dzhu already explained; perhaps this village has been selected as being one place where bitterness originated, because of the last syllable ${ }^{2}$ dzhu in its name. The other symbols have already been explained.

Second Page:

Rubr. 3: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyu}^{3}$ mung ${ }^{2}$ nyu ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ non Rubr. 4: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ss}^{{ }^{1}}{ }^{1}$ hi ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$. ${ }^{1}$ bpäa ${ }^{3}$ ndaw Rubr. 5: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}{ }^{1}$ gzŭ ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Iä ${ }^{1}$ wu ${ }^{3} k$ ' $\ddot{ }$
Rubr. 6: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyu}$ ' ${ }^{\text {o }}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nyu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ 'a Rubr. 7: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}{ }^{1}{ }^{\circ}{ }^{2}$ nyu ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1}$ ddo Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2}$ Nnüu ${ }^{10}{ }^{2}$ nyu
Rubr.9: ${ }^{2}$ Iä ${ }^{1}$ ddo Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyu}{ }^{3}$ mung ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nyu}{ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ non

Second Page:

1) To learn to make things (learn a profession) here is bitterness
2) ${ }^{3}$ Ssŭ--'ssä- ${ }^{2}$ zo (of) ${ }^{1}$ Shu- ${ }^{-1 /}$
3) When he was old he did not know it
4) he made a yellow wooden ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lo}{ }^{-1}$ bpa
5) and went again to wash gold
6) his shadow was projected on the water
7) he saw his shadow reflected on the water
8) his own shadow
9) he saw (reflected)
10) he was old and he then knew it;
11) on the horizon where the clouds adjoin heaven, the old crane did not know (was not aware of) he was old.

Explanation of text

Page 2

Rubr. 1: The first symbol read 'ō represents turquoise, more probably a silver charm box worn around the neck and studded with turquoise, or a brooch worn by ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ women, hence also an object, a thing, the second symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dzhu}$ stands for bitterness. ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{T}$ 'a represents a flag, here ' t ' $\mathrm{a}=$ to provide, to make,
${ }^{1}$ sso is said to be a picture of a scale such as is used in China, others say it represents a fallen tree with dead branches, hence ${ }^{2}$ sso $=$ dry, here read ${ }^{1}$ sso $=$ to learn. The last symbol read ${ }^{2} k^{\prime} \ddot{0}=$ foot stands here for ${ }^{3} k$ ' $\ddot{\boldsymbol{u}}=$ to go, it is so used in conjunction with ${ }^{1}$ sso and is a colloquialism, see rubric 7 , of page 9.

Rubr.2: The first symbol has been explained, below it is that for valley $={ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$, here it is the fourth syllable in the name of the place. The next two are ${ }^{\mathbf{a}}{ }^{\mathbf{s} s u}$ $=$ a species of grass, and ${ }^{1}$ ssä $=$ the goral (Naemorhedus griseus) and the figure of a boy $={ }^{2} z o$, all three serve phonetically in the name ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S} s{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ ssä- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}$ a boy from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ssu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$, this latter is called also ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Shu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$ and is a place in Mu -li, the valley of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Shu- ${ }^{1}$ gyi or Iron River is also called ${ }^{1}$ Shu- ${ }^{1}$ lo or Iron valley, may be an ancient transcription of Mu-li.
Kubr.3: We see two figures wiggling and with hair standing on end on their bodies, these symbols are actually read ${ }^{1}$ ndshěr $=$ fright, afraid, frightened, there is a symbol like it but without the hair, and that is read ${ }^{2}$ nyu $=$ to sway, to wiggle, to shake, it stands for the personal pronoun I, also for he, ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ old, he not know, or I (was) old (and) I (did) not know (it). The symbol ${ }^{3}$ mun represents the large horse-fly so common on the high alpine meadows and in the grass lands, it is phonetically used for ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ old, also to die. The aymbol ${ }^{2}$ non under the second ${ }^{2}$ nyu symbol is composed of two, the upper part is ${ }^{1} p$ 'ěr $\mp$ white, below the curved line with dots represents liquid, hence white liquid or milk, here ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ non $=$ to know or to learn a news, to acquire knowledge, i. e., he learned that he was old.

Rubr. 4: The first symbol is that of a tree $={ }^{1}$ ndzĕr, it can also be read ${ }^{2}$ t'o $=$ pine tree, and ${ }^{2} s s=$ wood, and as such it is here intended; below it is the symbol for meat $={ }^{2}$ shi, employed phonetically for ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, hence yellow wood, the adjective qualifying a noun always follows it with the exception when the adjective can have another meaning and is used as a verb as in ${ }^{1}$ ha ${ }^{2}$ zaw $=$ golden shoes or golden yellow shoes, for ${ }^{1}$ ha also means to buy and to say ${ }^{2}$ zaw ${ }^{1}$ ha could thus have two meanings, so in this case the adjective preceedes the noun.

The third symbol is a picture of a square or oblong, flat, wooden bowl which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ use to chop things in, they are crudely made by hand of a yellow wood and are called ${ }^{2} l o{ }^{1} b p a$, and are about $l^{1 / 2}$ to 2 feet square or oblong, various sizes are made but not smaller than one foot square; the symbol below it is read 'bpä and is the second syllable in the name, it represents steamed rice dried and pressed into a cake called ${ }^{3} \mathrm{bpä}$. The last symbol ${ }^{3}$ ndaw $=$ to cut has been explained, i.e., he cut from yellow wood a ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} o^{-1}$ bpä, the larger ones are also used in gold washing for scooping up sand from the river bed or bank, and for such he employed it as we learn in the next verse.

Rubr.5: The first symbol is read ${ }^{1} h a=$ gold, the leaf symbol read ${ }^{2}$ szŭ represents a willow leaf, here it stands for ${ }^{1_{s z}}$ ŭ $=$ wash, actually washing is ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}{ }^{\mathbf{d}} \mathbf{d a ̈}$, ${ }^{2}$ Ï̈ $=$ again, ${ }^{1}$ wu $=$ a slave represented by an empty dish, indicative of the treatment of slaves, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k} ’ \ddot{o}=\operatorname{dog}$, here ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} w u \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\mathrm{o}=$ went, although he was old and following a habit of his youth, he went again to wash gold. ${ }^{9}$ Wu has the himself, a reflexive pronoun.

Rubr.6: The syllable and symbol ${ }^{2}$ nyu have been explained in rubric 3, ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \ddot{\mathrm{o}}=\mathrm{a}$ turquoise ornament, here ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \overline{\mathrm{o}}=$ shadow, 'gyi = water, below the water symbol a pair of eyes $={ }^{1}$ miu, ${ }^{1}$ nyu, here it is read ${ }^{1}$ nyu $=$ on, ${ }^{1} k$ 'a $=$ to shoot off an arrow, here ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}$ 'a $=$ reflection, the word ${ }^{1} d d o=$ see is in the next line; literally his shadow water on reflected,

Rubr.7: water shadow his again ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ see. Notice the difference between the eyes symbol and the last symbol in the rubric, with the lines protruding from the eyes, indicating to see.

Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~N} n \ddot{u}=$ heart, here ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nnü}$ his own, reflexive pronoun, ${ }^{10}=$ shadow, Rubr.9: again see, these symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 10: These symbols have been explained in rubric 3.
Rubr. 11: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \mathrm{an}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}=$ Horizon, the vault of heaven with the symbol for the verb ${ }^{2}$ bä $=$ to do, by itself it has also the meaning of "side"; below is the symbol for cloud $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gkyi}$, a little above it the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white, and to the right the symbol ${ }^{3}$ chung $=$ awl, here used for ${ }^{3}$ chung $=$ to join on, adjoin. ${ }^{2}$ Gko $=$ crane, ${ }^{3} \mathbf{m u n}=$ old, crane, not, aware of.

Third Page:
Rubs. 1: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyu}^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{g} \mathrm{gv}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nyu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{p}{ }^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{lv}$
Rubs. 2: ${ }^{1}$ Non ${ }^{1} p$ 'er ${ }^{2}$ geo ${ }^{2}$ gean ${ }^{2}$ ggü Rubs. 3: ${ }^{2}$ Nyx ${ }^{3}$ mun ${ }^{2}$ nu ${ }^{2}$ ]ä ${ }^{2}$ non Rube. 4: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyu}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ ssa- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er Rubr.5: ${ }^{2}$ La ${ }^{3}$ mun ${ }^{2}$ la ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ non Rubs. 6: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nds}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{a}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{2} 1 \mathrm{a}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkan}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ggu}$
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}{ }^{3}$ mun ${ }^{2}$ la ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ non Rubs. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{2}$ lv- ${ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{9} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} k h i-{ }^{2}$ ghügh Rubs. 9: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'wa ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{3}$ mung ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ non Rubs. 10: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyu}^{2} \mathrm{gv}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nyu}{ }^{3}$ dshi- ${ }^{2}$ dshi
Rubs. 11: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}$ o ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'wa ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkan}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gg}$ ii Ruhr. 12: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'wa ${ }^{3}$ mung ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ wu ${ }^{2}$ läa ${ }^{2}$ non.

Third Page:

1) His own body he shook
2) His own white down feathers dropped in front of him
3) He knew now that he was old
4) The old tiger of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{sso}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er
5) he knew not that he was old
6) his long white fangs (canines) fell in front of him
7) and he knew that he was old.

8) the white stag did not know that he was old
9) his own body he shook
10) and his white antlers fell in front of him
11) he knew then that he was old.

Explanation of text

Page 1

Ruby. 1: The words ${ }^{2}$ nu for personal pronoun have already been explained; below the first ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nyu}$ is the symbol for $\mathrm{egg}={ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$, here used for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}=$ body, ${ }^{3} p \cdot u \cdot{ }^{8} / v=$ to shake, here composed of two symbols, the first ${ }^{3} p$ 'u the Tibetan woolen cloth (p'u-lu, written in Chinese [25]), the second is ${ }^{2} / \mathrm{v}=$ rock, both are phonetically used.

Rubr.2: ${ }^{1}$ Non ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ feather(s) white, crane, ${ }^{2}$ nyu is again the personal pronoun but is not read, it amplifies the symbol ${ }^{2}$ gko $=$ crane. ${ }^{2}$ Gkan is a children's swing such as is used at Chinese New Year, it is colloquially called ${ }^{2}$ igkye-'lër, here ${ }^{2}$ gkan stands for "in front". The last symbol is read "ggü it represents a mouth, if the symbol is doubled it stands for satiated, full, here it is phonetically used for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ggü}=$ to drop, fall down.
Kubr. 3: This is the same as in rubric 9 of page 2.
 usually called ${ }^{2}$ ngyu- ${ }^{1}$ 'hwua $=$ mountain high; the word ${ }^{2}$ sso in conjunction with ${ }^{1}$ ngyu $=$ mountain always stands for a high range. The first is a character or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ggog}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ baw letter read ${ }^{2} l a$, below it the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyu}$, it is a mould for casting silver and gold ingots, here it is phonetically used. The last symbols are ${ }^{1}$ bso $=$ an upturned dry tree showing the roots, hence it stands for ${ }^{1}{ }^{\text {вso }}=\mathrm{dry}$, here it represents a high mountain, the symbol for the latter is written but not read. Within the 'ngyu $=$ mountain symbol is that for white $={ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head is not written, a high snow-covered mountain is indicated.

Rubr.5: The first symbol is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{la}=$ tiger, the phonetic symbol for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{l}$ a is below that of ${ }^{3}$ mun which stands for old, all these symbols have already been explained.

Rubr. 6: All symbols in this rubric have been explained, except ${ }^{1}$ nds'a $=$ fangs, canines, these are attached to the tigers mouth.
Rubr.7: All the symbols in this rubric have been explained except the fourth which is a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{1}$ baw letter read ${ }^{2}$ läa and is used instead of the ${ }^{2}$ läal $=$ musk.deer symbol as in rubric 5 of page 2 , it stands for ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ä $=$ again.
 the mist or fog settles, it is the habitat of the stags; ${ }^{1}$ nddü means to sink, settle, ${ }^{3}$ ' 'khi $=$ cold, also mist, the word ${ }^{\text {g ghügh stands for embrace. The first upper }}$ symbol is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}=$ silver, below it that for mountain $=^{1} \mathrm{ngyu}$, together they are read ${ }^{2} n v .{ }^{2} \mid \mathrm{lv}=$ silver rocks indicating any mountain covered with perpetual snow. The second symbol is read ${ }^{1}$ ndi and represents a fern (Pteridium aquilinum); this fern is the great stand-by of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ ki in the spring, during those months there is little food and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ dig out the young fronds and eat them. The last symbol represents a spine $={ }^{2} t$ 'khi, here it stands for ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}$ 'khi $=$ mist, fog. ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh is not written it means embrace.
Rubr.9: The first symbol represents a stag with the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white between the antlers, hence a white stag, the other symbols have already been explained.

Rubr. 10: Here remain to be explained the last two symbols read 'dshi- ${ }^{1}$ dshi; both represent the feet and claws of an cagle $={ }^{1} \mathbf{d}$ dhi, here they stand for ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{d}$ shi- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dshi}=$ to shake but the shaking done by an animal, as when a dog shakes his body. It also stands for the rotating motion when winnowing grain.

Rubr. 11: The first symbol is a conventional symbol for horns $={ }^{2} k$ ' $o$, the circle represents the head, the upward curved lines the horns, the symbol white $={ }^{1} p$ 'ěr is below, hence the white horns or antlers; the remaining symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 12: These symbols have already been explained.

Fourth Page:
Ruhr. 1: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S} s u-{ }^{1}$ lo ${ }^{8} \mathrm{~S}$ cu- ${ }^{2}$ ss ä. ${ }^{2}$ mo
Ruhr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dgyu}{ }^{1}$ ssü ${ }^{2}$ muàṇ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dgyu}$
Kubr. 3: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nv}^{1}$ ha ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}{ }^{3}$ shěr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dgyu}$
Ruhr. 4: ${ }^{1} \mathbf{0}^{1}{ }^{1}$ h'ung ${ }^{2}$ bpö ${ }^{3}$ sher ${ }^{2}$ dgyu
Ruhr. 5: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Haw}^{-1}$ gi ${ }^{2}$ ngu ${ }^{3}$ sheer ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dgyu}$
Rubs. 6: ${ }^{3} K$ 'v ${ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{2}$ szǐ ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} d g y u$
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{3} K$ 'v 'ha ${ }^{1}$ mùen ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1} d s$ 'i Rubs. 8: ${ }^{2} S z i{ }^{1} h a^{1}$ mùeñ ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1}{ }^{2} s^{\prime}$ i Rubs. 9: ${ }^{2}$ Stu- ${ }^{1}$ gi- ${ }^{2}$ kv ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1}{ }^{1} d t i i$
Ruhr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Sou- ${ }^{1}$ gyp- ${ }^{2}$ man g ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ t'u
Rubs. 11: ${ }^{2}$ Stu- ${ }^{1}$ gi- ${ }^{2}$ man ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1} d t u ̈$

Fourth Page:

1) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}_{\text {sur- }}{ }^{2}$ вsä- ${ }^{2}$ zoo of ${ }^{1}$ Shut- ${ }^{1} 10$
2) possessed everything
3) his chest was full of silver and gold
4) he had one measure full of turquoise and carnelian
5) his grain chest was full of grain
6) years and long life he had not;
7) to buy years he went south,
8) long life he came south to buy.
9) From ${ }^{2}$ Sou- ${ }^{1}$ gyp- ${ }^{2}$ gk he rose
10) and at ${ }^{2}$ Sou- ${ }^{1}$ gi- man he arrived
11) from ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ man he rose 12 ) and arrived in the land of ${ }^{2} B b e \check{r}-{ }^{2} d d e ̆ r, ~ f r o m ~{ }^{2} B b e ̌ r-{ }^{2} d d e ̆ r ~ h e ~ t h e n ~ r o s e . ~$

Explanation of text

Page 4

Ruhr. 1: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}}{ }^{1} \mathrm{l}$ lo is the name of a valley $={ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$, and is the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{1}$ Sha- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$ $=$ Iron valley in Mu-li [26] territory, in this valley flows the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Sha- ${ }^{1}$ gyi or Iron river, the Tibetan lChags Thu [27]. The aborigines of Mu -li call the river Zho-chhiu. It is inhabited by a tribe called the Shu-khin who speak a language of their own. It seems to be however a mixture of $\mathrm{Ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{ra}^{2} \mathrm{me},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and Tibetan. They are only to be found above the cantilever bridge at Shen-dzong; below toward ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}^{2}$ yü are ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. See $A N K S W C$, Vol.II, pp. 384-385. The river is an affluent of the Wu-liang Ho [28] and as it had no Chinese name I translated the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ khi name into Chinese and called it the T'ieh Ho [29] or Iron River; the symbols used to write the name of this valley are ${ }^{1}$ Ssu the name

 ${ }^{1}$ Ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ, below is that for valley $={ }^{1} l$.

The next three symbols serve as phonetics, the first is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ssu}=\mathrm{a}$ die (dice) but with the three lines on the corners on top, it is read 'ssu and is the name of a species of grass from which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ make their straw sandals, below is the head of a Goral $={ }^{1} \mathrm{ssä}$, and the figure of a man or boy $={ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}$, it is a male person called ${ }^{9} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}} \cdot{ }^{2}$ ssä, the two first symbols are phonetics and the third one is an ideograph. Nothing is of course known now of this individual called between Mu-li and Ch'ien-so [30] a Mo-so inhabited territory, called ${ }^{1}$ Shu${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathbf{o}^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'o, q. v. l.c. pp. $407,420$.
Rubr.2: The first symbol is the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, below it the symbol ${ }^{1}$ dgyu representing a silver bracelet, here it stands for ${ }^{2}$ dgyu, have, exist, possess, there is; the cross-like symbol is read ${ }^{1}$ ssü and is said to represent the metal lead, here it stands for ${ }^{1}$ ssü $=k i n d$, in the sense of thing; the sentence actually reads not have kind not exist, in other words he had everything, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$ always express an affirmative by two negations.
Rubr. 3: The first two symbols represent ${ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}=$ silver, ${ }^{1}$ ha $=$ gold, the third is a box $={ }^{9} d t a$, the word ${ }^{3}$ shĕr $=f u l l$ is expressed by the many dots within the box symbol; ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d g y u}$ means again to have, possess.

Rubr.4: The first two symbols stand for ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}=$ turquoise, ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung $=$ beads of carnelian, the Tibetan mchhong [31] = carnelian; ${ }^{2}$ bpö is a dry measure, such as the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ use for measuring grain, the Chinese sheng [32] box; the many dots in the symbol indicate again ${ }^{3}$ shĕr $=$ full (of).
Fubr. 5: The first two symbols are read ${ }^{2}$ haw $^{1}$ gyi, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{haw}=$ food is indicated by a covered dish, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ water, these two words stand for all the different grain cultivated, for without water no (grain) food can be grown. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngu}$ is a wooden chest with movable boards, the box or chest can thus be hightened and increased in size. The ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} k h i$ store their grain in such boxes; the dots in the symbol again indicate ${ }^{\mathbf{s}}$ shěr $=$ full (of), and ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d g y u}^{\text {( }}=$ to have, possess.
Rubr. 6: The first symbol represents the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{-} k h i$ sickle which is called ${ }^{1}$ ndaw, it is not round like a foreign sickle but elongate with a curved point, its edge is serrated, hence it is also called ${ }^{2}$ shu- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr $=$ white iron (steel) ${ }^{1}$ ndaw $=$ sickle. ${ }^{1}$ dzu $=$ born with or having teeth or serrations, the latter is omitted; its present day colloquial name is ${ }^{3}$ ssu- ${ }^{2} g k v$. The vertical line through the center of the symbol causes it to be read ${ }^{3}$ ts'ĕr or ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime} s$ ' $=$ to cut, but it can also be read ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{v}=$ to reap, to harvest grain, here its phonetic value has been borrowed for 'k'v = year an abstract term which cannot be written with a pictograph. The symbol below is read ${ }^{1} n a ̈=$ millet, here it stands for the conjunction ${ }^{1} \mathrm{n} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}=$ and. The third symbol represents grass $={ }^{2}$ scĭ, here its phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{szi}=$ longevity, long life. The other symbols have been explained.

Rubr.7: Under the symbol ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}$ 'v = years, is the symbol for gold $=$ 'ha, this symbol does duty here for the verb 'ha $=$ to buy. The three triangles reduced in hight are read ${ }^{1}$ muen = below, actually south; the symbol, were the triangles longer, would have to be read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, apparently a dying down fire, or low flames are used to indicate down below, i.e. in the south, ${ }^{2} Y i-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'i- ${ }^{1}$ mùn means the ancient city of Ya-ch'ih [33] the name the Mongols gave to the present day K'un-ming [34], ${ }^{1}$ mùn indicates that the city is south of Li -chiang. The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ggog}$ -
 The last symbol represents a shoulder blade of a sheep and as such it is read ${ }^{1} p$ ' $i$, it has also another phonetic value viz., 'ds'i, it is here read 'ds'i = to come, the past tense is not written nor is it read yet it must be so understood, hence he "went" or he came south.

Rubr. 8: The phrase is the same as the foregoing but ${ }^{2}$ szĭ $=$ longevity is the first symbol instead of ${ }^{\prime} k$ ' $v=$ year(s). Instead of the phonetic character for $\left.{ }^{2}\right] \ddot{a}$, the pictograph ${ }^{2}$ lä $=$ musk-deer is used.
Rubr.9: ${ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{1}$ gyi stands here for the waters of ${ }^{3} S_{s u}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1} 0-{ }^{2} k$ ' $o$, it can be seen that the symbol for the particular grass $={ }^{3}$ ssu is used instead of the symbol for the demon ${ }^{1}$ Ssu. The third symbol is read ${ }^{2} g k v=$ head, here the meaning is he starts his journey at the headwaters of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{Su}} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{l} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o in $\mathrm{Mu}-\mathrm{li}$. The fourth symbol is a picture of a heart $=^{2} n n u ̈$ colloquially called ${ }^{3} n u n^{2} \mathbf{}^{2} m a ̈$, here it stands for ${ }^{\text { }} \mathrm{nnü}=$ the personal pronoun "he". The last symbol is read ${ }^{1}$ dtui $=$ to rise to start, and the symbol depicts a man rising as from a chair.
Kubr. 10: We see here again the first two symbols viz. ${ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ the waters of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S} s u$, however the end of the symbol for water is prolonged with lines to both sides indicating a hairy tail $={ }^{2}$ man, hence the tail-end of the waters of used for ${ }^{2} t$ ' $u=$ to arrive.

Rubr. 11: All the aymbols in this rubric have been explained in the foregoing rubrics.
Rubr. 12: The wavy line in the left upper part of the rubric represente a rope $={ }^{1}$ bberr, the colloquial for which is ${ }^{1}$ erh; below it is a symbol representing foam = 'ddĕr, both these symbols are used phonetically for the name of the district of ${ }^{2} B b e r^{-}{ }^{2}$ dděr in Chung-tien [36]. Below them is the symbol for land $={ }^{1}$ dü it is not read, but ellucidates the words ${ }^{2}$ Bbĕr- ${ }^{2}$ dděr, it is the Chinese Pei-ti [37], see l.c. pp. 262-268. Below the symbol for rope is that of allii $=$ a tick, cattle or sheep tick, here it is used phonetically in conjunction with ${ }^{1} d \ddot{u}=\operatorname{land}, v . s$., for ${ }^{2} l l \ddot{u}=$ fields, he arrived at the land or fields of ${ }^{2} B b e r^{2}{ }^{2} d d e ̌ r$, and from there he rose again; the last phrase is only written with three symbols.

Fitth Page:

Rubr. 2: ${ }^{2} T s^{\prime} u^{2}{ }^{2} u^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{\prime} u^{2} n n \ddot{i}{ }^{1} d t u ̈$

Rubr.5: ${ }^{2} \mathbf{G v -}{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{1}$ gko ${ }^{2}$ ª̈ ${ }^{2}$ t'u, ${ }^{2} G v-{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{1}$ gko ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1}$ dtü

Rubr. 10: ${ }^{3}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ gyi ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ t'u, ${ }^{9}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ gyi ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1} d t u ̈$

Fifth Page:

1) and arrived where the Yangtze is crossed in the winter
2) from there he again rose
3) and arrived where the Yangtze is crossed in the summer, from there he again rose
4) and arrived in the land of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$, from ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$ land he rose
5) and arrived on the alpine meadow of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}-{ }^{2}$ ssu- gko , from ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}-{ }^{2}$ gsu- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}$ he rose
6) and arrived again at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$, from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{1}$ lo he rose
7) and arrived at ${ }^{1} G y i-{ }^{1} p$ 'ĕr $-{ }^{1} l o$, from ${ }^{1} G y i-{ }^{1} p$ 'ĕr. ${ }^{1} l o$ he rose
8) and arrived at upper ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ba}$, from there he rose again
9) and arrived in lower ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga-}{ }^{-1} \mathrm{ba}$, from lower ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga}-{ }^{1}$ ba he rose again
10) and arrived at ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ gyi, from ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1}$ gko- ${ }^{-}$gyi he rose

Explanation of text

Page 5

Rubr. 1: The three small curved crosses form one symbol and represent snowflakes, hence ${ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ snow, it is however also employed for the three winter months ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ' $^{\prime} u{ }^{\mathbf{s}}{ }^{s s s u}{ }^{2} h a ̈ ;{ }^{2} g u{ }^{2} k$ 'u is a ford where a stream can be crossed, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gu}$ is not written, instead the water symbol ${ }^{1}$ gyi in a valley is written but here not read, a big stream or river is meant, here the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}$ - ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bi}$ or Y angtze; the third symbol is read ${ }^{2} k$ 'u and represents a door or gate, here it stands for ${ }^{2} k$ 'u $=$ river bank and with the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$ it means a ford. At ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}^{2} \mathrm{gv}$ a village on the Yangtze to the north of Li -chiang there are two places where the river can be crossed, one in the winter when the water is low, and one in the summer when the river is in flood.

The other two symbols have already been explained.
Rubr. 2: See previous rubrics.
Rubr.3: The only symbol to be explained here is the first one read ${ }^{1} k h i ̈$ $=$ rain, as the summer months are the rainy season, the symbol for ${ }^{1} k h \ddot{u}$ $=$ rain is used for ${ }^{1} \mathbf{z h u}=$ summer; all the other symbols have been explained previously.

Rubr.4: The first two symbols are read ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{2} g v$, below them is the symbol for earth, ${ }^{1}$ dü = land, the first represents a sword with a line through it, hence the meaning is ${ }^{3}$ ndaw $=$ to cut, to chop, similar to the symbol ${ }^{2} k$ ' $v=$ to reap, see page 4 , rubric 6; below it is the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=\mathrm{egg}$, here read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$, both are phonetically used for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv}$, a town on the Yangtze, known in Chinese as Ta-ku [38], it is north of Li-chiang at the exit of the Yangtze through the ${ }^{\text {s'A }}$ - ${ }^{2}$ tg'an- ${ }^{3}$ gko gorge through the Li-chiang Snow range; see l.c. Vol. I, pp. 227228. The other symbols have already been explained.

Rubr.5: The first three symbols, reading from the top down are ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv},{ }^{2}$ ssu, and ${ }^{1}$ gko, the first one has been explained in the previous rubric; the second is ${ }^{1}$ ssu $=a \operatorname{die}$, and the third ${ }^{1}$ gko $=$ alpine meadow. It is the name of the alpine meadow ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}-{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}$; the latter is situated at the foot of the third highest snow-peak of the Yü-lung Shan namely ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nv}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{l v}$, which adjoins the highest one Shan-tzu-tou [39], see l. c., Vol. I, pp. 187-191, 224-227, Plate 91. The ${ }^{1}$ Gko $=$ alpine meadow - symbol, has another symbol within it, namely 'gko = needle, it acts as phonetic. The short lines on the rounded part of the symbol represent grass. The other symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 6: The upper symbol is a compound one, without the black dot in the center it would read ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{1} l o=$ a valley, the black dot is read ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black, it modifies the noun ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ water, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi} \mathrm{-}^{1} \mathrm{na}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo}$ is a stream which descends from the eastern slopes of (Mt.) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{nv}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{lv}$ and flows parallel to the glacier stream ${ }^{1} G y$ - $^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'ĕr- ${ }^{1}$ lo or the white water stream (valley); they unite beyond Nga-tza and debouch into the eastern part of the Yangtze loop. The word ${ }^{1} d \ddot{u}$ $=$ land below the upper symbol indicates that a place (name) is meant. The other symbols have been explained, they also occur in the other rubrics of this page.
Rubr. 7: ${ }^{1}$ Gyi- ${ }^{1}$ pěr. ${ }^{1}$ lo or the valley of the white water is a glacier stream of a bluish white colour, while the ${ }^{1} G y i \cdot{ }^{1}$ na. ${ }^{1}$ lo is not a glacier stream and as it flows over darker rocks the water looks blackish in comparison. It has its source in a glacier on the eastern flanks of Shan-tzu-tou, v. s.; the symbol 'p'ĕr $=$ white is above the water symbol 'gyi. See l.c., Vol. I, p. 223, Plate 83.

Rubr. 8: Of the first three symbols the upper two need to be explained, the top one represents a bench and as such is read 'ggŏ, here it stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ggog}=$ the upper, also northern, it can also be read "on high", below is the symbol for cup ${ }^{3}$ 'wua $=$ cup, of which it is a picture. It has here however the meaning of mountain pass = ' $k$ 'wua hence "the upper pass", or the northern pass which lake the word ' ${ }^{1}$ 'wua is not read, but as upper ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga}$. ${ }^{1}$ ba is known by that name in the ancient ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba books it is thus read. See l.c., Vol. I, p. 221-224, Plates 79, 80.

Rubr.9: The only symbol that needs explanation is the second one at the bottom of the rubric. It is the symbol ${ }^{1} d u ̈=$ land with the symbol ${ }^{1}$ mùen $=$ below superimposed, hence "he arrived at lower ${ }^{2} \mathbf{N g a -}$ - ba" (at the lower or southern pass of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ba}$ ).

Kubr. 10: There are three symbols in this rubric which have not yet been encountered in previous rubrics. The first two serve as phonetics, they are read ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gk}$, the ${ }^{9} \mathrm{lliu}$ is a conifer, it is a fir or Abies and known as ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ilü}$ - ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr $=$ fir tree; ${ }^{3}$ gko is a hawk or eagle but it is here read in the first tone, while the fir-symbol is read in the third tone; these two syllables ${ }^{3}$ Lliu- ${ }^{1}$ gko are the name of a guard house which stood in ancient days, during the Ming dynasty (1368-1644) at the lower pass which leads to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ba. The guard house existed during the reign of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Chief Mu Teeng [41] better known as Mu Sheng-pai [42], he ruled from 1600 to 1646 A. D. This speaks for the age of the song. The third symbol is read ${ }^{2}$ gyi $=$ a house, it stands for the guard house at ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Llï} \cdot{ }^{1}$ gko.

Sixth Page:

Rubs. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Boa. ${ }^{2}$ shin ${ }^{1}$ dü ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ä ${ }^{2}$ t'u
Rubs. 3: ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ shit ${ }^{2}$ dzhi ${ }^{2} g k v{ }^{1}{ }^{3} s o{ }^{3} k{ }^{3} h \ddot{i}-{ }^{2} k h u ̈$
Rubs. 4: ${ }^{2} S_{s}{ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{2}{ }^{3}$ Vil $^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{1}$ dd
Rubs. 5: ${ }^{9} \mathrm{~K}$ 'v ${ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ ido
Rubs. 6: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhi ${ }^{2}$ man ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ so ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ khü- ${ }^{2}$ khü
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{2}$ haw ${ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{1}$ dd
Rubs. 8: ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{K}^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ dd
Ruhr. 9: ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ shia ${ }^{1}$ dui ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1} d t u ̈$

Sixth Page:

1) and he arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dz}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dz} \cdot \mathrm{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, from there he rose again
2) and he arrived in the land of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}-{ }^{2}$ shin.
3) At ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{2}{ }^{2}$ sh be went around the top of the market three times
4) there he saw them sell wood and grass
5) but people selling years he did not see;
6) at the tail-end of the market he went around three times
7) he saw people sell wine and food
8) but years he saw no one sell.
9) He then rose again from ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{2}{ }^{2}$ hi land

10 ) and arrived again in the land of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}$, from the land of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}$ he rose,
11) and arrived on the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{2}$ bä market.

Explanation of text

Page 6

Rubr. 1: All that concerns us here is the first symbol, it is a compound one, but actually cannot be separated, it represents a spur covered with loose rocks and stands for the region called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dz}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}_{-} \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dz} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu} \text {, the symbol has no other use and }}$ is employed to denote that region only. The lower part of the symbol is read 'mbu'and represents a mountain spur and is usually the final syllable in the name of low spurs or ridges or hills. The superimposed part denotes piles of rocks or scattered rocks. It is actually a spur which flanks the northern end of the Li-chiang valley on the east, it is full of sharp limestone outcroppings and faces the southern peak of the Li-chiang Snow range; the spur is covered with scrub oak. See l.c., Vol. I, p. 220, Plates 77, 78. It is also called ${ }^{1}$ Dza- ${ }^{2}$ dza${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$.

Rubr. 2: The first two symbols represent, the upper a foot or boot in which the sole has been exagerated, hence ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ boa $=$ sole, below ${ }^{2}$ shi $=$ meat, a conventional symbol, both stand for the name ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{-s h}$ the Chinese Pai-sha [43], a commune or hsiang [22] north of Li-chiang, half way up to the foot of the snow range. See l.c., Vol. I, p. 173, Plates 52, 54, 66.

The symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=$ land indicates a place name.
Rubr. 3: The first three symbols have been explained in rubric 2, the fourth is read ${ }^{2}$ dzhi $=$ market, the dots along the main line representing the stalls; to the right of it is the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head, here meant at the head of the market. The symbol ${ }^{1}$ sso has been explained in rubric 4 , of page three; here it stands for the numeral three, which is actually ${ }^{2} s s u$ in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} k h i$, it is borrowed from the Tibetan gsum = three; below it are two identical symbols representing each a lake $={ }^{3} k h \ddot{u}$, here they are used for ${ }^{3} k{ }^{3} \ddot{u}^{2}{ }^{2} k h \ddot{u}=$ to go around, to circumambulate, the last symbol is not read but illucidates the meaning of ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{k h u ̈}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k}$ kü.

Kubr. 4: The first symbol represents a pine tree called ${ }^{2}$ t'o, it can also be read ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr $=$ tree, and ${ }^{2}$ ss $=$ wood, here it has the latter meaning; the symbol ${ }^{1}$ nä $=$ and has been explained also the symbol ${ }^{2}$ szir which here stands for grass. The spine-like symbol read ${ }^{2} t$ 'khi $=$ spine, is used phonetically for ${ }^{2} t$ 'khi $=$ to sell; the last symbol a pair of eyes with protruding lines is read ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ to see. The literal reading is wood and grass sell see.

Rubr. 5: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}$ 'v $=$ years (see page 4 , rubr. 6), ${ }^{2}$ t'khi $=$ sell, ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ see.

Rubr.6: The second symbol is ${ }^{2}$ man $=$ tail (end), here the tail-end of the market is mennt in juxtaposition to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ the head of the market, q. $\boldsymbol{v}$.

Kubr. 7: The upper symbol is read ${ }^{2}$ zhi $=$ wine, spirits, this symbol tells a story and relates of the way the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ used to drink wine. A large container as here depicted was used, and when filled with strong spirits, a bamboo tube was inserted, men used to sit around the vessel and each used to take a sip through the bamboo tube; as much as had been consumed was substituted with an equal amount of water. When nothing more than water was left, the party broke up, drunkeness was thus avoided; below is the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{haw}=$ food, the remaining symbols have been explained.

Rubr.8: The symbols in this rubric have been explained in Rubr. 5; there is however the third symbol which needs explanation, it is read ${ }^{\text {mäa }}$ and re. presents the vagina, and stands for mother, here its phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}=$ indeed.

Rubr.9: These symbols have already been explained.
Rubr. 10: The first two symbols are read ${ }^{1} n g u=$ a chest in which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2} \mathbf{}^{2} k h i$ keep or store grain, see rubric 5 , of page four, and ${ }^{2} b \ddot{a}=$ to do, to make, it shows a hoe with the clots of earth flying; both are used phonetically for the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ name of Li -chiang which is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}$, see l.c., Vol.I, p.172; the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathbf{d} \ddot{u}=$ land again indicates that the foregoing symbols denote a place name. The other symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 11: For explanation of symbols see previous rubrics.

Seventh Page:

Rubs. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhi ${ }^{2}$ gev ${ }^{1}$ sse ${ }^{3} \mathbf{k h}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} h$ ii
Rubs. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{2}$ haw ${ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{1}$ dd
Rubs. 3: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime} v{ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ dd
Rubs. 4: ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{2}$ man ${ }^{1}$ sse ${ }^{3}$ khü- ${ }^{2} \mathbf{k h u ̈}$
Rubs. 5: ${ }^{1} N v{ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{1}$ ha ${ }^{2} t^{\prime}$ 'ki ${ }^{1}$ dd
Rubs. 6: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}{ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ ido
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{1}$ Ngu- ${ }^{2}$ bä ${ }^{2}$ dzhi ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{1} d t u ̈$
Rubs. 8: ${ }^{2}{ }^{Y} \mathrm{Yi}-{ }^{2}$ chi- ${ }^{1}$ mùen
Rubs. 9: ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ t'u
Rubs. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Yo- ${ }^{2}$ chi ${ }^{2}$ dzhi ${ }^{2}$ bä ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtui}$
Rubs. 11: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhi ${ }^{2}$ gev ${ }^{1}$ so ${ }^{3} k h u ̈-{ }^{2} k h u ̈$
Rube. 12: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nv}^{1}$ nä ${ }^{1}$ ha ${ }^{2}$ t'khi ${ }^{1}$ dido, ${ }^{3} k$ 'v ${ }^{2} \mathbf{t}^{\prime}$ phi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ dido.

Seventh Page:

1) He encircled the market head three times
2) he saw them sell wine and food
3) but years he saw no one sell.
4) He went around three times the tail end of the market
5) he saw them sell silver and gold
6) but people selling years he did not see.
7) From the market of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}$ he rose
8) and at ${ }^{2} Y i-{ }^{2}$ chi- ${ }^{1}$ mùen
9) he arrived
10) he rose from the market of ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathbf{c h}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}$
11) and went around three times the head of the market
12) he saw them sell silver and gold, but years he saw no one sell.

Explanation of text

Page 7

Rubs. 1-7:. The symbols in these rubrics have already been explained.
Rubs. 8: The three symbols in this rubric spell the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{-}{ }^{2} k h i n a m e ~ o f ~ t h e ~ p r e-~$ sent day K'un-ming [34] the provincial capital of Yün-nan [3]. The ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}^{-{ }^{2} k h i}$ ch'eng, the capital of the $W_{u-m a n}$ [48] or Black barbarians, the Mongol Karajang or Lo-lo tribes, the ancient Ts'uan [49] tribes, in contradistinction to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ hi who were known to the Mongols az the White barbarians or Chayan jang. The first symbol is a Serow: $={ }^{2} Y$ i, the second ${ }^{2}$ ch'i represente the weight of a Chinese balance, the weight tied to a atring being moved along a graduated rod. ${ }^{1}$ Mùen means below, south of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ khi land.
Rubr.9-12: All the symbols in these rubrics have been explained in the foregoing pages.

Eighth Page:
Rubs. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhi ${ }^{2}$ man ${ }^{1}{ }_{\text {sss }}{ }^{3}$ khuü- ${ }^{2}$ khü
Ruhr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ To. ${ }^{3}$ pu ${ }^{1}$ saw- ${ }^{2}$ sss ${ }^{2}$ t'khi Ruhr. 3: ${ }^{1} \mathbf{Y} i-{ }^{2}$ bbū̄ ${ }^{2} k h i-{ }^{2} b b \bar{u}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'phi ${ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{1}$ dd
Ruhr. 4: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime} \mathrm{v}{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'khi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ ido
Ruhr. 5: ${ }^{2}$ Stir ${ }^{\text {t }}$ ' phi ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ ido
Ruhr. 6: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ng}^{4} \mathrm{a}^{2} \mathrm{mäa}{ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}{ }^{2} \mathrm{nnï}{ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}$
Ruhr. 7: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nv}{ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}{ }^{-1} \mathrm{ds}{ }^{\prime}$ '
Ruhr. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}^{-}{ }^{-}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ dzhi ${ }^{1}$ dui ${ }^{2}$ 1ä
Ruhr. 9: ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{2}$ lü ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ tba ${ }^{2}$ t'a
Ruhr. 10: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Läa}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddü}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{n}$ ä
Ruhr. 11: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}$ - $^{2}$ che ${ }^{2}$ dzhi ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dzh}$.

Eighth Page:

1) He encircled three times the tail end of the market
2) a miscellany of cloth he saw them sell
3) also satin and brocade
4) but years he saw no one sell
5) neither did he see them sell long life.
6) There is a silver plated sword
7) and weeping he turned back again
8) the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ chi market is so large,
9) not to look again will not do
10) so he went around once more to sse
ll) on the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}_{\mathrm{i}}{ }^{2}$ ch'i market, on that market.

Explanation of text

Page 8

Ruhr. 1: These symbols have already been explained.
Rubr.2: The two first symbols are read from top down ${ }^{2}$ T'o ${ }^{3}$ 'bpŭ $=$ cotton cloth; the first symbol represents either a shield or a sword-guard, very likely the latter, its original meaning has been lost only its phonetic value is still known; the second represents a colander, a vessel with steam escaping, and as such it is read ${ }^{\text {b }}$ bpǔ, both are used phonetically. The next two symbole are read ${ }^{2}$ ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ sso, the first represents ${ }^{3}$ 'ssaw $=$ breath, the second ${ }^{1}$ sso has already been explained, both phonetically stand for miscellaneous, here a variety of cloth is meant, ${ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{\prime} k h i=$ sell.

Rubr.3: The first is a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ- ${ }^{1}$ baw character read ${ }^{1} y \mathrm{y}$, below it a symbol representing a man holding an object, to hold is 'bbū; to present, offer, give is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~b} b \bar{u}$, both are used phonetically for ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \overline{\mathrm{u}}=\mathrm{satin}$; the next two are read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbu} \overline{\mathrm{u}}$ and stand for brocade, the first is the symbol for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}=$ paddy, the second for to hold, as before; their phonetic values have been used.

Rubr. 4-5: The symbols in these rubrics have already been explained.
Rubr.6: The first symbol represents an ancient ${ }^{\mathbf{N}} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ or perhaps Mo-so [50] sword such as was used during the Nan chao kingdom ( 740 A.D.), the sword was suspended from narrow leather straps which on the outer surface were studded with beads cut from the white conchshell. The straps were long and hung from behind the neck over the shoulders. It was a type of aword only in use by the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} k$ ki or perhaps $\mathbf{M o - s o}$, probably the former. A few of such swords still exist, I personally possess two, with complete armor and iron helmet, see l.c., Vol. I, Plate 82: They are or were until some ten years ago still used in Yung-ning [5] by the ${ }^{2}$ Lï- ${ }^{2}$ khi tribe, who call themselves Hi-khin, but are known as Mo-so to the Chinese. The Yung-ning chiefs had in their possession 3 or 4 armors complete with sword and helmet, these were used at the funeral ceremonies of chiefs when three or four men dressed in armor, carrying flags and swords danced rhythmically in front of the funeral procession to clear the way for the deceased. Such swords were known as ' Ng 'a, the symbol in our manuscript is an identic picture of such a sword as figured on Plate 82 in my book on the Ancient Na-khi Kingdom, etc. See Plate II, this book.

The word ${ }^{2}$ mä here is an affirmative with the meaning "there is, there exists", ${ }^{1} n v=$ silver, ${ }^{2} n n u ̈=i t,{ }^{1} n v=$ silver, actually silver-plated is meant. This phrase has been introduced because of the next phrase, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}=$ silver is a play on the word ${ }^{1} n v=$ to weep in the next sentence. This is often done when ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ improvise stanzas when traveling and singing.

Rubr.7: The first is a compound symbol, a man in the act of walking, the enlarged eyes with the curved lines protruding is read ${ }^{1} n v=$ to weep, the syllable ${ }^{2}$ Iä is read twice but only written once; below the muskdeer symbol is that of a cock crowing $={ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}$, here used phonetically in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ds}$ 'i $=$ to return, run back; the symbol ' ds 'i has been explained in rabric 7 of page four.

Rubr. 8: The only symbol that needs explaining is the fourth next to last one, it is read 'ddü = large, it is said to represent the fruit of Machilus bournei or ${ }^{1}$ Ddü- ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr, its phonetic value has been borrowed here. The word ${ }^{2} l a ̈$ is a postfix which cannot be translated, I translated it with the word "so", i.e. so large.

Kubr.9: The first symbol is read ${ }^{2} l u$, it represents a spear with a long round point, here it stands for ${ }^{2} l \ddot{u}=$ to look, compare the word ${ }^{2} l \ddot{u}$ of the next sentence; next to it is the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, it is written twice, the second negation belongs to he second half of the phrase; the last two symbols represent pagodas, the Chinese t'a [52], from which the word has apparently been borrowed, for the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ also use the word ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{t}$ 'a for pagoda, here ${ }^{\mathbf{3} t} \mathrm{t}^{\prime}$ a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'a preceded by the negation not, means "will not do", i.e. it must be done.
F.ubr. 10: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}=$ he again went, ran back, to see once more, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ddu}=$ once, ${ }^{1} \mathbf{l} \ddot{u}=$ to see, ${ }^{1} \mathbf{n} \ddot{a}$ is a postix.

Rubr. 11: Of this rubric all the symbols have been explained except the one before last, it shows a man drinking from a wine jug in the way described under rubric 2 of page 7 , this symbol is read ${ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ ' $\dot{u}=$ to drink, here it is used for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{t}$ ' $\mathbf{u}=$ that, $i t$ also stands for 3d person, personal pronoun, but is then read in the second tone as here.

Ninth Page:
Rubs. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhi ${ }^{2} l l i ̈{ }^{1} n g$ 'a ${ }^{1}$ ssä ${ }^{2} y u$
Rubs. 2: ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}_{i}{ }^{2}$ chi ${ }^{3}{ }^{3} k h u ̈ u{ }^{2} t$ ' ${ }^{i}{ }^{3} k h u ̈$
Rubs. 3: ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{K} h u ̈{ }^{2} l l u ̈{ }^{3}$ geo ${ }^{1}$ ss ea ${ }^{2} y u$
Rubs. 4: ${ }^{2} Y \mathrm{Yi}-{ }^{2}{ }^{\text {chi }}{ }^{2} \mathbf{L v}-{ }^{2}$ mä- ${ }^{1}$ na

Ruhr. 6: ${ }^{2} Y i{ }^{-2}{ }^{2}$ Cai $^{4}$ Mùen- ${ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ ndzěr
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}$ '̈̈ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}$ 'hăr ${ }^{2}$ lear- ${ }^{1}$ lear
Rubs. 8: ${ }^{2}$ Lea ${ }^{1}$ ts'i ${ }^{1}$ shit ${ }^{8}$ p'u- ${ }^{2}$ p'u
Ruhr. 9: ${ }^{1}$ Ndzěr ${ }^{2} l l u ̈{ }^{3}$ mun ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} y u$
Rubs. 10: ${ }^{9}$ Geo ${ }^{2} 11$ ü ${ }^{1}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ nd ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}$

Ninth Page:

1) the market people were all dispersed
2) and the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ch}$ ' lake
3) that lake was dry.
4) The black rocks of ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{c h}}$ 'i
5) even these rocks were split

6) the leaves were a rich green when he first came
7) but when he was leaving they were a deep yellow.
8) So trees must also die, it is the custom,
9) the leafy branches of the trees turn yellow
10) there is after all death, is there?

Explanation of text

Page 9

Rubr. 1: The first symbol has been explained the second 'llü = tick read here ${ }^{2} l l i i$ is a postfix difficult to explain but it is said to denote surprise and is equivalent to the Chinese particles or so-called "empty words" which are untransdatable. The third symbol read 'ng'a represents an armour such as is figured on Plate II, here its phonetic value is borrowed for ${ }^{1} n g{ }^{\prime} a=$ to disperse, to scatter in confusion. The ${ }^{1}$ ng'a is actually not the outside armour, but a kind of shirt of mail to protect the body, while an armour with sleeves such as is before last is a ${ }^{2}$ ggor- ${ }^{1}$ baw letter and not a symbol and is read ${ }^{1}$ ssä, it stands for the past tense, to this is added the auxiliary verb ${ }^{2} y u=i s$, been, hence ${ }^{1} n g{ }^{\prime}$ a ${ }^{1}$ ssä ${ }^{2} \cdot y u=$ had dispersed, had scattered. The first word ${ }^{2}$ dzhi $=$ market is followed by ${ }^{2} l l u ̈$, this has also another meaning, and can stand for "people", for the people are the descendents of ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llii}-{ }^{2}$ ghügh the post-flood ancestor of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$.

Rubr.2: The first character is read "yi it is a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ggog}^{-1}$ baw or syllabic character, below is the symbol ${ }^{2}$ ch'i already explained both stand for ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathbf{c h} \mathbf{i}=K$ 'unming as described previously, this is followed by the symbol ${ }^{3} k h \ddot{u}=$ lake, the K'un-ming lake, known in Chinese as the Tien-ch'ih [53] K'un-ming Ch'ih or K'un-ming Lake is meant. See l.c., Vol.I, Plates 1, 2. The next to last symbol represents a man drinking wine or liquor in the manner previously described, to drink is ${ }^{1}$ 't'ü, here it stands for ${ }^{2} t$ ' $\mathbf{i}$ the demonstrative pronoun "that"; the last symbol is again ${ }^{3} \mathbf{k h h u}=$ lake.

Rubr.3: We have again the symbols ${ }^{3} k h \ddot{u}=$ lake, and ${ }^{2} l l u ̈$ with the first meaning as explained in rubric 1 ; the third symbol represents a needle showing the eye, as such it is read 'gko, here it is used phonetically for ${ }^{\text {'g}}$ go $=$ dry. The words ${ }^{1}$ ssä ${ }^{2}$ yu have already been explained.

Rubr. 4: For ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}^{-}{ }^{2}$ ch'i see rubric 2; the third symbol read ${ }^{2} 1 \mathrm{l}=$ rock has three black dots indicating ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black, a large rock is called ${ }^{2} 1 v-{ }^{2}$ mä, in addition to the black dots within the rock symbol we have the phonetic ${ }^{1}$ na, a letter borrowed from the Tibetan, black in Tibetan is nag [54].

Rubr.5: We have again the rock symbol ${ }^{2}$ lv but without the black dots, then ${ }^{2} l l u ̈$ as previously explained in the first rubric. The third symbol is an ideograph and is read ${ }^{2}$ nggui $=$ to split, it represents two boards being split. There is another rock symbol in the upper right hand corner of the rubric, this is not read, but indicates the splitting of the rock, the past tense expressed by ${ }^{1}$ ssä ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}$ has already been explained.

Kubr. 6: Here in ${ }^{2}$ Yi- ${ }^{2}$ ch'i the first syllable is written with the serow's head $={ }^{2} \mathbf{y i}$ instead of the syllabic character ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}$; the next three symbols represent the name of a bamboo growing on the mountains of K'un-ming. ${ }^{\text {s Munen }}=$ bamboo, the symbol represents a bamboo, showing the joints with leaves, the latter are indicated by short lines, ${ }^{3} l u ̈=$ tick is a phonetic here, and the last syllable is ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr $=$ tree, it represents actually a pine tree; the bamboo is a large one or the word ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr would not be used.

Rubr. 7: The first symbol represents a $\operatorname{dog}={ }^{2} k$ 'ö, here it has been borrowed for the Chinese expression ch'ü [55], pronounced k'ö or k'e in Yünnan, meaning to go, to leave, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}=$ there is, there were, or they were, the symbol ${ }^{2} \overline{\mathrm{o}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{hăr}^{2}$ $=$ turquoise is here read 'hăr = green, below are two men calling, each is read ${ }^{1}$ lĕr $=$ to call, here used for ${ }^{2} l e$ ěr- ${ }^{1}$ lĕr a deep rich color, with 'hăr a deep rich green. The word ' $k$ ' $\dot{o}$ is ill chosen, but in order not to use the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ word ${ }^{1}$ ts'i twice, as it occurs in the next rubric, ${ }^{2} k$ ' $\ddot{0}$ has been used.

Kubr.8: The first two symbols have been explained; the third uppermost one is read ${ }^{2}$ shi $=$ meat, here it stands for ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, the symbols ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{p}^{\prime} \mathbf{x}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{p}$ 'u $=$ mean a deep yellow color, ${ }^{2}$ p'u is a bubble as previously explained.

Thus when he came to $K$ 'un-ming the leaves were a rich green and when he left, returned, they were deep yellow.

Rubr.9: Here only the word ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ has to be explained. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ is the equivalent of the male active principale of the Chinese, Yang [56]. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ have personified it, see $N N C R C, p .158$, note 211 , here it stands for ${ }^{2}$ ndu - custom, hence ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}=$ (such) custom there is? the word ${ }^{2}$ lliu again expresses surprise as explained in the first rubric.

Rubr. 10: The first symbol represents an eagle $={ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gko}$, here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gko}$ $=$ a branch of a tree, a leafy branch is understood, the symbol ${ }^{2} l l i$, is again used for ${ }^{2} l l i i$ as in the previous rubric. Now the third symbol representing a musk the only people in Western China who have a word for such a condition; ${ }^{2}$ ndu ${ }^{2}$ yu (such) custom there is, is the same as in the foregoing rubric.

Rubr. 11: These symbols have been explained in rubric 1 of page ten, with the exception of the use of the symbol ${ }^{2} m a ̈$ instead of ${ }^{2} l l u ̈$, the former is an affirmative particle, "yes there is".

Tenth Page:

Ruhr. 1: ${ }^{3}$ Mung ${ }^{2}$ llü ${ }^{2}$ dgyu ${ }^{2} y^{2}{ }^{1}$ sha

Ruhr. 3: ${ }^{1} Z^{\prime} \mathbf{a ~}^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1} d g y u{ }^{1}$ ts'i

Kubr. 5: ${ }^{1}$ Bpŭ- ${ }^{1}$ shwua ${ }^{1} b b u ̆{ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{3}$ mun
Ruhr. 6: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{2}$ wo ${ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{3}$ hon
Rubr. 7: ${ }^{1}$ Bp ŭ-1 ${ }^{1}$ twa ${ }^{1}$ bbŭ ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ dzhu ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ mun.

Tenth Page:

1) To become old and die is after all true?
2) The sword is plated with gold
3) After he had laughed he again turned back.
4) Born in the north, the father of the Tibetan died at ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Dto}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathbf{0}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er
5) he died under an earth (tamped) roof,
6) all the sons of bitterness
7) below the earth-tamped roof there is bitterness.
 under the tiled roof house.

Explanation of text

Page 10
Rubs. 1: Below the symbol ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ die is the pictograph ${ }^{3} l l u ̈=$ tick, here read in the second tone is an interrogative particle, perhaps equivalent to the Chinese adverb fur [57], as an initial particle, now, then; the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dgyu $=$ is, there is, has been explained. The fourth symbol is read ${ }^{1} y u$, it represent wilted leaves, and stands for decay, rotten, here read in the second tone but with the same meaning, ie. that one must die and decay. The last symbol ${ }^{1}$ she represents an axe and hence stands for iron, here its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{1}$ sh $=$ true, correct, that is unchangeable as iron. ${ }^{1}$ Shut- ${ }^{1}$ mun $=$ custom.

Rubr. 2: The symbols ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ng}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mä}$ have been explained in rubric 6 of page eight. The next two symbols are ${ }^{1} h a=$ gold and ${ }^{2} n n u ̈=$ heart here it stands for the third person personal pronoun he, she, it; the last symbol is read ${ }^{1} z^{\prime} a=$ to laugh, here it stands for ${ }^{2} \mathbf{z}^{\prime} \mathbf{a}=$ glittering, that is plated here with gold. This phrase has been introduced similarly as the phrase of rubric 6, of page eight, ${ }^{2} z^{\prime}$ a is used in juxtaposition of the ${ }^{1} z^{\prime} \mathbf{a}$ in the next rubric, it is a play on words.

Rubr.3: Here the same symbol is read in the first tone ${ }^{1} z^{\prime} a=t o l a u g h . ~ T h e ~$ symbol ${ }^{2}$ lä has already been explained, ${ }^{1}$ dgyu means the first, the beginning, in the beginning, because the cock is the first to stir, hence this symbol has been selected, here it stands for ${ }^{1} d g y u=$ to return, turn back, the next and last symbol is read 'ta' $u=$ a suicide by hanging here it is read ${ }^{1}$ ts' $i=$ to return, hence ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{d g y u} \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}=$ returned or turned back.

Kubr. 4: The symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ggo}$ has been explained and so has the symbol 'yü; the third is that of a mountain ${ }^{1}$ ngyu, with the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dto $=$ board, plank inside, ${ }^{1}$ dto is actually a hill and the symbol's phonetic value has been borrowed, and ${ }^{1}$ ngyu is not read, but without the symbol for mountain it would not be understood that a hill is meant, the hill's name is ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Dto}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{0}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'èr, in other mss., the name is preceded by the words ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{1}$ ssaw which stand for Lhasa, the capital of Tibet. Next to the mountain symbol we have the pictograph ${ }^{2} k$ ' $\ddot{o}=$ foot, and the symbol ${ }^{1} p$ 'ĕr $=$ white, both parts of the name. The next figure represents a Tibetan with long hair and a big felt hat, such as the nomads wear west of the Yellow River near the Amnye Ma-chhen Range. The ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{-} \mathbf{k h i}$ call a Tibetan ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}$ and in Yün-nan the Chinese call a Tibetan Ku-tsung [58] which is a transcription of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{k}} \mathrm{khi}$ name for a Tibetan. The other symbols have been explained.

Kubr. 5: The first symbol represents a house $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$, it is not read, but without the next two symbols would not be understood, ${ }^{3} b p u ̆=$ colander, and ${ }^{1}$ shwua $=$ high, are here used for ${ }^{1}$ bpŭ- ${ }^{1}$ shwua under which an earth (tamped) flat roof is understood. Most Tibetan houses have flat roofs, they put rhododendron branches from the shrubby species, also willow branches in layers a foot or more thick, fill the whole with mud and then fine earth, all this is rolled in the spring and autumn with a stone roller to pack the earth well as otherwise the roof would leak; such a roof the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ call ${ }^{1} b p{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ shwua, ${ }^{1} b p$ ŭ is also a tamped dirt wall, a wooden frame is first erected, filled with dry earth and then tamped, the same process being used for a roof, the word ${ }^{1}$ shwua is added, as it is high up on the house. The remaining symbols have been explained.

Rubrs. 6-7: The symbols in these rubrics have already been explained.
Rubr. 8: The first six symbols stand here for five syllables, one symbol the man with a stick usually read ${ }^{3}$ nddü $=$ to drive out, is not read. All are used phonetically but the actual phonetic value of two, the afore mentioned, and that of the sheep symbol are not read, yet they express the action of herding sheep and that is called ${ }^{2} b b u{ }^{2}-\eta v$, to be sure that the symbols are understood correctly, the symbol for stone, rock $={ }^{2} l v$, three piled up rocks are added to illucidate the phonetic; ${ }^{2}$ zhi $=$ road is not written, but ${ }^{1}$ zaw $=$ a planet, and ${ }^{2}$ man $=$ tail, all employed phonetically, the whole meaning of the sentence is Shepherd road, ${ }^{1}$ zaw $=$ descend, ${ }^{2}$ man = tail-end, i.e., the road where the herding of sheep ends, south of Li-chiang where Min-chia [59] land begins; the ${ }^{2}$ Lä- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ or Minchia land is only about 40 li about 12 miles south of Li -chiang, and the boundary is known to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ as ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Bbǔ}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{lv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}-{ }^{1}$ zaw- ${ }^{2}$ man. The semi-prostrate figure represents a Min-chia or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} b b u ̆$, the phonetic ${ }^{2}$ ss $=$ wood is attached to his head, it stands for ${ }^{1}{ }_{\mathbf{a}}-{ }^{1}{ }^{s}{ }^{1} \check{1}=$ father as explained previously, all the remaining symbols have already been dealt with except ${ }^{2}$ wuà- ${ }^{1} g y i=$ tiled house, the symbol represents a house with the numeral 5 , indicated by five lines, the word ${ }^{2}$ wuà is a loan-word from the Chinese wa $=$ a tile; ${ }^{1}$ gyi $=$ house; the words ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ bbŭ ${ }^{2}$ nniui ${ }^{3}$ mun mean below he died.

Eleventh Page:

Rubr. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2}{ }^{\text {ch'i- }}{ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{\text {'hoa }}$
Rubr. 2: ${ }^{\text {² }}$ Wuà ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{1}$ bbŭ ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{2} d z h u$

Rubr. 4: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{1}$ ä- ${ }^{1}$ ssī ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 5: ${ }^{1}$ Nggü- ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{1}$ bbŭ ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 6: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2}$ ch'i- ${ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{3}$ hoa
Rubr. 7: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nggü}^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{1}$ bbŭ ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dzhu}$
Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{3}$ mung ${ }^{2}$ mùan ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr.9: ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{3} l l u ̈{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ a- ${ }^{1}$ ssĭ ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{1}$ tgkye ${ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{3}$ mun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{bp}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}$ вä ${ }^{5}$ mun.

Eleventh Page:

1) All the sons of bitterness
2) beneath the tiled roof house there is bitterness
3) The man born in the centre
4) the father of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ died
5) he died under the shingle roof house
6) all the sons of bitterness
7) beneath the shingle roof house there is bitterness.
8) Who does not die? Heaven does not die
9) but the father of heaven died
10) in heaven there died three venerable ones
 ${ }^{2}$ dsä died.

Explanation of text

Page 11

Rubr. 1: The first symbol is ${ }^{2}$ dzhu $=$ bitterness, it has been explained in the ${ }^{2}$ ch'i has been explained in rubric 8 of page 7, and so has the symbol ${ }^{1}$ ddü in rubric 8 of page 8, the last symbol represents the ${ }^{3}$ hoa- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr the Tibetan earedpheasant (Crossoptilon Crossoptilon Crossoptilon), it is a large bird which goes in flocks in the high alpine regions at $13,000-14,000 \mathrm{ft}$; the top of its head and the legs are red, the body feathers are a whitish gray and the broad tail is black. The three curved lines attached to the head represent the large tail feathers (see BODMSL, Plate XII) ${ }^{2}$ ch'i- ${ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{3} h o a=$ all; literally this, 'ddü $=$ large, ${ }^{3}$ hoa $=$ a crowd, hence all, another expression for all is "ch'i- ${ }^{1}$ wuà.

Rubr.2: All these symbols have been explained previously.
Rubr.3: The first symbol represents a jackal $={ }^{2} d z \overline{1}$, colloquially called ${ }^{1} p$ 'a, is also possible that the word ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dz} \overline{\mathrm{i}}$ for people is derived from the name of the is the grandson of the former, see also $A N K S W C$, Vol.I, p. 82. The symbol ${ }^{1} y \mathbf{u}=$ born has been explained. The next is a compound symbol consisting of ${ }^{2}$ Mùan $=$ heaven, ${ }^{3} l \ddot{u}=$ a spear, ${ }^{1} d \ddot{u}=$ land, and the four circles representing the four quarters of the compass, it is read ${ }^{2}{ }^{M} u_{a n}{ }^{1} n a ̈{ }^{1} d u ̈{ }^{3} l u ̈{ }^{2} g v=$ heaven and earth centre, hence the centre between heaven and earth, here it is only read ${ }^{3}{ }^{1} \dot{u} \cdot{ }^{2} g v=$ centre, that is between the Tibetans and the Min-chia (tribes), live the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{-} k h i$. The last symbols represents a turquoise-studded charm box, hence it is used for ${ }^{1} \bar{o}^{1}{ }^{1} h a ̆ r=t u r q u o i s e, ~ a l s o ~ f o r ~ t h e ~ c o l o r ~ b l u e ~ o r ~ g r e e n, ~ h e r e ~$ it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \overline{0}=$ there.

Rubr. 4: The first is a character read 'na = black, it is the twelfth letter of the Tibetan alphabet; the second symbol is read ${ }^{2} k h i=$ paddy both are used phonetically for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, but it does not mean black man, for that would be ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{1}$ na, the adjective modifying a noun follows it as in Tibetan. The symbols for ${ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{a}}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} s s i ̆ 1=f a t h e r ~ a n d ~{ }^{3} m u n=$ to die, dead, have already been explained.

Rubr.5: The first symbol represents a house $={ }^{1}$ gyi, on the top are to be seen two boards (shingles) and a stone, ${ }^{1} n g g u ̈=$ shingles, hence a ${ }^{1} n g g \ddot{ }{ }^{1}-{ }^{1}$ gyi is a shingle-roofed house, in contradistinction to a tamped-earth roof such as the Tibetans build in certain areas, and the tile-covered roofs of the Min-chia houses. See l.c., Vol.I, Plate 132 . The symbol ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ to die, dead, is written within the house symbol. The others have already been explained.

Rubr. 6 and 7: The symbols in these two rubrics have already been explained.
Rubr.8: It needs only to remark about the syntax, the sentence is an inter rogative one, the word "who" is not written and must be supplied, who did not die? Heaven did not die, notice the difference between ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not and ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ heaven, on the former the prominence is on à, and on the latter on ù, both are read in the second tone.

Rubr.9: All the symbols of this rubric have been explained.

Rubr. 10: The first symbol is ${ }^{2}$ mùan = heaven, below the pictograph ${ }^{2}$ tgkye $=$ an oil lamp or butter lamp, here it is used phonetically for ${ }^{1}$ tgkye $=\mathrm{in}$, on, in heaven; the next is the symbol for three $=1_{\mathrm{ssu}}$, followed by that for tree $=(\text { pine tree })^{1}{ }^{1}$ ndzĕr, here it is used for ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr an honorific term, and may be translated "venerable".

Rubr. 11: We see three beings in a more or less prostrate position, two have animal heads, the first has a ${ }^{1}$ mberr $=$ yak head, the second a ${ }^{2} l a=$ tiger head, above his head the syllable or symbol ${ }^{2} p$ 'u; the third figure has the helmet of $a^{1}$ Dsä demon; all three act as phonetics only and do not indicate that they possess such heads. The names of the two first are not written, but that of the third is fully written out with pictographs representing the phonetic values as drained mash, ${ }^{1}$ zo $=$ an earthen jar, and ${ }^{1}$ dsä $=$ the head and helmet of a ${ }^{1} D_{s}$ demon. The ' ${ }^{2}$ 'u above the head of the second figure is the last syllable in the name. These three are considered to have died first in heaven. They are mentioned in a ms., called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}$, no. 1078 , of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä funeral ceremony, $\boldsymbol{q} . \boldsymbol{v}$.

1'uelfth Page:
Rubr. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{1}$ t'o ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{3} m u n g$
Rubr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{\text {nggv }}{ }^{2} b a ̈-{ }^{2}$ gu

Rubr. 4: ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{3}$ mung ${ }^{1}$ dü ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 5: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}{ }^{9} \mathrm{ll}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ä- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}{ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 6: ${ }^{1}$ Dui ${ }^{1}$ tgkye ${ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{3}$ muñ
 ${ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 8: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}{ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{1}$ t'o ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nnü}{ }^{3}$ mun
Rubr. 9: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}{ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2}$ shĕr ${ }^{2} b \not{ }^{\mathrm{b}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gu}$
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Diu}{ }^{2}$ ggoc ${ }^{1}$ t'o ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ dzhu.

Twelfth Page:

1) They died far behind the heavens
2) Their nine celestial sons (experienced bitterness);
3) Even in heaven there is bitterness.
4) Who did not die? the Earth did not die
5) but the mother of the earth died,
6) on the earth there died three venerable ones
7) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2}$ lĕr. ${ }^{1}$ dü- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ died, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{3}$ ts ${ }^{\prime \mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1}$ ts'u died, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lu}$ died,
8) they died behind the horizon;
9) the seven terrestrial sons
10) they experienced bitterness.

Explanation of text

Page 12

Rubr. 1: The symbols ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ heaven, and ${ }^{2} g g o ̆=o f$, the genetive case, have been explained, below them is the symbol ${ }^{1} t$ 'o, it has been explained in rubric 2 , of page eight, here it stands for the adverb ${ }^{1} t$ 'o $=$ behind, back of, hence behind or back of the heavens, ${ }^{2} n n \ddot{u}{ }^{3}$ mun $=$ they died, has been explained.

Rubr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{2}$ zo $=$ heaven's sons ${ }^{2} n g v=$ nine, ${ }^{2} b \ddot{b}-{ }^{2} g u$, actually brothers, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}=$ to do, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}=$ to carry a load, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bä}$ has reference to having been (made) conceived, and born, the offspring is then carried, older brothers carry their younger brothers, or older persons carry the children. The numeral 9 is indicated by the nine short lines, three in each of three rows.

Rubr. 3: For the word ' t 'o $=$ behind, back of, another symbol is used instead of the one in the first rubric, here the symbol for pine $={ }^{1}$ t'o is used; the other symbols have already been explained.

Rubr.4: The symbols and their use are identical with those of rubric 8, of page eleven, except that the symbol ${ }^{1}$ dü $=$ earth, is substituted for that of ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ heaven.

Rubr.5: The symbols of this rubric are similar to those of rubric 9 of page is considered male and the earth $={ }^{1}$ dü female. The symbol ${ }^{1} d u ̈=l a n d$, earth, is the second in the rubric, and ${ }^{10}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mäa}$ are the third and fourth symbols, ${ }^{1} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}=$ represents a mouth open, as if saying " $\ddot{a}$ ", ${ }^{2}$ mä represents the vagina.

Kubr.6: These symbols are identical with those in rubric 10, of page eleven, only the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{du}$ earth is substituted for that of ${ }^{2}$ mian $=$ heaven.

Rubr.7: These are three females who were the first to die on earth, they are apparently the wives of those who died in heaven. The first one has a tiger's head, this does not indicate that she has a tiger's head, but the symbol for tiger $={ }^{2}$ la acts as phonetic; the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ have the rule to use animal heads on figures as phonetics, only when demons, Nāgas, certain gods etc., actually are figured as having animals' heads then the particular animal head is mentioned with the additional syllables ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}=$ head born (with). She sits on the symbol for land on which grass is seen growing, as such the symbol is always read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzi}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ gyu- ${ }^{2}$ la $-{ }^{2}$ lĕr- ${ }^{1}$ dü which stands for the inhabited world, literally the people running (about on) the vast land. This tiger-headed female sitting on that tifying phonetic symbol occurs. The syllable ${ }^{\text {s}}$ mun $=$ to die (it also stands for old in years) has been explained.

The second female stands on the symbol ${ }^{1} d \ddot{u}=$ land, she has the typical headdress of a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ woman, at her feet is the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, here it acts phonetically for ${ }^{3} \mathbf{m i}=$ female, ${ }^{1}$ dü- ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{\mathbf{m i}}=$ terrestrial female; her actual name gonally crossed lines, below it is the syllabic ${ }^{2}$ ggo -'b $^{\prime}$ baw letter ${ }^{1}$ ts'u, it is the phonetic equivalent for ' 1 's'u $=$ demon, and rather than write the symbol for demon, its phonetic ${ }^{2}$ ggor- ${ }^{-1}$ baw counterpart has been used. The third terrestrial female's name is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}-1 \mathrm{l}$, both act as phonetics, the first is a symbol already explained, the second is a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ. ${ }^{1}$ baw phonetic. The last is again ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ die. Like the three celestial males in rubric 11, of page eleven, whose counterparts they are, they are also mentioned in ms., ' ${ }^{2}$ s'u $^{1}$ yi of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}$ 'mä funeral ceremony, see rubric 11, of page eleven.

Rubr.8: This is the same as in rubrics 1 and 2 (in part) of this page, only the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=$ earth is substituted for that of ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ heaven.

Rubr.9: We see here a male figure standing on the symbol ${ }^{1} d \ddot{i}=$ earth, the next is the numeral 7 , seven short lines, the remaining symbols are the same as in rubric 2 of this page. It should not read seven sons of the earth, for the earth as well as the numeral seven are always associated with the female sex, however girls or daughters are not considered mourners at a funeral of a parent, but only sons are, for daughters are sold or given away in marriage and hence belong to someone else (they have from childhood already been spoken for) and thus they cannot be considered mourners.

Should a daughter after having been given in marriage return to her home for a visit, and be seriously taken ill preventing her returning to her husband's home, she is put outside the house of her parents and left to die under the grain rack. It is no more her home, she does not belong to it, and hence cannot die in her parent's house.

Rubr. 10: For explanation see rubric 3, of this page, but ${ }^{1} d \ddot{u}=$ land is substituted for ${ }^{2}$ muan $=$ heaven.

After the 12 th page has been chanted the song is continued outside as explained in the introduction.

Thirteenth Page:
Rubs. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1}$ zhi ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ ${ }^{2}$ bbŭe
Ruhr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ Ts'o ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1}$ ts'u ${ }^{1}$ szěr ${ }^{2}$ bbŭe
Ruhr. 3: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}$ o ${ }^{2}$ t'u ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}{ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ thou
Rubs. 4: ${ }^{2}$ Ts'o ${ }^{1}$ duo ${ }^{3}$ thou ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ ny
Rubs. 5: ${ }^{2}$ Ts'o ${ }^{3}$ bhŭe ${ }^{2}$ gev ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ thou
Ruhr. 6: ${ }^{2}$ Ts'o ${ }^{1}$ duo ${ }^{2}$ bä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ ny
Rubs. 7: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyu}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{a} \cdot{ }^{3}$ ts' ${ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ geo
Ruhr. 8: ${ }^{1}$ Mběr ${ }^{2} n n u ̈{ }^{2}$ ts'o ${ }^{2}$ bbǔe ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dzĭ}$
Rubr. 9: ${ }^{1}$ Mbĕr ${ }^{2}$ nnü
Ruhr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Ts'o ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndu}$
Rubs. 11: ${ }^{1}$ Mběr ${ }^{1}$ gu ${ }^{3}$ ds'í ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{\mathbf{d}} \mathrm{ds}$ 'in

Thirteenth Page:

1) Now we will escort the deceased and again experience bitterness:
2) we will again dance and suppress the demons.
3) If it is not told whence the dance originated
4) one must not speak about it.
5) Unless one knows the origin of the dance
6) one cannot dance.
7) On ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyu} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{t} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}{ }^{1}$ gk
8) the yak said he would like to dance
9) the yak he
10) for him there is no such custom to dance,
11) after the yak came the goat,
12) all the sons of bitterness, they wear a ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Da}_{\mathrm{I}} \mathrm{I}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bpa}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mun}$.

Explanation of text

Page 13
Ruby. 1: The first two symbols have been explained 'dzhu- ${ }^{2}$ la $=$ bitterness again (experience). The third symbol is that of a snake $={ }^{1} \mathrm{zhi}$; on the death of a person it is believed that the deceased is changed into a snake and he is addressed as ${ }^{1}$ Zhi. ${ }^{3}$ mun. $\cdot{ }^{2} l$ lii. ${ }^{2}$ ssil. After the performance of the ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony (within three years after the death of a persod) a deceased is addressed as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}^{3}{ }^{3}$ mun${ }^{2} l \mathrm{lü}-{ }^{2}$ ssī, ${ }^{1}$ yü indicating ancestor, for after ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ his soul is escorted to the realm of his ancestors. The symbol below is that of a colander $={ }^{3} b p$ ŭ, here its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{3} b p u ̆=$ to escort. The last symbol is read 'bbŭe it represents a dry measure for measuring grain, it is no more in use, it was in the shape of a pitcher with a handle and carved out of a tree trunk in one single piece; now the Chinese square sheng [32] boxes are in use, the four sides of the box slant towards the top leaving a small opening at the top; the 'bbŭe was still in use in Mu-li, Yung-ning, (the former in Hsi-k'ang, the latter in Yünnan) and in western Kan-su some twenty five years ago when I explored there. Here the ${ }^{1}$ bbŭe symbol is used for ${ }^{2}$ bbǔe to go (and do a thing) actually "will do", it expresses the future at the end of a verb.

Rubr. 2: The first symbol is read 'ts'o $=$ to dance, it shows a person in the act of dancing, below is the phonetic character ${ }^{2} \mathrm{la}=$ again; the next is a compound one, it depicts a foot stepping on a prostrate demon $={ }^{1}$ ts' $u$, it is read ${ }^{1}$ ts'u $=$ demon ${ }^{1}$ szĕr $=$ suppress. The symbol ${ }^{2} b b u$ ŭe again expresses the future or "will do".

Rubrics 3-6: All the symbols in these rubrics have been explained under rubrics 3-5 of page one, only the symbol ${ }^{2}$ ts'o $=$ to dance is substituted for ${ }^{2}$ dzhu bitterness.

Rubr. 7: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyu} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ia}-{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{tg}$ 'iu is the name of an alpine meadow $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}$. All the symbols used as phonetics have been explained previously, except the one before last, ' ${ }^{\mathbf{t}}$ ' ' $\mathbf{u}=$ millet .

Rubr. 8: The first symbol is ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr $=$ yak, ${ }^{2} n n u ̈=h e,{ }^{2}$ ts'o $=$ dance ${ }^{2} b b u ̆ e ~{ }^{3} d z i ̆$, ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} b b u ̆ e=t o g o ;$ the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dzĭ $=$ to tie, a knot, it is the picture of a knot; here read ${ }^{3}$ dzĭ, it serves as an interrogative particle at the end of a sentence, with the meaning of "is it so"?

Rubr.9: The first is a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{1}$ baw character read ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr, it stands for ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr $=$ yak; ${ }^{2} n n u ̈=h e$, the meaning is "the yak (for) him".
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ tg'o $=$ to dance, ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, ${ }^{2}$ ndu $=$ custom, these symbols have been explained.

Rubr. 11: We have again the ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ- ${ }^{-1}$ baw letter ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mbĕr $=$ yak, then ${ }^{1}$ ngu $=$ a grain chest, here it stands for ${ }^{1}$ ngu $=$ behind, or after, as ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime}{ }^{1}=$ goat of which the symbol is a picture; after the yak, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}=$ to come, the symbol represents a mutton shoulder blade, it has two readinge ${ }^{1} p$ ' $i$ and ${ }^{1} d s$ 'i, here it stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}_{\mathrm{s}} \mathrm{i} \mathrm{i}=$ to come; as the song is in the meter of five syllables the word goat $={ }^{3} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime} \mathrm{I}$ is again repeated.
Rubr. 12: The first five symbols have been explained in rubric 6 , of page eleven, the syllable ${ }^{2} n n \ddot{u}=$ they is here written and ${ }^{1}$ ddü has been omitted. The next two symbols are ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}=$ goat, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{bpa}=\mathrm{frog}$, here they stand for the name of a hat $={ }^{2} \mathrm{gu}-{ }^{1}$ mun of which the symbol next to the last is a picture. The hat is actually called ${ }^{3}$ ds'i. ${ }^{2}$ bpa- ${ }^{1}$ na as it was made of " ${ }^{11}$ na $=$ black" goat's hair, it could also be made of ${ }^{1} \mathbf{M b e ̆ r}=$ yak hair, it was then called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mb}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ssu (yakthe hat was worn by mourners during the funeral dances, no such hats are now in existence. The last symbol is read ' $t$ 'an it represents a wooden stick or branch of an oak, all branchlets are cut off except one or two at the end and these are cut a few inches from the stem; these ${ }^{\mathbf{2} t}$ 'an are used to pick up thorny branches for the making of fences around fields, here the symbol's phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{2}$ t'an $=$ to wear. See SNL, Plate XXV, p. 80. This stick usually of oak wood is colloquially called ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gku}$ - $^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime}$ an.

Fourteenth Page:
Rubr. 1: ${ }^{1} \mathbf{M b e ̆ r}{ }^{2}$ ts'o ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou- ${ }^{1}$ nyu ${ }^{2}$ ndu
Rubr. 2: ${ }^{2}$ La- ${ }^{3}$ ts'ü- ${ }^{1} h o ̈-{ }^{1}$ ddü ${ }^{1}$ gko
Rubr. 3: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ wua ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ ts'o ${ }^{\text {²b }}$ bŭ̌ ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dzǐ}$
Rubr. 4: ${ }^{3}$ Ch'wua ${ }^{2}$ nnü
Rubr. 5: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}$ 'o ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ndu}$
Rubr. 6: ${ }^{3}$ Ch'wua ${ }^{2} k h i{ }^{2}$ zaw ${ }^{3}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ p'ër
Rubr. 7: ${ }^{2}$ Dzhu ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ ${ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{3}$ gkü
Rubr. 8: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ wua ${ }^{2}$ ts'o ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime}$ ou- ${ }^{1}$ nyu ${ }^{2}$ ndu
Rubr. 9: ${ }^{2}$ T'o ${ }^{2}$ gkv ${ }^{1}$ t'khi ${ }^{3}$ t'a ${ }^{2}$ ts'o
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'wua ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{kw}$ 'ua ${ }^{3}$ nyu $\cdot{ }^{2}$ nyu
Rubr. 11: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nyu}{ }^{2} \mathbf{l a ̈}{ }^{2}$ ddü ${ }^{9}$ ts'o ${ }^{2}$ ndu
Rubr. 12: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mbe}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{dtv}-{ }^{2}$ ddii.

Fourteenth Page:

1) The yak he dances there it is the custom
2) on ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{9}$ ts'ü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{hö}{ }^{1}$ dduiu ${ }^{1}$ gko
3) the stag said he would like to dance there.
4) For the stag
5) to dance is not the custom,
6) the elkskin shoes with the white front
7) the sons of bitterness wear;
8) the stag he dances there it is the custom.
9) Where the pines are the young deer wanted to dance,
10) the cloven-hoofed they sway in rhythm,
11) they sway and dance as is the custom.
12) All the people of the village.

Explanation of text

Page 14
Rubr. 1: The first two symbols have been explained. The third symbol is ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ ou $=$ foul, evil smelling, impure, it is the picture of human excrement, other ${ }^{\mathbf{2} d t o-~}$ ${ }^{1}$ mbas said it represented a human embryo, hence unclean; below it are two
 The meaning of this phrase is that while from the goat and yak hair a hat is made and worn by the mourners, it is not the goat and yak who dance, but the wearers of the goat and yak hair hat, thus these animals dance indirectly.

Rubr. 2: Four of the five symbols have heen previously explained, the third while discussed elsewhere, is here differently used, it is the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathbf{m i}=$ fire. here it is read 'hö = red, all of the first four symbols are phonetically used and spell the name of the ${ }^{1}$ gko or alpine meadow.

Rubr. 3: The symbols in this rubric have been explained, the first is that of a stag $={ }^{3}$ ch'wua, it is the stag who wants to dance.

Rubrics 4-5: The symbols in these rubrics have already been explained.
Kubr. 6: The first symbol is a compound one, it shows a stag to whose upper body a front leg is attached, below it is the symbol ${ }^{2} k h i=$ paddy, here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{2} k h i}=$ a cured skin, hence a cured, tanned, stag or elkskin; an uncured skin is called ${ }^{2}$ ghügh. The next symbol is ${ }^{2}$ zaw $=$ shoe, ${ }^{2}$ dto $=$ a board, is below the ${ }^{2}$ zaw symbol, here it is used phonetically for ${ }^{3} \mathbf{d t o}=$ the front, forehead, ${ }^{1} \mu$ 'ěr $=$ white, hence an elkskin shoe with a white front (toe).

Kubr. 7: The symbols read: bitterness of sons they, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gk} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=\mathrm{wear},{ }^{3} \mathrm{gk} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ is the last symbol in the rubric, it represents a star $={ }^{1}$ gkü, and its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gk} \boldsymbol{u}=$ wear.

Rubr. 8: The symbols in this rubric have already been explained, see rubric 1 , of this page; only the stag is substituted for the yak.

Rubr.9: The first symbol is read 't'o and represents a pine, below it is the symbol ${ }^{2} g k v=$ head, it serves here for ${ }^{2} g k v=$ there, a demonstrative pronoun in regard to a place, hence there where the pines (grow) the ' t 'khi ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{t}$ 'a $=$ deer young, (wishes) to dance; the symbol ' t 'a between the deer and the dancing figure, represents a pagoda, here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{3} t ' a-\left({ }^{2} m a ̈\right)=}=\mathbf{a}$ young deer two or three years old. Here young people are meant and their friends or companions of the next page.
Rubr. 10: The first symbol represents a cloven-hoofed front leg, below is the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dzu representing a wall here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{1} d z u=b o r n ~(w i t h), ~ h e n c e ~}$ those born with cloven hoofs; the next two symbols are read ${ }^{3}$ nyu- ${ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{nyu}=$ to sway, to wiggle, hence to sway with rhythm while dancing.

Rubr. I1: ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Nyu}=$ to sway, ${ }^{2}$ lä $=$ again, ${ }^{2}$ ts'o $=$ dance, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{n d u}=$ (as is the) custom.
Rubr. 12: All these syllables stand for $=$ all the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ villages, the main symbol is a house, above it the symbol for snow $={ }^{2} \mathrm{mbe}$, and within the main symbol we find ${ }^{1} n a=b l a c k$, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ are here meant, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}=1000$, all serve as phonetics; it can mean all the village people, also all the villages or people of the neighboring villages, it is a phrase which cannot be defined word for word.

Fifteenth Page:
Rubr. 1: ${ }^{2}$ Dehu 'zo 'ch'i.'ddut'hoa
Rubr. 2: 'T'ü. ${ }^{1}$ te'u 't'iu 'nyu. ${ }^{\text {n }}$ nyu
Rubr. 3: ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nyu}$ 'lii 'ddu 'te'o ${ }^{\text {nd }} \mathrm{ndu}$
Rubr. 4: ${ }^{2}$ Gko ${ }^{\text {'bpu }}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gk}$ kit ${ }^{4} \mathrm{gkyi}{ }^{2}$ bbŭe
Rubr. 5: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpư̆}{ }^{2}$ nao ${ }^{2}$ gkyl ${ }^{3}$ bbŭe

Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndŭ}$ 'mun 'ndù 'ch'i ${ }^{\text {idesu }}$
Rubr. 9: ${ }^{2}$ Gko ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bpǔ}{ }^{1}$ gkyi ${ }^{2}$ gkyi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ss}_{\mathrm{H}}$
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Non.' ${ }^{1}{ }^{2}$ khud 'muàn 'chĕr.

Fifteenth Page:

1) All the sons of bitterness
2) with their slim waists they oway in rhythm,
3) they sway and dance again as is the custom.
4) We will escort the crane to his clouds,
5) and will escort the tiger to his high mountain,
6) we will escort our ancestor on high.
7) To the dazzling white gate of the clouds the crane wants to fly,
8) all those born with wings
9) have escorted the crane to the clouds
10) but his ability (we) do not allow to pass.

Explanation of text

Page 15
Rubr. 1: All these symbols have been explained.
Rubr. 2: The first two aymbols are read ${ }^{1} \mathrm{t}$ ' $\mathrm{i} \mathbf{i}=$ to drink, and ${ }^{1}$ ts' $u=$ demon respectively, their phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{\text {' }}$ ' 'ü. ${ }^{1}$ ts' $\mathbf{u}=$ waist slim, a narrow, slim waist; the second ${ }^{1}$ ' 'iu is read in the second tone and stands for the personal pronoun they. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nyu}^{2}$ nyu $=$ sway as the symbols indicate.

Rubr. 3: This is identical with rubric 11, of page fourteen.

Rubr. 4: ${ }^{1}$ Gko $=$ crane, ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ $=$ escort, the third aymbol is read ${ }^{1}$ gkyi $=$ cloud, it is a picture of clouds, below it is a pair of shears $={ }^{3} \mathrm{gkyi}$, such as are used in shearing sheep, here it stands for ${ }^{2} g k y i=$ to place, to put, and the last syllable ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{bbu} \mathrm{e}^{=}=$the future tense.

Rubr. 5: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpu} \mathbf{~}=$ tiger escort, the remaining symbols have been explained, ${ }^{s}$ sso is a high mountain see rubric 4 of page three, the tiger is always associated with a high mountain, the word ${ }^{2} g k y i=$ to put, to place is added with the meaning that the tiger is escorted till he has arrived, $i$. e., till he has been placed where he belongs.

Kubr.6: The only symbol that needs explaining is the first, it represents a monkey $={ }^{1} y u ̈$, here it stands for ${ }^{1} y u ̈=$ ancestor, it is interesting to note that while the Tibetans believe their ancestor to have been a monkey, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ make no such claim, they do use however the monkey symbol, it may be it is related that in his union with a demoness one of his offsprings was a monkey, but he was done away with.

Although the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ggog}=$ bench, which can stand for the genitive particle "of", also for above, upper, north, is here used in the sense of "on high", that is he is escorted on high, to the realm of the gods.

Rubr.7: In this rubric there are two symbols which have not appeared before, they are the fourth and fifth. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gkyi}{ }^{\mathrm{g}} \mathrm{ku}=$ cloud gate or the gate of the clouds the symbol ' p 'ĕr = white is next to the clouds, below the latter is a circle with wavy lines extending from it, it is read ${ }^{9} 1 v-{ }^{2} l a=$ brilliant, dazzling, scintillating, a brilliant object. The next symbol is a bird in flying attitude, above the bird's head is the symbol ' p 'ër, it is not read but it indicates that the white crane ${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ er is meant, ${ }^{1}$ ndzi means to fly, and the crane is here shown in a flying end of a sentence denoting the affirmative.

Rubr.8: We meet here with two symbols previously not explained, the first is read ${ }^{2}$ ndŭ, it is a picture of a wing, below it is the symbol ${ }^{2} m u n$ it is another pictograph for ${ }^{2}$ mùan $=$ heaven, here it stands for ${ }^{2} m u \underline{n}=$ a being, a creature, the symbol ${ }^{2}$ ndŭ is here read twice, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{c h} ' i=$ all an abbreviation of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ wuà $=$ all, the last symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}=$ born (with), literally winged creatures, wings all born (with); the next part of the sentence is in rubric 9.

Rubr.9: ${ }^{2}$ Gko ${ }^{3} b p u ̆=$ crane escort, ${ }^{1}$ gkyi = clouds, ${ }^{2}$ gkyi place, ${ }^{1}$ ssä is a ${ }^{2}$ ggǒ${ }^{1}$ baw letter and denotes the past tense.

Rubr. 10: The first is a compound symbol, the upper is read ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \overline{\mathbf{o}}$, the lower ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ non and represents milk, the first ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ is different from the symbol ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ which stands for turquoise, the wavy lines above and below indicate that ${ }^{1} \bar{o}=$ soul is meant; actually ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$, it must be read reversed, stands for $=$ qualities, the ability, efficiency, accomplishments, etc., all this is embraced in the words ${ }^{2} n \bar{n} \underline{g} \cdot{ }^{1} \bar{o}$, the word ${ }^{\text {m non }}=$ milk, a derivative from a creature, is used to express this, this is however only a conjecture, all the good qualities of the deceased, as well as his belongings are meant, for a deceased's perspiration-impregnated clothing is also called ${ }^{2} n^{n} x^{-}{ }^{-1}$, the things that he left behind to be divided after the funeral ceremony. There is a regular book called ${ }^{2}$ Non- $^{1}{ }^{-1}{ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite the ${ }^{2} n^{n}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \overline{0}$ of a deceased, it is chanted at funerals, for instance at the funeral of a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba or priest, the book is chanted when the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba's requisites of office, as his ${ }^{2} d s{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ err, five-lobed crown $={ }^{2} k$ 'o, sword, etc., are handed to his son by officiating ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas. The next symbol represents a mouth with teeth, hence teeth $={ }^{2} k h u ̈$, here it stands for the verb ${ }^{2} k h u ̈=$ to pass, let go; next is the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, and the last symbol is read ${ }^{3}$ chĕr $=$ a joint, a bone joint, it is also read ${ }^{2} \bar{o}=$ bone of which it is a picture, here it is read ${ }^{1}$ chĕr $=$ permit, allow, hence the ${ }^{2}$ non $\cdot{ }^{1} \bar{o}=$ qualities, etc., pass not permit.

Sixteenth Page:

Rubr. 1: 'Non ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr ${ }^{\text {t'ta }}{ }^{\text {nnyi}}{ }^{\text {²mä }}$

Rubr. 5: ${ }^{2}$ Non- ${ }^{1} \bar{o}^{2}{ }^{2}$ khü ${ }^{2}$ muàang ${ }^{1}$ chěr Rubr. 6: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpŭ}{ }^{1} \mathrm{hä}{ }^{1}$ dü ${ }^{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{t}$ 'u

Rubr. 9: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ä- ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{2}$ Bhĕr ${ }^{1}$ ho ${ }^{2}$ ndĕr
Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Non, ${ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{o}}{ }^{1}{ }^{\text {gyi }}{ }^{2}$ ndĕr ${ }^{2}$ ḳhü ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{1}$ chěr.

Sixteenth Page:

1) Like the white down-feathers of the crane.
2) the power (ability) of the departed we invite down to us below.
3) To the brilliant yellow gate of the high mountain, the tiger wants to dance and return;
4) all animals born with claws escort the tiger to his high mountain,
5) but let not his power depart with him.
6) Let us escort the departed that he may arrive in the land of the gods,
7) the departed must cross the nine spurs,
8) but his power (ability) must not cross the spurs.
9) He must cross the seven waters of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P} \cdot \pi \mathrm{a}$
10) but let not the power of his personality cross with him.

Explanation of text

Page 16
Rubr. 1: The first symbol is ' p 'ĕr = white, the second 'non = down-feather, of which it is a picture; the white down-feathers of the crane are considered his 'non- ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$, here is a play on words. The third symbol is ' t 'a $=$ flag, the fourth is the numeral $2={ }^{2}$ nyi, here ${ }^{2}$ ''a. $-{ }^{2}$ nyi means 'like the' ( ${ }^{1}$ non $=$ down feathers of the crane); often the phrase ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{2} \mathrm{a}-\mathbf{}^{2} \mathrm{nyi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$ is encountered in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ mss., the actual meaning of the phrase is ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ '"̈ $=$ that, ${ }^{2} n y i=t w o,{ }^{2} g v=$ body, i.e. of two things that, hence similar to that. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}$ is again the affirmative.

Kubr.2: The first symbol is ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$, the second ${ }^{2}$ ssu $=$ wool, here it stands for part of the name given to ancestors $={ }^{2} s s u-{ }^{2} b b u ̆-{ }^{1} y \ddot{u}$, this is often written with the symbol for wood $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{8 s}$, or with that of a wool felt ${ }^{2}$ ssu, and always ending up with ${ }^{1} y u ̈=$ monkey, ${ }^{2} b b u ̆$ is written with the symbol for pot $={ }^{2} b b u ̆$. Below it is the symbol for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, it has the same meaning here as in the rubric 7 , of page four q.v., viz., ${ }^{1}$ mùen $=$ down below, ${ }^{2} l a ̈=$ again, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite, the symbol represents ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ breath, used here phonetically.

Rubr. 3: ${ }^{2}$ Sso $=$ high mountain, see rubric 5, of page fifteen; ${ }^{2} k$ 'u $=$ gate, ${ }^{2}$ shi $=$ meat, here ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, $=$ the yellow gate of the high mountain; these symbols are followed by Swastikas of the Bön, with a right to left direction, the phonetic value is ${ }^{2}$ ghügh, here ${ }^{3}$ ghügh- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ brilliant, bright. The remainder has already been explained.

Kubr.4: Te first symbol is a front leg of a predatory clawed animal, it is read ${ }^{1}$ dshi $=$ claws, with the symbol ${ }^{2} m u \underline{n}=$ clawed creatures; the next two symbols ${ }^{2}$ ch'i $^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}=$ all born, or all creatures born with claws, ${ }^{2} 1 \mathrm{a}{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpu}=$ tiger escort, ${ }^{2}$ sso $=$ high mountain, ${ }^{2} l \ddot{a}=$ then, ${ }^{2}$ gkyi $=$ place.

Rubr. 5: See rubric 10, of page fifteen.
Kubr.6: The first symbol is here read ${ }^{1} y u ̈=$ ancestor, actually the symbol's full in contradistinction of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi} \cdot{ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l \ddot{u}-{ }^{2}$ ssĭ $=$ a deceased changed into a snake. The vertical line with the many latteral ones represents a pine branch, superimposed by the symbol ${ }^{1} y \ddot{u}=$ monkey. At the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathbf{n v}$ funerary ceremony which is performed during the eleventh moon within three years after the death of a person, a whole village will perform it at one time for all the deceased men of the village; each family who takes part brings a sheep as offering. The ceremony is performed on a meadow, small paper houses are erected, one for each deceased, these are in double rows and face each other, in each house is a ${ }^{2} n v$ $=$ a pine branch which represents the deceased. A book is chanted at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}$ ${ }^{3} \mathrm{nv}$ ceremony called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}^{3}$ hăr $=$ the ${ }^{2} n v$ cut $i$.e., while the book is chanted the ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{1}$ mba takes a pine branch with two latteral short branches representing the arms, the top leaves represent the hair, and with a knife he cuts, eyes, ears, mouth, nose, etc., into the wood of the branch, this pine branch becomes a ${ }^{2} n v$, a substitute or image of the deceased. After the sheep have been killed and offerings have been made, each family takes its particular ${ }^{2} n v$ out of the paper house, and places it on a large white felt, the son of the family who leads in the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{nv}$ ceremony and whose paper house is at the head of, and between the two rows of paper houses, wraps up all the ${ }^{2} n v$ in the felt, and mounting a horse, but reversed, that is he sits on the horse facing backward, rides to the funerary caves called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} k h i-{ }^{2} k$ ' $o-{ }^{1} n d v$ also ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gkyi} \cdot{ }^{2} k$ 'o- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ndv}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}$ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gkyi}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o. There used to be a caretaker in olden times at that cave, but now, since ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Khi}^{\mathbf{8}} \mathbf{n v}$ is no more performed in the Li-chiang district, there is no caretaker and ${ }^{2} n v$ are no more deposited in these small caves. They are situated iu a limestone shelf, facing east, between the last village on the Li-chiang valley plain, and lower ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Nga}^{-1} \mathrm{ba}$, see Plate IV.
 $={ }^{\mathbf{s}}$ swue- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{p}$ 'ä $=$ chief, ${ }^{1}$ ts'u $=$ demon, 'bpö $=$ ceremony, ${ }^{\text {'h }}$ haw $=$ sleep; before the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Khi}^{{ }^{\mathbf{n}}} \mathrm{nv}$ ceremony has been performed a deceased is still considered a demon, the chief is the leader of the cercmony $={ }^{1} b p o ̈$, and as such supplies the food $={ }^{2}$ haw for all those who participate in the affair. As they also sleep in house the word ${ }^{3}$ haw is added. The place where the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{nv}$ ceremony is perplace of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{nv}$. The officiating ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ at a funeral ceremony is called termed 'hä, below it is the symbol for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}=$ land, and the last symbol is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'u = arrive.

 cestor, $v . s$., then follows the numeral $9={ }^{2} \mathbf{n g v}$, and ${ }^{1}$ mbu $=a$ spur or ridge, above it is the phonetic character read ${ }^{\mathbf{9}} \mathrm{l}=\mathrm{to}$ cross.

Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2}$ Non- $^{1} \bar{o}$ spur crossed not permitted (see rubric 5 and previous rubric). The nine spurs are called ${ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'ä- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, see next rubric.

Rubr.9: 'The first symbol is usually read 'ddaw = weaver's loom, it has another phonetic value, namely ${ }^{1} p$ ' $\ddot{a}=$ hemp cloth, it is here read ${ }^{1} p$ ' $\ddot{a}$ and with the symbol for water $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi},{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}{ }^{\prime} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$, the word ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ä has reference to the place ${ }^{1} P^{\prime}$ ä- ${ }^{1}$ mbe ${ }^{3}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{n}$ nddü. With the numeral $7={ }^{2}$ shěr and the symbol ${ }^{1}$ ho $=$ ribs, here read ${ }^{1}$ ho $=$ to cross (a stream), the seven ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ shěr ${ }^{1}$ ho $=$ to cross the seven waters of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ä, the word 'ho actually means to drive across, as men drive animals into a stream, which they are urged to swim. The last symbol represents a semi-dried-up pond, the dots indicate the visible bottom, it is read ${ }^{2}$ ndĕr, here it stands for ${ }^{2}$ ndĕr $=$ must.

Rubr. 10: These symbols have already been explained; ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{n o n}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{o}}$ water crossed not permit.

Seventeenth Page:

Rubr.5: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngu}{ }^{2}$ nnü
Rubs. 6: ${ }^{4}$ gkyi ${ }^{1}$ shit ${ }^{3}$ saw, ${ }^{1}$ mun ${ }^{2}$ nniü ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ p'ĕr ${ }^{3}$ saw,

Ruhr. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndzěr}^{2}$ ghügh ${ }^{1}$ ho ${ }^{2}$ ghügh ${ }^{2}$ mä.

Seventeenth Page:

1) Let us invite his power as if it were a load of celestial clouds, such tet us invite to return to us.
2) Like a load of grass of the land, and like a load of silver of the snow mountain, such let us invite
3) Like a load of gold from the Yangtze such let us invite, and like a load of clouds resting on the juniper branches such let us invite
4) like a load of snow on the branches of the fir trees, and like a load of dew on the bamboo, such let us invite;
5) like the horse's
6) yellow saddle let us invite the power of the deceased, and like the white yoke of an ox one retains, so
7) let us retain all the good qualities of the deceased, like his ability to count and to record,
8) and his ability to sing and follow suit in singing.

Explanation of text
Page 17
Rubr. 1: Practically all the symbols in this rubric have been explained, the first is ${ }^{2}$ non ${ }^{-1} \overline{0}=$ the deceased's power, ability, etc., this is followed by ${ }^{2}$ mun $=$ heaven, ${ }^{2} n n u ̈=$ heart, here it forms the possessive $=$ heaven's, ${ }^{1}$ gkyi = clouds; the next symbol read 'gu shows a man carrying a load on his back, hence to carry a burden, a load, here it stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}$ a load and also for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gu}=$ " "ike, as", ${ }^{8}$ ssaw = invite; the sentences are very ters, the verbs are all in the present tens, the singular or plural is not expressed. The second half of the sentence reads ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} n \underline{n}^{-1}{ }^{1}{ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{s}}$ su $=$ bring, take, pick up, collect, ${ }^{2}$ lä $=$ again, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite.

Rubr. 2: The sentence construction is the same, ${ }^{1}$ dii $=$ earth, ${ }^{8} n n \ddot{u}=$ possessive case, the two small symbols next to ${ }^{2}$ nnü $=$ heart are read ${ }^{1}$ zhou and stand for grass, hence the earth's grass, 'gu = load (like, as) invite; ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{Iv}=$ snow mountain actually the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ngyu}=$ mountain with the symbol 'nv $=$ silver superimposed, can also stand for the Li-chiang snow range which is thus called, ${ }^{1}$ nv $=$ silver, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}=$ load, ${ }^{3}$ sbaw $=$ invite.

Rubr.3: The first two symbols or rather the phonetic ${ }^{2}$ ggoo- ${ }^{1}$ baw letter ${ }^{2} y i$ and the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bi}=$ to twist (it shows a man twisting rope with his hands) are both used phonetically for ${ }^{2}$ yi. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bi}=$ the Yangtze, or a river in general; the Yangtze which encircles the Li-chiang district at a height of from 6,000 to 5,000 feet to the west and east respectively, is rich in gold, hence it is called by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{2}$ La $-{ }^{-}$-ler. ${ }^{-1} \mathrm{ha} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}$ - ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bi}=$ Vast gold stream, and by the Chinese Chin-sha Chiang $[60]=$ River of the golden sand. The next symbol is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ha}=$ gold, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}=$ load, tree to the top of which the symbol ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gkyi}=$ cloud is attached, below the juniper symbol is that for needle $={ }^{1}$ gko, here it stands for ${ }^{\text {s }}$ gko $=$ branch, the branches of the juniper, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}=$ load, ${ }^{\text { }}{ }^{\text {ssaw }}=$ invite.

Kubr. 4: The first symbol is read ${ }^{2} l \mathrm{li}=$ fir tree (Abies Forresti), on the tup of it is the symbol ${ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ snow, the word ${ }^{3}$ gko $=$ branch is not written but read, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gu}=$ load, ${ }^{\mathrm{s} s s a w}=$ invite. The second half reads ${ }^{3}$ mùen- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ts}$ 'ä $=$ the cane-brake a slender species of bamboo which grows in clumps among the fir trees at 11,000 to $12,000 \mathrm{ft}$ elevation, the common form is Arundinaria Faberi, here only the symbol ${ }^{3}$ mùn = bamboo is written and not the syllable ${ }^{2}$ ts'ä; the curved line on the top indicating a dew drop is read ${ }^{2}$ ndshĕr $=$ dew, ${ }^{\text {'gu }}=$ a load, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite.

Rubr.5: There are just two symbols in this rubric, ${ }^{1}$ ngu $=$ horse and ${ }^{n} n$ nü $=$ heart, here again read ${ }^{2} n n \ddot{u}=i t s$, the possessive form. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ have several names for horse, the literary term is ${ }^{1}$ ngu, colloquially it is called ${ }^{2} \mathbf{z h}$ wua, and often we find in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ mss., the word ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dta}$, this is a Tibetan loan word from $\mathrm{rta}=$ horse.

Rubr.6: The first symbol is read ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkyi}=$ saddle, it can also mean a horse-load, here it stands for saddle, next to it is the symbol ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, already explained, then ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite. The second half of the phrase reads ${ }^{\text {'ghügh }}=\mathbf{o x}$, cow, it has another phonetic value namely ${ }^{2}$ mun $=o x$, cow, it is not so frequent as ${ }^{2}$ ghügh, the latter is the colloquial; ${ }^{2}$ nnü $=$ its, the possessive form, then ${ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{lo}$ $=$ the yoke of which it is a picture, and ${ }^{1} \mathbf{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white; then again 'ssaw $=$ invite.

The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba first read the passage horse its saddle dead invite, the symbol ${ }^{2}$ shi $=$ meat, can be read ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow and ${ }^{2}$ shi $=$ dead, but as it follows the noun ${ }^{s}$ gkyi $=$ saddle and as the adjective follows the noun, I translate it ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, for in the second phrase the word ${ }^{1} p$ 'ĕr $=$ white follows the noun ${ }^{1} l o=y o k e$, these two are in juxtaposition, hence ${ }^{1}$ shi cannot mean dead but yellow; he explained that the power, ability. etc. of the deceased is to be relained below, as one takes off the saddle from a dead horse. It is true the word ${ }^{1}$ mun can also mean a dead ox, an ox that has been offered, ${ }^{2}$ mun $=o x$, cattle is read in the second tone, while a ${ }^{1}$ mun or sacrified ox is read in the first tone. It is possible that the ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba was right. See rubric 8 of page fifteen but here the word 'mun stands for creature, a being.

Rubr.7: The first symbol should have a snake head instead of that of a monkey $={ }^{1} y \dot{u}=$ ancestor, as only after the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathbf{n v}$ ceremony a deceased is addressed as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l \ddot{u}-{ }^{2} s s i$, and this is chanted at the actual funeral. The second symbol is ${ }^{2} g g o \check{c}=$ of, the genetive case, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzi}=$ to count, the symbol represents a knot, this is indicative of ancient days before the invention of writing when people used knots; the Swastika symbols read ${ }^{2}$ ghügh have here the meaning of good, fine (quality). Between the two Swastikas is the symbol ${ }^{1}$ gku it represents the roots of the ginger plant, hence ginger, here it stands for ${ }^{3}$ gku $=$ to record. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}$ is again the affirmative.

Rubr. 8: The first symbol represents a man walking along singing, for detailed description of the same see introduction to the song, it stands for singing, while the symbol ${ }^{1} h o=r i b$, ribs, stands for ${ }^{1} h o=$ to chant, (in a deep voice), it also has the meaning to follow suit in singing. The words ${ }^{2}$ ghügh again stand for "good", it represents to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ the heart of a god, hence goodness, the quality good. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}$ is again the affirmative.

Eighteenth Page:

Rubs. 2: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'er ${ }^{1}$ nds'a ${ }^{1}$ shĕr ${ }^{2}$ mä
Rubs. 3: ${ }^{2} \mathbf{P}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}{ }^{1}$ dido ${ }^{3} l l u ̈{ }^{1}$ dado ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}$

Rubs. 5: ${ }^{2} \mathbf{N o n}^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ sss ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ mo ${ }^{1}$ ny ${ }^{3}$ seesaw

Rubs. 7: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}$
Rube. 8: ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{8}$ mi ${ }^{1}$ ny ${ }^{3}$ seesaw
Rubs. 9: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}^{1} \mathrm{hö}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{1}$ hö ${ }^{2}$ shwua- ${ }^{2}$ shwua ${ }^{3} \mathrm{hu}$
Rube. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Non- $^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ bpŭ ${ }^{2}$ nnü ${ }^{2}$ mb ${ }^{1}$ ny ${ }^{8}$ ssaw
Rube. 11: ${ }^{3}$ Bpŭ ${ }^{1} d d \ddot{u}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbe}{ }^{1} 1{ }^{1}{ }^{3} h u$.

Eighteenth Page:

1) His ability to sing the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gkwua}$ and ${ }^{\mathbf{~}} \mathrm{T}$ 'khi and like the ability and knowledge of the chief and headman
2) let us have white hair and long teeth as the deceased
3) let there be seen grandfather and grandchildren (under one roof)
4) All these like the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ non- ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{o}$ of the ancestors let these be given us (let us invite them back)
5) Let us invite these powers of the father unto the son
6) Let the abilities and powers of the father be equal in the son
7) and those of the mother
8) imparted to the daughter.
9) May the stature of the mother be even with the daughter
10) may these powers be imparted to the neighbors and the villages
11) May there be increase in the villages and among the neighbors.

Explanation of text
Page 18
Rube. 1: The first symbol ${ }^{9} \mathrm{gkw}$ wa is a carpenter's tool to scoop out a dish from a piece of wood; it is a curved blade with a handle at each end, it was used in olden days for the making of wooden bowls and the ${ }^{\mathbf{2} l o-1}{ }^{1}$ bpä, it was also used like a carpenter's plane before that tool was introduced. Here it stands for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gk}$ wua a type of song sung at wedding ceremonies by old men, who remained sitting while they sang. The song is colloquially known as ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ssu}-{ }^{3}$ wina- ${ }^{1}$ wùa- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gkwna}$. The ${ }^{3}$ Ssu is the life god, see NNCRC, p.250, note 527. It contained historical matter and references to their tribal ancestors; ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ the good (quality, ability). The third symbol represents a spine $={ }^{2} t$ 'khi, it can mean, pain, and is then read in the first tone, ${ }^{2} t$ 'khi $=$ to sell, ${ }^{\mathbf{3} t}$ 'khi $=$ cold, ${ }^{1} t$ 'khi $=$ sweet, for all of which the symbol ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{t}$ 'khi $=$ spine is used. Here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathbf{t}$ 'khi a type of song, sung on the mountains either by several travellers, or by young men alone. It begins with Eh eh eh eh which is continued till the man's wind is almost exhausted and then ends in a phrase; the ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{t}$ 'khi is sung in a high pitched voice and relates usually of the bitterness of life hence ' $\mathbf{t}$ 'khi = cold. When boys and girls sing these songs, and as the end phrase is impromptu, they are apt to become suggestive. The other symbols of this half of the phrase have been explained. Of the second half we have the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head, here it stands for ${ }^{3} g k v=a b l e$, ability, next to it is a pine tree read either ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr $=$ tree, ${ }^{2}$ 'to $=$ pine, or ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} s=$ wood, here it stands for ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} s$ or ${ }^{2}$ 日sir $=$ wisdom, knowledge. The next symbol is that of a chief $={ }^{2} n d z i$.

The origin of this symbol has been lost, the lower body is that of a deity, this shows the veneration in which the chief was held. He wears a peculiar coiffure with upturned hair. The next to last symbol represents the ${ }^{1}$ ndi or frond of a fern, it is the young shoot of the Eagle or Bracken fern (Pteridium aquilinum), here it is read ${ }^{1}$ ndü or ${ }^{1} n d d u ̈=a \operatorname{minor}$ official, as a headman of a village, the symbol is also written the affirmative, it also stands for

${ }^{1} n d i u$. The word ${ }^{2} m a ̈$ is again our colon.

Rubr. 2: Among the symbols of this rubric, there is none, that represente a verb nor the sentence "let us have" usually expressed by $={ }^{2} g v^{2} b \ddot{a}{ }^{3} h u$, but only ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head, ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{nds}^{‘} \mathrm{a}=\mathrm{fangs}$, it shows the mouth of a predatory animal, it is followed by the numeral ${ }^{1}$ shĕr $=$ seven, here it stands for ${ }^{1}$ shěr $=$ long, hence white head and long teeth, the meaning is a ripe old age let us have, indicated by white hair and teeth from which the gums have receded, a sign of old age.

Rubr. 3: The first symbol is read ${ }^{2} P ' u$ and represents a grandfather with long hair; ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}$ 'u.$^{2}{ }^{p}$ 'u is great grandfather, next is the symbol ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ to see, and below it a small male child on the symbol for tick $={ }^{3} l l u ̈$, this compound symbol of which the lower serves as phonetic is read ${ }^{3} l l u ̈=$ grandchildren, hence grandfather see, grandchild see, the meaning being let there be visible three generations under one roof. In the colloquial grandchildis ${ }^{2} \mid v-{ }^{2} b b u$, while great grandchild is ${ }^{3} \mathrm{lv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \mathrm{u}$, the two terms are only differentiated by the tone.
 have already been explained. The symbol for pine appears again, here it stands for ${ }^{2}$ ssu $=$ ancestor, the symbol ${ }^{1} y u$ under that of tree, wood, is here read ${ }^{2} y u$ and means to give, this is followed by the words ${ }^{1}$ mùen ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ below again invite.

Rubr. 5: These symbols have been explained, ${ }^{2}$ non $^{1}{ }^{1} \bar{o}=$ abilities, etc., ${ }^{1}$ - -1 ssí $=$ father, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{n n u ̈}=$ his, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{z o}=$ son, ${ }^{1} \mathbf{n y u}=$ on, unto, ${ }^{2}$ ssaw $=$ invite. The pair of eyes can be read ${ }^{1}$ miu and ${ }^{1}$ nyu, here it stands for ${ }^{1}$ nyu $=o n$.

Rubr. 6: ${ }^{1} \ddot{\mathrm{~A}}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ssi}=$ father, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}=\mathrm{in},{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}=$ son, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}=\mathrm{in},{ }^{8} \mathrm{ddu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddu}=$ equal; the last symbol represents a gate $={ }^{2} k$ ' $u$, here it is read ${ }^{3} h u$, and is part of the phrase usually found towards the end in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1} \mathbf{}^{\mathrm{mb}} \mathrm{ma}$ books ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv}{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}{ }^{\mathbf{3} h u}==\mathrm{let}$ that be so!

Rubr. 7: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}=$ mother.
Rubr. 8: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nnü}=$ her, ${ }^{8} \mathrm{mi}=$ daughter, ${ }^{1}$ nyu $=$ on, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite, that is her abilities etc., see rubric 5.

Rubr.9: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mä}=$ mother, this is followed by the symbol ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, here it is read ${ }^{1} h \ddot{ }=$ standing, the latter is actually read ${ }^{3} h o ̈$, but for euphony's sake is read 'hö. There is a symbol for this expression namely a man with apread out limbs firmly standing: $={ }^{3} h \ddot{ }$, here the idea of height is intended, or stature, hence may the stature of the mother be ${ }^{2}$ shwua- ${ }^{2}$ shwua $=$ even (in height) with that of the daughter ${ }^{\text {shu }}=$ may that be so!

Rubr. 10: ${ }^{2}$ Nonn $^{1} \bar{o}=$ ability, power, etc., ${ }^{8}$ bpǔ $=$ neighbors, it is written with the symbol for house and the symbol ${ }^{3} b p u \check{r}=$ colander is added, it acts as a phonetic for ${ }^{\text {s bpŭ }}$ neighbor, the symbol for house illucidates the phonetic; ${ }^{2} n n u ̈$ is here a conjunction; ${ }^{2} \mathbf{m b e}=$ village (s), it is also figured with the symbol for house, and that of ${ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ snow inside it, it acts as phonetic for ${ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ village(s). The last symbole are ${ }^{1}$ nyu $=$ on, unto, impart, ${ }^{3}$ ssaw $=$ invite. Sometimes both symbols ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ and ${ }^{2}$ mbe are written in the symbol for house, and that single compound is then read ${ }^{3} b p{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ neighbors (and) villages.

Rubr. 11: ${ }^{3}$ Bpŭ $=$ neighbors, ${ }^{1}$ ddü $=$ large, ${ }^{2}$ mbe $=$ village (s) ${ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{a}=$ thick, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{hu}$ $=$ let that be so. The meaning is let the neighbors increase and the villages prosper.

After the singing is finished, the descendant kneels before the ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbs who gives the son of the deceased sweetened water from a bowl to drink, this symbolizes the imparting of the $\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{non}^{\mathbf{n}} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{o}}$ or all the good qualities of the deceased.

DTV ${ }^{3}$ TS'U or ERECT THE ${ }^{1}$ DTV (TREE)

At most religious ceremonies ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ use trees, some highly ornamented, others again bare as the centre pine tree at the ${ }^{2} H a ̆ r{ }^{2} l a-1 l u u ̈{ }^{3} k$ ' $\ddot{0}$ ceremony. This particular pine tree represents the home of the crows and vultures who devour those who have committed suicide on the snow range. At the same ceremony two other trees are used called the ${ }^{2} l a-1 / l u{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ndzěr whence the ceremony derives its name. One a pine tree adorned with flags and paper flowers and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wuai or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'aw, and the other a poplar tree; both are for the demons of suicide ${ }^{2}$.

During the performance of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Szili}^{3}$ chung ${ }^{1} b p$ ö for the prolongation of life two trees are used, a spruce and a juniper ${ }^{3}$. At the great ${ }^{3}$ Dto ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{3} k$ 'ö ceremony six spruce or fir trees are used ${ }^{4}$.
${ }^{3}$ Dtv, read in the third tone is a prop used during the ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{1}$ bpö or Propitiation of Heaven Ceremony, and is to prevent evil from descending ${ }^{5}$. There is even a ceremony called ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Dtv}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathbf{b o ̈ ̈}^{6}$. The trees used at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}{ }^{1} \mathrm{bpö}$ are two oaks representing heaven and earth respectively, and a juniper which represented ${ }^{2} K$ 'aw the great emperor, i.e., khan of the days of the Mongols. There is also a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} a \underline{n} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}$ or Heaven's prop ${ }^{7}$, this is the main house post in a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ home, it represents Mt. Sumeru.

It is possible that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$ used at the funeral ceremonies represents ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}$ ${ }^{2} y_{i-}{ }^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ daw ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr the tree growing on Mt. Sumeru, the abode of the Garuda. On the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} p$ 'i, q. v., the tree is figured, and the deceased is escorted through the region where it grows. Why it is called ${ }^{1}$ Dtv the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}^{2}-{ }^{1}$ mbas could no more explain. The symbol for ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dtv}=$ one thousand, is immediately above the large flag.

There are three mss. in the collection entitled ${ }^{1}{ }^{D} t v{ }^{9}$ ts'u, nos 4150 , 8068 and no 1825 in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, here translated in part.

Page 1

On page one there is much which has already occurred in other mss., belonging to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}$ ceremony, as the deceased who belonged to either the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu},{ }^{3} \mathrm{~S} s u$ or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ clan, and that he is escorted to the realm of his ancestors, like the crane flies to the clouds of heaven and the tiger to the high mountain, the yak to the green grasslands, the deer to the black (pine-covered) spurs, the fish to the waters, etc. The deceased though courageous is to proceed with his flag, bow and arrow. It tells of the fights between the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ĕr and the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}$, the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}$ and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}^{8}$; between the paternal and maternal relatives. The deceased has been given everything, wine, food, black and white sugar, a musk deer pocket to poison snakes with, a sword, a bamboo rod, and a 'ndaw'. He has been given a horse to ride, supplied with a pack horse, plow oxen and rake oxen. The family has killed a cow and a sheep, has brewed liquor, boiled grain etc. The deceased is to repay his father, and his mother for her milk etc., while he is to protect the family and repays them a thousand and a hundred fold.

Page 2

Page 3

The chief ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba escorts the deceased from where the ceremony is performed, over the white hemp bridge or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i with his oxen and horses, on high to where his grandparents dwell and to the 33 realms of the gods.

At ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}^{2}{ }^{2} \mid v-{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime}{ }^{-}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ng} \mathrm{ngu}$ there are three pine forest which no one had seen, but the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{10}$ with the keen eyes saw them; ninety ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}-{ }^{1}$ ndd $\ddot{u}^{11}$ cut the pine tree to make the ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree, ninety ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} b o a-{ }^{1} n d d \ddot{i}^{12}$ cut the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}$ tv tree and from them they made the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dtv}$ tree which they erected in the court ${ }^{13}$.

Page 4

It then tells of the origin of the flag which is fastened to the tree. How the Chinese and ${ }^{2}$ Lä- ${ }^{2} b b$ ur or Min-chia reared the silk worms and how they spun the thread in the summer, and wove beautiful silk cloth, nine different kinds. Thus in the East came forth the flag of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{14}$.

 the east, and from sheep butter he made a lamp and burned butter lamps with which he suppressed the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ and ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ou demons.

Page 5

 erected the golden ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree, and with it he suppressed the ${ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{1}$ ndo demons ${ }^{15}$. From the milk of the hind (stag) and serow (the property of the Näga) he made butter and butter lamps which he lighted before ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-\mathbf{-}^{2} \mathrm{yi}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ daw ${ }^{2}$ ndzĕr q. v. ${ }^{16}$.

Page 6

This is repeated for ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{-1} 1 u_{i}{ }^{1}$ ddu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzǐ for whom, when he had died, his ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yi}-{ }^{3}$ shi ${ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{o}}-{ }^{2}$ zo erected a silver ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree and with it he sup-breed yak he made butter and butter lamps etc. etc. The same is told about with which he suppressed his enemy. Then follows $\left.{ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}-{ }^{1}\right] \ddot{a}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{ts}^{\prime} \dot{\mathrm{u}}$ whose ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{\mathbf{m}}$ mba erected a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dtv}$ tree at his death and suppressed the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ demons, etc.

Page 8

The family of to-day does likewise; at the death of their father or mother the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mba erects a ${ }^{1}$ Dtv tree and suppresses the ${ }^{1}$ dtěr demons ${ }^{17}$. The flag waving is like shooting the demons of the eight regional and subregional quarters and the ${ }^{2}$ Mun and ${ }^{\prime}$ Ghügh' ${ }^{18}$ demons after which the deceased is escorted on high to his grandparents and parents and to where his ancestors dwell.

It gives again all the various stages as described previously. It also relates of his doings at his various ages, as when he was 12 or 13 years of age he rode a hubby horse etc. etc.

The book ends by asking the deceased to leave his ${ }^{2}$ non- $\mathbf{-}^{10}$ (10 , grant ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}=$ male seminal ejaculations and vaginal conceptions ${ }^{20}$, much offspring, riches and that the family should only hear good tidings, and that their ponds should be full, that is that they lack nothing. Let that be so!
${ }^{1}$ See $K M G M G$, Plates 13, 16 and 18.
${ }^{2}$ See $l . c$. Plate 13
${ }^{3}$ See NNCRC, Plate 19.
${ }^{4}$ See l. c. Plate 35.
${ }^{5}$ See MBC, Plate 2, b.
${ }^{8}$ See NNCRC, pp. 370-371 note 753.
${ }^{7}$ See l.c. p. 377 note 762.
${ }^{8}$ The ${ }^{\text { }} \mathrm{Boa}$ are the $\mathrm{H} i$ i-fan who now live to the north of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ hi partly in Yung-ning and mainly in Mu.li. See note 13 of ${ }^{1} Y_{u}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} n d z i ̆{ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{m}} \mathrm{m}$, ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ haw ${ }^{1}$ shi. See also l. c., p. 204, note 332, and p. 253, note 539 .

- The ${ }^{1}$ ndaw is the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-2} \mathrm{kh}$ sickle, it is not round but long with the tip curved, the edge is serrated. Ite full name in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ literature is ${ }^{2}$ shu. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'èr ${ }^{1}$ ndaw. ${ }^{1}$ dzu the iron (steel) ${ }^{1}$ ndaw born with (teeth). Colloquially it is called ${ }^{\mathbf{s} \text { ssu }}{ }^{2}$ gkv. See also l. $c$., p. 243 , note 448.
${ }^{10}$ See note 8.
${ }^{11}$ A ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{1}$ nddii is a Tibetan lama.
${ }^{12}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{hoa}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{nddu}$ are either Black (Bon) lama or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ priests (lama?).
${ }^{13}$ The last four rubrics are figured or written thus in our ms.

2) ${ }^{2}$ Boa eyes keen he see; 3) ninety ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{1}$ nddii they ${ }^{1}$ dtv tree iron sharp sword it cut, ninety chant center gate there erect.
${ }^{14}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Ngaw are spirits of victory. See NNCRC, p.135, note 122; p. 140, note 133.
${ }^{15}$ The nine ${ }^{2}$ Sau ${ }^{1}$ ndo are Nāga demons, see l.c., pp. 67, 73-78.
${ }^{16}$ The wish-granting tree, see l.c., p. 437, note 772.
${ }^{17}$ The 'dtěr are headless demons, see l.c., pp. 491-493, note 781.
${ }^{18}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Mud and ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh are fully explained in $l$.c., p.93, note 47, and pp. 116-120.
${ }^{10}$ See note 47 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ta}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{3} \mathrm{la}$.
${ }^{2 n}$ See NNCRC, p.91-92, note 43.

${ }^{2}$ TS'U ${ }^{1} Y I{ }^{2} \mathrm{GKV} \cdot{ }^{3}$ SHU ${ }^{3} \mathrm{LA}$ or  ${ }^{2}$ TS'U ${ }^{1} Y I{ }^{2} G K V \cdot{ }^{2} S H U ~ S T R I K E$

Explanation of symbols in the title

The first two words are untranslatable; the first symbol represents a demon $=={ }^{1}$ ts'u of no particular type, the second a serow $={ }^{2} y$; ; both are employed phonetically in the title. The actual inherent meaning of ${ }^{2}$ tg'h ${ }^{1}$ yi is "to narrate or relate the doings of the deceased while alive". The next two upper symbols are ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=$ head, ${ }^{1}$ shu $=$ iron, (the picture of an axe). ${ }^{2} \mathbf{G k v} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu is the name of five strips of different colored silk or cotton cloth tied at one end, it represent the five elements of which the body is said to be composed. It can be translated "first search, i.e., the origin of man who is believed to be composed of five elements". The last symbol is hand $={ }^{1} l a$, its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{\prime} l a=$ to strike, the actual meaning here is to attach with a striking motion of the hand.

The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu about 5 inches long and tied together at one end was fastened to the left arm of the deceased when a male, and to the right arm when the deceased was a woman before the introduction of coffins and when bodies were cremated. Nowadays when coffins are used the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu is attached, by means of a little resin of the yellow pine, to the coffin at the place where the ${ }^{2}$ ss- ${ }^{2}$ bpa- ${ }^{2}$ dgyu $=$ a frog-shaped $={ }^{2}$ bpa, wooden wedge or plug, locks the upper lock the coffin instead of nails, they have this shape. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}$ ${ }^{3}$ shu is attached either on the left or right side depending on the sex of the deceased, by the son or daughter respectively, depending whether the deceased was a father or mother, by a striking motion of the hand. First however, the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{shu}$ is put on a plate by the mourning son, while the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mba arranges two plates with ${ }^{2} \mathrm{H}$ - ${ }^{2}$ lü${ }^{1}$ mbbŭ $=$ roast grain pop, see NNCRC, p. 85, note $21 ;$ p. 317, note 711, one with white popped grain, and one with dark or black colored (peas) popped grain, and a bowl of liquid (water) into which butter, a flower, tea-leaves, sugar and ginger have been placed; this represents medicine $=^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\mathbf{c}} \mathbf{h}^{\prime}$ ěr ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ ghügh in the colloquial, and simply ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ĕr in the literary language. The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mba}$ performs ${ }^{2}$ ch'ĕr ${ }^{3} k$ ' $\ddot{0}=$ medicine sprinkle, by dipping the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{\mathbf{s} \text { shu }}$ into the bowl and sprinkling the coffin with the liquid which is supposed to cure all the aches and pains the deceased had suffered and died of. While sprinkling the medi$=$ head-hair head on put, head-ache three kinds well, etc. When ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ èr ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{k}$ 'ö has been performed the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ replaces the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{shu}$ on the plate while the kneeling son throws popped grain three times on the ${ }^{2} g k v-{ }^{3} s h u$.

The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ thereupon instructs the son to rise and to attach ( ${ }^{3} \mathrm{l}$ a $=$ strike) the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{-}$shu to the coffin at the indicated place. The son rises strikes the coffin three times and attaches the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3}$ shu to it; while doing so he calls out three times "father" or when performed by a daughter for a mother, "mother". At that particular moment the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba begins the chanting of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}$ ${ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{9}$ la. While the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba chants the text of the book the son remains in a kneeling position at the head of the coffin. The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Mu} \mathrm{m}^{2} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'u $q$. $v$. ., reposes, erect, on the left side of the coffin in case of a man or right side in case of a woman.

The manuscript from which the translation was made is no 1078 , and is no more in my possession, but photographic copies are both in the Library of Congress in Washington D. C., and in my own library now on loan with the Far Eastern Institute of the University of Washington in Seattle.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) The origin of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ssu},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ clans ${ }^{1}$, (depending to which clan the deceased belonged)! Here (in this household) the son of the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu clan, in his ancestral home, the white head of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzi}^{-}{ }^{2}$ ghuigh ${ }^{2}$ is (now) dead. 2) He is dead, his ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{s} \mathbf{u}^{3}$ (lifegod) is also dead, he is gone, the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu changed into will fly to the white brilliant clouds of the horizon, there he will go. 6) To the high mountain with the golden (like) gate, there the tiger will go to romp. 7) To the horizon of the land the sheep will go. 8) To the horizon of the black mountain the stag will go.

Page 2

Rubric 1) Though the color of the water is very black ( $={ }^{2}$ gyi ${ }^{1}$ miu ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{3} g k i u$ ${ }^{s} l l i i=$ water color black very) the fish will sweep. 2) Your name was renowned, your voice was fine like that of a dog chasing prey; 3) you were dressed in the skin of a tiger, hence you were one that was not afraid of seeing a tiger. 4) When the tail of the tiger swished the ground (prior to attack) you were not afraid of the wind caused by it. 5) When you wore the eagle's feathers (tail feathers) on your hat you were not afraid of the thunder (dragon) ${ }^{6}$. 6) Your heart was of the same size as your body ${ }^{7}$ and when you saw your enemy you were not afraid. 7) Wherever one could put one's foot, there you trod and were not afraid. 8) You took your shepherd's staff and went herding your many sheep and cattle. 9) You could command people even greater than you, and also the slaves ${ }^{8}$ under you. 10) Dressed in a tiger's skin you were able to decide victoriously the affairs of men. 11) Taking a rod

Page 3

Rubric 1) you were one who could separate the good from the evil (white from black). 2) You deceased are going to the 33 realms of the good gods (or 33 good realms of the gods). 3) If one does not relate the deeds of a courageous man 4) there will remain nothing but emptiness $={ }^{2}$ nyi. 5-6) If one does not relate of 7 ) the agility of a man then it will change into dilatoriness $={ }^{1} \mathrm{ho}$. 8) If one does not relate of the keeness $={ }^{9} t$ 'a of a man it will change into bluntness $={ }^{3} \mathbf{d t v}$. 9) If one does not relate of a man's ability $={ }^{8} \mathrm{gkv}$, it will change into 10 ) incompetence (it will be lost to posterity). 11) If one does not relate of his wisdom $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ss}$, then it will change into ignorance. 12) I, like the chief, I, the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba able to chant like ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2} l o$ ( $\operatorname{SShen}-\mathrm{rab}(\mathrm{B})$ ) must tell you deceased of your various accomplishments, as your courage, agility, keenness, ability and wisdom. (The verb relate $={ }^{3}$ shou is in the first rubric of page 4.)

Page 4

Rubric 2) You have originated from the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ssu}$ or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan, you are going to join
 ${ }^{1}$ nddiu where your maternal ancestors dwell ${ }^{10}$. 3-4) You are going to confront your ${ }^{1} G y i-{ }^{2} y i-{ }^{1} d d e \check{r} \cdot{ }^{3} p$ 'u ${ }^{2} p$ 'u $=$ great grandfather ${ }^{11}$ and your great grandmother ${ }^{12}$. 5) You will come face to face with your father ${ }^{3} L \ddot{a}-{ }^{2} d_{z h o u-~}{ }^{1} \ddot{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{1}$ ssĭ and your mother ${ }^{2} B b u \check{ }{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \ddot{\ddot{a}}-{ }^{1} \ddot{a}-{ }^{2} m \ddot{a}{ }^{13}$. 6) You are going to the three generations of your paternal ancestors and to four generations of your maternal ancestors. 7) In the east when the sun's rays appear, the crow will call three times, you will hear its call. 8) At the time when food is scarce (in the three spring months when grain is scarce) the cuckoo calls, your ears will hear its good voice, listen to it. 9) You deceased, your ears will be unable to hear, use your fingers to clean your ears (of ear wax) ${ }^{14}$, when removed strike your ears with the palm of your white hands to see if there is any (ear wax) left, your ears are now clear you will be able to hear the good voice. 10) You have eyes but you will not be able to see, tie your hair back of your head with your white hands, and where we are chanting you will then see everything. (The verb ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ see is in the first rubric of page $5^{15}$.)

Page 5

Rubric 2) I, the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba tell you ten times, go and let your ears listen ten times. 3) Go over ten lands under ten heavens, and direct the waters in ten valleys, I give you cloth ready cut for ten suits, go and sew them finish. 4) I give you ten bundles of grain, take them on ten horses and carry them away. 5) The admonitions of the chief, in case you cannot keep them in your head, tie a knot in the garment of your father. 6) If you cannot retain the admoni-heaven and arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \dot{\mathrm{un}} .^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\mathbf{\prime}} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}$ ( $=$ at the great gate of heaven), 11) and from there arrived at ${ }^{2} Y \ddot{u}-{ }^{1} n d s u-{ }^{1} m b e ̆ r-{ }^{2} m a ̈-{ }^{1} g k o=$ the (alpine) meadow where the yak graze and where the ancestors dwell ${ }^{17}$. He thence arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Y}_{\mathrm{u}}{ }^{\mathbf{8}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ho}$ ${ }^{2}$ wuà $-{ }^{1}$ 'o ${ }^{-1}$ dü ( $=$ where your ancestors dwell in ${ }^{2}$ Wuà- ${ }^{1}$ t'o land). 12) From there you will arrive at the head waters and then at the tail end of the waters.

Page 6

Rubric 1) Thence you will arrive at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mo}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbe}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{dtv}$, from there you will arrive at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr. ${ }^{-2} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\mathrm{o} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}-{ }^{2}$ wùa, and from there you will arrive at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ěr. ${ }^{3}$ lä. ${ }^{1} g y i \quad$ where ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 's'o- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \ddot{a}-{ }^{3} l l \ddot{u}-{ }^{2}$ ghügh descended over the silver stairway ${ }^{18}$; 2) then you will arrive at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{1}$ shi $-{ }^{1}$ miu $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}-{ }^{2}$ wùa, there use the golden chain

 ${ }^{2}$ ghügh you will arrive at the foot of Mt. Kailas. 4) Then you will arrive at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{ssu}$; 6) then at ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{1}$ gkü- ${ }^{2}$ ndzı- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, rising from there you will arrive at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}-{ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{1}$ zhou- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, thence at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzi}-{ }^{1}$ gyu- ${ }^{-}$la- ${ }^{2}$ lĕr- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{düu}{ }^{20}$, 7) thence at ${ }^{1} B p u ̆-{ }^{2} b \ddot{l}-{ }^{2} n g y u ̈-{ }^{2} l l \ddot{i}-{ }^{2} d t u ̈$, thence at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngyü}-{ }^{2} b a ̈-{ }^{2} s s a w-{ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{2} d t u ̈$.
 ${ }^{2} n d o-{ }^{2} b b \bar{u} \cdot{ }^{1} g y i \cdot{ }^{1} d d u ̈$. 11) Thence at $" M u ̀ a n-{ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{2} g k o-{ }^{2} d t u ̈-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, thence at ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llü}-$ ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{3}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ dtü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$. 12) Thence at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mun}-{ }^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{dsaw}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, thence at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gv}$ -

Page 7

 (where) the junipers grow), you will arrive whence the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{s u}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~N}$ gaw came together i.e., were not separated and were led down by ${ }^{1} T s^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-}{ }^{2} z a ̈-{ }^{9} l l u ̈-{ }^{2}$ ghügh who brought with him the fire of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}$ and the rocks of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}$, the peg of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{21}$ and water of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}$ (they were not lost on the road). He then arrived

 5) he arrived at ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{yu}^{-}{ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}$, thence he arrived at ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{yu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$ - arrived at ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Lo}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndo- ${ }^{2} h o a^{-1}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ngyu}$ and descending from there 8) arrived at

Page 8

 4) From there he arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbu}$, thence at ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Khyü} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}$ dur- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkaw} \cdot{ }^{-}{ }^{2} / \mathrm{v}$.

 crosses the Yangtze to ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}$ ( Ta -ku) (in the winter), thence at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhu}-$ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv} .{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'u ( $=$ where one crosses the Yangtze to Ta-ku in the summer) ${ }^{27}$. Then he arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}^{-}{ }^{2} 8 \mathrm{su}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{28} 9$ ) thence ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dza}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dza}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbu}^{20}$, thence at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi}$ - bring, hence he and all his descendants died.

Page 9

Rubric 1) At the time ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ta}^{\prime}{ }^{1} \mathrm{a}^{1}$ 'khü- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{bu}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{bu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ descended she drove down all livestock, 2) but the ${ }^{2}$ Liü- ${ }^{1}$ shwua $-{ }^{2} \mathbf{k}^{2}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ mä- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gk} \mathrm{u}^{32}$ of which medicine could be made she did not bring, hence the horses' hoofs split and they died ${ }^{33}$. 3) Born and unborn between, one man died; 4) an opened flower and unopened flower, between them one faded (died). 5) In a house built around four sides you died, in the enclosure your sightless eyes shed tears ${ }^{34}$. 6) You were washed with the waters of nine streams till you were white, with nine loaves of butter your body was rubbed till your (skin) was smooth. 7) With the yellow comb ${ }^{35}$ they combed your hair till they were beautiful. 8-9) In the autumn months the sheep are brought back from the alpine meadows, they are herded in a pen and then sheared and from five catties of wool the felt cloak is made, from ten catties pleated trousers are made, from one catty a hat is made, and from one catty a belt. 10) The blade of the sword is plated (with silver) white, a sharp fine steel sword is placed (in the coffin?).

Page 10

Rubric 1) On your feet black shoes are put, on your legs fuzzy, white silk trousers are put. 2) It is the custom to grow old and to die. 3) One day while you dwelt in the home you were ${ }^{1} d$ ' $a=$ courageous and victorious. 4) You cultivated fine fields and waste lands, 5) and you were abundantly rich; 6) you had silver and gold in your boxes and you were renowned as rich. 7) Your boxes were full of turquoise and carnelian, and you were known as being handsome, such a name (reputation) you had. 8) Your white armor hung on the rack and in your hand you carried arms, and you were considered as one who could gain victories. 9) Heaven gave you three kinds of victories, courage, agility and beauty. 10) Heaven gave you victory like that gained by a tiger, you attained courage like a tiger. 11) The tiger is courageous and you were courageous, the two together gave you the name of being a courageous and agile person.

Page 11

Rubric 1) On the left (father's side) you had innumerable (thousands) relatives, and on the right (mother's side) you had hundreds of relatives (paternal and maternal respectively). 2) You were a good husband who lived closely with his wife, your paternal and maternal relatives were all good people. 3) Your sons and daughters were well brought up. You were a man of property and savings; you were one who constructed fine houses. 4) You had plenty of grain (boxes full of grain). 5) Your stables were full of horses, you had plenty of cattle tied to their pegs (many pegs to whom cattle were tied), your alpine meadows were full of sheep and goats. 6) You had ${ }^{3} p$ 'u- ${ }^{2}$ lu and sheepskin garments, a man who never suffered from cold. 7) You were considered a man of beauty in your turquoise and carnelian-decorated garments. 8) You never reared silkworms, yet you had hundred and thousand garments. 9) You drank out of silver cups, hence your wine was sweet, you drank tea from golden cups hence your tea was bitter (strong) ${ }^{30}$. 10) You always had good tasting meat, your knife and meat was always on the ${ }^{2} 10^{37}$.

Page 12

Kubric 1) You drank your wine from a dark carnelian cup ${ }^{38}$. 2) Crossing 99 spurs, of nine men you are the great one; 3) of seven men crossing 77 spurs you are one great one. 4) You were happy sitting drinking tea; 5-6) happy when rising to ride horseback. 7) You are like a crane and eagle who can break the bones of other birds, 8) you are like a tiger and leopard who can break the bones of hoofed animals. 9) Your heart is as big as your body hence you are not afraid of facing your enemy. Rubrics $10-12$ are the same as rubrics 4-5 of page 2, q.v. 13) A quick horse is never confronted (impeded) by watercourses (i.e. it is able to cross any stream). A sharp spear is never confronted (impeded) by rocks (it passes through everything). You deceased being courageous you were never confronted (impeded) by enemies.

Page 13

Rubric 1) Go before the great god ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}^{-} \mathbf{}^{2} \mathrm{mbu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} b b \mathrm{u}^{98}$ and your happiness is secured. 2) You have received ability, wisdom, victory, beauty, courage and agility. 3) You are a good man with a beard, to whom it is not necessary to give a name. A horse with stripes of a tiger one need not enquire about its fleetness, a dog with claws of an eagle need not be urged to chase its prey. 4) This rubric is no more understood. 5) Without throwing a rock into a lake you knew its depth, you needed not to climb to the top of Mount Kailas, yet you knew its height. 6) You had not arrived on the spur where the Tibetans dwelt, yet you could speak their language. You had not arrived at ${ }^{\mathbf{~} L} \mathrm{Lä}^{-}{ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$ khi${ }^{1}$ ssan $-{ }^{1}$ ndsu- ${ }^{1}$ mbu (on the spur on which the Min-chia dwell), yet you could speak their language. 7) You had never arrived at the spring of the Nägas, yet you knew the language of crows.

Page 14
Rubric 1) You had not arrived in the North, yet you were as capable as ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N d u}$, 2) You had not arrived in the South, yet you were as wise as ${ }^{1} S_{s} a^{40}$. 3) You ate butter and prayed to the gods of ${ }^{2} \mathbf{0}^{2}$ dso $=$ Tibet. 4-5) You had never arrived in the South, yet you dressed in silks and brocade, and burned incense to the gods of the South. 6) You are (now) going to the top of Mount Kailas, ${ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathbf{m b u}^{44}$ to ride horseback on high. 8) You are going one day like the red and attach the prayerflag ${ }^{48}$ and fasten it to the top of your tent. 11) Go camping on a high spur and light fires on the mountain. 12) If you meet a poor man talk to him as if you were poor, and to a rich man as if you were rich.

Page 15
Rubric 1) Your ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \mathbf{o}^{47}$ like that of the stripes of the tiger's tail give back to the life god ${ }^{3}={ }^{3}$ Ssu (of the home). 2) This rubric is no more understood, except that it mentions all those born with hoofs. 3) On your road (before you) there are no enemies which have preceded you; a sharp spear is not prevented by rocks (from penetrating). 5) You are as courageous as a tiger, 6) and fleeter than a horse, 7) and as sharp as an axe. 8) Such (qualities) let there be bequeathed to the family where the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä ceremony is performed. 9) I the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba able to chant and to speak with authority like a chief will

Page 16
Rubric 1) relate of your prowess. 2) We compare your prowess to the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{H}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ zo sons of the demons. 3) To the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{2}{ }^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ nine sons of the victors who killed (their enemies) the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} n g v-{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ the nine sons of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyj}^{48}$, 4) and gained a victory (over them) ${ }^{49}$. 5) We compare your prowess to the $=$ the nine sons of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ssu}^{51}$ and thus became renowned (made a name for them-and made a name (for himself). 8) We compare your prowess to the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{M u n a n}^{2}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z o}$ ${ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gkv}{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}=$ the nine courageous celestial sons ${ }^{54}$ who killed the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv} \mathbf{-}^{1}$ ts'u ${ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ the nine sons of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ demons ${ }^{55}$ and made a name (for themselves). 9) To the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ - $^{2}$ zo ${ }^{2}$ shĕr- ${ }^{-} \mathrm{gkv}=$ seven terrestrial sons (of the earth) who killed the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mung}^{1}{ }^{1}$ ts'u ${ }^{2}$ shĕr $-{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ the seven ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}$ demons ${ }^{56}$. 10) To ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}$ ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}^{-}{ }^{\mathbf{g}} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{57}$ who killed the black yak of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ demons and became renowned.

Page 17

 separated the gods from the demons 3) and became renowned. 4) Let the landlord and the descendant, after the performance of this ceremony, be able to destroy the 900 houses of the enemy 5) and the 700 cliff-dwellings, 6 ) (the verb of the foregoing sentence is in this rubric ${ }^{3} t s ’$ 'a $=t o \mathrm{smash}$, destroy). 7) Let the grandchild of the deceased become as courageous as his grandfather, 8) and the son as courageous as the father 9) and let him reach a ripe old age.

Page 18

Rubric 1) We compare your courage to that of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{za}_{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{llï} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gh}$ ügh who killed ${ }^{\prime}$ 'bbŭ- ${ }^{1}$ mung ( ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}$ a) 4) who rode a fast horse and attained a name; 5) to that of "Ghügh- ${ }^{1} k h u ̈{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathbf{o}-{ }^{2}$ szǐ ( ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}$ 'a) who smashed the 900 houses of the enenyy and his 700 cliff dwellings. 6) Like unto ${ }^{2} G h u ̈ g h-{ }^{1} k h u ̈-{ }^{-} b b u{ }^{1}{ }^{1} l a ̈$ ( ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} a$ ) who erected tamped earth and tiled houses and became renowned. 7) Like unto "Gkaw-straight horns ${ }^{60}$,

Page 19
Rubric 1) and became renowned. 2) We compare your prowess to ${ }^{1} \mathbf{M a ̈ -}{ }^{2} n n u ̈$ -'la- ${ }^{2} t^{\prime} u\left({ }^{1} d^{6} a\right)^{61} 3$ ) who killed a tiger in the forest and became renowned. 4) To ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{2}$ nnü- ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr- ${ }^{3}$ bbū ( $\left.{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime}\right)^{\text {as }}$ who killed ${ }^{2}$ Aw- ${ }^{2}$ ts'aw. ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{2}$ ts'aw 7) and became renowned. 8) You courageous deceased protect the ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{Ssu}=$ Life god. 9) We compare your prowess to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}^{-} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dzhi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{bpu}$ ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}$ )

Page 20
Rubric 1) who killed ${ }^{1}$ Lĕr.- ${ }^{-d t u i} \cdot{ }^{2} n g v-{ }^{3}$ niu 2) and became renowned. 3) To ${ }^{2}$ T'khyu- ${ }^{2}$ lĕr- ${ }^{3}$ dsaw- ${ }^{3}$ bpǔ ( ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}$ a) 4) who killed ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} l o-{ }^{1}$ mbbǔe ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ 5) and became renowned. 6) To ${ }^{2}$ Mùan. ${ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{1} d d u-{ }^{2}$ ndzí who created the heavens and spreal out the earth, created the sun and moon, the white stars and 'zaw $=$ planets, whereupon the sky was brilliant and also the mountain spurs, all this ${ }^{1}$ Ddu ${ }^{50}$ accomplished; 7) he also sowed hundreds of kinds of grain, 8) built houses and 9) became renowned. 10) We compare your prowess to ${ }^{\text {t }} \mathrm{Khyu}$ - Rubric 1) who killed ${ }^{2} S_{s}-^{2}$ dzhi $^{1}{ }^{1}$ ngu- ${ }^{3}$ dsaw 2) and became renowned. 3) To ${ }^{3}$ Mun․ ${ }^{2}$ dzhi- ${ }^{3}$ dsä- ${ }^{3}$ mbbŭ ( ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}$ a) 4) who killed ${ }^{1}$ Dsä- ${ }^{2}$ dzhi- ${ }^{1}$ yu- ${ }^{3}$ wu 5) and became (a 'Ddy demon) 8) and became renowned. 9) To ${ }^{2}$ Dto.$^{2} \operatorname{ssan}^{65}$ a ${ }^{2}$ bpö- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbö}$ 10) who killed ${ }^{3}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ bpa- $\left.{ }^{2} l a-{ }^{-1} l \mathrm{iai}, ~ 11\right)$ and became renowned. 12) $\mathrm{To}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndv}$ ${ }^{1}$ 'lzu--'wuà-'ssü $=$ winged born five kinds

Page 21

Page 22

Rubric 1) as the white crane $={ }^{2}$ gko- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ěr, the white eagle $={ }^{3}$ gko $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}^{-}{ }^{3}$ 'khyu $=$ Garuḍa, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{gu}$ the wife of the Garuda, the peacock and the cuckoo 2) who of all the winged-born are the most courageous. 3) To the five kinds of clawed animals 4) as the leopard, the tiger, the dragon, the (mythical) lion and the ${ }^{1}$ Shu $\cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}^{-}{ }^{2} b a-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ the river otter, $5-6$ ) who of all the clawed animals are the most courageous. 7) To the five kinds of hoofed animals 8) as the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Gkyi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{-1}{ }^{-}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{96}$, the yak, the wild pig of the pine furest, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dta}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{dgyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{lu}^{67}$

Page 23

Rubric 1) and the white ox of the gods; 2) these of all the hoofed animals are the most courageous. 3) All these we send to escort you courageous deceased, protect the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}}=$ Life god. 4) To be old and to die this is the custom. 5) We do not frighten you, all this is true; 6) you are not alone $={ }^{3}$ dtaw ${ }^{\text {88. }}$. 7) Once upon a time 8) the heavens never died, the blue of the sky never dies, but they died at ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{1} t^{\prime} 0^{72}$. 10) The earth does not die and

Page 24
Rubric 1) the yellow of the earth does not die, but three women on the earth died. These three the people did not want to die, but they died at 'Dü- ${ }^{2}$ mbe${ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}=$ people of the land $={ }^{1} \mathrm{dü}$ and village $={ }^{3}$ mbe. 2) Of all to come forth first, heaven came forth first, but you are now conscious whence you came forth. 3) Of the 12 (kinds) animals to appear, they appeared in order ${ }^{88}$; 4) whence you originated you are thus aware. 5) Your grandfather ( $={ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}$ su-and mother ${ }^{13}, 8$ ) they took a chain and put it around a dog's neck unbeknown to the $\operatorname{dog}^{77}, 9$ ) the sheep did not know that it was enclosed in the pen; 10) the yak did not know it was behind bars.

Page 25
Rubric 1) They who are going north (on high) are calling you ${ }^{78}, 2$ ) going from south (below) north (on high) you must call, neigh like a horse ${ }^{70}$. 3) If you do not know your father, you watch for the one wearing an armor; 4) if you do not know your mother look for her who wears the beautiful dress. 5) If you do not know your grandfather watch for him who is armed with spear and arrow; 6) if you do not know your grandmother look for her who wears the beautiful garment. 7) When you see them laugh, speak to them, and think of them (that they are your father and mother etc.) 8) You are the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nddu}$ - you planted grain in the fields it was not done haphazardly, when you were hungry they fed you.

Page 26

Rubric 1) You repay them for heaven and earth's grace ${ }^{81}$ and favor; you must repay them for the house and home, for the cultivated and uncultivated land (fields). 2) When you were young they put butter over your body and your mother gave you her milk, now you are grown up ( $=^{2}$ dto), you must repay your debt. 3) To rear sons is the duty of the father; 4) to rear daughters is the duty of the mother; 5) to buy a daughter-in-law is the duty of the mother-in-law (i.e. the son's mother). 6-7) You deceased are being escorted to the realm of the gods. 8) When you arrived one storey (on high) 9) you are face to face with the five houses of the gods ${ }^{82}$ and with the five lands of the gods. 9) Here the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}^{-{ }^{9}} \mathrm{gu}^{89}$ flies filling the heavens and covering one land (below it) and that land is the land of the gods.

Page 27

Rubric 1) This is also the house of the gods, we would not escort you to the realm of the gods 2) where the land is spread with silver and golden garments, such a place there is, and if you were not as belonging to the gods you would not be escorted to the realm of the gods. 4) We escort you to the realm where incense rises from incense burners 5) which, when you inhale it, you need no food. 6) You will go to the realm of the gods where, when the shadow of the butter lamp strikes you, you need no clothes; 7) that is the realm of the gods and to that you will be escorted. 8) The uncastrated yak romping on the high mountain, 9) there is a gate, (this is the gate) to the house of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ clan, there where the land is spread with tiger skins, that is the land of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ma}$ clan ${ }^{63}$, if you were not a son of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ clan, you would not be escorted to their realm ${ }^{84}$. 10) Where the tiger dances on the high mountain there is a house and that is the house of the ${ }^{1} H o$ clan. 11) Where the land is covered with ${ }^{3}$ p'u. ${ }^{2}$ lu that is the land of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ clan, as you are not a member of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ clan

Page 28

Rubric 1) we will not escort you to the realm of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ clan. 2) Where the golden elephant dances on the land, there is the house of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}$ su clan, where the land is covered with grass that is the land of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ssu}$ clan, as you are not a member of the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu clan we will not escort you to their realm. 3) Where the white stag romps on the high spurs 4) there is the land of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan, where the land is covered with white felt that is the realm of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan. 5) As you are a member of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan you are escorted to that realm to behold the face of heaven and earth and the home of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan. 6) If you do not know (not aware of) heaven feel with your hand, if you are not sure of the ground measure it with your feet. 7) In the east 8) there is a white heavell and a white land, a white sun, moon, stars, ${ }^{1}$ zaw $=$ planets, a white mountain and white valley, 9) that is the realm of the gods thither we escort you deceased. 10) You are to dwell where the heaven, sun, moon and stars are brilliant.

Page 29
Rubric 1) Go thou to that realm to speak, lead your barking dog and neighing horse, go thou and place a ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ byu $^{85}$ there, you are dwelling on high, protect those dwelling below, protect us as quickly as a fleet horse. (In case a wife has preceded the deceased husband the following is chanted:) In times past those who opened the heavens and the earth 2) preceded you; 3) now you follow, 4) open the land. 5) He who built the house preceded you 6) now you go and dwell in that house. 7) He who sowed the grain preceded you, now you go and reap the grain. 8) He who dug the ditch preceded you, now you go and direct the waters. 9) One day the oak was born on the highlands, the pine was born belowse, the oak and the pine could not see each other, thus the two could not meet.

Page 30

Rubric 1) It is a long time, like the width between the horns of a yak aince we loved-ones have seen each other. The pine has been escorted to where the oak dwells; the oak came to meet the pine, now the two have again met. 2) The ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Yu}^{3}{ }^{3}$ bpŭ tree ${ }^{87}$ is born on the high spurs while the yak dwells below. 3) Thus the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Yu}$ - ${ }^{3}$ bpu tree and the yak could not meet; they did not see each other for a long time. The yak we now escort to where the ${ }^{8} \mathrm{Yu}$. ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ tree grows and the latter comes to meet the yak. 4) Much time has passed and they did not know each other, but now they have met and are again united. 5) The white salt is on high, the sheep are below, they could not see each other, 6) they did not meet for a long time. 7) The sheep we escort where the salt is and the latter has come down to meet the sheep, thus the two have again met. 8) The ${ }^{2}$ Ndaw ${ }^{\text {' }}$ ndzěr ${ }^{89}$ is born on high and the goat below 9) the two have not met for a long time; 10) we escort the goat to the ${ }^{2}$ Ndaw tree, the latter came to meet the goat. Thus the two have met again. 11) The woman is on high, the man below, they could not see each other, they have been separated for a long time, as the width between the horns of a yak; now we escort the man to where his wife dwells, the latter descends to meet her hushand. They have met again and have seen each other. You two go and work together 12) like the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hoa}$ ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{er}^{88}$ who roosts on the pine. Go ye two to herd sheep together where the pine trees grow.

Page 31

Kubric 1) In the evening cook your supper and together eat your evening meal. 2) In the morning eat your breakfast and invite each other friendly. 3) You deceased go and eat your food whether good or bad, pass away your time. 4) In the wintertime the evenings are long 5) go and discuss the affairs of the poor and rich, thus you two forever pass your time. 6) You of the 'Ssu clan one day when you were born, you were born from the five elements; 7) born thus, when you died 8) you reverted again to the five elements. (This is now followed by the origin of the cloth [ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{shu}$ ] with which ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ er ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{O}=$ medicine sprinkle, is performed.) 9) Unless one relates of the origin of the cloth one must not speak about it. 10) The Tibetan, the Min-chia and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ women

Page 32
Rubric 1) these three became one family. In the spring they reared the silkworm. 2) In the summer they spun the silk thread. 3) In the autumn they wove the silk cloth on a spur, when gusts of wind 4) carried the cloth off into the valley, and into the stream. 5) They then wove the cloth in the valley and there came forth nine kinds of fine cloth. 6) From the white one a long garment was made; 7) from the green one the sleeves, from the varigated one a cape was made; 8) from the yellow one a vest was made ( ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{3} b p u r=$ vest) 9) and from the red one the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ shu was made. 10) From the white one came forth the wood element; 11) from the green one the fire element, 12) from the black one the iron or metal element;

Page 33
Rubric 1) from the yellow came forth the water element, 2) and from the centre the earth element came forth. (In rubric 3 the three women are called ${ }^{1} \mathbf{P}$ 'ěr $=$ Tibetan, ${ }^{1}$ Ssan $=$ Min-chia or ${ }^{2} L a ̈-{ }^{2} b b u$, and the ${ }^{1} N a-{ }^{2} k h i{ }^{1} W u=$ slave. The rubrics 4-9 are the same or equal in part to the remainder of page 32. From page 33 to end of book the text has been written by someone else, it is finer writing, a more delicate stylus has been employed.) 10) Thus these five elements came together. 11) On you deceased we sprinkle medicine with the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3}$ shu.

Page 34
Rubric 1) On you deceased who originated from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan we sprinkle medicine on your head, whereupon the three illnesses will be healed; on your eyes, on your tongue, on your teeth, on your hands, lung, heart, liver, stomach, ribs, intestines and on your feet, whereupon the three illnesses of each will be healed. 2) After this you are now able to eat; we give you a ${ }^{2}$ mun $=$ life offering and a riding horse, take it with you, you are now able to receive these and so take them along. 3) You are dead. you cannot again rise from the dead ( $={ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ ssu), but now your illness has been cured, for you have received medicine. 4) The green grass is born on the black spur, where it is born that custom is known. It is the custom to obtain from a round mould a round object. 5) The dwelt; the former's son ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Bpä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{niu}\left({ }^{3} \mathrm{Bpä}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsä}{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpä}-1\right.$ niu, the father's name precedes that of the son) was very rich, his ${ }^{2} d t o-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ was ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ds} \ddot{a}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ha}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{bpö}$ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbö}$, he was the rich landlord's ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$. They killed thousands of domestic animals (at the performance of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä for the deceased). 6) They prepared food from thousands of measures of grain, and thousands of garments they presented to him. 7) From the white clouds the son made the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ekv} \mathbf{v}^{3}$ shu. They reared their son, so when the parents were old the son took care of them. They planted the grain to prevent their being hungry. The son attached the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{3}$ bu to the coffin and called his father ${ }^{89}$. 8) To buy the bride for the sou is the business of the mother-in-law (of the bride). The son repays the father for his grace, and the daughter

$$
\text { Page } 35
$$

Rubric 1) repays the mother for her kindness and affection. 2) When a child he was rubbed with butter; for nine attentions and seven cares bestowed by the parents we repay them. 3) We repay them for the houses, the fields, the sky above them, and the home. 4) He attached the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu whereupon he received ${ }^{1} n n \ddot{u}$ and ${ }^{1}{ }^{100}$ and offspring as numerous as the stars in heaven. 5) One

 ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{ggü}^{93}$. (The remainder of this page is the same as rubrics $5-8$ of page 34 , and rubrics 1 and 2 of page 35.)

Page 36

Rubric 2) They used the leaves of the trees as ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{shu}$ and attached it to the tree, whereupon his son received ${ }^{1} n n i i$ and ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} 90$ as numerous as the leaves killed several hundred sheep (all is repeated again as related previously up to rubric 10). 10) The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}^{3}{ }^{3}$ shu of green grass he attached to the ground whereupon he had ${ }^{1} n n \ddot{u}$ and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$, and offspring as numerous as grass on the ground. 11) One generation

Page 37

 ${ }^{2} b b u$ ue the mother, the semen-wanting father died, and the children (vagina descending)-wanting mother died. 2) $I$, with the authoritative voice of the chief, I, the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba able to chant, tell the landlord to kill hundreds of sheep (all is again repeated up to page 7). 7) The son used a red cloth for the ${ }^{2} g k v$ ${ }^{\mathbf{s}}$ shu and attached it under heaven, he obtained ${ }^{1} n n \ddot{u}$ and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ and offspring as numerous as the stars in heaven; he attached it to the ground and obtained ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ and offspring as numerous as the grass on the land. 8) He attached it to the tree and obtained ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$, and offspring as numerous as the leaves on the tree. 9) The ${ }^{2}$ dto $\cdot{ }^{1}$ mba closes the door of the deceased of the celestial stems ${ }^{95}$. 10) When a man dies the ${ }^{2}$ dto- $^{1}$ mba receives nine ounces of silver, this is as correct as the verdict of a chief. 11) When a women dies the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba receives seven ounces of silver; when the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto $\cdot{ }^{1}$ mba chants he makes no mistakes.

Page 38

Rubric 1) This is as correct as the verdict of a chief, like a sword splitting the rocks.
2) You are now arrived on the left of ${ }^{\text {e }}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3}$ llui- ${ }^{-s s u}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ gyi (a stream) carry with you a lighted incense and a lamp, your ${ }^{\circ}$ non- $\mathbf{D}^{\mathbf{0 8 6}}$ you must not take with you. 3) The yak has gone on high let him shed his horns below, the horse has gone on high let its saddle remain behind; the sheep has gone on high, let its wool remain behind. 4) The pig has gone on high let its flesh remain behind, the chicken has gone on high, let its down feathers remain behind. 5) Let the clouds of heaven descend, let the green grass of the land remain, let the silver of the snow mountain descend 6) and the gold of the river remain with us. Let the snow on the spruces remain and the dew on the bamboo remain with us. 7) You deceased of the ' $\mathbf{Y u}$ clan 8) before you died your voice was fine, you beheld three generations in the home. Give us such a ${ }^{2}$ non-
${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$; give us, as you possessed, a white head and long teeth ${ }^{\mathbf{0 7}}$, such a ${ }^{2}$ non. $\cdot \overline{\text { on }}$ return to us. 9) On high you deceased you are pleased, below let us have the ${ }^{3} \mathbf{S}_{s u}=$ the Spirit of Life, and ${ }^{1}$ nnii and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ See $A N K S W C$, Vol. 1: 85-86; MBC, p. 10, note 3, pp. 117-118, rubric 11, p.121; NNCRC, p. 129, note 106 , p. 168, note 235 , p. 229, note 427 , p. 571 , note 848.
 ANKSWC, p. 83; MBC, pp. 71-88; NNCRC, p.84, note 19; p. 121, notes 87-88.
${ }^{3}$ The ${ }^{3} S_{s u}$ or lifegod, see NNCRC, p.250, note 527; p.376, note 759. Also p. 146, note 150.
${ }^{4}$ See SNL, pp.45-46. Every dead person is first called ${ }^{1}$ Zhi- ${ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l u ̈ \cdot{ }^{2}$ asin, as it is helieved that a person after death changes into a snake. See also NNCRC, p. 276, note 582.
${ }^{5}{ }^{1}$ P'ä- ${ }^{2}$ mbe ${ }^{1}$ zhi- ${ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{2} s s u$, a deceased female is thus called while a man is ad-
 $=$ ancestor; it is thus a combination of ancestor and newly deceased. See also SNL, p. 108.
${ }^{6}$ In a very old manuscript this passage is more realistically figured thus: We see the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{nv}$ wearing a hat with eagle's feathers, the dragon as if assailing him, the tail of the dragon attached to heaven indicating the thunder descending. The last two symbols are read ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3} g k y i$
 $=$ not afraid, unafraid.

7 That is he was courageous.
${ }^{8}$ A slave in ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{k} k h i}$ is called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{za}$, a more ancient term is ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{w u}$, it is here written with the symbol for ${ }^{1} z \ddot{z}=$ a winged demon. Colloquially a slave is called $\mathbf{2}_{\mathbf{z a}}$ - $^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{p}$ 'ĕr.
${ }^{2}{ }^{2} S_{s u} \cdot{ }^{2} b b u{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} k h y u ̈$ is written thus: It is the place name where the paternal ancestors dwell. The symbol $\mathbf{2}^{s}=$ wood is here read ${ }^{2}$ ssu, the one below ${ }^{2} b b u ̆=$ pot; the third is the symbol ${ }^{1} l o=$ valley. The last symbol represents a juniper $={ }^{3} \mathrm{khyü}$, all except the ideograph are used phonetically.
$10{ }^{1}$ P'ä- ${ }^{2}$ mbe.$^{3}$ lo ${ }^{1}$ nddiu. It is the place name where the maternal ancestors dwell. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ä $=$ a weaving stool or loom, ${ }^{1}$ mbe $=$ snow. The third is the symbol for grandmother, then ${ }^{1} l o=v a l l e y$ and ${ }^{1}$ ndi (here read ${ }^{1}$ nddui) $=$ the young frond of Pteridium aquilinum (fern).

${ }^{11}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dde} \mathrm{r} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{P}$ 'u ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{p}$ 'u $=$ great grandfather it is written thus: The first is a compound symbol ${ }^{1} g y i=$ water with ${ }^{1}$ Iddĕr $=$ foam, then the figure of the grandfather. The last symbol is ${ }^{2} p \cdot u=a b u b b l e$, it is read twice. ${ }^{1} \AA{ }_{A}-{ }^{2} p$ 'u is grandfather, ${ }^{9} p$ 'u- ${ }^{2} p$ 'u $=$ great grandfather.

12 'P'a- ${ }^{2}$ mbe- ${ }^{3} d z \overline{-}-{ }^{2} d z \overline{1}=$ great grandmother. The third symbol is read twice ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{d z i} \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{d z i}$, it represents a jackal. Grandmother is ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}{ }_{\mathbf{a}}-\mathbf{2} \mathbf{d z i}$.

 and mother respectively. See $R K M G M G$, p. 104. In the name for mother the term ${ }^{2} b b u=s h e e p$ is used, for when an ewe drinks milk it kneels, this is supposedly to have reference that the deceased drank his mother's milk.
${ }^{14}$ This is written thus: The two symbols after the ${ }^{2}$ nv with the superimposed monkey head $={ }^{1} y u ̈$ with the wavy line issuing from his ear, are ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ unable, to hear $={ }^{2}$ mi. The next figure shows him cleaning his ears, and the next the ${ }^{2}$ nv symbol with wavy lines extending from both ears indicating that he is now able to hear. In another book it reads ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mi}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{m u a ̀ n}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{t}$ 'a $=$ hearing not distinct.
${ }^{15}$ Next to the ${ }^{2}$ nv symbol are a pair of eyes with lines protruding read ${ }^{1}$ ddo $=$ to see, below it is the negation ${ }^{\text {s muàn, the deceased is thus unable to see, he is pushing his }}$ hair back of his head, i. e. out of his eyes. The last two symbols are read ${ }^{1}$ ddo ' $\mathbf{~} t$ 'a $=$ keen eye sight; ${ }^{\text {s }}$ t's represente a pagoda, it is used for ' ${ }^{\prime}$ 'a $=$ keen, sherp.

${ }^{16}$ See NNCRC, p. 145, note 147, also MBC, p. 71-88.
${ }^{17}$ See RKMGMG, p. 103.
${ }^{18}$ The first is a compound and stands for ${ }^{1}$ na. ${ }^{2}$ mo ${ }^{2}$ mbe${ }^{3}$ dtv a village, the black dot is ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black, and below it ${ }^{2}$ div, ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}=1000$ ) both are phonetically employed; sometimes div is omitted and the symbol for snow $={ }^{2}$ mbe superimposed on the house. The symbol for house $={ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ wù has two yak horns protruding from it, and over it the symbol
 ${ }^{1} \mathrm{nv}=$ silver, the name translated reads $=$ silver horns born with house, it is alace name, hut it demonstrates how the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas compose their symbols. The last symbol shows ${ }^{1}$ Ts'o.

${ }^{10}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{1}$ shi ${ }^{1}$ miu ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu} \cdot{ }^{2}$ wùa $=$ gold eyes born village or house, it is alno a place name, only the word ${ }^{1}$ dzu is not written. The last symbol depicts a chain with ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-}{ }^{2} z \ddot{a}-{ }^{8} l \mathrm{lu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gh}$ ügh descending on it . The whole rubric appears like this: The symbol gold-yellow $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ha}$ - ${ }^{1}$ shi is here read twice.

${ }^{21}$ See $N N C R C$, p. 202 , note 318 where the rocks, peg, etc., of the ${ }^{2}{ }^{N}$ gaw are explained; also l.c., p.140, note 133.
 mean god house or temple. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv}$ is the head of the (land on which the) temple stands, and ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ man $=$ the tail end, actually upper and lower end. The ancient ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-\mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2} k b i}$ had no temples except the temple of ${ }^{2}$ Sanan ${ }^{2}$ ddo and various temples have been built to him, he is the protector of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ (see $N N C R C$, p. 142, note 137 ) and it is possible that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ who were sent 241, 242; Vol.II: 403-404.
${ }^{24}$ See NNCRC, p. 183, note 273.
${ }^{24}{ }^{2}$ Lü̈- ${ }^{1}$ ghwua- ${ }^{1}$ yu- ${ }^{3}$ gkaw. ${ }^{2}$ a is where the ${ }^{1} Y u$ clan went to dwell after the four brothers separated. See NNCRC, p. 571, note 848 .
${ }^{25}{ }^{2}$ Wùa- ${ }^{14}$ a ${ }^{1}$ mbu is in the Chung-tien district. See $A N K S W C$, Vol.I. 263.
${ }^{20}$ This is identical with ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Za}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ba}$, it is a small village on the Chung-tien side of the Yangtze opposite Ta-ku; see l. c., pp. 227-228, Plates 129, 141-144.
${ }^{27}$ This is written thus: The three little symbols at the top represent snow flakes or snow $={ }^{2}$ mbe, here they stand for ${ }^{2}$ 's'u- = winter. Below is the symbol ${ }^{2} k$ 'u $=$ gate, ${ }^{2} g v$ is not written, but ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ 'u stands for a ford. The eymbol to the right is a compound one, the lower part is ${ }^{1}$ gyi $=$ water, the two erect lines are read ${ }^{1}$ bi $=$ to $\mathbf{t w i s t}$, together they are read ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}-^{1} \mathbf{b i}=$ Yangtze. The three little symbols opposite the snow symbols are read $\mathbf{r}^{\mathbf{k} h} \mathbf{u}=$ rain, here they stand for ${ }^{1} \mathbf{z h u}=$ summer, for summer is the rainy season, below is again the symbol ${ }^{2} k$ 'u $=$ gate. The literal translation of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv} \boldsymbol{-}^{2} \mathrm{k} \cdot \mathbf{u}=$ cross gate, but a river ford is meant. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts} \cdot{ }^{\prime} \cdot^{2}$ zä. ${ }^{9}$ llui- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh can be seen descending. The foar vertical symbols read ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}^{\prime}$ ér ${ }^{3} \mathrm{y}$ u the name of a village, and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{1}$ dü, actually ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gy}$ is meant, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dii}=$ land is not read but the two indicate that the larger village ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gr}$, an important village where the Yangize is crossed either on goatskins or by ferry, (canoe) is understood. See NNCRC, p. 123, note 100.
 p. 288, note 633; also $A N K S W C$, p. 224, Plate 91.
${ }^{20}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Dza}^{2} \mathbf{d z a}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ is a very rocky region east, facing the snow range. piles of oharp, ragged rocks occur everywhere making travelling very difficult. See NNCRC, p. 618, note 919. The first part of this name is given in the following note. It shows a sur piled up with white rocks.
 shape of pine branches were deposited after the performance of ${ }^{\boldsymbol{2}} \mathbf{K} h i{ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{N}^{2}$. A apecial caretaker lived there in former times. When the last one died some lifty years ago he was not again replaced. See NNCRC, Plate 50. This and the former place name are written thus: The first represents a spur piled up with white rocks, the second a cliff with caves out of which a ${ }^{2}$ ny, pine branch effigy orotrudes, above it is the symbol ${ }^{2} k$ 'o $=$ horns, here deposite lodge cliff cave, and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k} \cdot{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ndv}$. See also l.c., p. 780, note 1020 . See Plate 4, apparently identical with the water of life, the Amrta of immortality.

 and note 65.
${ }^{33}$ Apparently hoof and mouth disease was prevalent in ancient times in ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}} \mathbf{2}^{\mathbf{k}} \mathrm{ki}$ land.
${ }^{34}$ When a person has just passed away tears usually issue from his eyes.
${ }^{3 s}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ combs are made from box-wood, a species of Buxus, the Chinese hua-mu; in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ khi the tree is called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gzi}$.
${ }^{30}$ The people of La-pao within the Yangtze loop, northeast of Li-chiang drink bitter tea and add plenty of salt; it is actually essence of tea, they become so addicted to it that their hands tremble continuously. It is as bad a habit as opium smoking. If they stop drinking this gall-like green tea. they collapse. The evil is less prevalent in Li-chiang.
${ }^{51}$ The ${ }^{2}$ lo is a square, shallow, bowl-like wooden utensil. The last two rubrics are written thus: The first upper symbol is ${ }^{1} n v=$ silver, he is seen drinking wine; the upper is read ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ha}=$ gold, he is drinking from a cup, full of tea leaves. The head of a muskdeer $={ }^{2}$ lä is used for ${ }^{3}$ lä $=$ tea.
 The last symbol is read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k} \cdot \mathrm{aw}=$ bitter, a mouth with a black object in it. In the second rubric he is sitting with a piece of food in his mouth, ${ }^{2}$ ndzi $=$ eating, ahove it is a (knife) sword; the way Tibetans, as well as ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, eat meat is by taking the end of a large piece of meat into their mouth and with the long knife cut a piece off, the other end often resting on the ${ }^{2} l o$ or wooden tray. The two lines extending from the sword to the piece of meat on the tray indicate this custom.
${ }^{38}$ The carnelian cup is called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ch}{ }^{\prime}$ ung. ${ }^{3}$ na ${ }^{2} b b u ̌ e \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} l \ddot{i}{ }^{9} k$ 'wua and is written thus: the central symbol is part of a string of carnelian beads, the word ${ }^{3}$ na indicates here that it is of a dark color, ${ }^{2} b$ bŭe. ${ }^{2} l l u$ is untranslatable and is the name of
 when the demons of suicides are invited to partake of their food in carnelian cups.
${ }^{39}{ }^{2} \mathbf{O}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mbu} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b$ й is a Na ga king who dwells on the half way (navel) of Mt. Kailas. See also NNCRC, pp. 128, 154, note 177.
${ }^{40}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ and ${ }^{1}$ Ssä are equivalent to the Chinese Yang and Yin; see $N N C R C$, p. 158, note 211, where their origin, etc., is fully related.
${ }^{41}{ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$ - $-\mathrm{dso}=$ Tibet. Sep also $N N C R C$, p. 158, note 204.
$42{ }^{3}$ P'u- ${ }^{2}$ lu is Tibetan woolen cloth woven one foot wide and of various lengths ( $15-20$ feet) usually red, rarely a dirty white marked with blue and red crosses or striped.
${ }^{45}$ This is written thus: ${ }^{1}$ Wùa ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathbf{k}$ 'ö $=$ falcon liberate. He is stepping from a pinc covered spur $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{o}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mbu}=$ pine born (on) spur.

44 The ${ }^{2}$ gyu- ${ }^{1}$ 'so spur where the gods are $={ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{y i}=\operatorname{god}(\mathrm{s})$ have got.
${ }^{45}$ The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{t}^{\prime}{ }^{0} \cdot{ }^{1}$ p'ĕr is by far the tallest pine in ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k h i}$ land, it is Pinus armandi.
$4{ }^{4}$ The ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{dta}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{dgyu}$ is the type of prayer flag used by the Tibetans, a long strip of white cotton cloth attached the whole length to a long pole. It is written with the symbols ${ }^{3} d t a=$ to speak and ${ }^{2} d g y u=$ leprosy, the circles on the arms and legs indicate ulcers.

${ }^{41}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{N o n}^{-1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$ means knowledge and ( $\mathbf{~} \overline{\mathrm{o}}=$ ) the objecte which belonged to the deceaced, included also are his or her accomplishments, courage etc. ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Nod menas also milk. The per-spiration-impregnated clothing of the deceased which is divided among the relatives is aloo called ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1}$, it is like the milk of the dead. The part of the ceremony when the departed is asked to leave his ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ behind is called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{N o n}^{-1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$ 'sisaw. It is chanted when his belongings are divided. However here ${ }^{2}$ non $\boldsymbol{r}^{2}$ is meant in the sense men-tionod in the first sentence of the note, it is written thus:
${ }^{46}$ See NNCRC, p. 135, note 122, also p. 641, note 939, aloo l. c., 774-779. The ${ }^{\mathbf{N} N y}$ are the evil counterparts of the ${ }^{2}$ Ngaw.

 pp. 729-733; p. 734, note 990, also p. 215, note 375.

32 For the story of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{4} \mathrm{l}$ - $\mathbf{}^{2}$ di- ${ }^{2}$ ddo see NNCRC, p. 145, note 145.
${ }^{6}$ See l. c., p. 216, note 376.
${ }^{44}$ See l. c., p. 154, note 170.
${ }^{65}$ See l.c., p. 89, note 39.
 p. 213; p. 216, note 382.
 of the gods. See l. c., p. 148, note 158.
${ }^{58}$ See NNCRC, p. 276, note 581, alıo pp. 339-345.
 ms. no 1147, no 70 in the sequence of chanting.
 the ${ }^{3}{ }^{3} h^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony; see l.c., p. 714. In this story it is related that he chased the serow, but the latter disappeared. While looking for it he found it to have sexual intercourse with his wife, hence he killed it.
${ }^{01}$ We learn here for the first time the names of the four sons of ${ }^{2} G k a w \cdot$-lä- ${ }^{2}$ tu'ui other than their clan names. Actually only three are mentioned. He is the son who founded the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ clan.
${ }^{62}$ He founded the 'Ho clan.
 his name does however occur in a ms., hy the title ' $\mathrm{D}^{\prime}$ a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'u -'hbue the origin of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}^{\prime}$ a; became renowned. In the same manuscript on page 1 , in the first rubric it mentions the his bare hands on a high cliff. The names of the four sons are written thas:

 For other names of the four sons of ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä- ${ }^{3}$ ts'ü see MBC, p. 118 ; also NNCRC, p. 165.

 the mountains and died. When ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot \mathbf{}^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ now go up the mountain on a very amall trail where one can get easily lost they speak of going ${ }^{2} S a m-1^{1} t^{\prime} k h i{ }^{2} z h i$ i. e., the road ${ }^{2} S_{a n-1}{ }^{1} t^{\prime} k h i$ travelled. The latter was his real name, the ${ }^{2}$ dio stands for ${ }^{2}$ dio ${ }^{1}$ mba. See NMSM, fig. 2, p.232, p. 235; also NNCRC, p. 267, note 558.
${ }^{66}{ }^{3} G k y i-{ }^{2} y^{2}-^{2} k$ 'o-1b's. This is the Tibetan gNyan probably the Ovis poli. See NNCRC, p. 244, note 452.
${ }^{67}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{3}$ dta- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dgyu}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{u}$ is according to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ghi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i a celestial horse, see $S N L$, II, p. 101, note 1. See NNCRC, p. 606, note 877.
 he not alone, there are others, and this is illucidated by the symbol for deer $={ }^{1} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} k h i$, with one foot outstretched, foot $=4 \times$ 'o, ${ }^{\text {a }}$ lä ${ }^{1}$ na again black, 'dtaw not alone, in other words it is people surrounded by nature draw for their analogies on nature.
${ }^{80}{ }^{2} D_{z i}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{p}$ ' u was a celestial being and the father of the wife of the post-flood ancestor of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. See $N N C R C$, p. 144, note 143.
 p. 170, note 248; l. c., p. 242, note 446.
${ }^{11}$ See ${ }^{8} 0^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndzí ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ of this ceremony. See also $l$. c., 122 , note 95.
 thunder has its home, the sky.
${ }^{78}$ See l. c., p. 170, note 247; also MBC, p. 158, note 284.

 mony l.c., p. 141.
${ }^{75}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Dü}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}=$ terrestrial female, ${ }^{2} y \dot{\text { ü }}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ й is her name.
 ${ }^{2}{ }^{1}$ ї ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'u; see $N N C R C$, pp. 64.8-653.
${ }^{77}$ The meaning is the deceased was unaware when he was to die.
${ }^{78}$ The deceased is here called ${ }^{3}$ gkyi written with the symbol for shears $={ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ gkyi, here ${ }^{3}$ gkyi $=$ small one.

70 The meaning hers is, his ancestors are calling him, he is like a foal (colt) and must follow his parents.
${ }^{s 0}$ The mourning son at the funeral of a father is thus addressed by the of ficiating priest
 ${ }^{2}$ gkyi. ${ }^{2}$ Nddiu. ${ }^{1}$ lä means orphan.
${ }^{81}$ Heaven here represents the father, and earth the mother. The meaning can also be for the heaven above the land they owned, and the piece of land covered by that heaven. See NNCRC, p. 189, note 292.
${ }^{82}$ This is expressed ${ }^{2} h a ̈{ }^{1} g g \check{c o s}^{3}$ wuà $-{ }^{2}$ wùa $=\operatorname{god}(6)$ of five houses, actually the five houses of the $\operatorname{god}(0)$.
 p. 243, note 451.

84 The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba informs himeelf beforehand to what clan the deceased had belonged and his clan name is mentioned at the reading of this passage.
as ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K}$ 'o. ${ }^{1}$ byu are used at most of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ ceremonies except ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}{ }^{1} \mathrm{bpö}$ and some funeral ceremonies. They are also commonly used by the Lepchas in the Himalayaa and by Tibetan lamaists and especially Bön priests. See NNCRC, p. 51, note 7. Also l. c., Plates 1,3-15 inclusive and $R K M G M G$, Plates 20-23, 25-29 incl. According to Leasing, see Calling the soul; A Lamaist Ritual in Semitic and Oriental Studies University of California Publications in Semitic Philology, Vol. XI, 1951, similar wooden wedge-shaped, and decorated slats are called rgyang-bu in Tibetan. See l.c., pp. 266-267, fig. 2.
${ }^{80}$ The oak refers here to the wife and the pine to the husband.
${ }^{87}$ The identity of this tree could not be ascertained, it may be in fact a tree of the northwest whence the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-\boldsymbol{}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{kh}$ migrated south in the early part of our era.
${ }^{88}$ The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Hoa}^{1}{ }^{1}$ p'ěr is the Tibetan eared-pheasant Crossoptilon Crossoptilon Crossoptilon See SNL, I: p. 31, Plate 12; also BODMSL, p. 42, Plate 13.
${ }^{89}$ The actual meaning is: had they not reared a good son all this, as the attaching of the ${ }^{2}$ gkv-shu, would not be possible now.
${ }^{\text {of }}$ See NNCRC, p.91, note 43.
${ }^{21}$ A Na ga , see note 27 of ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi},{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{9}$ chung.
 The letter or sound of the letter " $n$ " is interchangeable with " $l$ ", hence ${ }^{2}$ la ${ }^{1}$ bbure . . . instead

${ }^{24}$ See NNCRC, p. 148, note 160.
${ }^{95}$ See l.c., p. 203, notes 319 and 320 ; also p. 252, note 531.
${ }^{96}$ See note 47 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{2} \mathrm{gkv} .^{3}$ shu ${ }^{3}$ Ia.
${ }^{97}$ Under long teeth, receding gums must be understood; ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a} \mathbf{2}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ had never any dental care and nearly all suffered from pyorrhoea, and in old age teeth protruded from the gums, to them a very desirable condition as it indicated a ripe old age, as did a white head.

If the ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{3}$ mä ceremony is performed for a woman, i.e., a mother, then

The ms., here translated is no 1043 of which a microfilm is in the Library of Congress and a photographic, enlarged print in may collection. The original is owned by a party who wants to remain anonymous.

The first few pages are identical with those of ms., 1078 chanted for deceased men, fathers, with the difference that the epithet ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ mbe ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ zhi. ${ }^{3}$ mun-male is substituted for ${ }^{2} \mathbf{z o}=$ male, man.

The main differences in the text commence on page 17 , rubric 3 , and it is here that our translation begins.

Page 17

Rubric 3) Your father had a fine voice and spoke well; you are going on the road the length of nine days covered by the flight of those born with wings, you need not carry bows and arrows (you will encounter no enemies). 4) Such a woman are you. 5) Your mother entertained all and every guest; you are going on the road covered by a fleet-footed boy for seven days, and you need not carry food. 6) Before there were any ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbbǔe}^{1} \mathrm{I}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{1}$ in early days, 7) there were three (celestial) women who resided in heaven they were ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}$ ' $\mathrm{a}=$ brave; one was called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{c}$ chwua- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gko}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mann}^{2}, 8$ ) she was renowned for her bravery and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Tg}^{\prime}$ 'aw- ${ }^{1}$ zaw- $\mathrm{t}^{\prime}$ 'khyu- ${ }^{2}$ mun who was renowned for her activeness. These three women will escort you.

Page 18
Rubric 1) You brave deceased woman protect the life god and let the ${ }^{3} S_{s u}$ $=$ Lifegod and the descendants become ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} \mathrm{a}=$ brave, courageous (see p. 15 of $m \mathrm{~m}$. , 1078). 2) On the earth there were three brave women, 3) one was ${ }^{1} \mathrm{bu}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}^{4}$ ahe was renowned and made a name for herself. 5-6) The third was ${ }^{2}$ Gyi- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}^{-}{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dsu ${ }^{8}$. 7) These three women of bravery escort you, you brave deceased woman protect the lifegod and let the descendants become coura-nine to ten medicines in heaven and was therefore renowned. 11) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yi}^{1}{ }^{3}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ gyi-${ }^{2}$ mun was courageous ${ }^{7}$, 12) she dwelt in heaven where she kept $360{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathbf{p}^{\prime}$ a $^{2}$ dso $=$ books of divination ${ }^{8}$, rageous, she had a turquoise button, she possessed a bluish goral-skin garment, had a golden ${ }^{2}$ szŭ $=$ clasp ${ }^{11}$ and a golden garment hence she was renowned; 5) you are escorted on high by these three brave women, deceased protect the lifegod! 6) ${ }^{1} \AA$. $\cdot{ }^{3} d t a-^{2} l o{ }^{1}{ }^{1} m u n$ was ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}$ a, she killed a spotted yak of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}$ demons ${ }^{12}$, hence she made a name for herself. 7) ${ }^{1}$ Ddo ${ }^{3}$ dsho- ${ }^{1}$ khyü- ${ }^{-2}$ ma $^{13}$ spread a white yak hair felt garment at a thousand crossroads and Kubric 1) gambled with dice, she won 99 Tibetan horse loads hence she gained notoriety (made a name). 2) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}-{ }^{2}$ yi- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}^{-1}$ nun ( $\left.{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}\right)^{14}$ was ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}$, she killed the ${ }^{2}$ Mun demons ${ }^{12}$ with a sharp steel knife, like a hutterfly killed on the spine of a tree, hence she made a name for herself. 3) ${ }^{1} \mathbf{H o}-{ }^{1} m a-{ }^{2} k^{\prime}{ }^{0}-{ }^{1} t s^{\prime} u$ was ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} a$, she built a new wall on a high ground at ${ }^{2} B o a-{ }^{2} m u n-{ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{1} h o-{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ahu ${ }^{15}$ and destroyed nine houses (villages) of the enemy, the lances, spears and arrows of the enemy could not strike (reach) her, she wore an armor ${ }^{18}$, 4) carried a sharp sword and always spoke of destroying, hence she was renowned ${ }^{17}$. 5) ${ }^{2} \mathbf{G y i}{ }^{3} \mathbf{m i}$ ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dsu}^{18}$ was ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}$, she reared silkworms, Rubric 1) and with the silk thread 2) she wove yellow and green cloth and made five kinds of beautiful garments, and hence she was renowned ${ }^{19}$. 3) ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}$ 'ä${ }^{1}$ khü- ${ }^{2} b u$-'bu was ${ }^{1} d^{\prime} \mathrm{a}$, with an iron weaver's comb she killed ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Lv} \cdot{ }^{2}$ mä- ${ }^{2}$ mun${ }^{1}$ ghügh $^{20}$ hence she was renowned. 4) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}$ 'aw- ${ }^{1}$ zaw- ${ }^{2} t{ }^{\prime} k h y u-{ }^{2}$ mun was ${ }^{1} d^{4} a^{21}$ she

Page 19

Page 20

Page 21

 'ma-²mun hence was renowned as brave.

Page 22

 4) ${ }^{2}$ Mbbŭe- ${ }^{2} g h u ̈ g h-{ }^{2} n g v-{ }^{1}$ nun was ${ }^{1} d$ 'a, (brave) and quick (the remainder of this rubric is not understood) 5) this belongs to rubric 4. 6) All these women excort you, protect the ${ }^{9} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}}=$ Life god. 7) Let the landlord have brave and active women afterwards. 8) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ -

Page 23
Rubric 1) ${ }^{2}$ yü- ${ }^{1}$ dsu was courageous and therefore renowned. 2) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}$ ${ }^{1}$ nun was courageous and therefore renowned. 3) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mun}-{ }^{2} l \mathrm{l}$ was renowned for her bravery. 4) ${ }^{3}$ Seu- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi} \cdot{ }^{-2}$ ss $\cdot{ }^{2}$ wù ${ }^{2 \theta}$ had also made a name for her-clan originated woman, before you had died 6) were in possession of fine fields and houses, hence you were renowned. 7-8) You were connected with excellent paternal and maternal relatives. 9) You reared fine boys and girls, grandsons and granddaughters, you were indeed a brave woman. 10) You who originated from the ${ }^{1} Y u$ clan who possessed everything.

Page 24

Rubric 1) You possessed a weaving stool, you always spoke of weaving fine cloth. 2) You have atored away gold and silver, turquoise and carnelian garments, you had silken dresses, and hence you were renowned. 3) You had stored ${ }^{3}$ p'u- ${ }^{1}$ lu and lambskin garments, 4) also dragon-designed raiments, and golden buttons and yellow habiliments, hence you had made a name for yourself. 5-6) You had a goatskin cloak ${ }^{27}$ put-away on the ${ }^{2}$ dzo $=(a$ frame stand in front of the bed), also a goral skin on a box ${ }^{28}$ hence you were renowned. 7) You had put away 100 lumps (ingots) of gold and white silver in the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ ddo-${ }^{1} d d v=$ ? hence you were famous and had a great reputation. 9) From a ${ }^{1}$ ssi${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'aw $=$ (wild plum) you could make

Page 25
Rubric 1) five kinds of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsi}=$ candied fruits, hence you had a great reputation. 2) From a white cabbage you could make five kinds of pickled cabbage (Sauerkraut) ${ }^{20}$ and hence you were well known. 3) From a handfull of sheep wool you could spin enough thread for three garmente, hence you were renowned. 4) From thread you could make large, medium and amall 'ma. ${ }^{2}$ yü${ }^{3}{ }^{3 p}{ }^{30}$, hence you were famous. 5-6) From one melon you could produce five kinds of melon seed plates $={ }^{1}$ dze, hence you made a name for yourself. 7) You were more renowned than other women of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ěr $=$ Tibetan, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}={ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{2} k h i,{ }^{2}$ Boa $=$ Hsifan and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}$ tribes, ${ }^{31}$ and with your courage you could overcome like the tiger, bandits and enemies, hence you made a name for yourself.

Page 26
Rubric 1) You were always courageous and brave, you were quick, there was no slowness about you. 2) Your fearlessness, the long life which you have attained 3) give to the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{su}}=$ Life god, whom we pray that you protect. 4) The landlord 5) prays that there may arise brave and active women (in the family). (Rubrics 6-10 of this page, and rubrics 1-6 inclusive of page 27 have already been explained in ms. 1078, page 21 last rubric to page 23 rubric 3 inclusive).

Page 27

Rubric 7) You deceased before you had died, 8) once upon a time when 'Ts'o${ }^{2}{ }^{3} \ddot{a}^{3} \cdot{ }^{3} l \ddot{1}$ - ${ }^{2}$ ghügh descended, he thought he was a pine tree on the snow mountain (he could not die), but he was not a tree born on the mountain, but one that had been taken away (cut or died?). He had forgotten to take medicine with him when he descended (see notes 18 and 19 of previous ms .); scended 3) she considered herself a rock which forever remained at the source of a river, but the rock split; 4) she did not chase down the ${ }^{9}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{-1}$ gküis ${ }^{92}$ 5) hence the four hoofs of the horse split and all four-footed animals died. (The remainder and up to the first six rubrics of page 30 have already been translated in the previous ms.)

Page 28

$$
\text { Page } 30
$$

Rubric 7) You deceased cannot distinguish between male and female, go and look at the ${ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{\text {'gk }}$ go $=$ helmet. 8) You cannot distinguish between members of your family and the slaves, therefore 9) look at their garments. 10) You cannot recognize the ${ }^{8} d t o-^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, so listen to the ${ }^{2}$ ds- ${ }^{1}$ lĕr ${ }^{33}$; 11) You cannot recognize the sorceress, so listen to her hand-drum ${ }^{34}$. 12) People born under heaven do not live for two generations.

Page 31

Rubric 1) There are thousands of different brave people 2) but with you brave one we are reluctant to part, but you died quickly. 3) In the land of the people there are thousands of different flowers, but twice they do not open, they all wilted and died. 4) The first to appear was Heaven, after it the stars came forth; the celestial flowers had not yet died, but the flowers of the stars died (Heaven is considered the father and the stars the sons. This is however not chanted in case sons are alive). 5) Early to come forth was the land, afterwards the grass appeared; 6) the flowers of the land did not die, but the flowers of the grass died (the Earth is the mother and the grass the daughters). 7) The clouds rear and protect the crane, and the crane must show gratitude to the clouds, 8) the crane had not yet been able to show his gratitude, when the crane departed (died). (This is chanted in case a son has died and the father is still alive.) 9) The high mountain reared the tiger, Rubric 1) the latter had not yet shown his gratitude, when the tiger pased away. 2) The wild duck was reared by the lake etc. etc. 3) The alpine meadow reared the sheep, etc. etc. 4) The father reared the son, but the son had not yet been able to show his gratitude when he died. 5) The mother reared the daughter 6) the daughter had not yet been able to show her gratitude when the daughter died. 7) The gods do not bequeath such a custom, but nevertheless there is such a custom. 8) (lf the father has died and he is survived by a son or sons then the following rubrics are chanted.) The father of all the sons has gone before, it is as painful as if swords had penetrated our hearts. 9) All the daughters

Page 32

Page 33
Kubric 1) of the mother who had gone before, suffered as if needles had been stuck into their hearts and livers. 2) This custom is not the gift of the gods, but nevertheless there is such a custom. 3) Man is born and he dies, the flowers open and they wilt, 4) there is alas auch a custom. 5) You deceased are unable to eat, but go on your way, and act as if you could. 6) You cannot take one step, but go on as if you could. 7) You have ears but you cannot hear, use your heart and comprehend. 8) You deceased, while dwelling in the land, you have been a guest for a long time, 9) you led your dog to the hunt on the pinecovered snow range and caught many wild animals. 10) For the people under heaven, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}^{35}$ in the very beginning arranged their span of life from generation to generation,

Page 34
Kubric 1) but ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ could not divide rightly man's span of life, 2) hence ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{S}_{\mathrm{su}}$ $=$ the Life god obtained longevity, 3) and you deceased obtained a brief one. 4) This is the fault of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ who dwells in the North; the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba says but ${ }^{1}$ Ndu's father also died, hence do not accuse him of such a fault. 5) He used a white horse to lead his father's soul (on high), 6) this custom originated with ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$, hence he should not be blamed. (The first part of the next rubric 7) is not understood, but it is inferred that ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{8}{ }^{3}{ }^{36}$ allots the span of life of woman, but she was not able to do so and hence ${ }^{3}$ Ssu obtained long life and the deceased a short one, hence the deceased blames ${ }^{1}$ Ssä. 8) Yet ${ }^{1}$ Ssä's mother died and she killed a black cow as offering, and this is the origin of using a black cow as offering at a woman's funeral. ${ }^{1}$ Ssä should therefore not be blamed. 9) When the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{31}$ shot off an arrow and struck the bear with the white breast. the arrow did not return, hence the dead cannot return.

The remainder of the book is mostly allegory and deals with a married couple who died together. See ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mi} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{Iv} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$.

NOTES

${ }^{1}{ }^{2}$ Mbbǔe is the literary term for woman, female, colloquially called ${ }^{3}$ mi, but an unmarried woman is understood, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}$ is mother. The word ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}$ bŭe read in the first tone, is represented by the symbol denoting a menstruating woman, it has the meaning of interruption, to sever, to sunder, exterminate, a sterile woman constantly menstruating.

* Of the three women mentioned here only the third is known more in detail, she was called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{zaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} k h y u-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}$, but ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbas}$ of ten use different symbols of similar sound complexes to write the names of persons. It may be that the first mentioned female is identical
 p. 145, note 146, and p. 189, note 290.
 ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ diwua- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gyi} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mun}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{N} \mathbf{N}$ or funeral ceremony by that name.

${ }^{5}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsu}$, she was the wife of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}-{ }^{1}$ lä- ${ }^{3}$ ts' i ; see l. c., p. 129, note 105 , p. 714; also $A N K S W C$. Vol. 1. p. 85.

${ }^{7}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yi} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shi- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{2}$ mun was a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lliu}-{ }^{1}$ bu or sorceress (see l.c., p. 101, note 58 , Plate 27) she

8 The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}^{\prime} \mathrm{a} \cdot \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}}$ dso or books of divination form the basis of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ shamanism; before any nation; formerly this was done by a ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ bu. When it is determined what caused the illness, or enlightenment has been gained on the subject about which the books were consulted, the ${ }^{2}$ dio. ${ }^{1}$ mba will then decide what ceremony must be performed to remedy the cause of trouble, etc. See l.c., p. 200, note 307, also p. 199, note 302.

- ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} m i=$ celestial female, nothing is known about her. Her name has not been eucountered elsewhere.
${ }^{10}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Du}$ - ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}=$ terrestrial female. She is the counterpart of the former see note 9. Like the former nothing is known about her. Except for wives and daughters of gods, and one

Studia Inat. Anthr., Vol. $\boldsymbol{\theta}$. Rock, Funeral Ceremony of the $\mathbf{1 N a - R k h i}$ goddess and the wives of ancient famous men in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2} k h i}$ lore, women do not figure prominently in the religious writing of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$
$11{ }^{2} S_{z u}$ is a clasp or brooch with which ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ women fasten a striped piece of cloth or silk, a kind of neckband or collar in front of the throat. It is often made of ailver, rarely of gold. (See Bacot Les Moso, Plate XIII, top figure.)
${ }^{12}$ See note 56 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Tg}^{\prime}$ ui ${ }^{1} \mathrm{y}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu 'if.
${ }^{18}$ She was the wife of 'Ddo- ${ }^{3}$ ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ ngo ${ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ ''u. Her story is told in a manuscript of the ${ }^{14}$ Her story is related in ms. no 1881 of this ceremony eutitled ${ }^{2} 0^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{n} y_{z i}{ }^{3}$ mi ${ }^{2} g k v{ }^{3}$ chung $q . v$. this is written thus:

${ }^{15}$ The words ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ mun actually mean within the home. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ call the whole compound from the gate to the court which is usually surrounded on three sides by the three wings of the house ${ }^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{2}$ mun. Another literary term for a house is ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{3}$ ssu- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$, ${ }^{3}$ ssu is the life good who protects the home $={ }^{1}$ gyi. ${ }^{2}$ Boa also are the H6i-fan of the Chinese, the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}$ 'u of the ancients. The symbol represents a ${ }^{2}$ Boa house which was later adopted by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. The latter placed their ${ }^{3} \mathbf{S}_{8 u}$ or life god within it; ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ means also home, house and ${ }^{{ }^{3}}{ }^{\text {ssu- }}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ the house or home of the Life god. In ancient days the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ lived in caves and only later adopted the houses of the ${ }^{2}$ Boa built of wood with shingled roofs on which they placed rocks to prevent their being blown away. Within the symbol for house $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$ is a foot, but the sole of the foot is indicated by a second line, hence ${ }^{2}$ bos $=$ sole, it is used phonetically for the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Boa tribe; ${ }^{1}$ mun the symbol for winnowing tray made of bamboo is also phonetically employed. The numeral three $={ }_{1}{ }_{\text {ssu }}$ stands here for the life god ${ }^{3}$ Sis, although a symbol exists for the latter. See also note 1 , ${ }^{16}$ This is written thus: The first four symbols are phonetically used ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}=$ ribs, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}=$ butter, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'ö $=$ foot, ${ }^{\prime} \mathrm{tg}$ 'u $=$ demon. These are followed by a woman carrying a flag, the next five symbols serve also as phonetics and give the name of the place while the four former represent the name of the woman. We see her constructing a wall on a high $={ }^{1}$ shwua ground. The symbol ${ }^{1}$ dü $=$ land, ground, is within and at the bottom of the wall symbol. The syllable ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}$ to build, actually to add in the third tone (one brick on another), or as here ${ }^{2} d t a=$ to place, erect, put, is immediately above the wall. The last upper is a Jump of salt is here a phonetic for ${ }^{\text {'tis'a }}=$ to smash, below it is the symbol for house $={ }^{2}$ wùa. The remainder is read ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}{ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}=$ nine pieces, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkv}$ is the enumerator. These are $=$ to wear is in the following rubric represented by a round winnowing tray $={ }^{1}$ mun.

${ }^{17}$ She is here depicted with a long sword with the symbols ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ "ër $=$ white ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ shu $=$ iron, hence steel. Then follows ' $\mathbf{t}$ 'a $=$ pagoda, borrowed for ${ }^{3} \mathrm{t}$ 'a $=$ sharp. Below it is a boy speaking, then ${ }^{2}$ ts' $\mathrm{a}=$ salt, here used for ${ }^{3}$ ls'ä to destroy. ${ }^{2}$ Ddü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mi}=$ one name, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'u $=$ originate, i. e., out of all this she obtained a name. The word
 ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mi}=$ name is represented by ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ originally had no names, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mi}$ has been borrowed from the Chinese $=$ ming $=$ name.
${ }^{18}$ She was the wife of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}-{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{tg}$ 'ui $q$. v. note 60 of previous ms., also NNCRC, p. 145, note 148; p. 129, note 105 .
${ }^{19}$ This rubric has 12 symbols; the two upper represent ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ 'u- ${ }^{2}$ lu the Tibetan woolen cloth, the three lides sbove indicate the hairiness of the cloth (wool). Below the first one is the symbol for gold here read ${ }^{1}$ shi $=$ yellow, and below the second the symbol ${ }^{2} \overline{0}-{ }^{1} h a ̆ r$ $=$ turquoise, hence blue or green. The next one is a compound one, she is sitting and weaving this is called ${ }^{2}$ ghügh. ${ }^{1}$ ddaw ${ }^{2}$ ts'i. 1 shi- ${ }^{1} k$ 'o (see $l$. c., p. 315, note 692); above her is garment ${ }^{\text {haw. }}$ ª, below it the symbol for flower here read $\mathrm{s}_{\mathrm{szI}}=$ beautiful, then the numeral five and the symbol ${ }^{\text {sagui }}=$ lead, here ${ }^{1}$ asiu $=$ kind, sort. The last three have been explained.
${ }^{20}$ See $l$. c., p. 122, note 94; also p. 93, note 47. SLe was the mother of the ${ }^{2}$ Mun and ${ }^{1}$ Chügh
 ${ }^{1}$ bu ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{mi}$, this is revealed by the symbol for leaf $={ }^{8}$ is'ä, the rest of the name is not written. As there is no other female by that name thia combina. tion always stands for her. The prostrate figure is the demoness, above her is a comb $={ }^{3} b b e ̌ r$ and above it the symbol ${ }^{1}$ shu $=$ iron. Below the ${ }^{8}$ seii $=$ kill symbol is that for rock ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{1}$, it serves bere as the first syllable in the de-moness' name.
${ }^{21}$ See l.c., pp. 307-314.
${ }^{22}$ See l. c., pp. 79-81, note 10 .
${ }^{2 s}$ See l. c., p. 189, note 290; also pp. 735-737 inclusive.

${ }^{25}$ See l. c., pp. 491-493, note 781.

 $=$ dog sit, where the dog sits, this is the subcardinal region Northwest; see l. c., p. 86, note 24. It may indicate the region where he dwells.
${ }^{26}$ The four clan women are mentioned in the first four rubrica of this page, half of the name of the first one ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ma}$ is in the last rubric of page 22 . They must bave been the wives of the 4 male clan members ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ma},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ and ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Sau}$.

27 A goatskin cloak as described here is figured in ANKSWC, Plate 221. They are of a ailvery gray and are worn on the back, fastened to one shoulder with silver diaks.
${ }^{29}$ This phrase is depicted thus in our manuscript: The first three symbols are read ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ds}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gh}$ ügh ${ }^{2}$ dzo $=$ goat skin frame-stand the symbol ${ }^{1} l o=m u n t j a k$ below it is phonetically used for ${ }^{3} l o=$ to hang up, hang on. The following three symbols of which the third is also a compound one is read ${ }^{1}$ ssä- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh ${ }^{3} d t a$ $=$ goral skin box, ${ }^{2}$ gkv $=$ on the top, on; the remainder has been explained. How difficult this tone language is, is brought out by the words 'ds'i-1 ${ }^{\text {ghtigh }}$ where the second word is read in the first tone instead of in the second, the meaning is then: chestnut and not goatskin.
${ }^{29}$ This is called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkyi}{ }^{1 ' a}$ sour cabbage, actually it is ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ gyan- ${ }^{16} \mathrm{a}$, hut as there is no symbol for ${ }^{2}$ gyan, ${ }^{2}$ gkyi is substituted. The cabbage is shredded, salted and put in water. It is the Chinese P'ao-ts'ai or Yu-yents'ai [61].

${ }^{30}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}^{2}{ }^{2}$ yü- $^{3} \mathrm{bpa}$, these are the amall and large embroidered disks worn by women on their back, 2 large ones, one on or over each shoulder represented the sun and moon, and seven smaller ones between, in a row, depicted the seven stars of Ursa major. (See ANKSWC, Plate 76) also Bacot Les Moso 1913, Plate XI. The large disks are known as ${ }^{2}$ ssi- ${ }^{3}$ bpa and the seven small ones with the silk threads hanging from them are called ${ }^{2}$ ma ${ }^{2} g k y ;$ otherwise they are designated as ${ }^{3} \mathbf{b p a}^{\boldsymbol{R}} \mathrm{e}_{\mathrm{zo}}$ or (baby), small ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{bpa}$. Their origin is told in ms. no 1599 entitled: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbbüe}^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime}$ a ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$, ${ }^{2}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung or the last volume of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbbŭe}{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{3} \mathrm{Nr}$ which is also the name of the funeral ceremony for a courageous woman, which see.
${ }^{31}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ér are the Tibetans and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ne}$ the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$; see $\mathrm{N} N C R C, \mathrm{p}$. 204, note 332 ; for ${ }^{2}$ Boa and ${ }^{10}$ see $l$. c., p. 253, note 539.
${ }^{32}$ See MBC, p. 37.
${ }^{33}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ds}-{ }^{1}$ lĕr, see $N N C R C$, p.94, note 49.
${ }^{34}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Ndaw. ${ }^{1}$ k'o, see $l$. $c .$, p. 227, note 408.
${ }^{36}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Nd}$ u is the Chinese Yang, active principle, see l. c., p. 121, note 89, aluo p. 158, note 211.
${ }^{26}$ See note 35.

${ }^{2}$ MUN ${ }^{1}$ GKU or A LIFE PRESENT

When this book is chanted either a sheep or cow is brought in and offered to the deceased alive. After the chanting of this ms., the sheep or cow, as the case may be, is taken out and killed after which it is again offered to the dead while the next ms. ${ }^{1}$ Mun ${ }^{2}$ miu ${ }^{2} f f u ̆$ is chanted. Here ${ }^{1}$ mun is read in the first tone and has the meaning of dead. ${ }^{2}$ Miu signifies the limit of the life of a being either animal or man; in other words ${ }^{2}$ miu refers to the fact that the ${ }^{2}$ mun or fate, life, has come to its end. The last word ${ }^{2}$ ffŭ expresses the imperative with the meaning take it and go!

There are several mss., in the collection bearing the title ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$, the one from which the translation was made is no 1608 , it is actually composed of three parts namely ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}$ 'u ${ }^{1}$ yi and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv}^{\mathbf{3}}$ shu ${ }^{3} \mathbf{l a}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$. This last part commences on page 28 , rubric 6 . The second is no 801 which bears the title ${ }^{2}$ munn ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$, but also contains ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{\mathbf{\prime}} \mathrm{a}^{-3} \mathrm{mi}^{3} \mathrm{dshi}=$ light the lamps. Of these two mss., I possess only photographic enlargements of microfilms which are to be found in the Library of Congress.

An original $m s$., no 8030 , entitled ${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$, acquired during the year 1942 belongs to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~N} v$ ceremony as does no 1803 of which $I$ possess a photographic copy only. These are identical and deal with more ancestors to whom animal fates have been offered as are enumerated in the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Z} h i{ }^{3}$ mä books, this may be partly due to the fact that the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä books contain more than one story. Still another original ms., belonging here is no 8031, it is poorly written and can be used at both ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}$ or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremonies; here the actual ${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ gku commences on page 13 , rubric 5.

As to the symbols in the title, the word ${ }^{2}$ mun is actually not written, the cow symbol takes its place. Above the back of the cow are four small circles, these represent grains, and above them black dots which signify a quantity of grain. Before an animal is killed, grain is always thrown at it, to repay it for the life which is about to be sacrificed, as here on behalf of the dead. It is equivalent to a ${ }^{3}$ Gko ${ }^{3} \bar{o}$ (see $N N C R C$, pp. 124-129). The second symbol represents ginger $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$, its phonetic value is here borrowed for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}=$ to give, to hand to one, to present.

Translation of text

Page 28
 dwelt. His son ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Bpä}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsä}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{bpä-}{ }^{1}$ niu was rich, their ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ was ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Da}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ dsä- ${ }^{1} h a$ ${ }^{2}$ bpö- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbö}{ }^{2}$, his nine sons used 7) the horse ${ }^{2}$ Ddü- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi}-{ }^{2}$ 8si- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{li}$ ('ngu) for his soul to ride, and presented him with the ox ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ ' wua- ${ }^{1}$ dtv- ${ }^{1}$ la- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭe. 8) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ bbǔe${ }^{2} 1 v-{ }^{1}$ ssä- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ presented to him thousands of domestic animals and thousands of grains for food, also thousands of garments. 9) Sons are reared to follow in the father's footsteps, 10) daughters are reared

Page 29

Rubric 1) to emulate their mother. 2) To buy the bride for the son is the affair of the mother-in-law. 3) The son repays the father, and recompenses his mother for the good milk of her breasts and for the butter with which she rubbed his body; for the nine and seven protections given, the children repay their parents. 4) For the heaven (sky) above, for the land, houses, fields good and bad, they requite them. 5) The fate (life offering) which is presented to you, take with you! those that have not been killed leave behind. 6) The grain boiled for you take with you! the unboiled grain leave behind. The garments prepared for you accept, 7) those not prepared for you relinquish. 8) When you cross the nine spurs ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathbf{a}}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}\left({ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}\right)$ do not take your ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \bar{o}^{\mathbf{3}}$ with you; when you cross the seven ${ }^{2} P$ 'ä- ${ }^{1}$ gyi ( ${ }^{2}$ shër- ${ }^{-}$ho) streams, do not take your
 $=$ the nine rocks of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}^{4}$, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}-{ }^{3}$ gko ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{gko}=$ the nine branches of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}^{5}$,
 $=$ the nine loaves of butter of ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{H o}^{\mathbf{7}}$, these ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ non- $\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{o}}$ return to the ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{S}$ su (Life god).

Page 30
Rubric 1) We have given you a life offering, for this we have received ${ }^{1}$ nnui and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ as numerous as the stars in heaven. 2) What we have seen our ancestors perform, we descendants do likewise, we follow the same custom; what the elders say the younger generation understands. ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{2} K$ 'ö- ${ }^{1}$ ssǐ died at offering and a ${ }^{2} y i=$ serow they gave him as a riding animal for his sould ${ }^{10}$. 3) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{bbŭe}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{lv} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ssäan $-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ killed thousands of domestic animals and prepared thousands of grain as food, and presented him with thousands of garments. 4) These animals we have killed for you, those that have not been killed leave behind. 5) The boiled grain take with you, but leave those uncooked. 6) The clothe we have presented ( $={ }^{3} 10$ to present to a deceased) ${ }^{11}$, to you take with you, those we have not offered leave behind; when you cross the nine spurs do not take your ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ with you, 7) when you cross the seven streams do not take your ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ with you, 8) return to the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{8} \mathrm{~s}$ ( $=$ Life god) the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv} \cdot{ }^{2} 1 \mathrm{l}$, etc. etc. v.s.

Page 31
Rubric 1) We have killed a life by a tree ${ }^{12}$, let us have ${ }^{1} n n u ̈$ and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ as plentiful as the leaves of a tree. 2) What we have seen our ancestors perform, we descendants follow suit (i. e. what they saw and what they heard they passed on).

 ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$-̈- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkaw}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{ts}$ ' $\ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ was rich, their ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ was ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzī}-$ ${ }^{2}$ ghügh ${ }^{3}$ shi. ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ o ${ }^{2} b p \ddot{ }{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mbön ${ }^{15}$; they killed an ox as a life offering, and gave him a horse for his soul to ride ${ }^{16}$. 3) His nine daughters and nine sons ${ }^{17}$ killed 4) hundreds of domestic animals, boiled hundreds of grain and presented him with a hundred garments ${ }^{18}$. The last two rubrics are the same as rubric 9 of page 1 , and rubrics $1-4$ inclusive of page 2.

Page 32
Rubrics 1-4 inclusive are identical with rubrics 5-9 of page 2.
Rubric 5) We have killed a fate (life) on the land, let us have ${ }^{1} n n u ̈$ and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ (offspring) as numerous as the grass of the land. 6) What the elders say the younger generation understands. 7) The lord of the house ${ }^{2} \mathbf{G k o} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'err ${ }^{2}$ gko${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ nun- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dtv}$ my (desirable) loving father, the father I cannot spare, died. ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Ghügh${ }^{1}$ khü- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh- ${ }^{2} l o-{ }^{2} b b u{ }^{2}{ }^{19}$ my loving mother died. 8) The chief, the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, and $I$,
 $o x$ as a life offering and gave his soul a horse to ride; they gave him ${ }^{3}$ ä- ${ }^{3}$ nun $^{21}$, and they gave him ${ }^{2}$ ts' $\mathbf{u}^{22}$, for those two meals they gave him pork. They also performed ${ }^{3} d g y u-{ }^{1}$ munn $^{28}$; all this they performed for him. The last rubric and the first rubric of page 33 pertain to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv}^{3}{ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{3}$ la. (In case a sheep is used, the wool around the base of the horns must be white, the son offers it alive to the deceased, carrying the lead rope under the left arm in case the dead is his father, and under the right arm in case the deceased is his mother. The sheep rests to the left of the closed coffin while the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ chants ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$; he says: this is your sheep to eat, it is our ceremonial offering.)

Page 33

Rubric 2) When the father reared the son he did not rear him carelessly, when the grain is sown it is not done carelessly, but it is tended for days of want.
(There are several rubrics missing on this page, they are found in ms. no 801, and are the same as rubrics 3 to 5 of page 29 .

Page 34
Rubric 1) belonge to the last page.
Rubric 2) (The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{mb}$ b says) : Your family's generation, father and mother, early killed a life (fate) and offered it, evil and wickedness do not leave us (are with us), but leave us the precious ${ }^{1}$ nnui and ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{0}$. 3) To you decessed, your ceremonial meal we have given, take with you all evil and wickedness, but leave us the precious ${ }^{1} n n i i$ and ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \overline{0}$. The sheep we give you is a good one of nine kinds of animals, 4) it is not a blind one, 5) it is not one with torn ears, 6) nor one with broken horns, 7) and is in possession of four good feet.

Page 35

Rubric 1) It is not a dead sheep, 2) nor is it one that has once been liberated ${ }^{24}$; 3) it is one born with a symetrical head, with horns of the same lenght, with two broad, regular ears, 4) it is one born with fine wool; its fine downy wool is dense; 5) its cloven hoofs are of the same length and ${ }^{3}{ }^{\mathrm{y}} \mathrm{u}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{y}$ ü (= regular and perfect). (The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba says): You deceased let your hand take the rope of the sheep! (The son of the deceased now strikes the head of the sheep three times calling "father, father, father", after this the lamb or ox as the case may be, is taken out and killed.) 6) A large fate has been killed, eat plentifully, Rubric 1) a small fate has been killed, eat plentifully, go and eat sparingly. (This is now followed by sprinkling medicine with the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \mathrm{-}^{3}$ shu on the deceased or coffin.)

Page 36

Rubric 4) Before you deceased are three mountain spurs as yet unknown to and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{3}$ gko ${ }^{2}$ dtü. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}^{27}$, cross these (double?) spurs as fast as a tiger crosses them. 8) Before you deceased are three large waters (streams)

Page 37

Rubric 1) which are unknown to you; the left one is called ${ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{-1}$ ddü, to streams cross as quickly as the otter and the fish. 3) Before you deceased are three lands which are unknown to you, ${ }^{1}$ Bpŭ- ${ }^{2} b a ̈-{ }^{2} n g y u ̈-{ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{2} d t u ̈,{ }^{2} N_{\text {gyü- }}{ }^{2}$ bä-three unknown lands cross as fast as we roll sheep wool on the bamboo matt when making felt ${ }^{28}$. 5) Go liberate your dog and horse on high.

Page 38

Rubric 1) You deceased, your body and soul are now at peace, your horse's mane is beautiful.

NOTES

${ }^{2}$ See note 8 of ${ }^{2} 0^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndzi ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi},{ }^{3}$ man. ${ }^{3}$ chung.

${ }^{4}$ See NNCRC, p. 91, note 43; also p. 146, note 150 ..
${ }^{6}$ v. s. note 4.
d v. s. note 4 .
7 v. s. note 4.
${ }^{8}$ See notes 26,27 , of ${ }^{2} 0^{2}{ }^{2} n d z i ̆ ~{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{3}$ chung.
${ }^{0}$ He is figured in the rubric of note 10.
${ }^{10}$ Rubric 2 of page 30 is written as follow: The first symbol ${ }^{3}$ ch'ĕr stands for generation. The interlocking lines above the pair of eyes seeing mean that the older and newer generations see eye to eye. The next is Nāga between two trees denoting a forest, above the symbol ${ }^{3}$ mun $=$ dead, a horse fy ${ }^{3}$ mun. The small figure depicts the Näga's son one of nine, their being rich is indicated by a full stomach. He is followed by their ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba (see note 9 ), a stag's head with an axe above it the sacrifice to the dead Nāga, and finally a ${ }^{2} N v$ being carried by a serow, a wild animal which dwells among cliffs on the snow range, and the property of the Nāgas and here especially of Naga ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ ' ${ }^{-1} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ssi. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gk} \cdot{ }^{3}$ shu appear also on the top.
${ }^{11}$ In presenting anything to a deceased the word ${ }^{3} l o$ is used, written either with the head of a muntjak $={ }^{1} / c$ or with its phonetic equivalent. The phrase "the clothe we have presented" is written thus: a muntjak head above the symbol ${ }^{\mathbf{s} \text { ssu }}=\mathrm{a}$ felt cloak such as also the Lolos wear.

${ }^{12}$ The inference is that because the Nāga lived in the forest, a stag was killed under a tree.
${ }^{13}$ This postflood ancestor of the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ is usually known as ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{O} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ gkaw- ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{a}$, here his full

${ }^{14}$ See NNCRC, p. 278, note 606.
${ }^{15}$ See $l$. c., p. 148, note 160 .
10 The symbol used here is read ${ }^{3}$ tsan- ${ }^{1}$ ngu, actually a pack horse, a riding horse is ${ }^{2}$ ndza- ${ }^{2}$ zhwua, but because the deceased cannot ride but is carried like a load by the horse, the words ${ }^{3}$ tsan- ${ }^{1} n g u$ are used. Colloquially called ${ }^{2}$ gkyi- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ngu}$.

${ }^{17}$ Here not only his nine illegitimate sons but also nine daughters are mentioned.
${ }^{18}$ In this rubric for ${ }^{3} l o=$ present, the phonetic symbol is used instead of the pictograph ${ }^{1} l o$ for muntjak.
${ }^{10}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Gko}^{-1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ër, is the white male crane, it personifies also heaven see MBC, p. 93, note 231 , ${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{3}$ nun- ${ }^{1} d t v$ signifies the crane with the straight bill. This name is only applied to a deceased father in funeral books. The female crane is called ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1} k h \ddot{u}-{ }^{2} g h u ̈ g h-{ }^{2} l o-^{2} b b u ̆ e, ~ t h e ~$ changed herself into a crane took her lover under her wing and flew with him to heaven io her father's place; ${ }^{2} l o=$ desire, ${ }^{2} b b u ̌ e=$ metamorphose, and ${ }^{2}$ ghügh has reference to ${ }^{1}$ Ts'o- ${ }^{\mathbf{z} z a ̈-~}$ ${ }^{21}{ }^{3}$ Lä- ${ }^{3}$ nun is in fact sweetmeats, it also is an early breakfast. In the Yangtze valley west of the Li-chiang district where the so-called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhër}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}=$ afraid (of the cold) people (see ANKSWC, Vol. 2, p. 389, note l) live, the pcople have four meals a day. Their early breakfast consists of tea, teamba, sausages, blood sausages mixed with rice, nuts and some kind of cookies. In Li-chiang this is not the custom; ${ }^{3} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{3}$ nun means simply breakfast.

$22{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}$ 'u is a second breakfast.
${ }^{23}{ }^{3} \mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{gyu}}{ }^{1}$ mun is a very interesting rite. The son of the deceased takes a live rooster and strikes with it the floor on the left side of the bed when the corpse is still in it and calls father, father, father, he strikes the floor so long with the chicken till the latter is dead. He then takes an earthen pot puts it on his head, in one hand be carries three lighted incense sticks;
he goes to a stream and fills the pot with water, the water must not be taken against the fow, but with the current. He then brings the water back on his head; the pot in put on an iron tripod, a fire lighted beneath, and the dead chicken as it is ia put into the pol, hence 'dgyu $=$ to boil, ${ }^{1}$ mun = dead. In the meantime much water has been heated and a litile of the water from the pot with the chicken is poured into the hot water with which the body of the decessed is washed. When this takes place two new combs, a fine and a coarse one, a wooden ladle to pour the water on the body are used. A small plate and a bowl with two chopatida are then put into the pot with the chicken, also the combe and ladle after the body hat been washed and prepared. The son now takes the pot again on his head, also the tripod and carriea them out to a road where he replaces the pot on the tripod along the road, facing east. He prostrates before it, after which he returns home. This pot is called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dshi- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ. Whoever firat sees the pot smashes it with a rock as it is considered a bad omen to meet with it. If the chicken has not been devoured by a dog or hawk, and after two days is atill found on the road, this portends evil for the family of the deceased. When a chicken is found scratching in a garden people will yell at it "3dgyu- ${ }^{1}$ mun", to scare it away.

${ }^{25}{ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{t}$ 'khi are ghosts who supposedly dwell on this particular spur.
${ }^{20}$ A mountain spur whence the cranes rise $={ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gko}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtu}$.
${ }^{27}$ A mountain spur whence the eagles rise $=^{\mathbf{2}}$ gko ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}$ tui.
${ }^{28}$ A bamboo screen is used in the making of felts. It is placed on the ground and the shecp wool is spread out evenly on the top of it; hot water is then oprinkled over it and the whole is rolled up. Afterwards another layer of wool is added and the process repeated three or four times depending on the quality of the felt desired, it is rolled with the feet at a fast tempo. The symbol to express the sentence ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{o b}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{v}{ }^{2}$ nderr ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ sso, foot raise, bamboo screen roll is written thus: The bamboo screen is at the base with the wool protruding on top, the hoe with the dote below is read ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bä}=\mathbf{t o}$ do, the figure is rolling string indicating ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{b i}=\mathbf{t w i s t i n g}$, rolling. His foot is raised.

${ }^{1} \mathrm{MUN}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{MIU}{ }^{2} \mathrm{FF} \mathrm{U}$ or DEAD ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{MUN}$

( = LIFE OFFERING) TERMINATE, BE GONE!

This book is chanted after the animal had been offered to the deceased alive, either a sheep or ox. When the book ${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ gku $q . v$. has been chanted, the animal is killed and again offered. Here ${ }^{1}$ mun stands for dead, instead of ${ }^{2}$ mun $=$ a fate, a life offering destined to be killed; ${ }^{2}$ miu signifies to terminate, the ${ }^{2}$ mun has come to its end, and ${ }^{2}$ ffŭ is meant for the deceased, to take it and go.

When the animal has been taken out into the court and killed it is placed on its left side on pine needles in front of the coffin. The rope with which the animal had been led to the slaughter is then laid on the coffin (before coffins were used, i.e., prior to 1723 , the rope was placed in the hand of the corpse). A twig of the ${ }^{2} b b u ̆ e=$ Artemisia, and a branch of the ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mun $=$ Rhodo . dendrum decorum is put on the body of the animal and by its side a bowl of water.

The descendants of the deceased kneel in front of the animal and no one is allowed to step over the rope which connects the animal and the coffin.

The leading ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba takes the ${ }^{3} \mathbf{M u}{ }^{2} \underline{n}^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ 'u (= funeral staff) which previously had been fastened upright to the left of the table in case of a man, and right side in case of a woman, and standing in front of the coffin and the slaughtered animal chants this book; other ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas present at the ceremony join in the chanting. With the ${ }^{2} b b u ̆ e=$ Artemisia twig which is first dipped into the water, the leading ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba performs the purification ceremony ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'ou ${ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ or impurities remove, over the animal. At a certain passage on turns the bowl of water over with his staff. The cup when overturned must cover the ground, it is not permitted to rest on its side. This is to indicate that the dead and the living are now separated. If the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}}{ }^{\mathbf{m}} \mathrm{mba}^{2}$ does not succeed to turn the cup of water over at one try with his staff he is considered to have no power. The funeral staff must always be carried perfectly straight only when overturning the bowl can he tilt it, holding it with two hands.

When the book has been chanted the animal is skinned. The manuscript here translated is no 1552 and is no more in my possession, but a photographic copy, the negative of which is in the Library of Congress, is in my private library. One original ms., bearing that title belongs here, it is no 8032 and is in my private library, it was bought by me in 1947 from a ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba of the village ${ }^{1}$ Mun. ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ shwua- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ wùa.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{2}$ mba calls out in a deep voice: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}^{2} \mathrm{ho}{ }^{2} \mathrm{la}{ }^{4} \mathrm{yu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ho},{ }^{2} \mathrm{la}{ }^{8} \mathrm{yu}$
 (This is repeated in rubric two, only the third sentence differs: 2) ${ }^{2} 1 a{ }^{2} \mathrm{dh}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}$ 'ho

 ${ }^{3}$ ssaw ${ }^{4}$.

The phraseology of the next two rubrics 4 and 5 , is very involved, the gist of the meaning is that the demon which the deceased is now considered must be chased as soon as possible, and the grandfather (his spirit) must be quickly told what he is to know; the grandmother (her spirit) also must be quickly told what she is to know. In the morning she is to attend to the guests (i.e., other demons), for it is understood that they themselves are deceased guests. 6) You originated from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan or ${ }^{3}$ Ssu clan, you are going to where your grandfather and grandmother dwell, but deceased protect the family this deceased please do!

The next phrases are no more understood.

Page 2

Rubric 5) One day ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ went to divide the span of life (of people) 6) but he was unable to divide man's span of life. 7) The ${ }^{\mathbf{s} p}{ }^{\prime} u$ - $^{2} \mathbf{p}^{\prime} u{ }^{1} n d z e r^{5}$ of the cliff (opened its flowers) bloomed (here is a play on the wond 'p'u = to blame), it was ${ }^{1}$ Ndu's fault, he is to blame that all the deceased's forefathers had died; 8) as even ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nd}$ 's father had died. 9) He used the clouds as his mount (for his soul); on the cliff the ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{p '}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{p}^{\prime}$ u ${ }^{1}$ ndzèr flowered, on ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ the blame cannot be put. The custom of giving the deceased a horse to ride originated with ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$.

Page 3

Rubric 1) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{sa}}$ was unable to regulate (divide) the span of life of woman, hence it is ${ }^{1} S_{s}$ ä's fault, we demand therefore our life (epan) from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{8}$ ä. 2) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{sä}}{ }^{\prime}$ 's mother also died and she killed a black cow, and this is the origin of killing a cow (at the ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{3}$ mä ceremony). Thus ${ }^{1}$ Ssä cannot be blamed. 3) The ${ }^{2}$ Boa${ }^{1}$ nddui ${ }^{0}$ took his bow and arrow and shot 4) a black bear with a white breast, the arrow had been shot off and could not again be retrieved. 5) The head of the family has died he could not again be recalled. 6) On ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{sh}$ wuabroken, you who originated from the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu clan, died although your span of life was not full, you died early. 7) You deceased you are now going to your resides in heaven) carrying a golden box, 9) and wearing a white silver hat, holding a golden staff, dressed in a tiger's skin, girdled with a golden belt and on his feet golden shoes, Rubric 1) descended from ${ }^{2}$ Muan- ${ }^{-1 l i t i} \cdot{ }^{2}$ gkv 2) and arrived at the top of the cliff ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Gkv}-{ }^{11} \mathrm{a}$, from there he looked to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ssu} \cdot{ }^{1 \times} \mathrm{a}$ and there he then (later) arrived. 3) He divided the span of life for three days 4) for three nights he divided longevity. 5) Longevity was obtained by ${ }^{3}$ Ssu ( $=$ the Life god) and the short span of life was obtained by the deceased. 6) ${ }^{1}$ Ssä is able to divide butter 7) ${ }^{3}$ Ssu obtained the good butter and you deceased the bad butter ${ }^{8}$. 8) At night the crane goes early to roost, in the morning the eagle is the first to rise; 9) at night the chicken is the first to roost, 10) in the morning the hawk is the first to arise. 11) At first the heavens appeared, and at night the stars,

Page 4

Page 5

Rubric 1) the celestial flowers have not yet died, though the flowers of the stars had died ${ }^{\text {p }}$; the earth has not yet died, yet the grass and flowers will have died. (The remainder of this page has been translated in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv}$ ${ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{\text {s }}$ la q.v.

Page 6

Rubric 9) The heavens slept, but the white clouds did not sleep so the white clouds wakened heaven; the white clouds slept so the wind awakened them. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}$ mba with the ${ }^{3}$ Mùen ${ }^{1} \mathrm{t}^{1}$ 'u (funeral wand) calls the demons (with the little bells on the staff) who have not yet risen. The vast lands slept and there was no one to call it, the yellow grass had not slept, so it called the land, the grass slept so the dew called the grass, as the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mba calls the demons who rocks $=$ snow range, where the pines cast shade on the spurs) slept,

Page 7

Rubric 1) so the dog wakened them; the fish were asleep in the stream, but the otter did not sleep and wakened them. The ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba calls the demons who have not yet arisen... etc. etc. etc. 3) At ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{1}$ ssaw. ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ the ${ }^{1}$ Lo- $^{1}$ ch'ung- ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1}$ khuiu wakens the demons still asleep with the bells of the funeral staff; 4) he calls the demons at the cremation ground $={ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}$. ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $-{ }^{3}$ mùen- ${ }^{1}$ dsu- ${ }^{-1 / v}$, he calls the demons at ${ }^{14} \mathrm{~A} \cdot{ }^{1}$ dgyü- ${ }^{1}$ shĕr, he calls the demons in the court where the grain racks are, he calls the demons of the hearth, 5) also the demons where the ancestors dwell. 6) He calls the demons calls the demons from above and those sleeping on low ground. (Every time he calls a type of demons, he shakes his staff causing the little bells to ring).

Page 8

This page has already been translated.

Page 9

The next few pages to rubric 5 of page 12 contain only allegory as above. The actual ${ }^{1}$ Mun ${ }^{2}$ miu ${ }^{2}$ ffŭ commences on Page 12, rubric 5.

Page 12

Rubric 5) The ${ }^{1}$ Lo- ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung- ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1}$ khü affirms that on the sheep with the white wool at the base of the horns ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o must be performed ${ }^{10}$; to perform 'sh'ou ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}$ 'o the broad-leafed ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mun}$ ( $=$ Rhododendron decorum) and the green ${ }^{2}$ Bbŭe ( $=$ the Artemisia vulgaris with the white root) must be used. We perform ${ }^{3}{ }^{c h}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2} k \cdot o$ on the white foam proceeding from the mouth of the sheep; on the tears issuing from the eyes, on the wax of the ears 6) and on the tail encrusted beneath with feces which are removed by ${ }^{2}$ bpö- ${ }^{1} \ddot{u}=t$ wisting, on the cloven hoofs of its feet from which all impurities are removed. 7) All ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou ( $=$ impurities) are escorted south, all ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou which has been removed is now suppressed. 8) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}{ }^{11}$ descended from 1) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \mathrm{ann}^{-}{ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{1}$ gkyi ${ }^{12}$ (the end of this sentence is in rubric 1 of page 13 ).

Page 13

 a Nāga spring, 4) the ${ }^{2} d t o-{ }^{1}$ mba from the village, 5) the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{bu}^{14}$ from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gkui}-$ ${ }^{1}$ 'a- ${ }^{1} b b u$ the starry cliffs. 6) The sheep came to the place where the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ it does not matter, but such a sheep is used. 7) The mourning son repays his father for the land, the sky above it, etc. etc. 10) The leading ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba pronounces: the mourning son and daughter have not killed a liberated pig or chicken,

Page 14

Rubric 1) neither a liberated ox or sheep, neither those with torn ears or brocken horns, nor those with injured feet. 2) For you deceased a sound sheep has been killed and given to you; let your hand take hold of the rope of the sheep; you have been given its blood to drink and the wool has been given into your hand. For breakfast you can eat much or little, so now go and act! 3) This was the ancient custom. 4) When ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}-{ }^{3} b p a ̈-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dsä}$ died in heaven, his son ${ }^{3} B p a ̈-{ }^{2}$ dsä- ${ }^{3}$ bpä $-{ }^{1}$ niu was rich, etc. etc. see ${ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ gku. 6) ${ }^{2}$ Mùan${ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ng} \mathrm{V}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{ba}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gu}$ ( $=$ the nine celestial sons) sharpened their swords on a whetstone ( $={ }^{2}$ ssil- $\left.{ }^{2} \mid v\right)$. Their wives dressed in beautiful clothe; ${ }^{2} G y i-{ }^{3} b b u ̆ e \cdot{ }^{2} g y i-$ ${ }^{1}$ ssä- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ made thousands of dresses for ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{bp}$ ä- ${ }^{2}$ dsä, yet they were not enough; she made a ${ }^{2} n v-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}$ ěr- ${ }^{-} \ \ddot{a}-{ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{10}$, whereupon he had enough gar-not enough; she then killed ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'wua- ${ }^{1}$ dtv- ${ }^{1}$ la- ${ }^{2} b b u$ e. $-{ }^{2} m \ddot{a}^{17}$ whereupon he had enough.

Page 15

Rubric 1) ${ }^{2}$ Szŭ- ${ }^{3}$ bbǔe- ${ }^{2}$ szŭ- ${ }^{2}$ ssä- ${ }^{3}$ mi boiled thousands of grains, but it was not enough; she then boiled the ${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{4} y^{-1}{ }^{1}$ ndzi- $^{1}{ }^{1}$ baw $^{18}$, after which there was enough. 2) The son repays the father for rearing him to manhood, and repays his mother for the milk she gave him, and now let the deceased parent(s) protect him. 3) The living and the dead must now be separated, the ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Gkyi}$ - and the serow must also be separated. 5) The heaven of the dead must be reckoned as the heaven above the living; the alpine meadow of the goat must be considered also as that of the sheep; various kinds of llour are not put together, neither are bones of different animals. 6) One good sheep has been killed in heaven; his descendants have received ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{10}$ like the stars in heaven. The remainder of this page and pages 16,17 and 18 , to rubric 2 of page 19 have already been translated.

Page 19

Rubric 2) The head of the sacrificed animal ( ${ }^{1}$ mun) is used to close the celestial gate of the dead, and the hide is to close the terrestrial gate of the dead; the lung closes the door of the dead of the sun, the liver of the moon, the bones those of the rocks, the flesh closes the gate of the earth (soil) and the blood those of the water. 3) The horns of the animal are to close the gates of the dead of the high mountain, and the tail those of the trees. 4) The four legs of the animal close the gates of the dead of the four regions of the compass.
5) The eastern gate of the wood element is closed by iron; the southern fire element by water, the western iron element by fire, 6) and the northern water element gate is closed by earth, 7) and the central earth element gate of the dead by water. 8) ${ }^{1}$ Lo $-^{1}$ ch'ung. ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1}$ khü divides with his ${ }^{2}$ bi- ${ }^{1}$ boa- $-^{1}{ }^{-}$ere ${ }^{21}$ the living from the dead. (At this passage the cup with water is turned over with the funeral staff as described previously). 9) The waters are now divided, flowing to either side; the axe has split the tree and changes it into two halves. One tree cut down on one mountain separates it from those of the other mountain.

Page 20
Rubric 1) Splitting the rocks divides them into two lots. 2) The plow and the plowshare divide the oxen; sheep can only be herded on one alpine meadow. 4) Traps can be laid on one place only; muddy and dry places are separated.
5) The honest chief has no fault if there are after-affairs let the demons be blamed. 6) I, the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$, have no faults, if there are faulte let the demons carry them off. 7) I relieve myself of $\sin$ as if taking off my hat or my shoes, let the demons carry them off. 8) The chief closes the affair as with a sword, both sides are regulated; the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba has made no errors in the chanting, it is like splitting the rocks with a sword by the chief.

When this book has been chanted, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ds}^{\prime}$ ir ${ }^{2}$ ddu эr actually ${ }^{2}$ Dsu ${ }^{2}$ ddu ${ }^{1}$ ddaw- ${ }^{3}$ mä (all symbols are used phonetically) = early meal custom, follows:

The skin of the slaughtered animal is spread out in front of the coffin, the head always left attached to the skin facing northeast, and the tail extending southwest. Nine sliced ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv} \cdot{ }^{3} / v^{22}$ and nine slices of the lung of the animal are placed on the skin. After ${ }^{1}$ Ts'o ${ }^{2}$ mbĕr ${ }^{2}$ t'u (the next book) has been chanted, the ' ${ }^{1} d \mathrm{dv} \cdot \mathrm{l} \mathrm{l}$ and lung slices are thrown out. Nowadays they are thrown to the pole from which the paper tower (a Chinese contraption) hangs in front of the gate to the court. The meaning of this has been lost, but it seems that it is a food offering to hungry ghosts.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ See MBC, p. 88.
2 The literal meaning of these sentences is: Go go gods give go, gode give good must go, god this (road) go must; a free rendering reads: go on high on the road of the gods (the word ${ }^{\text {s la }}$ is of Tibetan origin lha), the road given by the gode muat be followed; (all) these must travel this road given by the gods; if you travel this good road oaly good will result to thone left behind.
${ }^{3}$ God thic road go ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ go must, ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ traveling this road, ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ has gone and must descend again.

- The first two sentences are the same, from the third to the end the sentences are dif-locality where the ceremony taken place and where this book is chanted. Well flying Garuda road his on high go, ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ the ${ }^{3}$ Sau give below invite.
 present day ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ have never heard the nume.
- A ${ }^{2}$ Boan-1nddui is a Bon lama, equivalent to the Tibetan Bande.
${ }^{7}$ He is the same as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$, see $N N C R C$, p. 158, note 211 . Angone or anything connected with heaven is ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} l l u ̈,{ }^{2} g k v-{ }^{1} p$ 'èr means head white, $i$. e., white-haired, one who has reached an old age.
${ }^{8}$ Usually old butter which is unpalatable is used in rubbing the corpse with, people are too poor to use good butter for such a purpose. A newly born child is also rubbed with butter but fresh butter is used.
- The meaning is that the atars will die, their light will cease to shine, but the heavens will remain, the same as the earth will not die but the grass and the flowera will die.
${ }^{10}{ }^{3}$ Ch'ou ${ }^{2} \mathbf{k}$ 'o $=$ impurities remove; this is one of several purification ceramonies. See MBC, pp. 88-90; see also $N N C R C$, p. 277, note 589.

11 See note 7.
12 See l.c., p. 635.
${ }^{13}$ See no 7.
${ }^{14}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llim}^{1}$ bu is the real ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ sorcerer, he or she is I believe actually foreign to Gight sham-battles with the demons. It is the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{\mathbf{1} b u}$ who wears a red turban, the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba were women; they are depicted in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$ mss., with a female head gear and flowing hair. They use the damaru and the flat gong, while the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas use owords and the ${ }^{2}$ ds- ${ }^{-1}$ lér (see l.c., p.94, note 49). but ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ bu when communicating with the dead at night also dance with swords. They do not go into a trance, but once I have observed one to swoon and then anawer questions similar to a Tibetan srung-ma, but they are never violent, although they dance furiously. I believe that they are identical with the fa-shih or bō of the T'u-jen of Hai-ning described by P. Dominik Schroeder in his interesting paper on the ,Zur Religion der Tujen des Sininggebietes" (Kukunor) in Anthropos Vol. 48, p.236. 1953. This type of sorcerer seems to be widely distributed and is perhaps of Chinese origin as I pointed out in NNCRC, p. 101, note 57, Plate 27. See also SNL, PT, I, Plate XIV, the ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ bu bowever do not wear a breast mirror like the arung-ma.

 the wool around the base of the horns must be white, if black or not pure white it cannot be used as a sacrificial animal.
 to wear. See ANKSWC, Plate 97 . The pleata are called ${ }^{2}$ lä- ${ }^{1}$ gyi which is the same name as for a ladder or notched $\log$ which often serves as a ladder; ${ }^{2}$ nv. ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr means silvery white. This is the old anme for this type of garment which nowadays is called colloquially ${ }^{1}$ 'ter; for this sound complex there is no symbol. It is written thus in

[^3]

'TS'O ${ }^{2}$ MBEER ${ }^{2}$ T'U, ${ }^{\text {™AN. }}{ }^{2}$ CHUNG or 'TS'O- ${ }^{2}$ ZA- ${ }^{2}$ LLU. ${ }^{2}$ GHUGH'S DESCENT (FROM HEAVEN); LAST PART

At nearly every larger ceremony the story as recorded in these books about the pre-flood ancestor of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is chanted. It tells of the flood, the cause which was incest, his brothers being unable to obtain wives took their sisters for their spouses. He alone abstaining from such conduct survived the flood, with a few animals which he was advised to take with him into a large drum made of yak hide and tied to two trees. After the flood he finds that he is alone and becomes lonely and is yearning for a mate. In heaven there is a lonely female, the daughter of ${ }^{2} D z i-1 \cdot 1 a-{ }^{-1}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{2}$, she is looking for a man and so she descends to earth and meets ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zä}$ - ${ }^{2}$ lüu- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh who is however unable to accompany her to heaven to meet her father whose approval is essential, as he cannot fly. Thereupon she changes herself into a crane, takes him under her wing and off they fly to heaven to meet her father who is not too pleased with the appearance and the origin of her choice.

The story is a long one and is told in NNCRC, pp. 675-687, translated from a ms. belonging to the ${ }^{8} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony.

Immediately after ${ }^{1}$ Mung ${ }^{2}$ miu ${ }^{2} f(f u ̆$ has been chanted this story is recounted by the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}$ mba. The contents of the first volume and part of the second are the same as told in those of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{1} \mathrm{na}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony, only the last part differs. It tells, appropriately to this ceremony, of 'Ts'o $-{ }^{2}$ zä- ${ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{2}$ ghügh's death and his being escorted to the 33 realms of the gods etc.

There are several volumes in the collection which belong to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ mä funeral ceremony, but they can also be used at the funerary ceremony called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{nv}$ which is performed within three years after the death of a person.

As we are here only concerned with the last part as contained in ${ }^{3}$ man${ }^{3}$ 'chung, of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3}$ 'mä rite, that part is here translated from ms. no 8033. For the first part and complete story of his life the reader is referred to the NNCRC, as previously mentioned.
 nos. 8032, 8036 and 8037. To ${ }^{3}$ mann ${ }^{3}$ chung belong mss., nos. 8034 and 8035, while no 8038 contains both parts in a mpre or less abridged form.

Translation of text

Page 20
Rubric 6) The ${ }^{1} k$ 'o ( $=$ peg) of the ${ }^{2} N g a w$ and the ${ }^{2} 1 v$ ( = rock) of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{1}$ are established in the house; 7) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \ddot{z}-{ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{-}$ghügh erected the house and she burned incense. 8) His own and his wife's relatives dwelt among them. 9) He and his wife lived together. (Inclusive of Rubric 1, page 21.)

Page 21

Rubric 2) They reared sons and daughters, 3) also horses and cattle. 4-6) He dwelt surrounded by offspring. 7) He was rich, his stomach was full, his grain boxes were full, in chests he had silver and gold; 8) he hoarded turquoise and carnelian in jars. 9) He was renowned for his armor which he had on a stand ( $={ }^{2}$ gkan- ${ }^{1}$ dzo) by his bed. 10) The alpine meadows were full of his sheep.

Page 22
Rubric 1) His cattle pen was full of red cows, 2) and in the stables many horses were tied to the troughs. 3) His home was full of sons; 4) and his grain boxes were full of grain, he was indeed a rich man. 5) The gods gave him everything; 6) he was permanently established like the length of a yak horn. 7) He 8) did not think of old age and death, he did not think 9) of illness, his hair dropped out ( $={ }^{1}$ bběr) of such fate he was not aware. 10) When he descended he brought everything with him.

Page 23
Rubric 1) But ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3}$ llü- ${ }^{2} n g v .{ }^{2}$ ch'èr. ${ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{l}$, this medicine ${ }^{2}$ he did not bring with him, hence he and the people died. 2) When ${ }^{3} T s^{\prime}$ ä- ${ }^{1} k h u ̈-{ }^{2} b u-{ }^{1} b u-{ }^{3}$ mi descended she drove everything down (in the line of animals), but the ${ }^{2}$ Llü ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{2} k$ 'a${ }^{2} m \ddot{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gk} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ she did not drive down; 3) hence the horses suffered from disease of the hoofs ${ }^{3}$; between the living 4) and the dead one man died ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{za}-{ }^{3} \| \mathrm{lu}$ 2ghügh). 5) Between the green and yellow flovers, one flower wilted. 6) On the mountains one tree died; his voice was gone and also his hearing. 7) You from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan or ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{8 u}$ clan deceased if you think correctly (you will know) that your time was up; 8) although you did not know,

Page 24
Rubric 1) and you have done nothing, you had intended to do this and do that, and before you could think your time had come. 2) You thought in your heart the time had passed; you thought of gold in your heart and you thought that you could achieve and do everything. 3) But on the hearth one ${ }^{9} \mathrm{~S}_{3} u$ (=Life god) ${ }^{4}$ died. 5) The deceased ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{s u}$ changed into a snake. 6) You deceased let your spirit protect your family, and you ancestors past on, do likewise. (The remainig rubrics have already been translated elsewhere, they deal with the son repaying his father, etc.).

Page 25
Rubric 1) When the father died much was expended, comparable to vast waters; 2) when the mother died there was much outlay likening a large alpine region. The mourning son repays his father for the laud etc. etc.

Page 26
Rubric 1) The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba escorts the deceased, the ox, the horse, sheep and yak 2) to the 33 realms of the gods on high. 3) Your body and soul are at peace, your horse's mane is beautiful. 4) When a man dies it is the custom to give 9 ounces of silver (to the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba), and in the case of a woman 7 ounces of silver. 5) This is the voice of the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba there is no mistake. 6) It is like the splitting of rocks by the chief.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ Re the ${ }^{2} N_{g a w}$ peg and ${ }^{2} N_{g a w}$ rocks see the long note in $N N C R C$, p. 202, note 318.
2 This medicine is the water or elinir of immortality.
 note 65. Apparently hoof and mouth disease was prevalent among ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ domestic animals, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{k} \cdot{ }^{\circ} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{gk}$ ii an animal whose bile was believed to have been the sole remedy for the disease. ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Llii. ${ }^{1}$ shwua is however a place name.

4 The ${ }^{3} S_{s u}{ }^{1}{ }^{\text {dtv }}$ or basket in which ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~S}_{s}=$ the life god resides is kept on a shelf above

${ }^{1} \mathrm{NGU}{ }^{2} \mathrm{FF} \mathrm{U}$; ${ }^{1} \mathrm{NGU}{ }^{2}$ T' $\mathrm{U} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{BB}$ OUE or

 HORSE TAKE AWAY, GO! ORIGIN OF THE HORSEThis book is chanted when the horse is offered to the deceased; however, nowadays, this is omitted at ordinary funerals and was in fact only practiced al those of chiefs'. See introductory part. At funerals of ${ }^{2}$ do ${ }^{1}$ nbs and wives of ${ }^{2}$ do ${ }^{1}$ abas live horses are at times introduced, and the ${ }^{2} n v$ is placed on the horse and led out; also a pack horse is then used, when all kinds of paraphernalia and food are placed in saddle bags on the ${ }^{3}$ tsana- ${ }^{1}$ ngu ( $=$ pack horse) which is led out with the horse carrying the ${ }^{2} n v, i$. e., a pine branch representing the deceased.

The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ have three terms for horse, the colloquial is ${ }^{2}$ zhwua, the literary expression is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ngu}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dta}$, the latter is a loan word from the Tibetan rita $=$ horse. The first mare was called ${ }^{2} t s^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1}{ }^{1} k h \ddot{u}{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{a}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}$, this name occurs in the largest I have ever come across. Many years ago I had translated it with the help of my late ${ }^{2}$ do- ${ }^{1}$ mba from cover to cover, but it was lost with several hundred others during the last world war. It is now impossible to give a complate translation, but only the most important parts will be dwelt upon.

In the first few pages of ms., no 8039 which is in my library, it tells how, when the Tibetan died in the north, a yak with white front legs served as pack animal and a red horse carried the ${ }^{2} n v=e f f i g y$ of the deceased. The ${ }^{2}$ Lä- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ or Min-chia who died in the south, was given a water buffalo (in other books an elephant) as a pack animal and a horse to carry the ${ }^{2} n v$. When ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ died in the north he was given a white horse, and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ssä}$ his wife when she died in the south was given a black cow.
 ing everything with him except the potion of immortality hence he and his posterity died. When ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~T} s^{\prime}{ }_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} k h u ̈-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{bu}-{ }^{5} \mathrm{mi}$ descended she forgot to bring the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{K}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gk} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ a medicine which prevented the hoofs of domestic animals from splitting (hoof and mouth disease?) hence all domestic animals died in the course of time.

When the four sons of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkaw}^{1}{ }^{1} \ddot{\mathrm{ab}}{ }^{-3}$ ts' $\mathbf{u}$ died they were given silver and golden garments, shoes, white trousers, nine beautiful kinds of garments, steel swords, and a conch. The grandchildren wore the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ssaw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{p}$ ' $\left.\ddot{0}-{ }^{2}\right] \ddot{u}=a$ mourner's hat made of split canebrake and braided, it had ravelled edges and therefore looked hideous, ${ }^{2}$ la- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw meaning ravelled edge.

The ' Yu clan were given a pig and a chicken as food on the way, and as a ${ }^{2}$ Mun offering a sheep. His ${ }^{2} n v$ was carried by a horse and he was escorted to his grandparents of three generations, and to his father and mother. As the deceased is incapable of crossing nine snow ranges and seven large streams on foot, he is given a horse to ride. This is depicted thus:

As a man changes after death into a snake he is thus figured, this is followed by a symbol for spur $={ }^{1}$ mbu superimposed by the symbol for ${ }^{2} n v \cdot{ }^{2} / \mathrm{lv}=$ snow mountain, then a foot with a wavy line indicating to cross, pass on, then the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn, and a horse ridden by a snake. The next rubric shows seven waters, with the symbol ${ }^{2} t$ 'khi $=$ spine, here used for ${ }^{2}$ ' $\mathrm{khi}=$ cold. The snake is crossing a bridge, the meaning is that riding a horse is like crossing a bridge, which is not cold like wading through streams. On page 11, commences the origin of the horse. "Whence the horse originated no one saw. At ${ }^{10} \mathbf{D}^{3} \mathrm{y}$ yü ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}$ ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{2}$ gkv was born ${ }^{1}$ Dto ${ }^{3}$ t'khyu- ${ }^{-}$ghügh the father of the horse and at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O} .{ }^{2}$ yü ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{man}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{gu} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{ghügh}$ the mother of the horse ${ }^{2}$; both are birds, the first has the appearance of the Garuda and the second that of the Garuda's wife. They are figured thus: ${ }^{1}$ Ssaw- $-{ }^{2}$ yi- $^{2}$ wùa $\cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{de}^{3}$ is the mother of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ĕr and ${ }^{1}$ Sssand $^{4}$. The sun is the mother of the moon; grain and grass are the mother of cattle. The crane and the eagle are the mothers of all winged creatures. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}-{ }^{3}$ na${ }^{3}$ shi- $-{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$ ( $=\mathrm{Mt}$. Sumeru, Kailas) is the mother of all mountains. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}$ - ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}$ ${ }^{2}$ Loa ${ }^{1}$ daw- ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr ( $=$ the wish-granting tree) is the mother of all trees, ${ }^{3}$ Dsä-$=$ Lake Manasarowar the Mother of all waters. Three measures of ${ }^{1} / v^{8}$ and three of ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{ou}^{7}$ of the Garuda caused the father of the horse to appear, and seven tail length's of the 'Khyu- ${ }^{3}$ gu caused the mother of the horse to appear. These two had intercourse and the ' $\mathrm{Khyu}^{-3} \mathrm{gu}$ laid many pairs of egge which all possible creatures, terrestrial and celestial, as well as the elements tried to hatch but in vain. When the water also failed, there came white wind from the left and black wind from the right which caused the waves of the lake dash the eggs towards the cliff where they broke. From them came forth the various horses, a white horse, a yellow horse, one with a blue mane, a pinto horse, a black horse, horses with white front legs and with black front legs. From others came forth yak and asses, dogs, jackals and wild dogs.

It further on tells how the yak was the enemy of the horse, but how man shot the wild yak and decorated the horse with the yak tail; man had befriended the horse and taken it into his home, and how the horse served as pack animal and as a mount. Man never killed his horse, but when he was hungry he killed his sheep, ate the red meat, and from its skin made his garment. When man died the horse served its master even in death, it became the riding animal for his soul and ${ }^{2} n v$, and helped him across the nine snow ranges, or mountains and seven great waters; saddled with a golden saddle it takes him from the place

 ${ }^{1} n a-{ }^{2} k$ 'o to ${ }^{2} L a-{ }^{3} t^{\prime} a^{8}{ }_{-1}{ }^{1} a-{ }^{2} y u-{ }^{1} d u ̈$, etc., etc.

It tells once more that the riding animal of the Tibetan in the north, carrying his ${ }^{2} n v$ is the yak; the Min-chia uses the elephant to carry the ${ }^{2} n v .{ }^{2}$ Dto-carried his ${ }^{2} n v$; when the $N a \bar{g} a$ died the serow carried his ${ }^{2} n v$. When ${ }^{10} \mathbf{O}^{2}$ gkaw${ }^{1}$ lä died a horse as white as snow carried his ${ }^{2} n v$; when ${ }^{2} G k a w-1$ lä- ${ }^{3}$ ts'iu's four sons died, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ used a white horse, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ a yellow horse, the ${ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}$ su a black horse and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}^{10}$ a horse with a blue mane, and this is where the custom of employing a horse to carry the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{nv}$ originated.

The pack horse carries fat and lean meat, wine and food, gold and silver for the deceased. The deceased is told to cross the high spurs like a tiger, and the great waters like an otter, till he reaches ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}-{ }^{1}$ ndsu- ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr- ${ }^{-}$mä- ${ }^{1}$ gko ${ }^{11}$. Protect the descendants, protect the home and the land, let that be so!"

On the last page is given the place of origin of the manuscript namely ${ }^{2} \AA \cdot{ }^{1}$ ngaw- ${ }^{2}$ wùa at the foot of ${ }^{1} B u \cdot{ }^{2} m a ̈-{ }^{1}$ ngyu $=$ Sow mountain; written by ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Bp}{ }^{1}$ ${ }^{1} d^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} n n \ddot{u}$. The word ${ }^{1} n n \ddot{u}$ is a reflexive pronoun, it is followed by the verb ${ }^{3}$ bbĕr $=$ write, wrote.

Another ms., in the collection is no 8040. This is a very old book, and hails from south of Li-chiang, from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gka}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}$ ö near the Hao-ch'ing-Li-chiang-border. It was written when the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba was 26 years old, in the snake year, the 8 th moon and 26th day.

In the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C. is a microfilm of an old manuscript which originated in La-pao ${ }^{12}$ northeast of Li -chiang. It is very well written with a fine stylus and bears our number 2278. A photographic copy is in my library.

NOTES

 at the tail end of it respectively. See NNCRC, Pt. II, p. 526, note 808.

 the good Garuda or the Swantika Garuda and his wife respectively. In another ms., the latter is given as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gu} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{gk} \mathrm{o}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}$, that is the great black vulture of the grasslands, Aegypus monachus.
${ }^{3}{ }^{1}$ Ssaw ${ }^{2}$ yi. ${ }^{2}$ wìa ${ }^{2}$ de is the supreme deity of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ pantheon, but he vies with

- The first are the makers of the heavens, and the latter spread out the earth. See l.c., p. 91, note 40.

6-7 This is writien thus in ms. no 8039, p. 13, rubric 2, 3 and 4. a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{lu}$ is a measure of length between two rounded outstretched arms, us if one were to embrase someone, and a ${ }^{2}$ h'ou ia one step, the Chinese pu. It is also equivalent to a measuring rod 5 Chinese feet in length. The Garuda in the first rubric can be seen taking astep; and in rubric 2 the female Garuda's tail is made especially apparent with the numeral 7 above it. In the first rubric we have the trough symbol ${ }^{1} t$ 'u for ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{t}$ ' $\mathbf{u}=$ to originate, come forth, with the tree after the horse the symbol ${ }^{2} m \ddot{a}=$ vagina for ${ }^{1} m \ddot{ }=$ mother. See NNCRC, p. 201, note 316.
$8{ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{t}$ 'a is the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ name for the Tso-so [62] district of Hsi-k'ang adjoining Yung. ning northeast. ${ }^{\mathbf{2} L a-3}{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ 'a being the family name of the Tu-sau. See ANKSWC, Vol. II, pp. 463-466.

9 1Mbër- ${ }^{2}$ 'khyu- ${ }^{2}$ ssi- ${ }^{2}$ sso form a trimurti, composed of the dragon, Garuda and the white lion, ${ }^{2} 880$ stands for 3 , the Tibetan geum from which it in borrowed. See NNCRC, p. 162, note 214.
 ene of the post-flood ancestors of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\boldsymbol{2}} \mathrm{kh} \mathrm{i}$, separated. Until this day ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ will asy we helong to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho}$ or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}$ clan as the case may be. Two of these clans hold their ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} a \mathrm{n}$ ${ }^{1}$ bpö or Propition of Heaven Ceremony on a different day in the first moon. See l. c., p. 168. note 235 ; $l$. c., p. 229, note 427, also pt. II, p. 571, note 848. See also ANKSWC, p. 85, and $M B C, p .10$, note 3.
${ }^{11}$ Sce note 23 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~Tb}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{an}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{3}$ dehi.
 240, Plates 99, 100.
${ }^{1}$ YO ${ }^{2}$ NDZI ${ }^{3} \mathrm{MI}$, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{HAW}{ }^{1}$ CHI DECEASED EAT FORGET, FOOD DISTRIBUTE, or LET THE DECEASED FORGET ABOUT EATING, FOOD DISTRIBUTE

Of this title there are two originals in the collection acquired in 1947 in Li-chiang, one ms., no 8028 contains in the first part ${ }^{2} \mathbf{N g u}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzo}^{3} \mathbf{d t o}$ and belongs to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony. The second part ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Y} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzĭ}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ commences on page 7 to end of book. The second manuscript is no 5077 and belongs to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Shi}^{2} k$ 'u ${ }^{3}$ der ${ }^{1} b p$ ö ceremony or closing the gate of the dead, it is a beautifully illumemated manuscript and is very fully written. The miniature on the left margin of the first page depicts a standing ${ }^{2} d t 0^{-1}$ boa with large hat, dressed in red with ${ }^{2} d s{ }^{1}$ lear and a long feather in his hand. Both are in my personal library.

The third which belongs to the ${ }^{2} Z h i{ }^{3}$ mä ceremony is no more in my possession, but a microfilm is in the Library of Congress and a photographic enlargement of the same is in my collection. It is no 3204 and is here translated.

In regard to the explanation of the title or its symbols, the first one represents a monkey $={ }^{1} y \ddot{u}$, it is used here for ancestor which the deceased eventually becomes, especially after the performance of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$. The next two have been explained. The fourth is a pictograph representing a bowl with food $={ }^{2} h a w$. The last read ${ }^{1}$ sha is employed phonetically meaning to distribute (see MBC, p. 90).

A miniature on the first page of ms. no 3204 depicts a table loaded with food, meat with a knife stuck in it, wine, and tea. The ms., is chanted in front of a table with food offerings to the deceased which stands before the coffin. All ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ do- ${ }^{1}$ mbas present chant this book together; the first rubrics are chanted slowly, the rest quickly. In this manuscript we learn about the whole economy of a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ household, of the different utensils, where and how they obtain them, what they are made of, and how they are employed. We are initiated in the preparing of their food and in the brewing of liquor. We become aware that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ never made pottery or knew how to employ metals, but obtained articles of these from their neighbors who had settled long before the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} k h i$ came to the region they now inhabit. Hunting with their doge, and setting traps were paramount to their agricultural pursuits as was the pasturing of their yak and sheep, reminiscent of their nomadic days. It seems that they were only able to make utensils of wood from the various trees they found growing on the snow range, and of bamboo they found in valleys and in the alpine region. Their household furniture is of the acantiest and tablea and chairs they obtained from the Min-chia, but later they became efficient carpenters and house-builders, but at the best their houses are of a primitive nature.

This would indicate that they have not been very far removed from the time when they were nomads in the grasslands. The Tibetan nomads of the northwest are no artisans, and pans and kettles for the brewing of their tea and the boiling of their yak meat and mutton they still obtain in barter from Moslem traders.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) In the beginning: Food if not well done is not eaten, if not done the taste is not known. 2) The deceased's one load of food is not to be taken along; the deceased's food may not be enough. 3) In the spring 4) the cicades chirp, the cuckoo searches for pebbles. 5) The deer calls on the spur on which the pines grow, and in the forest the Stone and Amherst pheasants call. 6) The horses neigh and the cattle low (because there is no grass). 7) There is no grain to be cooked ${ }^{1}$. 8) The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngv}$ ${ }^{1}$ tg'ěr- ${ }^{1}$ ha $-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} 0-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi}^{2}$ goes up the mountain carrying a sharp axe to cut the ${ }^{2}$ Mbbure- ${ }^{1}$ shi (holly oak, Quercus semicarpifolia) to make a plow.

Page 2

Rubric 1) He went to cut the ${ }^{9}$ 't'o. ${ }^{1}$ p'ér (= white pine ${ }^{3}$ ) to make the ${ }^{1}$ ndsherr- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}^{4}$ of the plow, from iron he cast the plowshare; from the ${ }^{2}$ law- ${ }^{\prime}$ k'aw ( $=$ poplar ${ }^{5}$ ) he made the yoke for the oxen; from the ${ }^{3}$ nyi- ${ }^{2}$ errh ${ }^{6}$ he made the loop ${ }^{7}$ or ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} i^{3}{ }^{3}$ dehi; from the bamboo he made the ${ }^{2} y i-{ }^{2}$ ndshi ( $=$ lead rope ${ }^{8}$ ). 2) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}^{-}{ }^{2}$ aw- ${ }^{1}$ bpa plowed the field, the small son sat on the shaft spurning on the oxen which the mother led ${ }^{\circ}$. Thus he obtained all the plowing utensils. 3) After he had plowed the field he sowed the grain, three times to the left and three times to the right. 4) Sowing grain they sowed for 30 days, when it sprouts it sprouts unevenly; he takes the 'mun${ }^{2}$ ss ${ }^{2}$ dzhou- ${ }^{1}{ }^{\text {bpa }}{ }^{10}$ and levels the ground. 5) After three days he must go and look at the grain in the field, the sprouting grain is not the yellow fangs of the boar, but the white stalks of the grain. 6) After three days he goes again and looks at the grain, it is not a fine needle he sees, but the young grain like a fine needle, 7) after three days he again looks at the grain, it is not turquoise that he sees, but the green blades of the grain - 8) After three days he goes again to look at the grain, it is not the ${ }^{2} k^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-1} \mathrm{zu}$ ( $=$ horsetail weed) ${ }^{11}$ but the jointed stalks of the grain. 9) After three days he again goes to see the grain, it is not a brilliant, shining mirror, but the glistening grain.

Page 3

Kubric 1) After three days in the morning he went to look again, it was not silver that he saw, but the grain had turned white. 2) After three days in the morning he looked again, it was not gold that he saw, but the grain was yellow like gold. 3) In the three winter months he sowed the wheat, he irrigated the fields in the three winter months 4) and in the three summer months the wheat was ripe. 5) In the spring he sowed the rice, 6) and in the summer he irrigated it (flooded it). 7) In the winter the paddy was ripe, 8) he wanted to harvest the grain but he had no ${ }^{1}$ ndaw ${ }^{12}$. 9) To the south there were nine pairs of sons of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{13}$, nine made iron pots and pans, nine made steel (white iron) sickles, the handles were made of pine wood. 10) He cut the grain three times on the left, and three times ( $={ }^{3} s s_{s u}{ }^{2}$ wùa) on the right. 11) Three cuttings made one handful, three

Page 4

Rubric 1) handful made a bundle, and three bundles made a stack, three stacks made one load; thus he obtained the sickle. 2) He had harvested the grain but had no horse to carry it. He obtained a horse with narrow small hoofs and hefty hindquarters to carry the loads, he led the horse 3) to ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2}$ ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ where he wanted to dry it on the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gko}$ ( $=$ grain-rack) ${ }^{14} .4$ ) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngv}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{tg}$ 'ĕr- ${ }^{-1} \mathrm{ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{gkyi}$ went up the mountain to search for lumber, for the uprights he cut the ${ }^{2} l l u ̈$ ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr ( $=$ spruce Picea likiangensis), and for the cross pieces he used the white pine ( $={ }^{2} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} \mathbf{o}^{1}{ }^{1}$ p'èr Pinus armandi) thus he secured the grain-rack (framework). On the left came white wind and on the right black wind and the grain became dry. 5) He wanted to thresh the grain but he had no flails, he took a sword and went up the mountain and cut a ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{k h y u ̈}$ ( $=$ juniper) to make the handle, he also cut a ${ }^{2} k^{\prime} \ddot{o}^{2}{ }^{2} s^{15}$ to make the flail; 6) he fastened the flail with a leather rope to the handle, he struck the grain three times to the left, three times to the right, and the grain was threshed; thus he had obtained the ${ }^{3}$ gkü- ${ }^{2} l l u$ ( = flail ${ }^{16}$ ). 7) He wanted to winnow the grain but he had no ${ }^{1}$ mun (winnowing tray); he went up a black (dark) valley and cut bamboo. 8) The ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2}$ aw man ${ }^{17}$ braided the ${ }^{1}$ mun, large and small (ones) and thus he obtained the ${ }^{1}$ mun. 9) The chaff the wind carried off and he winnowed the grain ( $={ }^{2} h a ̆ r-{ }^{1}$ lĕr) rack). The woman stood and with her white hands she winnowed the grain, she whistled and invited white wind from the left and the black wind from the right to carry off the chaff. 2) She had nothing to measure the grain, so she took the ${ }^{2}$ Mùan. ${ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ ndu ${ }^{2}$ bpö- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr ( $=$ the white wooden measure of ${ }^{~}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}{ }^{16}$ ) and measured ( $=^{2} d u$ ) the grain. 3) She had nothing to put the grain in 4) so the boy took an axe and went up the mountain to cut the white pine to make the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ngu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr- ${ }^{1}$ ngu- ${ }^{\text {'h }}$ ö ( $=$ a white, low) ( $={ }^{1} \mathrm{hö}$ ) chest; 5 ) he went up the black valley to cut the green bamboo to make a 'dtv ( = grain hamper), and thus he obtained a hamper. 6) He wanted to husk ( $={ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}$ tü) the grain in the ${ }^{2}$ mùag${ }^{1}$ dau' ${ }^{19}$ but he had none, so he went up the mountain to cut 7) the ${ }^{2}$ mbbŭe.' hö ( $=$ the red wood of the ${ }^{2}$ mbbŭe ${ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ shi $=$ golden holly oak) to make the main shaft ( $=^{1} d s u-{ }^{2}$ mä) of the pounder, and from the white pine he made the pestle ( $={ }^{1} \mathrm{dsu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{khi}$ ) and the stone mortar ( $={ }^{2} / \mathrm{V} \cdot{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ ndsu- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}$ ) from a black rock. Whosoever's foot was quicker or faster (in pounding) was to pound the grain, and whose hand was faster to put it in the bowl (mortar) (they employed) 20 ; after the grain had been hulled 8) there was no pot to boil the grain in, so he went in search of a pot, he went to the blacksmith whose hammering could be heard across nine mountains and seven valleys, 9) in the south where the ${ }^{2} B o a$ dwelt.

Page 5

Page 6

Rubric 1) Of nine pairs of sons of the ${ }^{2}$ Boa, one pair beat the iron pots, they beat them thin ( $={ }^{2} \mathrm{mbe}$ ), thus he obtained the pot to boil grain in. 2) They did not have the ferment to mix with the grain; on a high alpine meadow there are born two bitter flowers, among them there is one that is sweet ${ }^{21}$, there was no one who saw these flowers, but the shepherd saw them. 3) The shepherd picked the flower and gave it to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}{ }^{3}-{ }^{2}$ mä- $-{ }^{2}$ la- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gku}$. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$; 4) she rubbed the flower into white rice flour and cold water, and covered it with the ${ }^{2}$ bbǔe ( $=A r$. temisia). 5) After three days an odor was noticeable, it changed into different colors ${ }^{22}$. Thus she obtained the ferment for the wine. 6) She boiled the wheat. paddy and barley together. 7) She had no wooden tub, so the good boy went to search for the wood. 8) He took a bow and arrow to shoot a white deer, but he did not strike it, instead his arrow struck the white pine.

Page 7

Rubric 1) He cut the white pine tree, from the top down he cut it into nine pieces, and from the bottom up he cut it into seven pieces ${ }^{22}$, and from these came forth the large and small wooden tubs; she had nothing to make raphs with to put around the tubs. 2) The good boy went up to the alpine meadow to shoot the ${ }^{\mathbf{2} h} \mathrm{hoa}^{1} \mathbf{1}^{\prime}$ 'èr ${ }^{\mathbf{2 4}}$, he could not shoot the ${ }^{\mathbf{2} h o a-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'èr, but his arrow struck the ${ }^{2} W u-{ }^{1} p$ 'èr $-{ }^{1}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{25}$. He took the bark 3) of the tree, on the left he took three strips of bark, and on the right three strips of bark. 4) The tub leaked, near the top the wind caused it to split, in the middle the air leaked through it, and at the bottom the liquid leaked through $\mathrm{it}^{26}$; she had nothing to plaster the outside of the tub; 5) the ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh ${ }^{-1}$ ndzi- ${ }^{2}$ aw- ${ }^{3}$ lo- ${ }^{1}$ gkye ${ }^{27}$ called on a tree and in its bill it mixed the resin of the pine, thus she obtained three kinds of lute with which she prevented the tub from leaking in its three parts. 6) She did not possess large earthen jars (to put wine in); in the south the ${ }^{2}$ Boa had two nine pairs of sons, one pair of nine sons prepared clay, and the other nine pairs made tiles. 7) From these came forth large and small earthen jars ${ }^{28}$. From from the second brew; from the first brew the sweet wine (liquor) in made).
 this and

Page 8

Rubric 1) a red porcellain cup brought from ${ }^{2} \mathbf{Y i}^{2} \cdot{ }^{2}$ chi ${ }^{1}$ mùen ( $=$ K'un-ming ${ }^{32}$ ) serves the deceased as a bowl for his food; from this cup he eats to the fill and drinks wine till he is drunk. 2) ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{2}$ ngv- ${ }^{3}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ dsä- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ ( $=$ older sister) took a silver hoe and ${ }^{3}$ Gko- ${ }^{2}$ dsä. $\cdot{ }^{3}$ gko $\cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{lo} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ ( $=$ younger sister) took a golden hoe to dig a watercourse to divide the water; she divided 12 streams, six to flow south and six to flow north. 3 ) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gv}-{ }^{1}$ ddü- ${ }^{-}$dsä- ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{2} z o$ ( $=$ elder brother) carrried a silver sword, and ${ }^{2}$ Dsä- ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{2}$ dsä- ${ }^{3}$ shou- ${ }^{2} z o$ ( $=$ younger brother) carried a golden one, they divided 12 streams like the women. 4) The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{P}$ 'u (q.v.) directed the waters to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}^{1}{ }^{1}$ ghwua- ${ }^{2}$ wìa- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gka}-^{1}$ dü into paddy fields, whence white rice came forth to eat, from this rice he made the ${ }^{2}$ gko ${ }^{3}$ bpä ${ }^{33}$ 5) from the white rice the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}^{-3}{ }^{3} v^{34}$ are made, also rice wine; with all these food offerings the deceased is regaled till he is full, and with wine till he is drunk. 6) The ${ }^{2}$ Boa divided the water and directed it from ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü}-{ }^{1}$ shwua${ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{2} n g v-{ }^{1} m b u$ to ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{2}$ dze- ${ }^{1} h o ̈-{ }^{2} n d e ̆ r, ~ f r o m ~$ the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dze}^{-1} \mathrm{hö}$ ( $=$ red wheat) he made the ${ }^{2}$ ndshĕr ${ }^{35}$ liquor and wheat ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mid \mathrm{v}^{34}$, all these are given the deceased till he is full and he is drunk. 2) The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ directed the water between two villages, he used walnuts 3) and persimmons, these he gives to the deceased; he takes a fish pickled vegetable. 4) He takes the honey from a high cliff and makes black and white sugar, this is given the deceased till he is full and till he is drunk. 5) At dawn the dog is fed, 6) at sunrise the dog is led to the hunt on the mountain, after sumrise he has arrived on the alpine meadow. 7) The stag meat is roasted in the fire, the serow's meat is boiled, 8) from the deer meat soup is made, from the musk deer meat, a dish of meat mixed with vegetables, is prepared, the deceased shall be fed till he is full and till he is drunk.

Page 9

Kubric 1) Of the bear meat the ribs are cooked. 2) At ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{~s} s a w-{ }^{2}$ wùs- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gv} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ they kill a pig in the winter, ${ }^{1} b u \cdot{ }^{1}$ ch'ěr and lean meat $={ }^{3}{ }^{3} a^{30}$ are put before the deceased, let the deceased be full with food and drunk with wine ${ }^{40}$. 3) 3) Deceased! from the place of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mä}$ you are escorted on high; 4) we give you one year's food, grain enough for one thousand years, one month's food is enough for one thousand months, one nights food is enough for one thousand days. 5) Do not eat fine food, if you eat plenty of fine food, you will not have enough; 6) if you eat less, then you will have plenty to eat ${ }^{41}$. 7) If you do not advance courageously (vigorously), then you will not be tired, you will not be mountain sick ( $={ }^{1}$ gko- ${ }^{1}$ mun ${ }^{2} n n u{ }^{1} n d v$ ), i.e., the ${ }^{1}$ mun of the alpine region (will give you) their poison. 8) The ancient, narrow road is ahead of you as of old; 9) this road is a long one, sleep at night; if you eat early breakfast then the road will not be long.

Page 11

Rubric 1) Deceased! If you are unable to eat, put your food into the cup of the acorn, use it for a cup, eat what you are able. 2) If you cannot drink, use a cup of carnelian and drink what you are able. 3) In the winter the nights are long, talk as you go along about poverty and riches. In the summer the days are long, go and eat both good and bad food, thus go on your way. 4) On high, deceased be pleased, eat to your satisfaction. 5) Below let the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{8}$ ( $=$ Life god) have plenty of ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}^{42}$ (male semen and offspring down the vagina road), riches and abundance. 6) Let the father and mother have plenty of descendants, as numerous as the stars. 7) When a man dies it is the custom to give nine ounces of silver (to the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba), this is like the word of the chief who cuts with the sword, there is no mistake. 8) When a woman dies it is the custom to give seven ounces of silver; this is the voice of the ${ }^{2} d t o{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, and there is no mistake, it is like the splitting of the rocks by the chief.

NOTES

[^4]of the onen by which the women lead the animals while the man plows, and the boy aite on the shaft of the plow and spurns on the oxen:

From page 2, rubric 2.
${ }^{10}$ The ${ }^{1}$ Mun- ${ }^{2}$ ss $=$ Rhododendron decorum wood; ${ }^{2}$ dsho- ${ }^{1}$ bpa is the name of the utensil. It is actually called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\text {djo }}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{bpa}$, but as there is no symbol for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\mathbf{d} j o}{ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\mathbf{d}}$ sho which comes nearest to it is used. The hoe-like wooden utensil is of one piece and may not always be of the apecies of Rhododendron mentioned above, it is however the nearest to villages as it always grows with the pines and oaks; other large-trunked species occur at much higher elevation as Rhododendron adenogynum also called ${ }^{1}$ Mun or ${ }^{2}$ Mùau.
${ }^{11}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime} 0^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{u}$ in a species of Equisetum.
${ }^{12}$ The ${ }^{1}$ ndaw is the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ sickle, it is not round, but long, only the tip end is curved, and the blade is serrated. See NNCRC, p. 243, note 448.
${ }^{13}$ The ${ }^{\text {z }}$ Boa are the Hsi-fan or western barbarians of the Chinese, they live however to the north of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and not south, except the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}-{ }^{2} l a ̈$ people who live to the southwest of Li-chiang and who undoubtedly are a remnant of the ancient ${ }^{3} \mathrm{P}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}$ the aborigines who occupied Li-chiang before the appearance of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} k$ in and Mo-so. See $l$. $c$., p. 248, note 501. Their presence in Li-chiang dates back to the pre-Christian era.
${ }^{14}$ For pictures of the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{2} k h i$ grain racks see The $A N K S W C$, Vol. I, Plates 66 and 132.
 $=$ wood of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{K} \cdot \mathbf{0}$, it is one of the several species of Cotoneaster occurring on the Li-chiang Snow range.
${ }^{16}$ From Page 4, rubric 6. The first two symbols are ${ }^{2}$ ghügh = ox and skin, indicating that the rope with which the flail was fastened to the handle was made of cow hide.

${ }^{17}$ The ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ aw man was an artisan who was engaged in making the ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ aw or ${ }^{3}$ Mueu${ }^{1}$ hïr ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ aw $=$ or green bamboo ${ }^{2}$ gyi. ${ }^{1}$ aw, the later were coarsly braided equares used as walls in the sides of house, these were then covered with yellow clay. They also made the large ${ }^{1}$ mun or winnowing traye. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$ homes now-a-days are made mainly of mud bricks, sun-dried, with a wooden superstructure. The base is made of limestone rocks either squared or rough, depending on the wealth of the owner. I have never seen ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gyi} \mathbf{1}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{aw}$ walls except as partitions of small rooms in country temples.
${ }^{18}$ See NNCRC, p. 158, note 211 ; also p.361, note 744.
${ }^{10}$ See note 19 of ${ }^{2} 0{ }^{2}$ ndzi ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi},{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ chung.
${ }^{20}$ This is depicted thus: Abovo the mortar is the symbol ${ }^{2} 1 v$ $=$ rock and a black dot indicating ${ }^{1}$ na $=$ black. The last two symbols are ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr $=$ white and ${ }^{2}$ 'to $=$ pine.

${ }^{21}$ This is the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{1}{ }^{1}$ p'ĕr ${ }^{1}$ baw or the twice frost flower, it blooms twice, once before the first frost and then again after the first frost; the alpine meadows are blue with it in November, at 11,000 feet elevation. It is the Lomatogonium cuneifolium, a synonyme of which is Pleurogynt oreocharis; see MBC, p. 37, note 65; also p. 14, note 11 , where the ${ }^{2}$ ngyi or ferment is described used in making (wine) liquor. The ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{k}^{\mathrm{k}}$ hi have no grapes so it cannot be called wine which is unknown to them. The collecting or observing of the bitter ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}$ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ér ${ }^{1}$ 'baw by the shepherd is depicted thus: two flowers are seen growing on a ${ }^{\text {g gko }}=$ alpine meadow, above is the numeral 2 , below a mouth with a black dot ${ }^{1}$ na, this is considered bad, hence bitter tasting read $={ }^{\mathbf{z}}$ 'aw $=$ bitter, next is a sheep and then the herder, above the sheep is the symbol for to see $={ }^{1}$ ddo; the last is the symbel
 ${ }^{2} \mathbf{I V}^{2}=$ rocks here ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{1} \mathbf{v}=$ to herd, a shepherd.
${ }^{22}$ See $M B C, p .38$, note 66.
${ }^{23}$ Anything associated with heaven bears the number 9 , also the male, in ${ }^{2}$ dio ${ }^{1}$ mba females are associated with the number 7 considered terrestrial; heaven is the father and mother is the earth.
${ }^{24}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Hoa. ${ }^{1}$ p'èr is the Tibetan eared-pheasant Cronsoptilon Crossoptilon. See SNL, Plate XII; aloo BODMSL, Plate 13, p. 79. This large bird goes in flocka of ten or more on the high alpine meadows at $13,000-14,000$ feet.
${ }^{25}$ Nothing is known about this tree, and it has never been identified. I suecept that it does not occur on the Li-chiang Snow range, or the name is so ancient that it hat beon forgotten.

20 This is figured in this rubric: The curved line at the bottom denotes leaking; the many parallel lines on the top, right, wind $=$ thăr.

 the Sphenurus sphenurus yunnanenis. It is so named by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{-}^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ on account of ita call ${ }^{20}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot \mathbf{2 l}^{2}$ hi never made any pottery, all their earthen utenaile were obtained from oither the Chinese, Min-chia or ${ }^{2}$ Boa; a potter's wheel was and is atill unknown to them. Most of their utensils are of wood, iron or copper. Later they became expert copperamitho.

${ }^{20}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}$ or black liquor is the Chinese shui diul [63] it is brewed from barley and is very strong.
${ }^{30}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{1}$ shu is the name of the same liquor, but is the second brewing of the mash, hence it is said to be made of 100 piculs instead of 1000 ; in other words less strong.
${ }^{31}$ The ladle is called 'ta'an- ${ }^{2}$ ti'an, the last part hat reference to the long handle: ${ }^{2}$ man${ }^{2} \mathrm{dg}^{\prime}$ ' $=$ tail tip, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ white.
${ }^{32}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Y}_{\mathrm{i}}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~d} \mathrm{~d}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}{ }^{1}$ muèn in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ means south, it is also the name of the capital of Yün-nan province, K'un-ming. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{Y i}^{2} \cdot{ }^{\boldsymbol{}}$ ch'i refera to the Ya-d'i of the Mongole whid was the city of the Wu-man or black barbarians, near Shan-shan, the ancient name of K'ua-ming or Yün-nan Fu; ${ }^{1}$ muèd means below, that is south of (Li-chiang). See ANKSWC, Vol. I, p. 14, note 7.
${ }^{3 s}$ The ${ }^{\text {Egko-bbpä is actual rice grain roasted and eaten like melon seede. It is prepared }}$ as follows: Unripe rice is cut, threshed, and the grain rolled flat like oatmeal; it is roasted in a pan, and then pounded in the ${ }^{2}$ mùan- ${ }^{1}$ dsu $q$. v., note 19 of ${ }^{2} 0^{2} n d z i{ }^{2}{ }^{3} m i,{ }^{2}{ }^{2} k r r^{3}$ chung; it is then quite flat like oatmeal. It is eaten with moon cakes on the 15th of the 8th moon, but only by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, not Chinese; it is served with tea.
${ }^{34}$ The ${ }^{1}$ dtv- ${ }^{3} / \mathrm{v}$ is a rice loaf; also colled ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ddv}$ - ${ }^{-1 / v}$. See NNCRC, p. 225, note 394. It is figured on page 8, rubric 5: The two upper symbole are ${ }^{12}$ khi $=$ rice, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'êr $=$ white, the lower is read 'div.'Ilv and depicts the rice loaf. Inside the symbol is that for one thousand $={ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dtv}$, here employed phonetically in the name.

${ }^{35}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Ndahér is a cake made of wheat flour mixed with water and augar, and fried in fat; either made square, oblong, or two longer pieces twisted together like a braid.
${ }^{36}$ This is the same as the ${ }^{\text {zadsherr but is of a particular shape. }}$ culled ${ }^{1}$ bpar-lä; it is made of wheat flour, soda and water and baked in hot ashes on the hearth; the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} .{ }^{2}$ khi have no ovens.
${ }^{38}$ The ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{3}$ 'v is a fresh water algae or perhapa a submerged Alowering plant of which there are several species in ponda around Li -chiang.
${ }^{30}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Bu}^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'h'ĕr is a boneless, meatless pig. The pig when killed and cleaned is opened and all the bones and meat are removed, leaving only the fat attached to the akin, this is then salted, and sewn together, it makes a flat pig; these are called 'bu- ${ }^{1}$ d'èr and are atored for a long time, often they are used as mattressea before being cut up, dropped in hot or boiling water for a minute and then eaten. They are cut in circular-shaped pieces as one would cut a slice of bread. See ANKSWC, Vol. 2, p.413, Plate 241; also NNCRC, p.314, note 687. Strange to say these ${ }^{1}$ bu-1 ${ }^{1}$ d'ĕr can only be seen now-a-days by the Mo-so of Yung-ning, it was apparently an ancient Mo-so custom to prepare these ${ }^{\prime}$ bu- ${ }^{1}$ deèr which were adopted by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ hi in earlier days, now they are not to be seen in the Li-ctiang area. ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Na}$ is lenn pore meat without a veatige of fat.
${ }^{40}$ See ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{1}$ bpö ${ }^{2}$ haw ${ }^{1}$ shi in MBC, p. 90.
${ }^{41}$ The actual text reade: not enough food to eat not have.
${ }^{42}$ See NNCRC, p. 91, note 43.

(

$\Delta \Delta$

${ }^{2} \bar{A}{ }^{2}$ NDZI ${ }^{3}$ MI or GRAIN EATEN, FORGET

There are five mss., in the collection, nos. 8048, 8049, 8050, 8051 and 8052. The contents of these books are to be found in ${ }^{1} Y \ddot{u}{ }^{2} n d z i{ }^{9} m i, ~{ }^{2} h a w{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ shi, but are in an abbreviated form in ${ }^{2} \overline{\mathbf{A}}{ }^{2} n d z{ }^{5}{ }^{9} \mathrm{mi}$.

The symbols which compose the title are two, a mouth with the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dze $=$ wheat in it, or protruding from it, hence the act of eating is indicated, the ${ }^{2}$ dze $=$ wheat symbol is here read ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{a}$ and stands for grain in general. ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Mi}$ has already been explained.

This abridged version is chanted at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony.

${ }^{2} \mathrm{D}{ }^{2} \mathrm{NDZI}{ }^{3} \mathrm{MI},{ }^{2} \mathrm{GKV} .{ }^{3} \mathrm{CHUNG}$ or SLANDER EAT (AND) FORGET. FIRST PART

In this, and a second part or ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung, the story is told of a woman who was the wife of three different men and who, after her husbands had died lived with her brother. Her name was ${ }^{1} \mathbf{0}-{ }^{-3} y i-{ }^{-} \mathrm{dtv}^{1}{ }^{1}$ nun- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$, and her brother's name or also called ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ la. ${ }^{2}$ gkaw. ${ }^{3}$ ts'iu. These names which seem to be the correct ones, I have just lately found in one manuscript. She had nine sons collectively called ${ }^{1} \mathbf{0} \cdot{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{yi}^{-3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ngv}-{ }^{2}$ szĭ- ${ }^{-}$yi with her brother, they are named after him and her ${ }^{1} 0 \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{yi},{ }^{3} \mathrm{ngv} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{II}-{ }^{-}$yi means nine lives have got. The word ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$ has the meaning of slander, calumny, and this has reference to her apparently dissolute life, for she also lived with a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}$ demon. There was only one son left of the nine. the other eight were killed by ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Mun demons. There is also a ceremony called ${ }^{-} 0{ }^{1} \mathrm{bpö}$ during the performance of whidn the demons of quarrel and slander and ${ }^{2} \overline{0^{1}}{ }^{1} \mathbf{n d z}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} b p \ddot{\text { a }}, \boldsymbol{i}$. e., a white, a black and a varigated one; these adjectives denote the size of the ceremony, the black one being the largest one, and the varigated one the smallest.

The manuscript here translated is no 1881 and is in the Library of HarvardYenching Institute. It belonged to the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{d t o} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ Yang Fu-kuang, but was written by his father whose name was ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~A}-^{1} \mathrm{dzhi}$, he was also known as ${ }^{2}$ Dto${ }^{2} d z h i$. He lived in the village of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ghügh}-{ }^{1} k$ 'o at the foot of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~A}^{2} \cdot{ }^{2}$ na ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$, a mountain known in Chinese as Ma-an Shan or Horse saddle mountain on account of its shape; it is to the west of Li-chiang.

The book is only chanted at the funeral of a woman, after ${ }^{3}{ }^{M}{ }^{2} \underline{n}{ }^{2} n d z i{ }^{3} m i$ has been recited in the evening before the actual funeral takes place. Several ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas chant this book together. The symbols comprising the name of the book are four, of which the first is a compound one, it represents a mouth with a bone in it and can be read simply ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ $=$ to eat, here ${ }^{2} \bar{o}{ }^{2}$ ndzĭ but not "bone eat" but "slander eat", i.e. to have experienced slander. The second symbol is ${ }^{2} \mathbf{m i}=$ fire, its phonetic value is here used for ${ }^{\mathbf{3} m i}=$ forget. ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{G k v}$ ${ }^{3}$ chung simply mean $=$ head join, i. e. the first part (of a book). Other mss. belonging her are nos. 8024 , 8023 this contains also ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung q. v. 8018 , 8019 and 8020 can also be used here although they belong to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony.

Translation of text

Page 1
 pitiating of demons was unknown, 2) nor was the custom of entertaining guests known; 3) he had only one son. 4) In the generation of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dgyür}^{-2}$ zä- $^{2} \mathrm{dzi}^{2}$ the propitiating of demons was (also) unknown, 5) and so was the entertaining of guests; he had only one son. 6) In the generation of ${ }^{2} D z i-{ }^{-} \mathbf{z a}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ts' $0-\left({ }^{2} z a ̈\right)^{3}$ 7) the propitiation of demons was (still) unknown, 8) as well as the entertaining of guests, he had only one son. 9) In the generation of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{2} \mathbf{o}^{-}{ }^{-}{ }^{\mathbf{z}}{ }^{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Llü}-$ ${ }^{2}$ ghügh- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh it was known how to initiate the performing of funeral rites ${ }^{4}$.

Page 2

Rubric 1) It was also known how to entertain guests, 2) hence he had three sons ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1} k h u ̈-{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ zo- $^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{5}$. The first born was a Tibetan, he dwelt under a tree and his offspring was as numerous as the leaves of a tree. 3) The smallest offspring was as numerous as the blades of an armor ${ }^{8}$. The second born was a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ who dwelt in the centre (between the Tibetans and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b u ̆$ ) and his offepring was as numerous as the stars in heaven, the grass blades on the land, the hair in the mane of a horse, and as numerous as the seeds of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K} \cdot{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ ddv (Elsholtzia patrini). 4) In the generation of ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1}$ khü- 5) ${ }^{3}$ non ${ }^{8}$ he did not know how to perform funeral rites, 6) and how to entertain guests, hence he had only one son. 7) In the generation of ${ }^{3}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \underline{n}^{-1}{ }^{-}$ä- ${ }^{1}$ p' ${ }^{10}{ }^{10}$ he did neither have knowledge of funeral rites nor how to entertain guests, 8) hence he had only one son. (In the generation of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Bä}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ ' $\mathrm{o}^{2}{ }^{2} \overline{\mathrm{o}}^{11}$, he did not know how to perform funeral rites nor did he know how to entertain guests, and consequently he had only one son this is here omitted.) 9) In the generation of ${ }^{1}$ ס. ${ }^{2}$ gkaw-1lä 10) he did not know to propitiate demons, 11) nor did he know how to entertain guests, hence he had only one son (this is incorrect, see note ${ }^{12}$. 12) He did (not, this is incorrect) know how to perform ${ }^{2}$ Wùa ${ }^{1}$ bpän ${ }^{13}$ hence he had nine sons. 13) His nine sons ${ }^{10} \mathbf{O}^{3} \mathbf{y u}^{3}{ }^{3}$ ngv- ${ }^{-}$gzil ${ }^{2}$ yi went herding goats on an alpine meadow, Rubric 1) also sheep and black cows. 2) They lost a black cow, but where they did not know, because they did not search for it ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Non}^{14}$ was displeased. 3) If ${ }^{3}$ rigv- ${ }^{2}$ szĭ went in search of the black cow, one to each of the nine mountains, (one to one mountain) with his dog but could not find it; 5) the second went to the second mountain with his dog but could not find it. (Rubrics 6-9 inclusive contain repetitions of the above, until the sixth son going to the sixth mountain). 10) The seventh went to the seventh mountain and at the eight the ${ }^{2}$ Mun demon devoured them. 11) The eighth went to the eighth mountain with his dog Rubric 1) and the ${ }^{2}$ Mun devoured him ${ }^{16}$. 2) ${ }^{10} \mathbf{0}^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä went with his white dog searching for them, one on one mountain. 3) He met and talked with ${ }^{1} 0$. ${ }^{3}$ yi. ( ${ }^{3} \mathrm{yu}$-) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv} \cdot{ }^{1}$ nunn ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ wearing carnelian ornaments and a beautiful garment, bracelets and earrings and carried a mirror ${ }^{17}$, she went in search of the ${ }^{2}$ Mun demons to kill them; she arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~L}$ lï. ${ }^{1}$ shwua. ${ }^{2}$ 'to. ${ }^{1}$ ngaw- ${ }^{1}$ mbu and there she met ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{1}$ zä- ${ }^{2}$ munu- ${ }^{-}$gko ${ }^{1}$ shĕr a ${ }^{2}$ mun demon riding a serow. 4) She was dressed like a bride, 5) the ${ }^{2}$ mun demon asked her where she was going, she replied: "I cannot find a husband, of a thousand women each has a husband, but my father does not give me one and my mother does not give me a man." 6) The ${ }^{2}$ Mun demon then said let us become man and wife like the turf which is composed of grass and soil. 7) If we become man and wife there will then come ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}$ nü and ${ }^{1} \mathbf{D}^{18}$ (male semen emissions and offspring down the vaginal road). 8) He then put her on the back of the serow behind him and led her to his house; there she saw the eight heads (of the ${ }^{1} \delta \cdot{ }^{3}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \cdot{ }^{3}$ ngv. ${ }^{2}$ bzi), their blood in skin bags (the ${ }^{2}$ Mun are vampires), their black mantels, bows and arrows and the dog collars. 9) She wept by day and moaned at night. 10) She did not know where the ${ }^{2}$ Mun went in the day time nor where he went at night.

Page 3

Page 5

Rubric 1) The ${ }^{2}$ Mun asked her why she wept in the day time and moaned at night. 2) She replied: because I do not know where you go by day and by night. 3) He said you must not weep and moan because $I$ am not at home, my good sons are on nine mountains as are my dogs and my horses in seven valleys. 4) He asked her what was in her heart, "you must tell me". 5) She told him I have a white felt cloak, bracelet, earrings and mirror (i.e., she was fully dressed as a bride to be given in marriage); she asked him what was in his heart. 6) He replied: "One must not put a pot on the fire if one has no grain to roast therein, nor must one use the grain pounder ${ }^{18}$ when there is no grain in it, neither must one use a chopping knife and chop on a board, if one has nothing to chop. If one does not plant grain one does not irrigate the land; one does not break a fine needle nor a fine thread. 7) In the day time and at night (she did not know) where the ${ }^{2}$ Mun had gone and she did everything the ${ }^{2}$ Mun said one must not do. 8) She then took the eight heads of her sons, their blood, nantles, bows and arrows also the dog collars and brought them with her. 9) The ${ }^{\circ} \mathrm{Mun}$ chased her and arrived at a spur

Page 6

Rubric 1) where there were neither people nor birds. 2) He nearly caught her on the first spur, but he did not catch her. She threw back one head and one of each of their belongings. 3) This is again repeated for every spur till she arrived at the fifth spur in rubric seven, at each spur she dropped a head and some of their belongings. 8) Arrived at the eight spur she had thrown away in all eight heads and escaped from the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}$. She arrived at ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Lo}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ndo- ${ }^{2}$ mbbure-
${ }^{1}$ shi ${ }^{1}$ ngyu ( $=$ on ${ }^{2}$ Lo. ${ }^{2}$ ndo mountain with the golden yellow oaks = Quercus semicarpifolia) 9) and grunted like a pig; ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llui} \cdot{ }^{2}$ mun- $\cdot{ }^{2} s s u-{ }^{1}$ ssü- ${ }^{2} s z \mathrm{i}^{20}$ saw her and said: "my pigs are very much afraid." 10) She replied: "your pigs with the long fangs could kill thousand hundred ${ }^{2}$ Mun (demons)."

Page 7

Rubric 1) She then cut off the ears of the pigs 2) whereupon they squealed and killed the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun} .4$ ) She killed the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ghüg}^{21}$ with a sharp knife, like a butterfly dies on the spine of a tree. 5) ${ }^{1} \mathbf{0} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{yu}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}-{ }^{1}$ nun- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ 6) arrived at the hundred crossroads where the dogs of the people barked and chicken crowed. 7) The $99{ }^{2}$ Mun ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh demons conferred if they should go and steal the flesh and the ribs of the dogs of the people; 8) but they were afraid of the neighing of the horses which had not been given water and were tied up in peoples' houses, 9) and were afraid of the lowing of the cattle which had not been given hay. 10) They were also afraid of the noise people made eating their porridge.

The remainder up to rubric 6 of Page 9 is the same as in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mun}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ghügh}{ }^{3}$ ssü of the ${ }^{2} S s u{ }^{1} g v$ ceremony ${ }^{22}$.

Page 9

 ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{1}{ }^{6}$ sir ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O} \cdot{ }^{2}$ gkaw $-{ }^{1}$ lä, where the pine and oak adjoined. 7) To use a man's clothe for a woman, and a woman's clothe for a man, and to use a riding horse to carry a heavy load 8) there is no such custom; for a man to wear woman's clothing and for a woman to wear man's clothing, is not the custom 9) neither is it for a breeding mare to carry heavy loads. 10) ${ }^{10} \mathbf{O}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{yu}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{drv}-{ }^{1}$ nun $\cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ said: "There are three kinds of heartache and three kinds of liver ache." 11) First the heavens appeared and then the stars.

Page 10

Rubric 1) The flowers of the stars had not yet opened (the affairs of the son have not yet been arranged as his marriage for example, as his parents had died). The ewe has been separated from its father and that is one heartache. 2) The first to come forth was the land, after that the grass; the grass' flowers had not yet opened, the ewe had lost its mother and that is one liver ache. 3) In the village the first to come forth was a woman, her flower had not yet been opened (she had not yet found a man) 4) and that is one heartache. 5) A pen full of sheep was born... [the meaning has been lost] and that is one liver ache. 6) ${ }^{1} \mathbf{O}-{ }^{-2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä and ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}} \cdot \cdot^{3} \mathrm{yu}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}^{1}{ }^{1}$ nun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ conferred: There are three things the father has not yet divided, he had not divided his heaven (i.e. the sky above his land), his land, house and belongings, the cultivated and waste lands; 7) these three things can only be divided with the son, girls can never obtain them. 8) There are three things the mother has not yet divided, she had not yet divided her silver and gold ornaments, her turquoise and carnelian, and her clothing, these three things can only be divided with the daughter, sons can never obtain them.

Page 11

Rubric 1) Where the son's bride is, 2) and where the bride's groom is they do [not all is here understood]. 5) For us to live together as a family till the hair is white and the teeth are long is not the custom. To tie up a cow and the horse to the same peg in one stable is not the custom. 6) These two of one generation ${ }^{23}$ now separated. 7) The cow and the horse eat their grass separately; 8) the
 ${ }^{2} z_{0-}{ }^{5} b p a ̈-{ }^{2} d s \ddot{a}^{24}$ to be his wife, her beautiful flower opened, she gave birth to ${ }^{1}$ ghügh ${ }^{20}$ to

Page 12
Rubric 1) ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{2} \mathbf{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{0}-{ }^{1}$ ssǐ (because her former husband died before his head became white) ${ }^{27}$, she had another son and another daughter. The Näga died
 ${ }^{2} 10 \cdot{ }^{8}$ shou, after which there were born to her a son and a daughter. 3) She said
 ${ }^{9}$ mi died ${ }^{29} 5$ ) she told ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ gkaw- ${ }^{1}$ lä: "I tell you three sentences from my inmost." 6) ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{2} z_{0}-^{8} b p a ̈-{ }^{2}$ dsä is dead, 7) do not escort me after him. 8) The at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mi}-{ }^{2} \mid \mathrm{v}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ng}$ aw $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ (the place of the dead) her three former husbands wrangled about her ${ }^{30}$.

Page 13

Rubric 1) She said give me a ram for a companion, like the pine tree is the companion of the mountain and the water that of the valley. 2) When she went in search of fire wood and water she took a rope to tie wood, and a wooden dipper and a bucket to fetch water, the ram went with her as ber companion. When she ate, the ram was her partner, 3) and where she dwelt the ram was her sleeping mate ${ }^{31}$.
 $q . v .$, of the ${ }^{2} S_{s u}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{~g} v$ ceremony in $N N C R C$, pp. 581-586.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ See MBC, p. 113; NNCRC, p. 121, note 85.
${ }^{2}$ See $M B C$, p. 113, the last syllable ${ }^{2}$ zä is here omitted; $l$. $c .$, p. 121, note 86.
${ }^{3}$ See l.c., p. 113; l. c., p. 121, note 87; also ANKSWC, Vol. 1, p. 82.
 first one who became a sedentary ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{kh}$, the previous generations seem to have been nomads of the northern grasslands. It was with him that ceremonies were beginning to be introduced.

The phrase "the propitiating of demons" as far as it refers to funeral rites is somewhat incorrect, although a person immediately after death is considered a domon, and in the power of demons out of whose clutches he is released by propitiation, etc., althongh this seems to be a later innovation, as is the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{p}{ }^{\prime}, \underline{q}, \mathrm{v}$.
© The words ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh and ${ }^{1} k h u ̈$ refer to the second syllables of the names of the father and the mother respectively, ${ }^{2}$ ssu. ${ }^{2} z_{0}=$ three sons, ${ }^{2} y i=$ have. See $M B C$, p.116; NNCRC, p. 129, note 104.
 seem to have been the main inhabitants of the Nan-chao kingdom of which Ta-li was the capital. See NNCRC, p. 200, note 306; also p. 206, note 363. Also ANKSWC, Vol. 1, pp.41-43, Plates 7, 8.

 a mountain pass called in Chinese Hsi-kuan or Western pass. A wall was built across the spur here in the time of Mu Sheng-pai with a soldier guard to watch the southern approach from ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bbǔ}$ land. It was the border between Tung-yüan hsiang and Ch'i-ho hsiang and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ und the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{2} b b u ̆$. See $l$. $c .$, p. 157, note 198 ; also p. 247, note 493 . See MBC, p. 118, also p. 64, note 157.
${ }^{8}$ From this statement it could be inferred that blade armor was also worn by the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{b} b \mathrm{y}$ or Min-chia. However both ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and $\mathrm{Mo}-80$ wore the armor which may have been introduced here for lack of other objects suitable for comparison. See NNCRC, p. 306, note 680.
${ }^{2} \mathrm{He}$ is also known as ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh $\mathbf{}^{1}$ hö- ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ nod.
${ }^{10}$ See $A N K S W C, V_{01} 1$, p. 84.

 does however occur in a ms., of the same name, no 1848, also in the Library of Harvard-

12 Owing to the omission of one generation confusion has crept in. It should read: ${ }^{10}$. ${ }^{\text {g gkaw- }}$ lä did know how to propitiate demons and entertain guesta, and knew how to perform ${ }^{2}$ Wùa ${ }^{1}$ bpö and thereupon had nine sons. In ms. no 1848 he occurs correctly, it only statea however that he was acquainted with the propitiation of demons (perform funeral ceremonies), his father (she had become a widow) and to his sister ${ }^{10} \mathrm{O}^{-3} \mathrm{yi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{n} u n-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$, and it was with the latter that he had nine sons. In ancient days there seem to have been promiscous marriages such as still occur in Yung-ning among the Mo-so. Among certain tribes of the Himàlayas, fathers and sons share a common wife but the latter is then not the mother of the son. It is for this reason that the $\mathrm{ms} .^{2} \boldsymbol{\delta}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzi}^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ is introduced into the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ma}$ ceremony. It may have been chanted at the funeral of a woman who had been the wife of more than one man at the same time.

${ }^{14}$ There are $18{ }^{3}$ Non spirite who protect domestic animals; see $N N C R C$, p. 158, note 210.
${ }^{15}{ }^{1} 0 .{ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}-\mathrm{h}$ ä is the god of wealth; see $l$. c., p. 148 , note 154.
${ }^{16}$ In another ms. no 8018 of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony, of the same title, the text reads arrive at the fifth. This same text occurs also in ms. 8019 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{Nv}$.
${ }^{17}$ This would indicate that she was fully dressed as a hride who is about to be taken to her husband. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ girls always carry mirrors in their garments when they go out to parties, they wear all their jewelry on festive days.

 indicate that she committed suicide. She is actually depicted as having hanged herself. Her body was then disposed of by her sons as shown in the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ mä Ceremony.
${ }^{18}$ For an exhaustive explanation of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}$ nü and ${ }^{10} \mathrm{O}$ see $N N C R C$, p. 91 , note 43.
 It is depicted thus: the action of pounding is called ${ }^{1} d s u \check{ }{ }^{2}$ dtü or ${ }^{2}$ mùad ${ }^{1}$ dsŭ${ }^{2} d t u ̈=$ to pound. The main shaft of the pounder is called ${ }^{1} d s u^{-2} m a ̈$ and is made of the red, hard wood of the holly-oak Quercus semicarnifolia. The pestle is made of the wood of the white pine Pinus armandi $=$ the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{s}} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$

 A small stone mortar in which salt, pepper, etc., is pounded is called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Lv}$. ${ }^{3}$ chung. ${ }^{2}$ mun.
${ }^{20}$ See ${ }^{2} S_{s u}{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddui}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony in $N N C R C$, pp. 296-299.

${ }^{23}$ See note 21.
${ }^{23}$ The atatement that they were of one generation indicates that they were brother and incest according to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ khi legend which ceused the flood. See NNCRC, pp. 675-687.

${ }^{25}$ It has been the custom for a widow to lie sold either by her brother as in this case, or by her mother-in-law, to any man they may melect for her, provided she had no male off. spring. She could never inherit the property of her husband, only her son could. Should she survive her husband without having had a son by him, the brother of the husband would take over the property. She could be evicted from the home of her doceased huaband if his male relatives so desired or, as stated above, she could be sold by his brother.

 where the cold mist or fog settles, that is high on the mountaing where the atage dwell. See also NNCRC, p. 121, note 92.

 ${ }^{2} \mathrm{miu}^{-1} \mathrm{gg} \mathrm{u}$. He dwelt on the highest mountain ranges where the mist and fog settled, see note $\mathbf{2 6}$.
${ }^{28}$ The word "pleased" is here written with the compound cymbol showing a crow scratching $={ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime}$ a in the grasf; ite phonotic has been borrowed for ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime} \mathbf{a}=$ pleased, happy, delighted.
${ }^{20}$ Here is introduced a phrase which allegorically expreses dying; also the idea of living on forever without growing old, viz., on the day the crow's bead was white and the deer's tail black, one day $={ }^{1}$ ddii ${ }^{2}$ nyi or on the day. As such a day can never arrive, it was the day she ceased to live.

30 This is figured or written in our manuscript as follows: three men are seen fighting, here read indahwua to wrangle, contest; the last two symbols spell the name of the place in part, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{lv}$, or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{l}_{0}=$ mirror, the Tibetan me-long showing a disk with figure reflected therein actually a womb. ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mi}-\boldsymbol{1}^{1} \mathrm{v}$ also meana a deceased husband and wife. The syllablot ${ }^{3}{ }^{2}$ ngaw are not written, only the symbol ${ }^{1}$ mbu $=a$ mountain spur.
${ }^{31}$ This is written in two rubrics as follows: In the first rubricare the symbol for iron, an axe $=\mathbf{1}_{\mathbf{s h}}$, used for ${ }^{1}$ shu $=$ to search, ${ }^{2}$ ss $=$ wood is not written only ${ }^{1}$ bbër $=$ rope with which she tied the wood; below is the symbol for water
 $={ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}$, with that for trough $={ }^{1} \mathrm{t}$ 'u and ${ }^{\text {s }}$ 'wua $=$ cup which she used to dip out the water. This is followed by a sheep's head, her companion eating out of a ${ }^{2} l o=$ a large wooden bowl-like. flat tray, on whid a piece of meat reposes. She is only indicated by the symbol for $1000={ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$, which is the third ayllable in her name, it is the asteriak-like symbol above the tray. The next rubric shows an anceator ${ }^{1} Y \mathrm{i}$ ${ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l l u{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }_{6 B i}$, indicating that she had arrived in the realm of her anceators and there with the ram with which she was buried and thus escorted with, she has sezual intercourse. The ram is here somewhat anthropomorphic. In other mss., she is escorted with a rooster, the latter having intercourse with her instead of the ram. See mss. no 8020, page 13, rubric 1, and no 1848, page 13 , rubric 3 , respectively. Ms. no 8020 is more fully written ont and therefore more easily readable than the othera.

${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}{ }^{2} \mathrm{NDZI}{ }^{3} \mathrm{MI},{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MAN} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{CHUNG}$

This is the second (tail end) volume of Slander experience forget. The companion volume to $m s$. , no 1881 , of ${ }^{2}{ }^{\mathrm{gkv}} \mathrm{J}^{3}$ chung or the first part, which also came from the home of the same ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba, is ms., no 1076. Another very old ms., secured during 1940 is no 8021 ; it varies somewhat from no 1881 and is more coarsely written. The story is a continuation of that found in the first volume. On the verso of the title page is a drawing of a tiger jumping over a spur. Ms. no 8021 originated from the Li-chiang district, as did another very old manuscript of the same title and bearing the number 8022. This latter ms., is very well written in bold drawn symbols on smooth strong paper. It contains more than the actual ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung of ${ }^{2} \tilde{0}^{2}$ ndzí ${ }^{3}$ mi. The actual text commences on page 6 , rubric 8 , not with the death of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}^{2}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} o \cdot{ }^{3}$ bpä- ${ }^{2}$ dsä but with ${ }^{2}$ Llü. $\cdot{ }^{2}$ mun which is quite complete and contains both ${ }^{2}$ gkv. ${ }^{3}$ chung and ${ }^{3}$ man. ${ }^{-8}$ chung, it originated from the village of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mun}^{\cdot} \cdot{ }^{8}$ ghwua. ${ }^{2}$ wùa.

Translation of text

Page 26

Rubric 5) In the beginning of time: When ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{2} \mathbf{z o}^{3}{ }^{3} b p a{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ dsä died, ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw${ }^{1} 1{ }^{2}{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ ts'ü went to see what type of funeral ceremony was to be performed. Before the funeral he dreamed 6) that the horse is suppressed by the saddle, the oxen by the yoke, that his father ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}-{ }^{2}$ gkaw- lä was not at ease, that he breathed heavely. 7) He dreamed that the sun rose on the left of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gkii}-{ }^{1}$ ndsa. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{a} a-{ }^{1} \mathrm{sh}$ hwua. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o and that the moon rose on the right of ${ }^{1} A \cdot \cdot{ }^{3} n a \cdot{ }^{1} n g y u \cdot{ }^{1}$ ndsu- ${ }^{2} k$ 'ö: 8) After the funeral he dreamed Rubric 1) that the saddle of the horse had been remowed, also the yoke from the oxen'; 2) that his father's breath came easily and that he was at peace. He consulted the mutton shoulder blade ${ }^{2}$, there are three kinds, (to be consulted) at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä ceremony; he used the shoulder blade of a ${ }^{1}$ lo = muntjak, and there came forth one revelation. 3) He used the shoulder blade of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'wua- ${ }^{1} d t v-{ }^{1} \mathrm{la}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbu} e^{3}, 4$ ) and the black bones of a chicken ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}-{ }^{11} \mathrm{a}-\cdot^{2} \mathrm{mb}$ err${ }^{3} t^{\prime} \mathbf{u}=$ chicken black-bone stripes appear ${ }^{0}$ ), whether ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$, ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}_{5 u}{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}$ o ${ }^{3} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}^{4}$, or ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{9}$ mä should be performed. 5) It is like a cliff falling down, and trees brocken by the wind on a cliff, like a cliff split by a chisel and like lighting a fire on the water, it is like an enemy coming into our presence (all is unreal) ${ }^{5}$.

Page 27

 there was nothing revealed that the thousand headmen of ${ }^{3} P^{\prime} u{ }^{2}{ }^{2} b a ̈-{ }^{1} d t v-{ }^{2} n g g u i-$

There is besides ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ a manuscript which also deals with ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}$ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dtv}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ nun ${ }^{3}$ mi. This latter text belongs however to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~N}^{2}$ funerary ceremony performed within three years after the death of a person. It is entitled: ${ }^{1} \mathbf{0} \cdot{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{yi} \cdot{ }^{8} \mathrm{ngv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{sziLI}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}, \quad{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3}$ chung, ${ }^{3}$ man${ }^{s}$ chung.
 ${ }^{1}$ nun- ${ }^{-}$mi's body is to be disposed of. There were four methods or rather five in vogue among the four tribes with which they were acquainted. It is interesting to observe that the ${ }^{2} L a ̈-{ }^{2} b b u ̆$ or Min-chia are absent and so are the Tibetans, their method of the disposal of the dead is not figured.

The first to be depicted on page 1 are the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{B o a}$, the present main inhabitants of Mu-li in Hsi-k'ang, who disposed of the corpses of women by exposing them on trees. The ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$, a tribe which the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas believe to be the settlers at ${ }^{1} 0-{ }^{3} y u ̈$ on the ${ }^{1}$ Shu ${ }^{1}$ gyi (river) between Shen-dzong and where it debouches into the Yangtze at the apex of the loop, north of Li-chiang (see ANKSWC, Vol. 2, p.403) buried their dead which the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2} k h i}$ in ancient times never did, and this would prove that they are neither ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} k$ ni nor Mo-so. The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{P}$ ' $u$, who were the aborigines of the Li-chiang district long before the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and Mo-so arrived in their land, and who are mentioned in Chinese records of the Contending States, as being widespread and extending into Yün-nan (see l.c., Vol. l, p. 87, note 2) because she was not a virtuous woman, did not cremate her, but threw her into a stream to be carried off. Their regular method of disposal of the dead was by cremation. This is figured in our manuscripts nos. 8024 and 8025 thus:

The first is the ${ }^{2}$ Boa, here written with the sole of the foot $={ }^{2}$ boa, she is seen lying on a spruce tree. The second is ${ }^{1} \bar{O}$, here represented by ${ }^{1} \bar{O}=$ grain box, she is under the symbol ${ }^{2}$ dshi $=$ earth, ground, with clots of soil on top of her. Third the ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathbf{P}$ ' $\mathbf{u}$, also indicated by the symbol ${ }^{2} p$ ' $u=$ bublele, he ie eating a piece of meat. Then comes the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot \cdot^{2}$ khi recognizable by the black $={ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}$ head, he has her by the waist, she is lying over the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire symbol, hence is about to be cremated. There are however the symbols ${ }^{2}$ muàn $=$ not, and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}=\mathrm{able}$, unable, this is followed by a skin $={ }^{2} \mathrm{gh} \ddot{\mathrm{g}} \mathrm{gh}$, and the negation ${ }^{2}$ muàn, ${ }^{2}$ ghügh is phonetically used for ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ virtuous, hence not virtuous. Another ms. has instead the symbols ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ĕr $=$ not of rank, hence she could not be cremated, so was thrown into the water, which is depicted in the last rubric where she floats on the water symbol.

On page 6 of ms . no 8024 it specifies who is to be cremated and how. A mature man is to be cremated with $9-10$ logs in a valley, a woman with $7-8$ logs on flat land, suicides, those who go up the mountain to die with their lovers, the ${ }^{2}$ lv are to be cremated with 5-6 logs on rocky tree covered ground, a boy with 3-4 loge on a spur from which the demons have been chased, and a child with 2-3 logs among trees. Another less well written ms. no 8027 belongs here aleo.

On page seven of the same manuscript ${ }^{1} \bar{\delta} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{yu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{ngv} \cdot{ }^{2}$ szir ${ }^{2}$ yi is seen cremating his mother at ${ }^{1}$ Zhi. ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $\cdot{ }^{2}$ mùen ${ }^{1}$ dsu- $1 / v$ the cremation ground, till her bones were burned to black coal and white ashes, after which she was escorted to her of her horse beautiful.

Ms. no 8026 contains ${ }^{3}$ man. ${ }^{3}$.hung or the second last part; it is the companion of $m s$. no 8025. It contains mainly allegory and where certain animals died as the tiger on the high mountain, the stag on the highest spure where the mist and fog settles, the boar in the dense forest, the deer on the pine-covered spurs, the crane in the clouds, the chicken on the grain rack, the red cow among the poplars on rocky ground, the serow among the crags, the pheasants in the valleys, the wild cat and fox with the ants in the waste lands, the otter and fish in the lake. The Tibetan in the highlands where lamas burn butter lamps; the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lä}$ - ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ or Min-chia in the south-lands where relatives burn incense sticks. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ in the highlands on the spurs where the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto} \cdot{ }^{1}$ mbas perform ${ }^{\mathbf{s}} \mathrm{Gko}^{\mathrm{s}}{ }^{\mathbf{o}}$ (see NNCRC, pp. 124-129), and where the dead are given a cow as offering and a horse as riding animal.
${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo died on Mount Kailas and his disciples burned butterlamps, the Nāga in the forests with the tigers, stags, serow and muntjak, etc.

NOTES

[^5]outward but inward. See l.c., p. 651, note 9.19. In another me. the horns are turned oalward.

- This passage is written thus: The first cliff can be seen toppling over, the eccond with a broken tree and the aymbol 'här $=$ wind indicated by three parallel lines; a cliff with a chisel and an ax above it; then the symbol for water $={ }^{1}$ gyi with that for fre $={ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}$ on top of it. The last symbol is that of a man with a big foot $={ }^{2} k$ 'ö; the threc leaves on top of his head represent willow leaves $={ }^{2}$ azū, they act here phonetically for ${ }^{1}$ saŭ $=$ enemy. An onemy to come into one's posaibily legendary ancestors. See ${ }^{2} \mathbf{M u n g}^{1}$ gku this ceremony.

${ }^{6}$ See l. c., p. 200, note 305; also p. 189, note 294.
$7{ }^{1} \mathbf{O}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}$ is the casting of horoscopes without using other objects except books of ${ }^{1}$ dxi, ${ }^{1}$ zaw ${ }^{1}$ dxi $=$ reckon the years, planets, etc. See l.c., pp. 655-665.

${ }^{3}$ MUN ${ }^{2}$ NDZİ ${ }^{3} \mathrm{MI}$, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{GKV} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{CHUNG}$, and ${ }^{3}$ MAN- ${ }^{-}$CHUNG

TO HAVE EXPERIENCED DEATH, FORGET;

 FIRST PART, AND SECOND PARTIn these two books there is much repetition, and most of the contents can be found in other mss., already translated, as who died in the celestial sphere, and who died on earth, the first three beings of each realm. ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo died on Mount Kailas, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndu}$ in the north, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S} s a ̈$ in the south, the Nāga died on the high spurs where the mist settles. The Tibetan died in the north, the ${ }^{1}$ ssü's ${ }^{1}$ realm; ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw- $^{1}{ }^{1}$ ä- ${ }^{3}$ ts'ii died on a high spur, his four sons died leading dogs to the hunt. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ěr and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}$ died at the foot of the wooded spurs, the ${ }^{2}$ Boa and ${ }^{1} 0$ died near the bridge ${ }^{3}$; the guest at the 99 cross roads; the crane and the eagle among the white clouds, the leopard and the tiger on the high mountain; the stag and the serow on the cloud and mist-covered high ridges; the bear and the boar in the dense forest; the deer and the musk deer on the pine-covered spurs, the pheasants in the valley, and the fox and wild cat in the brush-covered waste lands. And lastly the fish and the otter in the streams. The horse died on the plains, the ox in the stable, the sheep on the alpine meadow, and the goat where the ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzerr grows4. The dog died on the mountain where blood is offered to the ${ }^{3} l l \ddot{u}^{5}$, the pig in its pen and the chicken in its nest. Those with cloven hoofs died on the alpine meadows and those born with claws on the high mountains. Those born with soles like ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ died in the house.
 with him the elixir of immortality, hence he and his descendants died. This is followed by the objects given to the dead and how they are taken to the cremation ground, how their soul is given a horse to ride, and also offerings like pigs, and cows, and that the descendants have performed ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ haw. ${ }^{1}$ shi when wine, food, etc. is presented to the deceased ${ }^{8}$.

At ${ }^{1}$ Zhi- ${ }^{2} g h u ̈ g h-{ }^{2}$ mùen- ${ }^{1}$ dsu- ${ }^{1} l v$ the cremation ground, white wind caused the flames to flare up while from the demons' mouth gust of air fanned the flames, and with torches in their hands they saw to it that they did not fag. They cremate the dead till the bones have again turned white and the body turned to embers and soot?

For the cremation of a man nine to ten loge are to be used in a valley, for a woman seven to eight on the plain, for lovers who committed suicide five to six on rocks, for a boy three to four on a spur, and for a child two to three logs
 p. 84-85, where exactly the same text is to be found, in paragraphs 24 und 25.

Of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}^{3}$ chung there are two original mss., in the collection they are nos 8041 and 8042 , they actually belong to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony but can also be used at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{\mathbf{y}} \mathrm{mä}$ rite.

Of ${ }^{3}$ man- ${ }^{3}$ chung are four mss., in the collection, nos. 8043. 8044, 8045. 8046. These belong however to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ funerary rite only, and are not used at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä ceremony.

The title symbols represent ${ }^{3}$ mun a horsefly, here phonetically used for "mun = death, also old age; then the symbol for headman of a county or a group of villages called ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ, its phonetic has been borrowed for ${ }^{2}$ ndzì $=\mathbf{t o}$ eat. The last symbol is ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mi}=$ fire, here it stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{mi}=$ forget.

NOTES

 p. 176, note 255.
${ }^{2}$ See l. c., p. 253, note 539.
: The ${ }^{2}$ Boa and ${ }^{10}$ live in the lama kingdom of Mu-li in Hsi-k'ang on the banks of a branch of the Wu-liang Ho, where a cantilever bridge spans it; formerly an iron chain bridge connected the two banks. The place is known as Shen-dzong in ${ }^{2}$ Boa or Hai-fan, meaning iron bridge. In ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ the place is called ${ }^{1}$ Shu. ${ }^{1}$ ndso whidh is synonymous. See ANKSWC. Vol. 1, p. 110, note 60; p. 134, note 120; Vol.II, p.404; also NNCRC, p. 253, note 539.

4 The ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr, also called ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} a^{1}{ }^{1}$ ndzĕr is an evergreen oak of the leaves of which goats are very fond. It is Quercus cleistocarpa.
${ }^{s}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Llii}$ is the spirit of the hunt who accompanies the hunter and his dog and causes game to be brought their way. See l.c.. p. 147, note 152; p. 245, notea 460 and 461, also p. 204. note 326.

- See ${ }^{1} Y$ ü ${ }^{2}$ ndeì ${ }^{2}$ mi, ${ }^{2}$ haw ${ }^{1}$ shi.
${ }^{7}$ See RKMGMG, p. 95.

${ }^{2} \mathrm{TS}$ 'U ${ }^{1} \mathrm{YI}{ }^{\mathbf{}}{ }^{\mathbf{M}}{ }^{\mathbf{M}}{ }^{\mathbf{c}} \mathrm{A} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MI}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{DSHI}$ (RELATE ABOUT THE DECEASED), LIGHT THE LAMPS

The type of butter or oil lamps used has been described in the introduction.
The book of which a translation follows is ms. no 1721 , and is no more in my possession, a photographic copy, the negative of which is in the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., is in my private library. It originated from the village of ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}$ or $\mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ang-shui, to the west of Li -chiang, and was purchased from the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{1}$ mba Yang Fu-kuang who had inherited all his (books) manuscripts from his father. He himself followed no more the profession of ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba, hence had no more use for them.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba says: In ${ }^{2} S s u-{ }^{2} b b u ̆{ }^{3}$ wu ${ }^{2} k$ 'u ${ }^{3}$ p'u ( $=$ the house of my ancestors) a good man with a white head has died, one man has died, one ${ }^{3}$ Ssu (= Life god) has passed away, he has changed into a snake; 2-3) You originated from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan, you are about to go to ${ }^{2} S s u-{ }^{2} b b u{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} l o-{ }^{3} k h y u{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ and to you are being escorted to where your ancestors dwell ${ }^{3}$. 5-6) You are escorted on high to your father and mother, and to your grandparents. 8) The crane intends to fly to the horizon of the white clouds, 9) and the tiger intends to romp to the high mountain of yellow (earth).

Page 2

Rubric 1) The symbols in this rubric belong to the sentence of rubric 9 of page 1. 2) The stag intends to romp on the horizon of the black spur. 3) The duck intends to fly to the black waters. 4-5) You deceased you intend to lead your dog to the hunt on the top of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}^{3}{ }^{3}$ na- ${ }^{3}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ng} \mathrm{gyu}{ }^{4}$ ( $=\mathrm{Mt}$. Kailas) 6) to where the pine trees grow, there you will liberate your hawk. 7) At ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$ -"yi--gyu- ${ }^{1}$ k'wuo- ${ }^{1}$ mbu there you will go horseback riding. 8-9) You will go, or intend to go to the 33 realms of the good gods. 10) You deceased in your presence, your sons and daughter-in-law are about to light a golden brilliant lamp. 11) Your wife will light a golden brilliant lamp in your presence.

Page 3

Rubric 1) Your paternal and maternal relatives will light a golden brilliant lamp before you. 2) The good sons and daughters will do likewise, 3) and so will your grandsons and granddaughters. 4) Your nephews and nieces are about to light golden brilliant lamps before you. 5) Your own village and the neighboring village will light the golden radiant lamps in your presence. (The next 4 rubrics have already been translated.) 10) The golden (butter) lamp, Kubric 1) if its origin is not related, one must not speak about it. 2) In the came forth three medicinal streams. 4) The white medicine was drunk by the white yak and white half-breed yak. 5) From their butter they made a butter lamp and lighted it. 6) The goat and the sheep drank from one of the medicinal waters and from their butter they made a butter lamp and lighted it. 7) The ${ }^{1}$ yu with horns sweeping (the ground), drank from the medicinal waters, and from their butter they made butter lamps and lighted them. 8) The muntjak ( $={ }^{1} \mathrm{l} \mathrm{o}$ ) and the stag drank from the medicinal waters and from their butter they made butter lamps and lighted them. 9) The deer with the white tail and the serow ( $={ }^{2}$ yi) drank from the medicinal waters and from their butter they made butter lamps. 10) A white cow drank the medicinal watera whereupon it could be milked and from the butter they made a butter lamp and lighted it. 11) They made a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{\mathbf{5}} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{m}^{1}{ }^{1}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{0}$ full of lamps which they lighted; they lighted lamps covering a mountain, when lighted on the land, they lit up the heavens to the 18th storey ${ }^{10}$.

Page 4

Page 5

Rubric 1) From the seeds of the ${ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{0}}-{ }^{1}$ mba ( $=$ sesame seeds) ${ }^{11}$ they made oil and from the latter oil lamps which they lit. 2) From the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ ma seed ${ }^{18}$ they made an oil and from the latter they made lamps and lighted them. 3) From the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ma}^{-1} \mathrm{~d}_{\mathrm{dz}}{ }^{18}$ they made an oil and from the latter they made lamps and lighted them. 4-5) From the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}{ }^{0}{ }^{1}$ - ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dv}^{14}$ they made an oil and from the latter oil lamps and lighted them. 6) From the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ho}^{-2}$ 'k'aw ${ }^{15}$ seeds they made an oil and from the latter oil lamps and lighted them. 7) From the ${ }^{3} S^{5}$ saw- ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{18}$ seeds they made an oil and from the latter oil lamps and lighted them. 8) From the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gv}$ ${ }^{1} d d v$ ( = walnuts) they expressed an oil ${ }^{17}$ and used the latter for oil lamps and lighted them. 9-10) From the seeds of various trees they expressed an oil and with the oil they made lamps and lighted them. 11) Five kinds of flowers they used and 12) nine kinds of grain and arranged them around the lamps; 13) five precious objects are also placed around the lighted golden lamps, as the conch, silver, gold, turquoise and carnelian. The lamp is equal 14) to Mount Sumeru.

Page 6

Kubric 2) The lamp is comparable to lake Manasarowar 3) and ${ }^{3} \mathrm{D}_{\text {sü }}{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ dsä- ${ }^{1}$ ha${ }^{2} I v-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}{ }^{18}, 4$ ) it is like ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ daw- ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr ${ }^{19}$ when lighted. 5) The mourning sons and 6) the mourning daughters light this lamp. 7) The good sons and daughters light the lamp. 8) The grandsons and granddaughters light the lamp; 9) the nephews and nieces 10) paternal and maternal relatives, 11) the wife or husband (depending who survives) all light the lamp. 12) The villages and neighbors light the lamp. 13) a ceremonial gift (the lamp) we put into the hand of the deceased, Rubric 1) we put ${ }^{9}$ nä-1 ${ }^{1}$ ä ( $=$ sweetmeats) into your mouth, 2) we give you ${ }^{1} d d v-{ }^{3} v^{20}, 3$ ) we give you 13 branches of green junipers 4) also 13 open lotus; 5) 13 brilliant lamps, 6) 13 incense sticks; 7) silver, gold, turquoise, carnelian, pearls, conch and coral, all these we give you, go and light your lamp. 8) In a silver, golden, turquoise and carnelian lamp you light the wick. 9) Light the golden lamp and the lamp-tree full of lamps, 10) lamps the size of a mountain Rubric 1) of page 8, light.

Page 7

Page 8

Rubric 2) Light a lamp by the head of the deceased, 3) heat the tail (end of the body) $=$ the feet of the deceased. 4-5) When you arrive on the left bank of ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} l \mathrm{lu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ssu}^{1}{ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{21}$ 6) there is a land where the heavens, sun, and moon, are not bright, there light your lamp. 7) There is a land where the heavens, stars and planets are not brilliant there light your lamp. 8) Light your golden lamp 9) on the vast land and it will illumine the heavens to the 18th storey. 10) Go and keep your lamp bright when you are on your way to the 33 realms of the excellent gods. 11) Go to the realm of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ clan and light the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ heaven and land with your lamp.

Page 9

Rubric 1) Go and illumine the house of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$ also their cultivated land and their waste land. 2) Go and brighten your house and ground. 3) Go and light your lamp the presence of all the deceased; 7) go and light the presence of your father and mother with your lamp, 8) also that of your grandparents, 9) and illumine with your lamp the presence of three generations of grandfathers and four generations of grandmothers. 10) Go and brighten with your lamp the lands (and space) from this place whence you ascend on high 11) to the realms of the gods, and also brighten theirs with your lamp. 12) Go and illumine the 33 realms of the gods with your golden lamp. 13) Brighten the presence

 ${ }^{2}$ ugyi- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} k o \cdot{ }^{2}$ bbǔ ${ }^{28}$ and before the mother ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Gkyi}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{ma} \cdot{ }^{2}$ wu${ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{I}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{\text {e9. }}$. Go and brighten the 33 realms of the gods,

10) light your golden lamp and prostrate yourself. 11) You are pleased on high, below let the ${ }^{\text {S }}$ Ssu or life god give ${ }^{1} n n i ̈$ and ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ ( $=$ male semen and offspring), that which decends from the vagina.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ See note 9 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{shu}{ }^{2} \mathrm{I}_{\mathrm{I}}$.

See SNL, Pt. II, p. 50.

- See NNCRC, p. 423, note 770.
${ }^{8}$ This is the Amnye Machhen or rMa-chhen spom-ra within the knee of the Yellow River in Ch'ing-hai Province. See l.c., p. 132, note 116, Plate 39.
- In some books it speaks of 18 spurs in others of $118{ }^{2}$ Dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas write the numeral for 100 and for 10 very incorrectly. It appears thet the number should be 18 and not 118. See l.c., p. 282.
${ }^{7}$ See l. c., p. 183, note 273.
See l. c., p. 244, note 452.
- The ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{2}{ }^{2}$ mi ${ }^{1}$ ndzerr is the lamp tree made either of iron or copper. There are several tiers or branches, and when the lamps are lighted is quite effective. As previously remarked the lamas use a similar lamp tree at the feast of lights when they celebrate the death of Tsong. kha-pa the founder of the reformed or Yellow Sect

10 In our ms., rubric 11 it is written thus: The second compound symbol is read: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mb}^{2}{ }^{2} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{1}$ ngyu ${ }^{3}$ shĕr, lamp mountain full.

${ }^{11}$ The ${ }^{3} \mathbf{O}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ is the Sesame (Sesamum indicum). Its seeds are introduced from India. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ like Chinese use the seeds on cakes; the former also express an oil from the seeds, but as the seeds are rather expensive owing to the long overland route from India to ${ }^{1} \mathbf{N a} \cdot \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{kbi}$ land, they are rarely used for the latter purpose.
${ }^{12}$ Nothing is known of the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{Y} \ddot{i}-{ }^{2}$ ma plant and ita seeds are now unknown to the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{N a}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}$.
${ }^{13}$ The ${ }^{3}$ ma. ${ }^{1}$ dzí is not the regular mustard seed grown by the Chinese, bat the ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ma}-1 \mathrm{dzi}$ of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is a kind of turnip which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}_{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ call ${ }^{2}$ ngyü and the Chinese Man-ching, whence also the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ma}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \mathrm{il}$. It is the Brassica rapa depressa, extensively cultivated by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. They are eaten raw, or cut apirally, bung up and dried, and given to cattle and horses when grass and other fodder is scarce, especially in the winter. The tuber is grown above ground, is white with a greenish tinge, and is called ${ }^{2}-{ }^{-} \cdot{ }^{1} k$ 'o by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$, only the young green leaves which are eaten as a vegetable are called ${ }^{2}$ ngyü. There is a legend connected from heaven (see ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ mbĕr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'u) they were given all kinds of seeds of plants, except the seeds of this turnip and that of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{K}^{\prime} \mathbf{0} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{ddv}$ ( $=$ Elsholtzia patrini). But surreptitiously they the celestial father-in-law, saw them he said as punishment for taking down these seede, the former shall produce a tuber of excessive weight, and when boiled shall turn to water, both of which is true. The latter shall become a troublesome weed. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime} \mathrm{C}^{-1} \mathrm{ddv}^{2}$ is an obnoxious weed and even grows on the rooff of houses. See NNCRC, p. 586, note 864.
${ }^{14}$ The ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{K}^{\prime}{ }^{\mathbf{0}}{ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{d} d d v}$ is a labiate and belongs to the mint family, it is Elsholtzia patrini, and not Elscholtzia patrini as given by me in the $N N C R C$, and the ${ }^{2}$ Mùan ${ }^{1} b p o ̈$ ceremony.

The seeds of this weed, most prolific seeder, are pounded and steamed and the oil
 See note 13.
${ }^{15}$ Nothing is known of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{H o}-{ }^{\mathbf{2} k}$ 'aw.
${ }^{16}$ The ${ }^{3} S_{s a w-}{ }^{2} m a ̈$ is Cannabis sativa planted by every ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ household. The male plant is practically useless; of the female plant the fibre is used for making the hemp cloth, and from the seeds an oil is expressed.
${ }^{17}$ The walnut is cultivated by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k} h \mathrm{~h}$ and sedentary Tibetans. Every homestead will have at least one tree. It also growa wild between Ta-li and Yung-ch'ang, the present day Pao-shan, also in the southern province of Tibet, Tsha-rong, meaning hot valley, but the nuts of the wild trees are very hard-shelled.
 ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{dsä̈}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{daa}$ is the name; they are always mentioned after the Lake Manasarowar and the wish-females who spread out the Earth, that after they had spread out the earth there was a huge hole left and this they plugged up or filled with the ${ }^{3} d s a ̈-{ }^{2} d s a ̈-{ }^{1} h a-{ }^{2} / v-{ }^{2} m a ̈$. It is possible that they are equivalent to the golden foundation on which the Tibetans believe the earth rests.
${ }^{19}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} y \mathrm{y} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ daw ${ }^{1}$ ndzerr is the wish-granting tree. It is always represented by a branch of Magnolia delavayi which grows in western Yün-nan, and is also cultivated in temple grounds on account of its beautiful flowers. As regards the origin and mythological aspect of the tree see the $N N C R C$, Pt. II, p. 437, note 772; also $S N L$, Pt. II, pp. 99-100, 101-102, Plate 34, fig. 1 .
${ }^{20}$ See NNCRC, p. 225, note 394.
 whose evil counterpart is ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{9} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzí they are often referred to as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddu}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~S}_{\mathrm{s}}$ u ${ }^{3}$ Khü = Manasarowar, while the latter's lake or waters are considered the Rakeasa Lake called NNCRC, Pt. II, p. 424, note 771.
${ }^{22}$ Where the ancestors $={ }^{1} y \ddot{u}$, dwell $={ }^{1} n d s u,{ }^{2} b p o ̈-1 \mathbf{l} \ddot{i}=$ to babble, pray, ${ }^{2} k$ 'o $=$ voice.
 first two syllables are not the same.
${ }^{23}{ }^{1}$ Yü- ${ }^{1}$ ndsu- ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr ${ }^{2}$ mä- ${ }^{1}$ gko $=$ ancestors dwell yak graze alpine meadow. This would indicate their original home was in the grasslands of the north, for they also apeak of the region where the cranes lay their eggs. The cranes breed in the north only, and come south for the winter. When the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ invite their ancestors they are told to watch the young cranes when they are about to come south, it was for them to come with them at that time.

24 These three form a trimurti of great gods; a celestial, a great god who dwells between heaven and earth, and terrestrial deity. See $N N C R C$, p. 142, note 136, Plate 54.
${ }^{25}$ Nothing is known about this great god or ${ }^{2} h \ddot{a}-{ }^{1}$ ddü and this is the only place where I have found him mentioned.
${ }^{26}$ See l. c., p. 82, note 11.
${ }^{27}$ He is the father of all the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and Bön gods; see l. c., p. 169, note 242.
${ }^{29}$ See SNL, Pt. II, p. 106, Plate 38.
${ }^{29}$ See l. c., p. 106, Plate 38.

${ }^{2} \mathbf{0}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MUN}{ }^{4} \mathrm{DDAW}{ }^{1} \mathrm{GGU},{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MB} \cdot \mathrm{A} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{MI}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{DSHI}$

The title is not translatable, the four first symbols are used phonetically only. The last two indicate lamp light; the last represents the claws of a bird of prey read ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ dshi, its phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{d s h i}=\mathbf{t o}$ light. As already remarked the entire contents are composed of Dhāranī or magic formulae the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{2} l \mathrm{ia}$ of the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$. If texts occur in India or Tibet with which they are identical or can be identified with, only Indian or Tibetan experts familiar with tantrik literature will be able to solve. Our text is written in simple pictographs, while most ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{I}$ ï or Dhāraṇì are written in ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ggŏ}$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{baw}$ or syllabic characters like ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime} \mathbf{o}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{}^{\mathbf{s} h i} \cdot{ }^{1}$ gyu- ${ }^{\mathbf{3} k h y u q . v . ~}$

Page 1

Rubric 1) ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}^{2}{ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{4}$ ddaw ${ }^{1}$ ggü, 2) ${ }^{2}$ dtü $\left.{ }^{2} n d z i{ }^{2} n g g u ̈, ~{ }^{2} n y i, 3\right){ }^{2} d t u ̈{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ hi, 4) ${ }^{2}$ yi

Page 2

 ${ }^{2}$ mun, 12) ${ }^{2}$ yi $^{2}$ nggü,

Page 3

Rubric 1) ${ }^{1}$ yü ${ }^{2}$ dto, 2) yi ${ }^{3}$ shi ${ }^{4}$ haw $^{2}$ yi, 3) ${ }^{2}$ ss ${ }^{2}$ gkyi ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{3}$ shi ${ }^{2} l o{ }^{1} b p a ̈, ~$

 ${ }^{1}$ dzhi, 11) ${ }^{\mathbf{8}}$ bpŭ ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}{ }^{\text {bpa }}{ }^{2}$ dto, 12) ${ }^{1}$ yü ${ }^{1}$ wu

Page 4

Rubric 1) ${ }^{1}$ zaw ${ }^{8} k h y u ̈{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ dsu ${ }^{1}$ ddaw $^{2}$ shi ${ }^{2}$ dto, 2) ${ }^{1}$ ddaw ${ }^{2}$ shi ${ }^{2} n g g i u{ }^{2}$ bä ${ }^{1}$ gyu ${ }^{2}$ gkv

Page 5

 ${ }^{\text {²mbö; }}$

Page 6

 ${ }^{1}$ nddü ${ }^{2}$ mbö $\left.{ }^{2} \overline{n g} o{ }^{1} d d a w, 4\right){ }^{2} h a w{ }^{2}$ shi ${ }^{2}$ gkaw ${ }^{1}$ la ${ }^{3}$ ch'ung ${ }^{2}$ bpa ${ }^{2}$ mbö, 5) ${ }^{1}$ nddü

 ²-̄gaw

Page 7

 ${ }^{1}$ lěr ${ }^{2} p$ 'ue ${ }^{2} \overline{n g} a w{ }^{2} d t a$.

Page 8

Kubric 1) ${ }^{2}$ Shi ${ }^{1} k$ 'o ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{1}$ lo ${ }^{2}$ ss $\left.{ }^{3} s s, 2\right)^{1}$ ndshěr ${ }^{1}$ mung ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{2}$ ngaw ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{2}$ gkyi, $\left.{ }^{2} d s h i, ~ 7\right) ~{ }^{1}$ yi ${ }^{3}$ shi ${ }^{4} h a w{ }^{2} y$ r $^{2}$ t'ä ${ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{1}$ dgyü, 8) ${ }^{2}$ lä ${ }^{1}$ la ${ }^{1}$ ddu ${ }^{2}$ wùa, 9) ${ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{3}$ dsho ${ }^{2}$ bbŭe, 10) ${ }^{2}$ gkyi ${ }^{2}$ dtü ${ }^{1}$ nun ${ }^{2}$ ss ${ }^{3}$ ts'ĕr ${ }^{1} k$ 'o ${ }^{2}$ sso, 1l) ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ä ${ }^{2}$ gkyi ${ }^{1} k$ 'o ${ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{3}$ dsho ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ non.

Page 9

Page 10
 3) ${ }^{3}$ 'tu ${ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{2}$ bpa ${ }^{2}$ munn ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ ndshi ${ }^{2}$ dto, 4) ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{3}$ na ${ }^{2}$ bä ${ }^{2}$ ssu ${ }^{4}$ yu ${ }^{2}$ ndshi ${ }^{2}$ dto, 5) ${ }^{2}$ sso ${ }^{3} d s u{ }^{2} b a ̈ ~{ }^{2}$ sso, 6) ${ }^{4}$ haw ${ }^{2}$ yi ${ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ ndshi ${ }^{2}$ dto, 7) ${ }^{1}$ ddaw ${ }^{2}$ tsan

Page 11

Page 12

 ${ }^{1} z^{2}{ }^{2}$ bsan ${ }^{2} d t u i, 11$ ) ${ }^{3} b p u{ }^{2}$ dto

Page 13

 ${ }^{2}{ }_{\text {BS }}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mhi ${ }^{1}$ dtv,

Page 14

Page 15
Rubric 1) ${ }^{1} k h y u{ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{4}$ yu ${ }^{1}{ }^{1 d t v}{ }^{1}$ lä, 2) ${ }^{3}$ treěr ${ }^{1}$ ngu ${ }^{2}$ dzhu ${ }^{1}$ yu (haw ${ }^{2}$ yi, 3) 'haw

Page 16

Page 17

Page 18
 ${ }^{1}$ ler ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ shu;
 pleased, below ${ }^{2}{ }^{\text {S }}$ su $=$ the life god let him have ${ }^{1} n n u ̈$ and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}=$ seminal ejaculation and (womb) posterity.

みど守穴がか

${ }^{3}$ SHI－${ }^{2}$ LO ${ }^{3} \mathrm{NV}$ ，${ }^{1} \mathrm{~K}$＇AW．${ }^{2} \mathrm{CH}$＇I ${ }^{1} \mathrm{GYU}{ }^{3} \mathrm{KHYU}$
ALSO CALLED ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~K}$＇O ${ }^{2}$ SHI ${ }^{1} \mathrm{GYU}{ }^{3} \mathrm{KHYU}$

弗

The title of this manuscript as well as the text is written in ${ }^{2}$ ggo－${ }^{1}$ baw characters．Tradition relates that they were invented by the disciples of ${ }^{2}$ Dto－ ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi}{ }^{-}$Io（gShen－rab（s）－mi－bo）；this is I presume a legend．${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gg}{ }^{2}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ baw cha－ racters are only used in transcribing ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{l} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ ，the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$－${ }^{2}$ khi term for Dhāran̄ī， though simple pictographs are also employed in transcribing them as for the third page of which is here reproduced and transcribed is no 2820 ，and is used at the ${ }^{3}$ Shi－${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony as well as at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä．It consists of 28 pages of text．The first page has below each character a decorative symbol or letter which comes close to the Tibetan vowel mark for＂$u$＂．It cannot be and is not read，but serves as an adornment only．Some，but not in this ms．，have such decorative vowel marks，similar to the Tibetan vowel＂ 0 ＂superimposed on the ${ }^{2}$ ggo ${ }^{-1}$ baw character which is of a later date．

That the ${ }^{2}$ ggor－＇baw script is old can be ascertained from dated ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ ki manuscripts，of which we know the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba＇s name who wrote them，and whose descendants are still alive．I refer to the famous ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dto} \cdot{ }^{9}$ la mss．，all of which are beautifully illuminated on the first page．The ${ }^{2}$ Dto．${ }^{3}$ la brothers，（there were three）all of whom were ${ }^{2}$ dto－${ }^{1}$ mbas，lived during the Ming dynasty．See MBC，p．72，note 182.

Our ms．，originated from the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mid v-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$＇$\overline{0}$ the last village on the Li－chiang plain，at the foot of the Snow range（ $\mathbf{Y u}$－lung Shan or Jade dragon mountain）．A photographic copy is in my possession，the negative（microfilm） is in the Library of Congress，Washington D．C．

The third page of ms. no 2820 is here reproduced and transcribed:

Transcription

 ${ }^{2}$ gu ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ ch'wua ${ }^{1}$ ggü ${ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ ḳhü ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ shia . . .

The words ${ }^{2}$ p'u- la mean god, gods, (personal god, the Tibetan pho-la) the ending ${ }^{3} k h y{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ts'ä ${ }^{1} l o$ is equivalent to the Tibetan phyags-htshal-lo pronounced chha-tshe-lo $=$ I salute. See $N N C R C$, Vol. 2, p. 713.

3大甲文．${ }^{15 S A}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~K} \cdot \mathrm{O}{ }^{3} \mathrm{DTO}{ }^{2} \mathrm{TS}$＇AN

Like the foregoing books，this also contains Dhārañi and is chanted after ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{\mathbf{r}} \mathbf{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{dshi}$ ．It is $m s$ ．，no 1230 ．Neither the title nor the text is translatable． A photographic copy is in my possession while the negative（microfilm）is in the Library of Congress，Washington D．C．While ms．，no 1230 is written in ${ }^{2}$ ggob．${ }^{1}$ baw characters，another in my possession no 4214，acquired in 1942，is written in simple pictographs interspersed here and there with a ${ }^{2}$ ggŏ－${ }^{1}$ baw letter．In the division of Far Eastern Manuscripts of the John Rylands Library of Manchester，England，there is a collection of some $150{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ mss．，as reported by the Librarian Prof．E．Robertson．He kindly sent me at my request photostats of title pages of such as were complete，and of others the first pages．I have been able to identify a number of them，but of the majority the titles were illegible．So far I have not been able to examine their collection．

Photostat no 12 of their collection is identical with this $m s$ ．，only the ${ }^{2} g g o{ }^{\text {g }}$－ ${ }^{1}$ baw letters are superimposed by the Tibetan vowel mark o which has no bearing whatever on the reading of the title，and they are merely there for ornament．While the last symbol of the title of our ms．no 1230 ，is a picto－ graphic one，that of the John Ryland Library is a ${ }^{2}$ ggoo－${ }^{-}$baw character．

The text of this book enables us to learn that the Dhāraṇis are pronounced by ${ }^{3}$ Shi ${ }^{2}$ lo（gShen－rab（s））and other deities，they are in all probability the mystic formulae of these deities，like Om maṇi padme hum is of Chenrezig． The deities mentioned in this book are however all Bön gods．

On the first page，in the first rubric we have the often used formula ${ }^{2} Y i$－

Page 2

Page 3

Page 4

Page 5

On page 6 in rubric two follow ${ }^{1} N \mathrm{Naü}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{ou}^{4}$ and in rubric five ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-\mathbf{}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ddo}^{6}$ with the often repeated formula ${ }^{2} k h i{ }^{1} b p a ̈{ }^{4} t^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{2}{ }^{2} / \mathrm{v}{ }^{1}$ ssan.

On page 12, rubric three occurs again ${ }^{1}{ }^{N} d \ddot{u}^{3}{ }^{3}$ ch'ou, and in rubric six ${ }^{2}$ Shi${ }^{1}$ ddo. The last rubric of page 12 , and the first on page 13 contain the name of the names ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dtü}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mun},{ }^{3} \mathrm{P} \cdot \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddo}$, and ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{Ng} o-}{ }^{2}$ gyu.
 followed by the formula ${ }^{4} t{ }^{\prime} u{ }^{-}{ }^{2} l v-{ }^{1}$ ssan.

On page 16, rubric seven is the mystic formula 0 -ma-ho followed by the (Page 17) ${ }^{1}$ dtv ${ }^{1}$ dtěr ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} y{ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{1}$ ngyü ${ }^{1}$ shi ${ }^{2}$ shi ${ }^{3}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ mä ${ }^{2}$ sso- ${ }^{1}$ wuà ${ }^{2}$ haw ${ }^{0}$. The remainder is composed of Dhäraṇí ending in ${ }^{2} 880-{ }^{1}$ wuà ${ }^{-2}$ haw.

NOTES

${ }^{1}{ }^{2}$ Dtii ${ }^{3}$ mun or ${ }^{2}$ Dti- ${ }^{3}$ mud is the realm of the brute world, where man can be rehorn as an animal. It is the Tibetan Dud-hgro, pronounced dü-dro, and the Sanekrit Tiryak. Ser NNCRC, p. 84, note18.
${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Shi- ${ }^{3}$ ddo is the realm of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}$ - ${ }^{2}$ wùs or hell, where man can be reborn as a hell-being. See l. c., p. 86, note 23.
${ }^{3}{ }^{1} \bar{N}_{g o-}{ }^{2} g y u$ written but actually pronounced ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngar}^{2} \mathrm{gya}$, is the realm of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Haw}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}-{ }^{4} y \mathrm{y}$ or the Asura world or the realm of the titans continuously engaged in warring against the gods. See l. c., p. 86, note 26.
${ }^{4}{ }^{1}$ Ndü- ${ }^{2}$ ch'on or ${ }^{2} Y$ Yi- ${ }^{3}$ daw is the realm of the Preta or ghosts, the Tibetan Yi-dwags. Sep l. c., p. 86, note 29.
 reborn. See l.c., p. 86, note 31 .

 See NNCRC, pp. 127, 151, note 167.
a The ${ }^{1}$ Lä- ${ }^{\circ}$ ch'ou are demons, actually the personifications of evil acts committed by the hook, and SNL, Pt. II, pp. 45-55; also NNCRC. pp. 747-754.

${ }^{3}$ SHE ${ }^{2}$ LO ${ }^{3}$ TS'A ${ }^{2} \mathrm{DZU}$

Neither the words ${ }^{9}$ ts'a ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dzu}$ nor the text is intelligible. The ms., is written with all the other mss., containing magic formulae. This particular one is presfixed by the name of ${ }^{3}$ She- ${ }^{2}$ lo or gShen-rab(s), which would indicate that the magic formulae were once pronounced by ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi}^{2}$ ?lo or are his own mantra. The $m s$., is no 1451 and is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Another ms., no 4215 is written in white ink on black paper, it has been impregnated with charcoal dust, and has a most unpleasant appearance; it is chanted at night. The text is written in ${ }^{2}$ geo ${ }^{-1}$ paw or syllabic characters. On the first page on the left, a space has been ruled off, usually reserved for a miniature, this is occupied in our manuscript by a mystic diagram, similar to Taoist Chinese charms from which it has been introduced. There are no special standard types of these charms, but they are invented for the occasion by the Taoist priest. In the John Rylands Library of Manchester, England is a ms.; which belongs here, a photostated title page of which bears the no 10.

The ${ }^{2}$ do ${ }^{1}$ mbas can give no explanation whence they derived these mantras, nor what their meaning is, only that these sentences are able to banish demons or bring them under the spell of the ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} t^{1}{ }^{1} m b a$. This much is understood that by chanting them the road which lies ahead of the deceased and which he must travel to finally reach the 33 realms of the gods, is cleared for him of obstacles in the shape of demons, etc.

In the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute of Cambridge, Massachusetts is a ms. of the same title, it is no 1732, and is written in simple pictographs. All the formulae endings are again ${ }^{3} k h y u-{ }_{-}{ }^{2}$ s' ${ }^{\prime}$ - 1 lo $=I$ salute. ${ }^{3}$ Chi- ${ }^{2}$ lo appears as do the names of the various realms in which man may be reborn as (on controls ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dtü} \cdot{ }^{3}$ mun. He is followed by ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{1}$ ssä- ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung- ${ }^{-1 /}$ lu who controls with of the same page occurs the name ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Sa}_{3} \cdot \cdot^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{-{ }^{2} \mathrm{dzi}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{gy}}$ also with the formula 'GA'wua ${ }^{1}$ nä ' $t$ 'u ${ }^{2} l v{ }^{1}$ ssan, but not the name of a realm. ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{1} \operatorname{la}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gko} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \mathrm{u}$ occurs in rubric seven of page 26 with the formula ${ }^{3} g k{ }^{1}{ }^{1} l a{ }^{4} t$ 'u ${ }^{2} I v{ }^{1}$ ssag. The name ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}{ }^{1}-{ }^{1}$ yi- ${ }^{2}$ gko- ${ }^{2} b b$ ü $^{1}$ appears on page 28 , rubric seven. The remainder is written in ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ ggŏ-1baw letters.
 ${ }^{2}$ dido, followed by the formula ${ }^{2} k h i{ }^{1}$ bpä ${ }^{4} \mathrm{t}$ 'u ${ }^{2}$ Iv ${ }^{1}$ ssang.

NOTES
${ }^{1}$ Nothing is known of this deity. For explanation of other names occurriag in this text

${ }^{3}$ MUEN- ${ }^{1}$ T'U ${ }^{20}{ }^{2}$ SZUU, GKV-CHUNG, MAN-CHUNG orTO SEIZE (GRASP) THE ${ }^{3}$ MOEN- ${ }^{1}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$ (STAFF)

The ${ }^{3}$ Mùn. ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ 'u or funeral wand (fig. 1 ) is the symbol of authority of the ${ }^{2}$ Lo. ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung. ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1}$ khü as the chief officiating ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba at the ${ }^{2}$ Zhi ${ }^{3}$ mä funeral ceremony is called. He is usually an older man and wears at the chanting of this book a large black felt cloak which comes to his knees, and on his head a large black hat of the same material. The brim of the hat is very large and gives the wearer an extraordinary appearance.

When he chants this and the second part called ${ }^{3}$ man. ${ }^{3}$ chung ( $=$ tail adjoin) he stands as described above before the coffin holding in his right the funeral wand. The book does not relate of the origin, etc., of the staff but contains a sermon which is preached as one might say to the deceased. He recounts the experiences which a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$ may have on his way to the great beyond, and admonishes him, and instructs him, where to go, what to do, and how to behave.

Fig. 1: ${ }^{3}$ Mùen- ${ }^{1}$ 'tu the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Funeral Wand ( $1 / 4$ natural size)

Explanation of Figure 1

The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ Funeral Wand called ${ }^{3}$ Mùen ${ }^{-1} \mathrm{t}^{\prime}$ 'u is carved out of pear wood, the upper fifth section is triangular, the front side shows the ${ }^{2}$ Ddv- ${ }^{1}$ peèr ${ }^{1}$ Khyu- ${ }^{4}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$ khyu or Garuda, the Tibetan and on the right the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{\delta}^{-1}$ hăr $^{2}{ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{1}$ ndshĕr $=$ the blue power of the oky or the Dragon, col-

On the second section from top are three ayllables, the front face shows the syllable 0 m , on the left is the syllable $A$, and on the right Hüm, a myatic formula used also by the unorthodox Lama eects.
The last section is quadrangular and has the Swastika on three sides, on the fourth is a lion's head with a small bell and to this is attached the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gkv} \boldsymbol{}^{\mathbf{8}}$ shu, i . e. Give strands of five different colored silks, red, white, blue, black and yellow, representing the five elements of which man is composed.
After the funeral the ${ }^{\text {D }}$ Dto ${ }^{1}$ mba breaks off the top and throwe away the bamboo cane to which the carved part is attachod, the letter is preserved.

The title of the book is written variably but usually we see a hand grasping for ${ }^{2} \overline{0}=$ staff. ${ }^{3}$ Mùen means bamboo, and as the lower part which is later brocken off is of bamboo, ${ }^{2} \bar{o}$ apparently has reference to the jointed nature of the staff. Below the ${ }^{2} \bar{\sigma}$ symbol we have the claws of a bird of prey with an object in its talons, this is called ${ }^{\text {s }}$ szŭ $=$ to grasp, to seize.

The manuscript here translated is no 1050 and is in the Library of HarvardYenching Institute of Cambridge, Massachussetts, as is the second volume or ${ }^{8}$ man. ${ }^{3}$ chung, no 2076. During the second world war yeara I acquired three other mss., bearing this title as nos 8013, 8014 and 8015 ; these are in my private library.
 origin of the $33{ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ mùen ${ }^{-1}$ ' $\mathbf{\prime}$, but these belong to the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{N} v}$ funerary ceremony performed within three years of the death of a person.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) When the deceased dwelled in the land like the poplar and the pine of his generation, 2) the white crane was his brother, and the black duck $={ }^{2}$ mba ${ }^{1}$ na was his sister, the Stone pheasant and Amherst pheasant and the deceased were of one nest (they were contemporaries) 3) and so were the boar and the bear in the deep shade of the forest. 4) Those born in the house of stones are his brothers and those dwelling in stone courts below, his sisters. 5) You deceased are unable to hear, use your finger and remove the wax from your ears, use the palm of your hand against your ears moving it to remove obstructions, then you will hear well. 6) You have eyes but are unable to see, brush your hair back from your eyes after which you will be able to see. Rubrics 7-9 are no more understood. 10) When the sun rises the crow will come and give you three welcome messages; 11) in the evening the cuckoo will give

Page 2

Rubric 1) you three welcome messages. 2) You are to go to your grandparents, 3) you have been given everything to take with you, wine, food, bacon, and lean meat, white and black sugar, 4) a fast horse to ride, a pack animal, also a sheep and a cow to drive, 5) also a bow and arrow, go slowly (step by step) where the black rocks are; 6) your body and heart are of the same size (i.e. he is courageous), do not be afraid if you meet enemies; go as fast or as far as your feet can carry you; 7) put eagle's feathers on your hat, then you will not be afraid of the thunder; dress in a tiger's skin, and when you meet a tiger on your way do not be afraid; when the tiger sweeps the ground with his tail and stirs up the wind do not be afraid; 8) when you arrive between two (where the pines grow on the spurs) and you are displeased go along without pouting, do not thrust out your lips in sullenness or displeasure, and letting your saliva drip. 10) When you arrive at ${ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{1} h o-{ }^{2}$ dzhu be not displeased (pout your lips) and do not weep nor sleep there; 11) this spur is not the only one, there are still three high others unknown to you, before you; as ${ }^{\text {s }} \mathrm{La}$ - (where the cranes rise) (the others are spurs on which the tigers and bears scratch $={ }^{3}$ dsaw).

Page 3

Rubric 1) Over these three unknown high spurs, cross as fast as a tiger; 2) there wool with ones feet over a mat (when making a felt) and a plow plows three furrows on the land. 3) There are before you three unknown great waters to cross, 4) as ${ }^{2}$ Wuàn ( $=$ left side) ${ }^{2} \mathbf{g g o ̆}{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{1} g y i-{ }^{1}$ ddü, ${ }^{1} \mathbf{Y i}$ (= right side) ${ }^{2}$ ggǒ${ }^{2}$ ngu- ${ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ ddü, and ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ ddü crose as fast as the otter. 5) When a man is born he will change on death into a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}-{ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{-}{ }^{1} l u ̈{ }^{-}{ }^{2}$ ssir ( $=$ snake dead nothing wrong about this; like the bird ${ }^{2}$ Lo ${ }^{1}$ na ( $=$ black throat) you deceased become like it (black) there is no wrong, (the bird cannot change its black color, you are dead (black) and that you are unable to change, that is just and there is no mistake about it. 6) For three good deeds performed while alive, 7) when dead you are repaid for the same, you have been rewarded for the same. 8) When we perform ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ we use a juniper with white roots to repay the deceased; 9) when we perform ${ }^{2} Z \mathrm{Zhi}{ }^{3}$ mä we use a white-rooted ${ }^{2}$ bbŭe (Artemisia, a purifier) to repay the deceased (this must refer to a custom of the custom; 10) the custom of the Tibetans the latter taught to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{kh}$, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ taught the custom to the ${ }^{2}$ Boa and the ${ }^{2}$ Boa to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{O}, 11$ ) they follow in each others footsteps.

Page 4

Rubric 1) The ${ }^{2}$ Lo ${ }^{1}$ ch'ung. ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1} k h u ̈$ says to the deceased, heaven gave you your head, your eyes you received from the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ĕr, your teeth you received from the ${ }^{1}$ Ssan, your lung you received from the sun, your liver from the moon, your bones from the rocks, your flesh from the soil and your blood from water, 2) your heart you received from the gods, meditate on the gods, you had a body, and hair like a tree its leaves; 3) I, the chief and ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, sprinkle you with the celestial water of life (Amrta) 4) whereupon your ears can hear, your eyes see, your mouth speak, eat and drink, your hand move, and your feet walk; 6) you have arrived in the realm of the ${ }^{9} 0$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}$ ( $=$ gods), where once born you will not die again, and your soul is now at peace. The next two rubrics are no more understood. 9) The son of the deceased used a sheep to exchange it for 'nnü (the power or vigor of seminal ejaculation and grain for the power of conception (vaginal reception); Rubric 1) like one takes the foam of the water or a flower of a tree, 2) or the green leaves of a tree . . ? 3) so when the ${ }^{2}$ dio- ${ }^{1}$ mba chants, let there be given the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ see the ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{o}}$ (make sure that there is ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ female vaginal reception). 4) The ancestor opens the gate of silver 5) but the ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{-1}$ og gate he does not open, 6) the grandmother sells the gold, but ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ she does not sell (the idea is that let the silver and gold leave the home of the deceased but not the qualities, personalitieis, power, ${ }^{1}$ nnii and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ leave the home). 7) The bear is born in the valley and the bear builds the house of the deceased ${ }^{1}$, the bear gives the deceased food and meat to eat; 8) but the deceased does not know of the existence of the bear ${ }^{2}$. 9) The juniper is born on the chiff, but it does not know the cliff, the pine tree is born on the mountain spurs, but the tree is ignorant of the spur. The fir tree is born in the alpine region but it is unconscious of the alpine meadow. 10) You deceased have to cross nine snow mountains, and as your feet would ache we have given you a horse to ride, then your feet will not be sore; you will have to cross nine streams and your feet would be cold, we have built bridges for you, then your feet will not suffer cold. 11) When the ${ }^{1}$ P'èr ( = Tibetan) is born the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ is born also, when the ${ }^{2}$ Boa is born there is also born the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{O}^{3}$. When the turtle dove sees the light of day the summer rains have also arrived; when the pine is born the oak is also born".

Page 5

Page 6

Rubric 1) Male and female obtained three kinds of bitterness, they had their fill of them, sickness, old age and death. 2) When the ${ }^{1} P$ 'ěr perform a funeral ceremony they use a large fate (animal offering); 3) when the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ perform a ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony, they prepare many victuals (much food) and not a amall amount. 4) While alive you deceased obtained (experienced) three impurities, but after your death you obtained three purities (after the performance of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony). 5) While alive you experienced poverty and after death (after the performance of the ceremony) you became rich. 6) While alive you were hungry (one could look into your stomach) after death you received butter. 7) On high there are three kinds of poverty, the wind drives the clouds, and the latter scatter the rain, such poverty you do not experience. 8) At the foot of the mountain, where the sun penetrates, the icicles melt, and at night the moonlight reaches them and they freeze again, such bitterness you do not know. 9) In the day time the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H o a}^{1}{ }^{1}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}{ }^{5}{ }^{5}$ flies up the mountain in search of food, and in the evening it descends into the valley for water, such bitterness you do not know. 10) The meaning ot this text has been lost. 11) Below there are three kinds of bitterness which you will not experience, as sleeping or sitting in the water, etc. etc.,

Page 7
Rubric 1) or roosting upside down like the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lo}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}^{6}, 2$ ) or like the wild black boar exposed to rain, wind and hail, such bitterness you do not know. 3) Like being alone in a large house, like having stones in your shoes, or splinters in your eyes, when you have to go to work and feel not inclined to do so; when husband and wife are in discord, such bitterness you do not experience. 4) To experience great hunger, 5) and to have no food. 6) Like soldiers who have no food or not enough, or a home without food, that is bitterness. 7) All this kind of bitterness is now behind you and you are rich, but you are not able to take them with you, 8) like your fields, your houses etc.

Page 8

Rubric 1) Your grain and your uncultivated as well as rich lands. 2) When the father rears a horse, the son is the first to ride it; 3) when brothers fight about the home and lands, when the father divides the property, this is not fair nor proper. 4) When the mother spins the wool, and the daughter is the first to wear the beautiful dress. When the mother sends forth the daughter in marriage, the latter quarrels with her mother about the number of gold and silver dresses she should receive. 5) . . ? 6) When the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ( $=$ uncle) and ${ }^{2}$ dze${ }^{2}$ ghügh (= nephew) ${ }^{7}$ drink wine together and smash the cups, 7) and then fight, this is not proper; etc. etc. etc.

Page 9

The entire page is devoted to quarrels and fights between animals, as horse and plow oxen, cows and sheep, a man having intercourse with his wife from the rising of the evening star till the risinig of the morning star and then separate in discord; etc. etc. ${ }^{8}$.

Page 10
Kubric 1) You have now lost all riches but you now gain advantages 2) like arriving on the top of Mount Kailas, at the Wish-granting tree, on the shores of Manasarowar, and at the golden rocks 3 ) where the gods reside at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$ ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$; if there are no yak with white tails up there, there are other animals with them. 4) There are also fine grains, fine shoes and clothing and you will lead fine horses. 5) Once a suit of clothes is sewn, it will remain forever beautiful, it is a land where once grain is sown, there will be enough to eat forever; where milk is used instead of water, where without doing work there is plenty to eat, where there are nine kinds of food such a land is this. 6) There you need not carry loads, but it is a land where all can be drawn on wheeles. 7)...? 8) Where, when a horse is born in the evening, it is large cnough to be ridden in the morning. Where, when an ox is born in the evening, it is big enough the next morning to be used for plowing. 9) Where, when a sheep is born in the evening on the alpine meadow it is large enough to be sheared etc. etc.

Page 11

Rubric [The first two rubrics are no more understood.] 3) Where after plowing and sowing the white rice can be seen at once, and where the wine flows like water in a trough. 4) As fast as one eats one's food with the chopsticks, 5) so fast does the Life god ( $={ }^{3} \mathrm{~S} s u$ ) separate the deceased from the living. 6) When was rich, 7) to the left and right he had thousands of relatives. 8) When he was born he did not think of rlying. 9) He brought everything with him but forgot to bring the medicine which prevents death.

Page 12

Kubric 1) When ${ }^{3} T s^{\prime} \cdot \ddot{a}-{ }^{1} k h u ̈{ }^{-}{ }^{2} b u-{ }^{1} b u-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}^{9}$ descended, she drove down all kinds of animals but not the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Llü} \cdot{ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{2} k$ ' $a-{ }^{2} m a ̈-{ }^{1} g k \dot{u}{ }^{19}$ hence the horses' hoofs were diseased and they died. 2) You need not work, you need only to go and eat; 3) you need not lay traps, you need only to go and look where animals trapped themselves. 4) ...? 5) Go and eat the golden leaves of the trees and drink their golden dew; the gods of heaven call you like the eagles and the neighing horses. 6) If you are unhappy do not weep. 7) It is the fate of the ${ }^{8} \mathrm{dsin}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{l} \mathrm{i}^{11}$ to be always on the land, 8) and that of the crow to sit on the houses, of the dragonfly to be in the valley, and for the butterfly to be on high. 9) It is the fate of the sun to rise over the spurs, and the moon to set over them.

Page 13

Rubric 1) It is ordained for the stag to roam over the spurs, and for the tiger to romp over the high mountains. (In ms. no 8015, these passages occur, p. 16, rubrics 9 and 10 : It is appointed for the stars to set over the mountains and the ${ }^{2}$ sherr. ${ }^{3}{ }^{h}{ }^{12}$ to set over the land. For the white wind to blow from the mountains, for the otter to be in the streams and the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mb}^{\mathbf{4}} \mathrm{a}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{h}^{\mathbf{b}} \mathbf{o l}^{13}$ to be in the lake), Rubrics 1-5) and for the white crane to be among the clouds, and as they, so are you to go to your parents, to your first, second and third generation, to where your ancestors dwell. You must not make enemies with them. At this ceremony you are given food, wine, etc., take your fill; it is the custom to give 9 ounces of silver to the ${ }^{2} d^{\prime} \mathbf{- ~}^{1}$ mba in case the deceased is a man, and seven ounces of silver in case of a woman; there is no mistake. It is like splitting rocks, and the gate of the dead is now closed.

Page 14

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ This is called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}^{1} \mathrm{gyy}$ or bear housc; this house (two short forked poles with a pine branch across) is erected at the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Kbj}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony by the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mba disguised as a bear for the deceased, that is for his ${ }^{2} \mathrm{nv}=$ effigy conaisting of a pine branch. The house is erected in the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Khi}^{\mathbf{3}^{3}}{ }^{n}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{d}^{\mathbf{4}}$ a and the ${ }^{\mathbf{z}} \mathrm{nv}=$ effigy-pine-branch is placed in the centre, atanding upright, but after a sheep has been killed it is laid down flat.
 a bear. His belongings, that is his bow and arrow etc., were found near a pine tree. His sons took a pine branch shaped it into human form, cut eyes, nose, mouth into the wood, leaving the leaves (needles) on top as hair. This was substituted at his funeral, for his body was gone. See also NNCRC, p. 780, note 1020.
${ }^{3}$ The ${ }^{2}$ Boa and ${ }^{10}$ are two tribes who live in the former lama kingdom of Mu-li north of Li-chiang in Hei-k'ang province. The ${ }^{10}$ especially live in the valley of the ${ }^{1}$ Shu ${ }^{1}$ gyi, the T'ieh Ho a tributary of the Yangtze, they are always mentioned together.
${ }^{1}$ In Li-chiang district there is a deciduous oak Quercus griffithii which always grows in company with the ${ }^{2}$ '’o ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr or yellow pine Pinus yünnanensis, hence the reference.
${ }^{5}$ The ${ }^{8} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{-1}{ }^{\text {p }}$ 'er is the Tibetan eared-pheasant Crossoptilon Crossoptilon Crossoptilon; it inhabits the upper slopes of the snow range where it roams in flocks of 10 to 15 in search of food. Legends are connected with it. See SNL, part. I. pp. 31-33, Plate 12. Also NNCRC, p. 185, note 288.
${ }^{6}$ It is not known what bird the ${ }^{2}$ Lo- ${ }^{1}$ na represents; the name means throat black; when it roosta for the night it does so upside down.
${ }^{7}$ Also called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~A}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$, he is the maternal uncle, and in ancient times a very important personage as he took the place of the father, as is still the case in Yung-ning northeast of Li-chiang among the Mo-so, who there call themselves Hli-khin and whom the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-2}{ }^{2} k h i$ call ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ Lü-12khi. See l.c., p. 315, note 695.
${ }^{8}$ This is depicted thus.

${ }^{10}$ See notes 32 and 33 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{10}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}$. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{shu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{la}$.
${ }^{11}$ The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{dsi}^{-2} \mathrm{l}$ i is the wag tail, a black and white bird always along water courses, and on flat lands. It is Motacilla alba hodgsoni.
${ }^{18}$ The ${ }^{2}$ shĕr $\cdot{ }^{3}$ ho is a consteliation of seven $={ }^{2}$ shĕr, stars, a part of Ursa major. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-2} \mathrm{khi}$ consider them as females. It is the Chinese tou $\boldsymbol{*}$, the dipper.

${ }^{3}$ MOEN- ${ }^{1}$ T'U ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}{ }^{2}$ SZŎ ${ }^{3}$ MAN- ${ }^{3}$ CHUNG
SECOND (LAST) VOLUME OF TO HOLD THE ${ }^{3}$ MUEN- ${ }^{1}$ T'U

In the mss. $8013,8014,8015$, this part is also found while $m s$. no 2076 does not contain the first part. Here also belongs ms. no 43 in the John Rylands Library of Manchester, England.

The text is continued in our mis. no 2076 on page 3, rubric 5. The deceased is further prepared for the road and his life is recounted from boyhood to manhood.

Page 3

Rubric 5) You are now ready to go; when the crane prepares to rise and to fly to the slouds it shakes its plumage, spreads it ; the black duck when it is about to rise from the lake raises its crest, and the tiger smoothens its stripes when it is about to romp to the high mountain. (This is now repeated for every animal the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ are acquainted with.)

Page 4

Rubric 1) So you, like these creatures, prepare your shoes, your winged hat, your bow and arrow (if a woman her fine clothing). 2) When the horse is about to go, it is saddled; and the ox when ready to go plowing is given the yoke. 3) When the wild animals flee it is on account of ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Llï}^{1}$ and the dog; 4) if a bird rises it is because of the eagle and the crane; 5) and when the stags flee it is because of lurking tigers and leopards. 6) It is the ${ }^{2}$ Dto ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}^{2}$ who cause the demons to rise and to flee. 7) So you deceased arise, you are escorted to where your ancestors of three generations dwell.

Page 5

Rubric 2) One day when you were 12 or 13 years old you quarrelled with other boys, played wild animals, or doge chasing wild animals. 3) You played with white and black pebbles, rode a hobby horse made of bamboo. 4) When you were 25 years old you went to cut the green bamboo in the valley, you went to fetch water. 5) Before the summer rains came you built a house, went to cut firewood, split the wood for shingles and boards; you laid traps for wild animals and herded your sheep on the alpine meadows.

Page 6

IKubric 1) You plowed your fields 2) and had sexual intercourse with your wife on the bamboo mat. You both lived close together like the horse and its mane, like the Yak and its horns, like the sheep and its white wool, and the boar and its fangs. One day 3) when you were 45 years old you and your friends ate good food, drank good liquor, and when you were hungry ate your food with chopsticks. 4) You put pounded walnuts, salt and butter in your tea. 5-6) Wherever your feet had carried you, you will again revisit all those places ${ }^{3}$. Although you are not the black eagle, you must repay heaven, you are not the ${ }^{3}$ gko $\cdot{ }^{1}$ lä. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mä}$ ( $=$ the female eagle) you must repay the earth; you are not the white crane you must repay the clouds (for the rain); you are not the black duck you must repay the lake.

Page 7

This is all allegory.

Page 8

Rubric 5) You are not the tiger who romps over the high mountain, yet you must repay the high mountain when you arrive there; 6) you are not the stag, but when you arrived on the spur, you must repay the spur. 7) You are not the Tibetan Nomad, but you must repay the road when arrived there. 8) When leaving the place where this ceremony takes place, on arrivel where your ancestors dwell, you must repay the small and large roads, small and large spurs and small and large streams ${ }^{4}$.

$$
\text { Page } 9
$$

Rubric 1) Go and see your grandparents 2) and parents, 3) go and see your lands (the clan name is now mentioned), the heaven above them, your house and fields. Places you have not been to before (are unknown to you), feel the heavens with your hands and the land with your feet, etc. etc. etc.
[The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba now interrupts the chanting and says the following which is however not in the book.]
"I the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}{ }^{1}$ mba give you three written lines as follows: In the house of the ancestor, he with the white hair has died, one ${ }^{3}$ Ssu has died; the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ssu}$ (=Life god) has changed into a snake. You deceased originated from the... clan (name of deceased now follows . . .). To the father (name is given . . .) and to your mother (name is also given ...) grandfather . . ., and grandmother..., you are escorted to join them; to the ancestors of three generations you are escorted, also to the 33 realms of the gods. The road of the dead must now be closed." 4) These three lines are given into your hand, we are not frightening you, you are not the only one (we all have to die). 5) One day to your grandfather and grandmother have been given the same three lines, and they were asked to protect the family, 6) and to grant ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \overline{0} .7$ ) Your parents were given the same and ${ }^{1}$ nnui and ${ }^{1} \overline{\bar{o}}$ remained in the family. 8) You have been given now these three lines let ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}$ remain in the family Rubric 1) like the leaves belong to the tree. 2) 'To heaven you must offer 'bu${ }^{1}$ ch'ěr ${ }^{5}$, to the land lean meat, to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{8}$ juniper and butter. 3) To ${ }^{\text {B Llü̈ }}$ you must give a boar and a dicken. 4) From your house to where you are to go (on the way) give a yellow pig to the spirit of the middle road, to the spirit of the small road a dog, and to the spirit of the large road present a large white felt. 6) The guards of the road will not stop you, neither will the guards of the bridges you will have to cross, stop you. 7) You have no more enemies; 8) there are no more rocks in the path of your sharp aword (i.e., no more difficulties). 9) There is no dog in front of your horse to impede its way. 10) You are on the way to the realm of the gods, your body and soul are at peace and the mane of your horse is beautiful?

Page 11

 bow and arrow, he rode a fast horse, and drove a yak and half-breed yak before him, 3) and led a pack-mule behind; he opened a new road, you follow that road. 4) ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{1}$ khü- ${ }^{3}$ non- ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{10}$ rode a fast horse, he carried a quiver of the skin of the wild cat, bow and arrows, he drove cattle and sheep, he opened a new road, you follow the new road, $5-6$ ) ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{-1} k h u ̈-{ }^{2}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{1}$ Iä dressed in satin and rode an elephant and drove a waterbuffalo; he opened a new road, you follow the new road. [The deceased is now escorted from place to place.]

Page 14

Rubric 3) Go like a fast horse, your father before you, your mother who had experienced much sorrow had gone before you, 4) do not dwell in the land of man, it is unclean, where if one does not work there is no food; 5) where if one does not herd cattle there is no milk etc. etc.
7) Go to where your ancestors dwell, 8) where you have food without working.

Page 15

Rubric 1) Where you do not have to lay traps and yet snare wild animals. 2) Your body and soul are pleased and at peace, and your horse is beautiful. 3) On high be thou happy, but let the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S}$ su ( $=$ Life god) give us or let us have ${ }^{1}$ nnü and ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathbf{0}}$. 4) It is the custom to give nine ounces of silver in the case of a man, and seven ounces of silver in case of a woman, this is the pronouncement of the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba.

NOTES

${ }^{1}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Llii}$ is the spirit of the hunt. See $N N C R C$, p. 147. note 152 , also p. 245, notes 460, 461: MBC, p. 102.
${ }^{2}$ The ${ }^{\text {E }} \mathrm{dto}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ are the priests, but the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'a are the genuine sorcerers. See NNCRC, p. 101, note 58. Schröder in his: Zur Religion der Tujen des Sininggebietes (Kukunor) (Anthropos, Vol. 48, 1953), p. 236 discusses the fa-shih, who seem to be equivalent to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{\mathbf{8}}$ Lliu${ }^{1}$ bu or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'a who in ancient days were also women and are so depicted in the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ hi mss., with flowing hair. Schröder's Gurtum is apparently identical with the Tibetan srung-ma but they have nothing in common with the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mba who perform often long ceremonies lasting up to seven days. They do fight battles with the demons, after certain mss. have been chanted; these are sham battles and when a number of ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas participate in a ceremony, they will pair off so to say at a dance, the leading ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba engaging the second in command, and so down the line till the last or minor participant has been engaged by the leading ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$. See RKMGMG, Plates 15, 16. 17. Also ANKSWC, Pl. 229; NNCRC, Plate 53. It may be remarked that there are many types of dances which the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas pxecute, depending on the ceremony and which deity has been invoked to assist suppressing which demon. Each god has his particular type of dance. In the Näga cult it is the dance of the Garuda where the movements of a bird are imitated. Then there is the dance of the dragon, the dance of the lion, of ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{-1}$ bpö- ${ }^{-2}$ dzǐ $^{-1}$ szǔ who vanquishes the ${ }^{1}$ dtěr or headless demons, the dance of ${ }^{2}$ Dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba publish an exhaustive paper on the ${ }^{2}$ Llü-1 ${ }^{1}$ bu, their powers and performances.

${ }^{3}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k} h \mathrm{~h}$ have a belief that whatever places one has visited while alive, he will have to revisit them all after death; this they call ${ }^{2}$ boa ${ }^{3}$ ' ${ }^{\prime}$, ${ }^{2}$ boa ${ }^{2}$ ª̈ ${ }^{1}$ ghiugh $=$ sole put down, sole again (make the) circuit. The word 'ghügh actually means grinding, like a millstone going around the same place.

4 The meaning is that the deceased has to repay or bribe the guards of the various roads and bridges, in order to let him pass.
${ }^{5}{ }^{1}$ Bu. ${ }^{1}$ ch'ĕr is a fleshless, boneless pig. For explanation see NNCRC, p. 314, note 687, also $A N K S W C$, Plate 241.
${ }^{6}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~N}$ gaw are spirits of victories. See NNCRC, p. 135, note 122 ; p. 140, note 133 ; p. 141, note 134; p. 202, note 318.
${ }^{7}$ The general meaning is a beautiful horse and is actually read ${ }^{2}$ ts' ${ }^{\prime}{ }^{-}{ }^{2} 8 z i$. If the sentence reads: ${ }^{2}$ tr'u ${ }^{2}$ szĭ ${ }^{1}$ mbu ${ }^{2}$ muàn ${ }^{2}$ szĭ this means $=$ a beautiful horse with an ugly mane. This inplies "to be ill at ease" it is an allegorical phrase, but never used colloqually.
 betan, the second a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ and the third a ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2}$ bbŭ or Min-chia, see l.c., p. 129, note 10t: also p. 687.

${ }^{2}$ NDSHER ${ }^{2}$ NDZI ${ }^{3}$ MI, ${ }^{2}$ GKV. ${ }^{3}$ CHUNG or FRIGHT EXPERIENCE FORGET, FIRST PART

This is the last book chanted on the evening of the second day. The deceased is told what may befall him on the road, whom or what he may meet and how to deal with them. It is a sort of briefing before he or she starts out on the long journey to the alpine regions or the grasslands where the yak roam and where the ancestors dwell.

The ms., here translated is no 1430 in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, Cambridge Massachusetts. While sojourning in Li-chiang from December 30th 1946 to May 1949, I secured quite a good many ${ }^{2}$ dto-'mba books, while others were obtained during the war years. Consequently a number of duplicates were purchased. This particular title is represented by several original mss., as nos. 8054, 8055, 8056 and 8057; all these belong to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv} \mathbf{-}^{\mathbf{3}}$ chung or first part.

As to the symbols in the title they have all been explained except the first one ${ }^{1}$ ndshěr, it represents a caterpiller with stinging hair of which people are afraid, it is called ${ }^{1}$ ndshěr and its phonetic value has been borrowed for ${ }^{1}$ ndshĕr $=$ fear, fright.

During the performance of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}$ dahěr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ndzǐ}{ }^{3}$ mi is also chanted but the text is somewhat different.

Translation of text  Page 1

Rubric 1) In the beginning ${ }^{2}$ Boa $-{ }^{-}$munn $\cdot{ }^{2} \mathbf{z o}^{1}$, as he has as yet not experienced fright, he does not know what fright is. 2) ${ }^{10}$.'gkaw- lä did not bring food with him hence he could not distinguish between being hungry and being replete; 3) the deceased carries everything with him, food, wine, salt, white and black twisted sugar (made from maize), a large bone with some meat attached ${ }^{2}$, a bamboo, a long sword, an iron axe 4) a pocket of musk ${ }^{3}$; he leads a dog and carries a long knife to kill snakes with. 5) He rides a fast horse (weeping) of thousands of men and hundreds of women; 7) go on high without your road being obstructed. 8) When you will have arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}$ - ${ }^{2}$ ghügh. ${ }^{2}$ múen- ${ }^{1}$ dsu- ${ }^{1} / \mathbf{v}^{5}$ you will meet a snake with a green throat and you will be frightened. 9) When you will arrive at the caltivated fields and waste lands you will meet with a fox and a wild cat with long fangs, you will be frightened, let your dog loose and let him chase them, after which you need have no fear.

Page 2

Rubric 1) When you will arrive in the wooded valley there will arise Stone and Amherst pheasants ( ${ }^{2} f f u ̆$ and ${ }^{1} \mathbf{k h i u}$ respectively) and you will be frightened, use the hair of your horse's tail and make a trap, catch them, after which you can cat them; 2) arrived at the wooded spur there will rise deer and musk-deer and you will be frightened, free your dog who will catch them; from the deer meat make soup and from the musk-deer food ${ }^{8}$ and partake of this; 3) when you will arrive in the dense forest there will arise wild pigs and bears and you will be frightened, use your arrows and shoot them, of the bear eat the fat meat, and of the pig the lean meat; 4) when you will have arrived at ${ }^{2}$ Lo. ${ }^{2}$ ndo- ${ }^{2}$ mbŭe${ }^{1}$ hö- ${ }^{1}$ ngyu (at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lo}^{2}$ ndo mountain with the red oaks) there will arise many rabbits, take rocks and boards (sticks) and strike them and you will obtain them; 5) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}-{ }^{-} / \mathrm{v}-{ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{9} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} k h i-{ }^{2} g h u ̈ g h{ }^{7}$ there will arise stags and serows with long horns, and you will be afraid, you have no other weapons but bow and arrow, shoot them, and roast their meat over the coals; 6) arrived between two villages, there will arise a tiger with wide jaws, you will be frightened, use your sharp axe and kill him, from his skin make a saddle rug, 7) and a suit for yourself; 8) arrived a ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{1}$ gyi ${ }^{2}$ ngv $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ there will come to meet you ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ (men and women of that place) give them meat and food; 9) arrived at ${ }^{3} K h y \ddot{u}-{ }^{1} h a ̆ r-{ }^{2} g k a w-{ }^{3} v-{ }^{1} b p u ̆$ there will come to meet you ${ }^{3} K h y \ddot{u}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}{ }^{3} K h y \ddot{u}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ (men and women of ${ }^{3} K h y \ddot{u}$ ); going by the middle road, the spirit of the road and bridge will stop you, give him a pig, and as road money a white felt, then your roads and bridges will not be closed (to you).

Page 3

Rubric 1) Before your sharp spear are no more rocks, and ahead of your fast horse no more ravines; 2) arrived at ${ }^{2}$ Llü- ${ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{1}$ nds ${ }^{\prime}$ - ${ }^{2}$ mbĕr- ${ }^{-}$ddĕr ( $=$a spur with mud holes), there are thousands of mud holes, when your horse will see these it will refuse to go on, tie its tail up on the top and strike it three times with your whip and it will cross over; 3) arrived at ${ }^{2}$ Lo. ${ }^{2}$ ndo- ${ }^{-}$hoa- ${ }^{1}$ hö ${ }^{1}$ ngyu ( ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Lo}^{-}{ }^{2}$ ndo mountain on which the red birches grow) there will arise a wind as cold as in the winter months, and the leaves will drop noisely, be not afraid, put on your hat with the eagle's wings, go on and be not afraid of lightning and thunder; 4) you are dressed in a tiger's skin, go unafraid of the tiger which you will meet and who with his tail will stir up the wind whipping the ground;
 af raid, take your bow and arrow and shoot it, after having killed it, use its horn will meet a snake curled up, you will be afraid, use your banboo and strike it and with the long eword kill it; 7) give it the musk pocket it will act as poison to the snake ${ }^{10}$, from its head make fever medicine, and from its tail a bracelet, be unafraid, 8) arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{D}^{3}{ }^{3}$ yü- ${ }^{-}$hä- ${ }^{1}$ gyi. ${ }^{3}$ mana ${ }^{11}$ you will meet a green frog with claws, you will be afraid. you are riding a horse, let your horse step on it, go on unafraid; 9) arrived in the centre of (or between) ${ }^{1} \mathbf{P}^{\prime}$ err ${ }^{-1}{ }^{1} n a-{ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{-}$gkan${ }^{2}$ chung ${ }^{12}$, tie up your horse and shoe it, and go on your way; 10) arrived at whip it three times and you will

Page 4

 a Tibetan coming from the north carrying a yak tail and driving yak, halfbreed yak, and pack-mules, one will not know the other, but make friends with him; the Tibetan comes to befriend you, but you must not go with him for he will go to ${ }^{2} \delta \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dso}{ }^{13}$ and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ggo} .{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ dü ( $=$ northland) 2) coming from the south you will meet at three cross roads a ${ }^{2}$ Lä- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ who will drive a water buffalo and an elephant as pack animal; he will be carrying salt, you will not know him but he will want to make friends with you, he is going south do not go with him. 3) You will arrive at a cliff where there are two roads, there you will meet with a ${ }^{1}$ Mbbure demon ${ }^{14}$ who will want to rob you, the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba will give him in his evil mouth a piece of meat, he will give him blood, a red suit, red shoes, also a bamboo hoby horse, and he will send him to ${ }^{2}$ Ssä- ${ }^{1}$ sвä- ${ }^{1}$ gko ( $=$ an alpine meadow), and from the ${ }^{1}$ Mun's ${ }^{15}$ broad leaves he will make a bridge for him to cross, and he will send him to " $\mathrm{A} \cdot{ }^{1}$ shwua- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'o ( $=$ a cave in a high cliff); 4) you will cross a bridge made of the Juniper with a white foot (root) and you will arrive at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Boa}^{-}{ }^{2}$ mun. ${ }^{3}$ khyü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Nggu}$ ( $=$ a mountain with juniper trees of the ${ }^{\text {s dapaw}}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ you will meet a bear ( $={ }^{1} \mathrm{~g} v$ ), shoot it with your arrow; arrived at ${ }^{2}$ La- ${ }^{2}$ mun. $\cdot{ }^{2} l a \cdot{ }^{3}$ dsaw ${ }^{1}$ mbu you will meet a tiger ( $\left.={ }^{2} l a\right)$ shoot him and make clothe out of his skin; 7) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Màan}^{-} \cdot{ }^{3} l \mathrm{lu}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{gko}-{ }^{2}$ dtü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ ( $=$ on the spur where the cranes rise) make from the crane's wings, feathers for your arrow: arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~L} l i ̈-{ }^{1}$ 'shwua $\cdot{ }^{3}$ gko ${ }^{2}$ dtü $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ ( $=$ where the eagles rise) shoot the eagle with the arrow whose fins are made of the eagle's wings and go on your way.

Page 5

 stream it will refuse to crose, tie up its tail and whip it three times 2) and it and will ask whose horse this is, 4) tell him that the horse was given you by waste lands, house and the sky above it, 5) he will not hold your horse and will come riding on their fast horses, but your horse is as fast as theirs; 8) your horse carrying a flag is a fast one able to go from the north to the south and vice versa; 9) your horse is one which is fed with white rice out of a silver plate, it is one that has obtained a first prize ${ }^{19} .10$ ) It is a horse fed with ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dze}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{h}$ ö (wheat) out of a golden ${ }^{2} l o$ ( $=$ plate) and is as fast as a dog who obtains the head of a wild animal.

Page 6

Rubric 1) Your fast horse will bring you to ${ }^{1} B p u \check{ }$ - ${ }^{2} b a ̈-{ }^{2} n g y u ̈-{ }^{2} l l u ̈-{ }^{2} d t u ̈$, give the horse the leaves of the ${ }^{2} n g y \ddot{u}^{20}$, the tuber you eat yourself; 2) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngyü}$ $\left.{ }^{2} \mathrm{bä}-{ }^{2} s s a w-{ }^{2}\right]$ ü- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$, from the female ( $={ }^{2}$ ssaw) plant use the hemp to make a rope, and from the male plant use the hemp to make a garment, arrived at spur of the high heavens where the stars are born) 3 ) your horse when it sees the scintillating stars ( $={ }^{1} g k \ddot{u}$ ) will refuse to go on, tie its tail, whip it three times and it will go on like a tiger over three spurs; 4) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mu} \mathbf{M a n}^{-}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Ilü}-{ }^{3}$ dto${ }^{2} k^{\prime} \ddot{o}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'èr, there is a valley with large trees and you will be unable to drive ahead the long (sharp)-horned animals, 5) use your axe cut the trees to the left and to the right and you will be able to proceed by driving them ahead; 6) in the valley there you will find big rocks which will prevent your large-hoofed horse from going ahead, remove the rocks from the left to the right and from the right to the left and you will be able to proceed. 7) Arrived at the foot of Mt. Kailas, there you will encounter a stream called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mùan}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{llü} \cdot{ }^{2}$ ssur $\cdot{ }^{1}$ gyi. ${ }^{1}$ ddü ${ }^{21}$,
 ( = the demon of the dead),

Page 7

Rubric 1) then the horse, then the sheep, now the deceased ( $={ }^{1}$ Shi $\cdot{ }^{3}$ mun- ${ }^{2} l \mathrm{lu}-$ monished them not to fight on that account, 3) for the tiger, because of his red stripes in his face, to cross first is not the custom, on account of the dog's unclean markings on his legs, for him to cross second is not the custom. 4) Be-

 5) neither is it for the yak because before the deceased's death he made use of the yak who belongs to the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu (spirit of life), 6) neither for the horse for before he was dead, he rode it and now after his death he rides it (again); 7) because of the sheep's wool being used for garments for the deceased before and after his death, for the sheep to cross is not the custom; 8) thereupon the yak, horse, 9) sheep and the deceased conferred; the latter then had a good idea, from teamba he made two balls and put them into the nostrils of the sheep, he let the sheep cross first, 9) then followed the yak, the deceased then crossed the river riding his horse and arrived on the other side of the river where the sun shone.

Page 8

Rubric 1) The four then returned ${ }^{2}$ non- ${ }^{1} \overline{0}$ to the landlord, because once they had crossed that river there was no return. 2) The ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ declares: the landlord and his son let them all remain (reach an old age), husband and wife ${ }^{25}$ let them remain (let not death separate them) daughters large and amall let them remain (let not death separate them). 3) After crossing the river your garment is all wet, on the left there is a silver rope hang up your silver garment to dry, on the right there is a golden rope hang up your golden dress to dry; your hemp garment let the sun dry. 4) On the left there is a dog tied up, when he saw the deceased he barked, as he lacked nothing, he gave the dog a bone with meat attached, whereupon the dog recognized him and wagged his tail; on the right there was a sheep tied up, when it saw the deceased it was frightened, the deceased gave it some salt, whereupon it was not afraid. 5) Your friends of one age, many of them have gone before you, like horses who have eaten out of one trough have gone ahead, they come to look after your dog and open your gate, give them white and black candy, also meat; ancestors), the winter winds control one gate through which unclean persons cannot pass, there you send back word to your relatives; 2) the summer rains control one gate through which unclean persons cannot pass, there turn back (actually turn your feet around); 3) on the left there is a silver gate push it open like a sheep with its horns would; 4) to the right there is a golden gate, push it open like a goat would with its horns; 5) to the right there is a gate which a woman carrying a sword cannot enter, use a goat and perform ${ }^{3}$ Ch'ou ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gku}{ }^{26}$ (purify yourself) and then you may enter; 6) to the left there is a gate which a man carrying a sword may not enter, use a sheep with long horns may enter; 7) in the centre there is a gate ... [the meaning has been lost], use a pig and perform ${ }^{\text {s }}$ 'h'ou ${ }^{3}$ gkü whereupon you may enter; 8) there is a gate through which lepers may not enter, hide under the wings of a crane and fly north and purify yourself after which you may enter; 9) there is a gate which a horse with boils may not enter, let your horse hide under the wing of a pigeon, go south and perform ${ }^{\circ}{ }^{\circ} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{\text {s gkii }}$ and then enter the gate; 10) there is a gate which a person who has taken poison and whose lips have turned blue may not enter; 11) there is a gate which a person who hanged itself and carries a rope may not enter; 12) there is a gate which a man who bought a wife and then killed her may not enter; Rubric 1) there is a gate which a woman carrying a apear, and a man carrying a sword may not enter; 2) there is a gate which a social outcast may not enter; 3) there is a gate which a mendacious person may not enter. 4) There is a gate which a woman who has illegitimate children may not enter; there is a gate which a man and a woman who are 'ch'ou (i.e. who have had illicit sexual inter-with long arms to perform ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{3} g k i ̈$ at the home, they use a sheep and per-where the 'ndaw-'ndzěr ( $=$ Quercus cleistocarpa of which goats are fond of) grows; they perform ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{3} g k u ̈$ with a pig at a mud hole; 6) there is a gate which a person who has killed another with a knife may not enter; [The next three rubrics are no more understood.] 10) Use a crane in the winter and perform ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{3}$ gkii, then you may enter the gate, etc. etc. etc.

Page 9

Page 10

Page 11

 ${ }^{2}$ Shĕr- ${ }^{1}$ ts'ĕr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dtui}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}{ }^{28}$ ( 70 prisons for women enduring pain) ; 2) [the next phrases are not understood properly]; 3) you must present to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngu}-{ }^{1} / \mathrm{v}-{ }^{2}$ ndze${ }^{1}$ ndshi ${ }^{2 \theta}$ a rooster and to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}$ "a- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{lv}-{ }^{2}$ gko- ${ }^{2}$ ma (his wife) a hen, 4) whereupon the black pot in hell and the prisons (above mentioned) will become invisible; 6) when you have arrived at the gate of the gods, and the bells of your horse are set ringing, then as you are not a lama repeat the phrase ${ }^{2} \bar{O}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ma}^{-1} \mathrm{aw}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ho}^{30}$ 7) and the black pot in hell will be invisible 8) and you will have arrived in the realm of the gods; your soul and body will be at peace and your horse's mane beautiful. 9) You will have arrived at $\left.{ }^{3} B p u ̆-{ }^{2} b p u ̆-{ }^{1} m a-{ }^{2} m b u ̆-{ }^{3} k ' o \quad 10\right)$ then at ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{2}{ }^{\prime}$ 'o ${ }^{9}{ }^{9}$ ssu.

Page 12
Rubric 1) At ${ }^{2}$ Muàn ${ }^{-1}{ }^{1} d d o-{ }^{2}$ ghügh- ${ }^{1} l a-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, 2) the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}$, your paternal and maternal relatives, thousands of men carrying flags and leading dogs will escort you 3) to ${ }^{1} \mathbf{Y u ̈}-{ }^{3} b p u \check{ }{ }^{-2} g k a w-{ }^{1} d d u ̈-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$, there your rscort will tell you that they wrill not go further; arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}-{ }^{2} \mathbf{d s u}^{-}{ }^{2} g k u ̈-{ }^{1} \mathrm{yu} \mathbf{-}^{-3}$ dto (a spur), the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~S} s u,{ }^{1} \mathrm{Yu}$, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ho},{ }^{1} \mathrm{Mä}{ }^{31}$, 4) your grandfather, grandmother and parents will come to meet you, 5) give them wine, lean and fat meat, and food (grain boiled, rice): 6) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathbf{S s}^{1}{ }^{1} h a ̆ r-{ }^{2} n y i-{ }^{2} k$ 'o ${ }^{3}$ ssu the demon there will demand an ox head, demand an ox hide, give it to him, arrived at ${ }^{1}$ Shi- ${ }^{1} n d z^{\prime} a-{ }^{3} g k y i-{ }^{2} g v-{ }^{1} m b u$, there a demon will demand the ribs of the ox, give them to him; 7) arrived at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{2}$ mo- ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{2}$ mbe- ${ }^{3}$ gko, a demon will demand your golden saddle, 8) cut a kidney of the ox in half and give him the two halves, 9) arrived at ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zaw}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ndz}^{\mathbf{4}} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{14} \mathrm{a}$ ${ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{1}$ ndo- ${ }^{2}$ zhi $-{ }^{3}$ ssu a demon will demand a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{1}$ shi- ${ }^{3}$ dto $-{ }^{2}$ bbŭe ? give him the Rubric 1) but give him the stomach of the ox, and while the demon turns over the layers of the stomach (which glitter like gold) 2) you flee to the realm of the gods. 3) In the west there is a road where a black man rides a black horse and leads a black dog, there are affairs of quarrels and fights, there you must not go, as we will not escort you to that place. 4) There is a road which leads north to a place where the sky and the land is red and where a red man rides a red horse, this is the land of the ${ }^{1} D d v$ and ${ }^{1} D_{s a ̈}{ }^{33} 5$ ) to that place you will not be escorted and to that place you must not go. 6) ${ }^{2}$ Dto-'mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi. ${ }^{2}$ lo we invite you to chant and escort the ' ${ }^{\text {Ddv }}$ demons to the 'Ddv mountains, and the speaks to the deceased and asks him why did you come? To this place you are not allowed to come! The 'dto. ${ }^{1}$ mba tells the deceased to explain to the ghost that 8) he is on his way to the realm of the gods 9) and give him ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{y}^{3}{ }^{3}$ after which 10) you will not see him (again); (that is he will not close your road); 11) there is a road leading south to a place where a grecn man rides a green horse, this is the land of man, thither we will not escort you and there you must not go to look; 12) going East there is a road leading to a place where there is a white heaven and white land where white men build white houses, this is the realm of the excellent (swastika) gods where the sun and moon are bright, this is the land of the $\mathbf{3 3}$ gods, to this you are escorted, to that Rubric 1) realm you must go; riding your horse and leading your dog you liberate them there in the realm of the gods; if you do not know the sky above grope with your hands, and if you do not know the land then feel the ground with your feet; 2) sitting on high protect us below, sitting afar protect us in the near; before a fast horse there is no dog, protect us like clouds in front of which there are no mountains, protect us like the wind before which there is no valley.

Page 13

Page 14
3) Deceased your companion has gone ahead 4) to open the heavens, and you go behind to spread out the land; 5) your wife has gone ahead to dig the water course so you go behind to let the water run (irrigate the land); 6) she has gone ahead to sow the grain, you follow to harvest it; 7) she has gone ahead to build the house so you follow to dwell in it; she has gone ahead to build the fire, so you follow and warm your hands by the fire; 8) once upon a time you dwelt with your wife in a house with shingles to prevent the rain in the summer from entering, 9) you built your house with boards to prevent the rain and wind from entering. 10) The cliff is high up, the poplar is below [the meaning here is that the deceased is on high, his wife below (still alive)], they have not seen each other for a long time [here the yak horn $={ }^{1}$ mbër. ${ }^{2}$ k'o ( ${ }^{1}$ shěr) is used allegorically for the length of time, ${ }^{1}$ shĕr $=$ long], the poplar is escorted to the cliff and the latter comes to meet the tree; their hearts are like gold and they quickly know each other now. 11) The 'Yu-'bpun 'ndzer is born (above) high up, the yak is below, they have not seen each other for a long time (the yak are fond of that tree), the yak is escorted to the tree and the latter descends to meet the yak; both have arrived now at the same place, their hearts are like gold and they now know each other: 12) the salt is high up,

Page 15

Rubric 1) and the sheep is down below, for a long time they have not met, etc. etc. 2) The ${ }^{1}$ Ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr is high up and the goat is down below, etc. etc.; (in another book follow the phrases here missing:) the woman (wife) is on high, he is below, they have not seen each other for a long time, etc.; 3) (once upon a time) one day the woman died 4) but now she has again ber bracelets on her wrist ${ }^{\text {su }}$ and her earrings in her ears, (she has met her husband again), the husband has now arrived at his wife's place. [The next phrases are not well understood.] 10) When the chicken sits on the rod in the coop it crows, the sheep is also in its pen; 11) they have now again become one family and eat and drink once more together; 12) the heavens and stars are always together and so is the grass and the land; the silver and gold are paired and so is the turquoise and carnelian, and the pine and the oak.

Page 16
Rubric 1) The fish is paired with the pond, the goral with the cliff, 2) the man is paired with the woman, etc. etc. 3) they are gone to be paired with their ancestors where they dwell; 4) at ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{hü}-{ }^{-}$wuà $-{ }^{1} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} 0-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dü}^{37}$ go and roam like two red tigers together at night, like two (wild) yellow pigs go ye to roam in the daytime; and like 5) the ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H o a -}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}$ èr roosts on the pine.
 he built the house and she burned incense, they made the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}$ and placed the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{Ng}$ gaw rocks; thereupon they had three sons.

Page 17

Rubric 1) The son kneels before the father with raised thumb (= ${ }^{1} 1 a-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}$ ${ }^{2}$ gkï) ${ }^{\text {s8 }}$, 2) the daughter before the mother, etc. etc., 5) the able before the wise, 7) the village headman before the official, 8) the ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} b u$ before the ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$, 9) the present deceased performs ${ }^{1} 1 \mathrm{a}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{mä}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gk} \dot{\mathrm{u}}$ before the first generation, before the second, and then before the third generation etc. etc. 13) The clouds rise from the land to the sky, and the clouds and the sky do not separate, the rain descends from the sky to the ground, and the two do not separate, neither the fire from the mountain ${ }^{38}$, nor the water from the valley; the bee is not separated from the flower, 14) and the goat not from the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Ndaw}$ ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr.

Page 18

This is continued for all the various animals, as the sheep once separated from the alpine meadow has now again arrived etc., this is called ${ }^{3} t s ' \mathfrak{i}=$ mated. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~T}$ ' $\mathfrak{i i}$ is now followed by ${ }^{2}$ ch'ĕr $=$ to add, to join, the Chinese t'ien [64].

Rubric 1) The deceased arrives at his ancestor's dwelling place like the yak at the snow covered mountains, 2) the horse at the trough etc. etc., 8) the duck in the lake, 9) and the deceased joins the first, second and third generation of ancestors where they dwell, he is admonished not to make enemies with them. Now follows ${ }^{2} k$ ' $v=$ to invite, 11) the deceased is invited by his ancestors, like the mountain inviting the fire, the valley the water, etc. all is again repeated.

Page 19
Rubric 1) The deceased is invited by the three generations which have gone before him. (This is now followed by ${ }^{2} k h i=$ to rear, to bring up.) As he is the last arrival he is taken care of by those who have gone before him, the wording is the same as previous. This is followed by ${ }^{\text {s}} \mathrm{bpa}=$ to place, to attach to, the deceased is becoming attached to his ancestors, the wording is the same, as the fire to the mountain, the water to the valley etc.

Page 20
Kubric 2) Now follows ${ }^{2} k$ 'o = separation, also to send away; the wording is the same. 8) Now follows ${ }^{2}$ gkwuà $=$ unreality, empty, void; 9) the houses, land, fields all are vacant, 10) he becomes like a piece of wood after it has been burned (he himself turns to ahses at the cremation ground) and vanishes like a four-legged animal in the pot on the hearth. 11) Like a piece of good meat of a well reared pig which is given to friends, it quickly vanishes. 12) The deceased having gone to his ancestors of 3 generations has (likewise) vanished, become non existant. 14) Now follows fighting $={ }^{1}$ a, between heaven and earth the rain is the mediator, the deceased is admonished not to fight or quarrel,

Page 21

Rubric 1) like the high mountain with the small one when the wind acts as mediator, 2) like the horse and the ox when they fight, the grass (hay) becomes the mediator, etc. etc.; 6) he is admonished while on his way to his 3 generations, not to fight etc. etc. etc.

Page 22

Rubric (quarrel is continued here). 4) The deceased arrived at the three generations is urged (by the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba) to go and eat and drink with his ancestors; 5) your body and soul will be, or are now at ease, 6) this is the word of the chief which is definite like splitting a rock. 7) The gate is closed behind the deceased.

NOTES

${ }^{1}{ }^{\mathbf{B}} \mathrm{Boan}^{2} \mathrm{mmu}=$ yole (of the foot), ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mun}=$ to hatch, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}=\mathrm{a}$ son, a male person. The Life
 $=$ born with soles. The deceased is meant under ${ }^{2}$ Boa. ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{2}$ zo. See NNCRC, p. 759, note 1008. See also note 15 of ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1} \mathrm{y}$ i.
${ }^{2}$ When it speake of a large bone with meat attached, we are reminded on the fact that a large bone is attached to the funeral chest in which the dead were placed in the days of cremation. This bone was thrown away when the procession had arrived outside. See Introduction.

[^6]- When the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ speak of ${ }^{2} h a w=$ food, a plate of vegetables mixed with pieces of meat is always meant.

7 The meaning of the name is: On the snow range where the fog and mist settles, this is at an elevation of $14,000-15,000$ feet, and it is there where stage and serow may be found.
 uote 273.

${ }^{10}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ say that the odor of musk is unbearable to snakes and acts like poison; it is said that if they are confined with musk they will die.
${ }^{11}$ See note 9.
12 1P'ěr. ${ }^{1}$ na $\cdot{ }^{1}$ nddüu- ${ }^{2}$ gkan. ${ }^{3}$ chung, the word ${ }^{1}$ nddiu should actually read ${ }^{1}$ dï $=$ land. It is the region where the ${ }^{1} p$ 'ĕr $=$ white land of the gods adjoins the ${ }^{1}$ na or black land of the demons.
 note 204.
$14{ }^{1}$ Mbbŭe demons cause sterility which results in families dying out. There is a special ceremony called ${ }^{1}$ Mbbǔe ${ }^{1} b p$ ö. No one will wish to occupy a home where a family has died out for fear that the same demons will cause the successor's family to die out. When the ceremony is performed, old implements used in tilling the soil and old household utensils which have belonged to the extinct family are taken to a useless piece of ground which has also belonged to it, and are left there. No one will touch these things or will till that parcel of land, the property of the extinct family.
${ }^{15}$ The ${ }^{1}$ Mun is a broad-leaved Rhododendron which is common on the lower slopes of the mountains between $9,000-10,000$ feet. It is Rhododendron decorum.
${ }^{16}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}{ }^{2}$ zo are male and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{mi}=$ female, of the former are said to be nine and of the latter seven. See $l$. c., p. 135, note 122.
${ }^{17}$ See note 20 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{shu}{ }^{3}$ la.
${ }^{18}$ See NNCRC, p. 571, note 848.
${ }^{14}$ This is expressed in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} k h i{ }^{1}$ mbĕr ${ }^{2}$ gkv ${ }^{2} d d u ̈=$ yak head obtain.
${ }^{90}$ See note 13 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}_{\mathrm{s}} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{mb}^{\prime} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{dshi}$.

${ }^{22}$ See RKMGMG, p. 55.
${ }^{23}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'ou is a condition of impurity, usually an immoral one, due to illicit sexual intercourse, etc. See The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{1} \mathrm{gv}$ ceremony in $N N C R C$, pp. 625-806; also p. 242, note 436.

 or the origin of ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'ou. See $l . c .$, pp. 670-674; also p. 257, note 543.
${ }^{25}$ Husband and wife are always depicted in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ texts by the symbols for half-breed $y a k={ }^{1}$ ndsu and for $p i g={ }^{1} b u$; they are used phonetically only.
${ }^{20}{ }^{8} \mathrm{Ch}^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gk}$ ü is a purification ceremony by means of burning fir or pine branches. See l. c., p. 277, note 589.
${ }^{27}{ }^{3}$ Dso- $^{2}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{1}$ na is the black pot in hell; see $S N L$, Pt. II, p. 76, Pl. XXII. sect. 16.
 ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dtu} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{m i}{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}=$ the seventy prions for females where great pain must be endured.
${ }^{29}$ These two demons, man and wife, do not occur on the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}{ }^{2} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1} p$ 'i $q$. v., they apparently guard or control the black pot in hell. This is the only place where they are figured wearing a most peculiar headdress.

and his wife

* Actually on in hum in the Tibetan, it is mantra of the rNying-ma-pa or red lame wert.
${ }^{31}$ See NNCRC, p. 571, note 848.
${ }^{21}$ Tranalated this means Land where the wightess ghosts dwell, or land of the aightess ghoult
${ }^{2}$ The ${ }^{1}$ Ddv and ${ }^{1}$ Dsä are demons always mentioned together. The frat dwell in ablack reglm. the second in a red realm. Sce $l$. $c ., p$. 89 , note 39 . The 'dsa wear a divided helmet and not a hairdress divided in the centre. It was difficult to determine what the aplit headkear really represented, the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbat being unable to explain the same. It became appareut after seeing the Ggure of a btann, pronounced the, demon in Hoffmann's Quellen aur Ge. achichte der Bon Religion, p. 142.

${ }^{96}$ If a woman has worn jade bracelets, it is the custon to leave them on her wriste after death, but ailver ones are usually removed. Earringa are never taken out.
${ }^{37}{ }^{1}$ Yü- ${ }^{3}$ hü- ${ }^{2}$ wuñ- ${ }^{1}$ t'o ${ }^{1}$ dü, see $R K M G M G, p .103$.
ab When a person is anxious for a favor, she or he, will close their hand and ing a person for alms will raise their thumb and move it. This is also a Tibetan custom, in manuscripts it is written thus: it depicts here woman on ber knees with her thumb raised.

20 In the spring time the people are keen to cet the grass on fire on the mountain slopes to permit the young grase to sprout early after the firat summer raine for grasing purposes.

END OF CEREMONY

(Third day)

The chanting of ${ }^{1}$ Ndshĕr ${ }^{2}$ ndzŭ ${ }^{3}$ mi closes the second day of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zhi}^{3} \mathrm{mä}$ funeral ceremony. On the morning of the third day the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}{ }^{\mathbf{z}} \mathrm{zh}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{1}$, the long funeral scroll, called the Road the gods decide is extended in a north-easterly direction from the head of the coffin so that the end of the scroll which terminates with the supreme deity is closest to the head of the deceased.

There are seven books chanted by several ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas. They are as follows:

 ${ }^{3}$ chung, ${ }^{2}$ non- $\cdot{ }^{1}$. ${ }^{3}$ ssaw.

All these books and the entire ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i funeral scroll have been described in detail in the BEFE.O, t. XXXVII, Part II, pp. 40-119, Plates XV to XLI inclusive.

It needs here only to make certain additions as to the objects used and how they are disposed of, and corrections of certain texts as published in the above journal.

As soon as the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}^{2} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i has been unfolded or unrolled in its entire length which is often some 40 feet, one ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mbaprepares the ${ }^{2}$ dto $-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}$ to be placed on the lowest section depicting the nine mountain spurs which the deceased has to cross, and seven great waters as so often mentioned in the various texts translated. On each spur and its guardians who bar the way of the deceased a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{2}$ ma is put. This ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{2}$ ma is made of barley flour dough and is about 6 inches tall. At the chanting of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbu}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}{ }^{3} \mathrm{p}$ 'i one ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}$ at a time is turned over, indicating that the soul of the deceased has successfully overcome a spur and its demon guards. These spurs are figured in the afore-mentioned journal on Plates XIX and XXII respectively. The guards or demons at every spur who are called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Läa}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{ou}^{2}$, have to be first appeased before it is possible for the deceased to proceed.

Immediately following the nine black spurs or ${ }^{2} \mathbf{m b u}^{1}{ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}$ - ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$ is the ${ }^{5}$ Tsu- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ssĩ ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr or the spiny tree which grows out of the mouth of ${ }^{3}$ te' $u$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{sin}^{\mathbf{3}}$ in hell (see Plate X ). A model of this spine or sword tree which the deceased has to climb and in the process of which he becomes impaled, is put on the particular section where it is depicted. When a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba reads the specific book ${ }^{9} T \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{s}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr ${ }^{2} \mathrm{t}$ 'u, and when he comes to the passage: (see l.c., p.69) ' ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{o}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} \mathrm{bo}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{di}-{ }^{2}$ ddo pronounced a ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Hoa}-{ }^{2}$ lü etc. etc. and in the centre of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi} \cdot{ }^{2}$ wùa ( $=$ hell) ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{1} \mathrm{r}^{2}{ }^{2}$ gsi ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr was destroyed as if burnt by fire", the spiny tree is destroyed, thus freeing the soul which is escorted to its next trial and obstruction. The soul becomes now caught in the ${ }^{8}$ dso. ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{1}$ na, the black pot in hell in which the souls are tortured by being boiled in it. A miniature pot is placed on the section in queston (see l.c., plate XXII, sect. 16, p.81), and when the passage "The soul may have been caught in the black pot in hell" is chanted, the pot is smashed.

The last object is a square box with a lid, also made of barley flour dough. Within it is a small figure representing the deceased, and on top of the lid sits the ox-headed being ${ }^{1}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ ndshi, the Indian Yama, all made from the above dough. Sometimes an inverted copper kettle, with money placed inside, is used instead. When the passage (see l.c., p. 113-115) "and with the iron trident he opens the ${ }^{2}$ Tsan- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ggv}$ and the soul is led out" is chanted, the officiating ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba with his trident opens the lid and takes out the small image, signifying that the soul of the deceased has been redeemed.

These are all the objects placed on the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{p}$ 'i. The titles of the books chanted with the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{H a ̈}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i are as follows: ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{1}$ ndshi or the striking (down) of the ${ }^{1}$ Lä- ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou.

For description and translation see l.c., pp. 45-55.
Certain corrections to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{-8} \mathrm{ch}$ ' ou ${ }^{1}$ ndshi translated from ms. no 1706 are here recorded.

On page 47 l .c., it should read: You were unable to place the ${ }^{1}$ bpö- ${ }^{2} 8 s^{4}$ and

On page 50 l.c., it should read: "Unable to arrive in the realm where your grandparents dwell or where your ancestors reside. The actual meaning of
 be unable to arrive at the place where his ancestors dwell.

On page 51 , the words should be ${ }^{8}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}$ a. ${ }^{1}$ ddo instead of ${ }^{3} p$ 'a-dto. On page 52 it should read ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndü} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ou instead of Ndü-ch'ou. The following ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ou also occur: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{D}_{\mathrm{z}} \overline{\mathrm{I}}=$ jackal-headed ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~L}$ ä- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ou, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ds}^{\prime}$ 'ì ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzu}=$ hell, goatheaded ${ }^{1} L \ddot{a}-{ }^{3}$ ch'ou, stag and serow-headed ${ }^{1} L \ddot{a}-{ }^{8}{ }^{\text {chin'ou, deer and musk-deer- }}$

On page 53 should be added: the dragon-headed and lion-headed ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}$ - follows: ${ }^{1}$ Mbbŭe ${ }^{2}$ nddü̈ ${ }^{2} s 6-{ }^{3} h a ̆ r{ }^{3} b \bar{u}={ }^{1}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ ndshi ${ }^{2}$ ngo- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{mbu}$ who holds (or carries) the book and the board (marked by) notches (which record the sins of the deceased). The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathbf{u}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{o}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{na}=$ the demons of one clan, originated from one bone, dwelling in hell.

 ${ }^{\text {a }}$ Lü (old Nāgas) with white heads. These are demon Nāgas who dwell in the lake of blood in hell. As they have a head-dress like that of a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{ddv}$ demon ${ }^{12}$ of the 18 realms of hell and the lake of blood. This ms. belongs to the ${ }^{9} \mathrm{Dz}^{\prime}$ i. 'zaw-"gyi-"mun ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony.

Since the publication of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ ' iu 1937, l have collected many mss. bearing the title of ' ${ }^{1}$ ä. $^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{1}$ ndshi, they are: nos. $4001,4225,8062$, 8063, 8064, 8065 . They are all in my private library.

 ${ }^{3}$ chou ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{2}$ ma.
$\mathrm{A}^{2} \mathrm{dto}-{ }^{2}$ ma ('Tibetan gtor-ma) is offered to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Lä}$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{Ch}$ 'ou demons and thrown out when this book is chanted. Here belong mss. nos. 4223 and 8066 of the ${ }^{\mathbf{S}} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{-{ }^{2}}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{~N} v$ ceremony.

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{H}_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i is a long funeral scroll described and figured in detail in: $S N L$, pp. 40-119, Plates 15-41 inclusive.
${ }^{2}$ 'The ${ }^{1}$ Lä- ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou demons are explained in NNCRC, p. 382, note 766, but eapecially in SNL, pp. 45-55.
${ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ Ts'u- ${ }^{2}{ }^{s}{ }^{2}$ is the Sanskrit Makara and the Tibetan Chhu-srin, the sea crocodile or sea monster. See l.c., p. 66.
${ }^{4}{ }^{1}$ Bpö- ${ }^{2}$ gs are ceremonial sticks, as ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ byu, ${ }^{2}$ mbĕr- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$, etc. See $N N C R C$, p. 122, note 96.
 are alway arranged crosswise in front of an altar-arrangement separating the gods from the demons. They are figured in $R K M G M G$, on Plates 13,18 , and described in $S N L, p, 47$, note 1 . See also 71; NNCRC, Plate 57. Their apices are red, and their bases black they are either of bamboo or long pine wood slats pointed at both ends. Each ${ }^{2}$ ' ${ }^{\prime} k h i{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ndo has a name; they forin quite an importaut adjunct at a ceremony and a special book called ${ }^{2}$ T'khi. ${ }^{1}$ ndo ${ }^{\mathbf{1}}$ ta'a.- ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ho}$ ${ }^{2} l u i-{ }^{2} t^{\prime} u$ or the origin of the $18{ }^{2} t{ }^{\prime} k h i-{ }^{1}$ ndo is chanted in which their origin is described and their nanes given, they are actually personified guards. As their names and mounts have never been described by me, I quote from the above mentioned ms., of which I possess several copies nos. 8075, 8076 and 8077. In the Harvard-Yenching Institute Library are the following nos. 5076, of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Hagr}{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{llia}{ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\ddot{0}$ ceremony, and 3053 of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{D}$ to ${ }^{1}$ na ${ }^{3} \mathrm{k}$ ' $\ddot{0}$ ceremony.
I quote from ms., no 8077, page 10 :
 ${ }^{2}$ sso- ${ }^{9}$ dto- ${ }^{2}$ bhŭ- ${ }^{1}$ bpa- ${ }^{2}$ dsho. 8) These wo had intercourse and there 9 ) came forth 18 blood cggs. Page 11, rubric 1-10) from these werc born the $18^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{\prime} k h i{ }^{1}$ ndo. The first is called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zu}$ - jak; the 3d is ${ }^{1}$ Lo $\cdot{ }^{2} d t u ̈-{ }^{3} n g v-{ }^{1}$ niu, it rides a black, winged horse; the 4 th is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndaw}-{ }^{2}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ wùa $\cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{yu}$.
 rides a mule; the 6 th ${ }^{2} Y$ Yi- ${ }^{2}$ muàn- ${ }^{3}$ bpa- ${ }^{1} l a-{ }^{2} l l i i$, it rides a deer; the 7 th is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ng}$ v- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{3} g k o$ it rides the dragon; the 11 th is ${ }^{2} S s a w \cdot{ }^{1} d d v-{ }^{1} y \ddot{i}-{ }^{2} t^{\prime} u$, it rides a tiger-striped ox; the 12 th is ${ }^{14} A-{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ddv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{t}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}$, it rides a hack owl; the 13 th is ${ }^{1}$ Dtěr. ${ }^{2}$ ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndĕr, it rides a flaming rainbow; the 14 th is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zaw}{ }^{-2}{ }^{2} y r^{1}{ }^{1}$ na- ${ }^{2}$ 'nu, it rides a black rooster with a red breast; the 15 th is ${ }^{1}$ Dtĕr.$^{2}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ mblǔc. ${ }^{2} t^{\prime} u$, it rides a red ox; Page 14 , rubric $1-10$ ) the 16 th is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mbbŭe} \cdot{ }^{9}$ mi- ${ }^{2}$ wùa $\cdot{ }^{1} g v$.

 [p. 138, note 129, Plate 44); the 18 th is ${ }^{2}$ Mun- ${ }^{1}$ mbbŭe- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{1}$ lä, it rides a black chicken. This is the origin of the $18^{2} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} k h i{ }^{1}$ ndo. Nine ${ }^{2} t^{\prime} k h i \cdot{ }^{1}$ ndo are males carrying white axes, they descended from nine mountains; seven ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{t}^{\prime} k \mathrm{Kh}^{-1}{ }^{\mathbf{n}}$ ndo are females carrying swords, they descended from seven black valleys."

The $18^{2}$ 'khi- ${ }^{1}$ ndo have red mouthe and can suppress the enenay, and can kill all the enemies They can suppress the 'dtér demons, and the 360 demons of one bone (clan)."

In ms. no 807.5 the names are uot quite the game but their mounts are more or leas the same. Ms . no 8077 is the oldest.
${ }^{0}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{gaw}}{ }^{1}$ bpa ${ }^{3}$ ngyi $=$ the huraing of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{gaw}}{ }^{1} \mathrm{bpa}$, sce NNCRC , Plate 57, and px. planation.
${ }^{7}$ A type of casting horoscopes, see l. c., p. 198, note 301.
${ }^{8}$ A ceremony for the propitiation of the ${ }^{1}$ dtĕr $=$ headleas demons. All persons dying of all unnatural death become ${ }^{1}$ dtĕr demons. See l. c., p. 491, note 781.
${ }^{9}$ See l. c., p. 382, notes 767, 768.
${ }^{10}$ See idem supra. Both are ceremonies for the suppressing and banishing of these demons
${ }^{11}$ See l.c., p. 471, note 779.
12 See l. c., p. 89, uote 39.
${ }^{1}$ Lä. ${ }^{\mathbf{B}}{ }^{\text {dh'ou }}{ }^{1}$ ndshi is followed by:

${ }^{2} \mathrm{Mbu}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{na}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ngv}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{p}$ 'i or to break the nine black spurs (in hell).

For description and translation see l.c., pp. 55-64, Plates 19, 22. Here belong mss. nos. 8067, and 4088. In the last manuscript instead of the symbol ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{p} \mathbf{i}$ is that of ${ }^{3} l o=$ to cross over.

${ }^{3}$ Ts'u- ${ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr ${ }^{2}$ 'tu or
The origin of the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~T} \mathrm{~s}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}-{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{sin}^{2}$ ndaw tree.

For description and translation see l.c., pp. 65-72; Plate 22. Here belongs $m s$. no 4091 (in part). Ms. no 1743 served for the translation it is in the library of Harvard-Yenching Institute of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

${ }^{2}$ Tsan- ${ }^{2} n g v^{2} k \cdot u{ }^{2} p$ 'u or Open the gates of the ${ }^{2}$ Tsan- ${ }^{2}$ ngv.

For description and translation see l.c., pp. 112-115, Plates 25, fig. 1, section 37; 39, 40, fig. 1.
Here also belong mss. no 4102 and 4091 (in part).

${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä} \quad{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~K}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} \cdot{ }^{3}$ lo ${ }^{2}$ t'u or The origin of the wheel (Mandala).

For description and translation see l.c., pp. 115-118.
Here belong the more recently acquired mss. nos. 4089, 4216, 4217, 4093. Ms. no 1726 in the library of Harvard-Yenching Institute served for the translation.

${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i, ${ }^{2}$ gkv- ${ }^{3}$ chung or
The road the gods decide, first part.

For deacription and translation see l.c., pp. 74-96.
The translation was made from ms. no 907 in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, Cambridge, Massachusetts, and the following manuscript no 1079:

${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i, ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}$ mann. ${ }^{3}$ chung or
The road the gods decide, last part

There are many different versions, and some ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i texts are divided into three parts, and then contain a ${ }^{3}{ }^{10}{ }^{3}$ chung or second (middle) part. I possess quite a number of mss., pertaining to these titles and long funeral scrolls, the latter have with two exceptions been given to Harvard-Yenching Institute. One is in the Musee Finot at Hanoi, and another at the Museum of the China Border Research Society in Chengtu, Szechuan. Usually there are two parts to the ${ }^{1} \mathbf{H a ̈}$ a long one, over 30 feet in length, containing the remainder, ending usaally in ${ }^{1}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ yi- ${ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ de's realm,

Ms. no 1079 in the Harvard-Yenching Institute Library, which bears the above title, begins differently from other ms., inscribed ${ }^{3}$ man ${ }^{3}$ chung and $I$ shall give here the first few pages which occur in no other ms., bearing the above name.

Page 1

Rubric 1) Once upon a time, before the father and mother of ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{lo}$ had appeared, 2) and before the parents of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzin}^{\text {and }}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}$ 'o 3) there came into being the father ${ }^{2} S s a ̈-{ }^{2} s s a ̈-{ }^{2} \mathbf{z h o u}-{ }^{1} p{ }^{\prime}$ ér ${ }^{1}{ }^{4}$ ) and the mother ${ }^{1} B p a-{ }^{2} c h w u a-{ }^{2} p$ 'u${ }^{2}$ munn ${ }^{2}$. 5) These two had intercourse 6) and there were born the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dzi}^{1}$ and Rubric 1) The two had intercourse and ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo was born. 2) When he was born, he was born of the five elements ( ${ }^{2} n d z i-{ }_{-1}{ }^{1}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ wuà $-{ }^{1}$ ssü). 3) On ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2} l o$ 4) and on the land illness was liberated; illness was spread by the five elements 5) as illness of the flesh by the soil, that of the bones by the rocks that of the respiration by the wind; 6) those of the hair by the grass, etc. 7) the illness of the body, hand, feet, and head were also spread by the five elements. 8) ${ }^{3}$ Shi. ${ }^{2}$ lo could not divest himself of his illness.

Page 2

Page 3

Rubric 1) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo caused a great magic 2) and he transferred his illness on to the sheep and chicken. 3) ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Haw}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa-4) ${ }^{3} \mathrm{llü}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ch}$ 'i the father of the sheep was born 5) and ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Haw}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{3} / \mathrm{liu}-{ }^{1}$ zherr the mother of the sheep came also forth. 6) These two had intercourse and there was born a white sheep; 7) this was the sheep of the gods hence to that sheep he could not transfer his illness; 8) a varicolored sheep was born and that was the sheep of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}$ and his illness could not be transferred to that sheep. 9) A black sheep was born, this was the sheep of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{3}$ ch'ou with which demons were repaid; 10) a drah. colored sheep Rubric 1) was born and on this and the chicken he could transfer the illness. etc. etc. etc. (In ancient days at the cremation ground where the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{2} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{i}$ was apparently chanted a sheep was offered. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{khi}$ hold the belief that the illness of which a person died remains with the corps. A purification ceremony was then performed ( ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ĕr) on every part of his body and the illness was transferred to the sheep before the actual cremation took place.)

Page 4

6) With the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Dti}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ds}^{2} \mathrm{bpö}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}^{5}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ou ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime}$ err is performed and ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}{ }^{\prime}$ ou ${ }^{3}$ shu ${ }^{\text {f }}$,
7) and ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo is cleansed of ${ }^{3}$ ch'ou etc. 8) Medicine which issues from the top of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}$ - ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{boa}-{ }^{1}$ daw ${ }^{1}$ ndzër Rubric 1) reached the Garuda, with the medicine proceeding from the Garuda's egg ${ }^{3}{ }^{\text {ch'ou }}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}$ 'ěr is performed on the deceased, and the ${ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{c h}}$ 'ou ( $=$ impurities) have vanished and the deceased is purified. 2) The body and soul of the deceased are at peace. 3) The deceased has gone to pray in the land of the ${ }^{2} \overline{0}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$ ( $=$ all the gods). 4) ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi} \cdot{ }^{3} l o$, to day we beseechingly invite you 5) when we separate the living from the dead 6) and the land of the ${ }^{3}$ Ssu ( $=$ Life god) from the land of the dead, etc. 8) the white lands from the black lands. 9) Today we beseechingly invite you, you are the son of the white lands of the land of the gods, you are cleansed of impurities and 10 ) you are meditating on the gods.

Page 5

Page 6

${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo is admonished not to return to the lake of blood in hell, not to return to the land of the Preta, the Brute world, and Asuras, nor descend again to the realm of the 360 demons. The officiating ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ pronounces: I. the ${ }^{2}$ dto-and to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{P} \cdot{ }^{\prime} \mathrm{o}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bö}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mi}{ }^{-}{ }^{9} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{di}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddo}$ and to your 360 disciples over the white hemp bridge, on the sound of the conch, on the sound of the ${ }^{2}$ ds- 1 lĕr and hand-drum ( $={ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{O}}-{ }^{1} h$ ăr ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{o}$ ), on the golden lamp, on the 13 flowers, on the 13 junipers, on the 13 arrows. We escort you on the white goat and white sheep. wr escort you changed into a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{k}$ 'wai ( ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}$ wa) ${ }^{7}$ riding a white horse (sce Plate VI)

Page 8

to the land of ${ }^{2}$ Mùnan- ${ }^{3} l l u ̈-{ }^{1}$ ddu ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ, we escort you to your parents, to your
 We escort you to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyu}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{aw}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{e} r-{ }^{3} \mathrm{dzi}$ (your mother-in-law) and to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyu}-{ }^{1}$ aw${ }^{\text {? }}$ dso- ${ }^{-l i}$ (your father-in-law), we escort you to the land where dwell your nine paternal and seven maternal ancestors, we escort you to the four lands

Page 9

Rubric 1) where ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Boa- ${ }^{2}$ nddü dwells. 2) We escort you to ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo- ${ }^{1}$ mi${ }^{3} w u$ ( $=$ gShen-rab(s)-mi-bo), 3) to the realm of the seven golden mountains the father, 4) and to the seven blue lakes the mother (Plate VII) ${ }^{8}$, 6) we escort
 ${ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d ' u ̈ ' s$ realm, 8) to ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh $-{ }^{2} d d o-{ }^{2} g y i \cdot{ }^{2} b b u ̆$ 9) to the realm of the elephant
 ${ }^{1} d d \ddot{u}^{y} 11$ ) and to the realm of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} a w-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyj}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbǔ}{ }^{10}$.

Page 10
Rubric 1) We escort you on high to the realm of the Wish-granting tree (see Plate IX) on the top of which the Garuda dwells. 2) We escort you to the realin realm of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{yu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{ggü} \cdot{ }^{2}$ hwua, 5) we escort you to the realm of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ssï}^{-}{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{wu}$ ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gkyi}$, 6) to the realm of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}$ ' $o$ - ${ }^{3}$ mi- ${ }^{-g g i u}-{ }^{2}$ de 7) we escort you. 8) We escort you

Page 11

Rubric 1) on high we escort you. 2) To the land where the tops of the green junipers are entwined, 3) and to the land of the ${ }^{4} \mathrm{Yu}-{ }^{2} / 0^{2}{ }^{2} d t o{ }^{-2} \mathrm{ma}$ from the top of which blood issues ${ }^{11}$. 4) You are led on high to the realm of ${ }^{2}$ Dshi ${ }^{2}$ ctiwua

 ${ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u ̈$ (and ) 11) to ${ }^{2} M i-{ }^{1} n i u \cdot{ }^{3} t^{\prime} \cdot{ }^{2} \cdot{ }^{2} y u$

Page 12

 $\left.{ }^{2} b b u \check{ }{ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u ̈, 3\right)$ to ${ }^{2} S h i-{ }^{2}$ chwua- ${ }^{2} n v-{ }^{2} m u n{ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u ̈ \prime$ 's realm, to 4) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gu}-{ }^{1} b o ̈-$

 11) $\mathrm{To}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime}{ }^{2}-{ }^{2}$ chwua

Page 13

Rubric 1) ${ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1}$ ddü we escort you. 2) To ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{2}$ ddo ${ }^{1}$ ma- ${ }^{-\overline{n g} g a w ~}{ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u ̈ ’ s$ ${ }^{1}$ Bpö- ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{2}$ sso- ${ }^{1}$ ts'o ${ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1} d d u i ' s$ realm; 5) To the realm of the great god of the five elements ( ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ndzī}-{ }^{1}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ wuà- ${ }^{1}$ ssü ${ }^{2} h a ̈-{ }^{1}$ ddü) we lead you on high; 6) de-

Page 14

 ${ }^{3}$ mi's realm on high we lead you. 3) You are escorted to the Swastika gods of the 33 brilliant realms on high, 4) to the lands of the brilliant sun and of the dazzling moon ${ }^{15}$, the scintillating stars and planets, to the white land on high we lead you. 5) We guide you to ${ }^{3}$ Shi. ${ }^{2}$ lo's flower throne, 6) to his silver and golden palaces where fires are not needed, 7) and where lamps need not be lighted, to that land we conduct you. 8) You are guided to the land where silver and gold give forth breath, and food is not needed. 9) To ${ }^{3}{ }^{\mathbf{S}}{ }^{\text {Shi- }}$ los realm

Page 15

Rubric 1) where white wind and white clouds envelope your body and no clothes are needed. 2) To where work need not be performed and you will be doing nothing but writing and chanting (holy) books. 3-4) You are conducted to the land of all the gods; 5) to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}^{-}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zo}^{-}{ }^{3} \mathrm{ho}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{gko}$ 's realm, 6) to the realm of the deity where there is a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Gkyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathrm{o} \cdot{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{lo}^{18}$ as brilliant as the moon, 7) we escort you on high. 8) We guide you to the stage of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Aw}^{-}{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr. ${ }^{3}$ wùa, 9) to Rubric 1) ${ }^{1}$ zaw- ${ }^{2}$ ds'ĭ, and $\left.{ }^{2} \mathrm{~T}^{\prime} \mathrm{i}-{ }^{3}{ }^{3} l \mathrm{ui}-2\right)^{1}$ zaw- ${ }^{2}$ wùa. [This is now followed by long Dhāraṇīs which end in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{gv}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{bp}{ }^{2}-{ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ ssaw.]

Page 16

Page 17

 ${ }^{1}$ ssaw; 7) ${ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{1}$ ddo ${ }^{2}$ bpa ${ }^{1} \overline{n g o}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ de ${ }^{2}$ dto 8) ${ }^{2}$ gv- ${ }^{2}$ bpä- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw, 9) ${ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ de ${ }^{2}$ bpa
 11) ${ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{2} n g v^{2} \mathbf{b p a}{ }^{1}$ ma

Page 18

 ${ }^{2}$ wùa $\left.{ }^{2} g v-{ }^{2} b p a ̈-{ }^{1} s s a w ; ~ 3\right) ~{ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{3}$ chěr $\left.{ }^{1} d s h i{ }^{2} b p a{ }^{2}{ }^{2} d{ }^{2} b p a ̈ 4\right) ~{ }^{2}$ ma ${ }^{2} g v-{ }^{2} b p a ̈-{ }^{1}$ ssaw; 5) ${ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{2}$ nyü ${ }^{2}$ nyi ${ }^{2}$ bpa ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ yi $^{1}$ zaw ${ }^{1}$ ndshĕr ${ }^{2} l v{ }^{2}$ nds ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ch'i ${ }^{2}$ gv- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ppä- ${ }^{1}$ ssaw; 6) ${ }^{2}$ ssaw ${ }^{3}$ chĕr ${ }^{2}$ gkaw ${ }^{2}$ bpa 7) ${ }^{2}$ mùan ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ sso ${ }^{2} g v^{-}{ }^{2} b p a ̈-{ }^{1}$ ssaw.
8) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo or the deceased is escorted on high to the realm of the great Rubric 1) we guide you; 2) to the realm of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Zo}_{0}{ }^{1} y u_{-}{ }^{2} l a-{ }^{1} n a ̈{ }^{2} h a ̈{ }^{1} d d u ̈$, 3) we escort you on high to the 33 realms of the Swastika gods. 4) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo you have arrived on high at 5) the realm where once born one does not die; 6) arrived at the realm where when anything once written does not perish; 7) you have arrived at the stage where dwells ${ }^{2}$ Aw- $-{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{1}$ mbĕr- ${ }^{2}$ wùa $8-9$ ) arrived at the stage where dwell your ancestors; 10) you have arrived at the stage where your people dwell, 11) arrived where dwell your grandfather and grandmother, 12) arrived where dwell your father

Page 19

Page 20

Rubric 1) and your mother; 2) you have arrived at the realm of your paternal ancestors $={ }^{2} S_{s u-}{ }^{2} b b u \check{-1}{ }^{-1} 0^{3}{ }^{3} k h y u ̈, 3$ ) you have arrived in the realm of your maternal ancestors $={ }^{1} \mathrm{P}$ 'ä- ${ }^{2}$ mbe. ${ }^{3} \mathrm{lo} \cdot{ }^{1}$ nddü; $4-5$ ) you have arrived in the realm of ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}$ and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$, brilliant as the rays of the sun; 6) arrived in the realm as brilliant as the rays of the moon and dazzling as the waves of ripe grain (v.s.) 7) deceased your body and soul are at peace and beautiful.

NOTES

 of the Näga, the former and the Naga had two mothers. See NNCRC, pp. 392-393, and p. 526. note 806.

 whom nothing is known.
${ }^{3}$ See l.c., p. 84, note 19.
 ${ }^{2} k h i$, this book.
${ }^{5}$ See l. c., pp. 792-796 and note 1038; also p. 89, note 38.
${ }^{6}$ See MBC, pp. 22-27. The meaning is impurities amoke out. It is a purification ceremony. See also NNCRC, 1. c.. p. 277, note 589.
${ }^{7}$ The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{-} \mathrm{kh}$. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wai is also called ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ k'wa, it is the Tibetan mdos, which word has no resemblance whatever to the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot \mathrm{I}^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ term. In Lessing's paper "a Lamaist Ritual" in Semitic and Oriental Studies, University of Califoraia Publication in Semitic Philology Vol. XI (1951) p. 282, note 15, the mdos is called nam-mkhah. In the text which Lessing tranalated and published in the above paper, the mdos are called nam-mkhah, this is translated at aky or canopy. It resembles very much a cobweb. There is no question that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{n}} \mathrm{r}^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ word is a loanword from the Tibetan; it is well known that the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} .{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ cannot prononnce final consonants hence nam became na. On page 266 of Lessing's paper the nam-mkhah is figured (1).
 or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wa. He rides a white horse in the shape of a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wa (see Plate VI) followed by a white, winged sheep of the gods, and by a ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba on a white horse with ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ds} \cdot{ }^{-1}$ ler and fag who guides the deceased; I now doubt that the mounted figure represents 'Shi- $\mathbf{I}_{0}$ himself. for the text says he is escorted on a white horse transfigured into a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-2}{ }^{2}$ 'wai. (See SNL, pp. 91, 92, Plate 28, fig. 1, sect. 50, also Plate 26, figures 1 and 2.) In figure one he is sitting on a diair wrapped in a mantle his head is a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wai wearing a hat; ${ }^{3}$ 'd'ou ${ }^{2}$ 'c'ĕr = purification by Amrta is performed over him. The text also states that his soul is changed into seen above the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba in the section mentioned, a butter lamp is below it.
${ }^{8}$ The seven golden mountains and seven turquoise blue lakes are figured on the ' $\mathrm{Ba}^{\text {a }}$ vhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i see SNL, pp. 93-94, Plate 28, fig. 2, sections 55-57, and Plate 29, fig. 1, sections 58, 59. See also Plate VII this book. The lakes and the corresponding golden mountains are called:

 mountain os which the white lion dwells. 3) The Naga lake with the red or, and the golden mountain on which the white ox of the gods dwells. 4) The lake of the Nägarija ${ }^{2}$ Dso. ${ }^{1}$ na-${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{1}$ shi or the golden fishes, and the mountain on which the tiger dwells. 6) The lake of the white conch and the mountain of the white leopard.

The lake of the white ${ }^{3}$ dsu- ( ${ }^{1}$ p'ěr) or diving bird, the Chinese Shui-hu-lu, and the golden mountain we which the peacock dwells. These names have been taken from ms., no 907, pp. 49, 50, 51, in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute. On Plate VII, the animals in the lakes and on the mountains differ from those here enumerated.

- Nothing is known of this deity.
${ }^{10}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{a w}^{2}{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ, the ruler over all creatures having blood. See l.c., p. 101, Plate 34, fig. 1 , sect. 69.
${ }^{11}$ See l. ㄷ., p. 104.
${ }^{12}$ See NNCRC, p. 131, note 111.

${ }^{18}$ This is expressed ${ }^{2}$ dze. ${ }^{1}$ ddü ${ }^{2}$ buy̆ ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{za}=$ wheat large dasgling; when the wheat is yellow pression to describe the radiance of the moon.
 NNCRC, p. 176, note 254.

${ }^{2}$ NYI. ${ }^{2}$ WUA ${ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{CH}$ 'WUA ${ }^{1} \mathrm{DU}$

Just before the coffin is taken out and after the 'Hä ${ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} p$ 'i books have been chanted, each of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{dto}^{1}$ mbas present, (usually six), will chant one book of the six, collectively called ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{-2}$ wùa ${ }^{3}$ ch'wua ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dui}=$ hell six realms. This is a misnomer for the six realms represent the six existences into which man can be reborn after his demise. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyj}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wua ${ }^{3}$ ch'wùa ${ }^{1}$ dü are undoubtedly identical with the Bardo of Seeking Rebirth or assist in such a rebirth (see EvansWentz, The Tibetan Book of the Dead, pp. 156-157). See also NNCRC, p.86, note 23.

The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ begin with ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{1}$ dü or realm of hell, it is also called ${ }^{2}$ Shi. ${ }^{3}$ ddo ${ }^{1}$ dü, the name ${ }^{2}$ shi. ${ }^{3}$ ddo has no meaning and is apparently a loan word, but whether it is of Tibetan or Sanskrit origin cannot be determined.

${ }^{2} \mathrm{~N}^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ - ${ }^{\text {wù̀ }}{ }^{1}$ dü or ${ }^{2}$ Shi- $^{3}$ ddo ${ }^{1}$ dü or
The realm of Hell.

Of this title there are the following mss. in the collection: nos. 1724 and 1996, of these two the first is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute; 4096 belongs to a beautiful set exquisitely illuminated. This set was acquired by me by purchase with a set of illuminated ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Shi}^{-}{ }^{2} l o{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ funeral mss., which belonged to an old ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ of the village of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La} \cdot{ }^{3}$ ts' ${ }^{\prime} \dot{\mathbf{u}}-{ }^{2}$ wùa near An Shan or Table mountain, 15 li south of Li -chiang. Annother ms., no 8070 is a new one from ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Mun}^{-}{ }^{3}$ shwua- ${ }^{2}$ wùa. The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{-}{ }^{2}$ wùa ${ }^{2}$ ch'wua ${ }^{1}$ dii ms., has 22 folios, of which the recto of each is illuminated. Each page is divided horizontaly into five lines. It is beautifully written in simple pictographs. The text consists of Dhärañi or magic formulas the chanting of which assists the deceased through the 22 realms of hell, for the book denotes $22^{\text {i }}$ dü or lands; the deities figured on each recto folio are not named and can therefore not be determined. They are in Buddha-like position, their hands holding various objects as the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{bp} \ddot{o}^{-}$ ${ }^{1}$ mba or Amrta vase, flags, butter lamps, coral, lotuses, tridents, sword, or are in various mudra. For the 14 th realm the miniature represents a ${ }^{2}$ non. ${ }^{1}$ bii or jewel (nor-bu). The last miniature for the 22 nd realm represents a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{m b a}$ holding in his left a ${ }^{2} b p \ddot{o}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ and in his right a trident. The Dhāraṇis end in $\boldsymbol{z}_{\text {sso }}{ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2}$ haw (svāha). The text can be easily transcribed but as it is untranslatable or unintelligible it is here omitted for lack of space.

```
\({ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}^{-3}{ }^{3}\) ndaw \({ }^{1}\) dii or \({ }^{1} N d i u{ }^{2}\) dh'ou \({ }^{1} d i u\) or
The realm of the Preta.
```

The Preta as has already been explained are hungry ghosts who have a very slender throat and an enormous belly. they cannot swallow anything because of their narrow oesophagus or gullet, and all food which touches their mouth turns into flames. This is the second phase of existences in which man may be reborn. (See SNL, pp.82-85.)

There are three mss. bearing that title in the collection, uos. 1741, 4098 and 8069. The first is in the Library of Harvard-Yending Institute, the second belongs to the beautiful illuminated set previously mentioned, and the third is a new one not illustrated and hails from the village of 'Mun- ${ }^{\text {'shn }}$ wua- ${ }^{\text {w wia. }}$ The two last are in my library.

The ms. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi} \cdot{ }^{3}$ ndaw ${ }^{1} \mathrm{du}$ or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndü} \cdot{ }^{3}$ chou ${ }^{1} \mathrm{du}$ consists also of 22 folios, the recto of each of which is delicately illuminated. The deities are not named. Some hold objects previously mentioned, others a rosary, an arrow, trident, etc. On folio 21, for the 21 st realm of ${ }^{2} Y_{i-3}{ }^{3}$ ndaw, are various emblems instead of a deity. The last folio depicts a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{2}$ mba. The text, as in the former, is composed of untranslatable Dhāraṇi. The third is:

This is the realm of the dumb animals in which man may be reborn after his decease. (See l.c., pp. 85-88.) The Brute world has 21 realms and thus the $m s$., contains 21 folios, each has again an illuminated section on the recto. There are three mss. in the collection nos. 1718, 4099 and 8071. The first is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, the other two in my collection. No 4099 belongs to the beautifully illuminated set, the last is a comparatively new one without figures. The deities figured are of various colors and hold different attributes as arrows, jewels, strings, a branch with a Garuda sitting on it, a canopy, a scepter, a ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{ma}$; realms 13,14 and 15 represent ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1}$ mbas holding one an arrow and ${ }^{2} d s-1{ }^{1}$ lĕr, one a conch and ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{2} b \ddot{b}$ or dagger, one in mudra; on 19 a $^{2} \mathbf{d t o}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ is also figured. On folio 21 are depicted a jewel, ${ }^{1}$ lěr- ${ }^{2}$ mbbŭ Amrta vase. Folio 22 depicts a ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba but there is no text as the Brute world has only 21 realms.

The fourth volume is:
约
${ }^{2} \mathrm{Haw}^{2} \mathrm{ma} \cdot{ }^{4} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{du}$ or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Nga}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gya}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dui}$ or
The realm of the Asura.

This is the realm where constant fighting takes place. It is the land of the titans, the Tibetan Lha-ma-yin, who were expelled because of their pride from the realm of the gods and are therefore also known as the "Ungodly Spirits". They live and die waging unending war with the gods in the realm above them. See l.c., pp. 91-97.

The land of the titans has also 20 separate divisions and so the mss., bearing the above titles have 20 folios, each with a deity or a ${ }^{2}$ dio ${ }^{1}$ mba on the recto. Here belong mss. nos. 4097 and 8072 both of which are in my vollection. One ms., which belonged to the set in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute was destroyed by the Japanese during their occupation of Shanghai were the ms., was to be reproduced in color.

The fifth volume is:

This is the human world where the deceased may be again reborn as a human being. (See l.c., pp. 88-91.)
Here belong mss. nos. 1723, 4100, 8073 and 8078. The first is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, the other three are in my library. There are 22 sections in the human world, thus the mss., contain 22 folios with Dhāraṇi which assist the deceased to pass on through them without being again reborn as man, and on to the coveted realm of the gods. The first 20 folios depict deities only, the 21 st figures a conch, a lotus flower, incense burner, Amrta vase and a dish with offerings. Folio 22 has on the recto the picture of ${ }^{2}$ dto $\cdot^{1}$ mba holding $a^{2}$ bpö- ${ }^{1}$ mba and a staff resembling a trident. All the folios are marked ${ }^{1} \overline{\mathrm{ng}}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ sso below the miniatures except the first one which is marked ${ }^{3}$ wuà $-{ }^{1}$ sso. If these two designations are identical with ${ }^{3} \mathrm{P} \cdot{ }^{\prime} \mathbf{-}^{2}$ ddo the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~d}^{1}{ }^{-1}{ }^{1}$ mbas could not explain.

The sixth volume is:

${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}{ }^{1} \mathrm{~d} \ddot{\mathrm{u}}$ or ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{~b} b \mathrm{u} \mathrm{c}^{2}$ ddo ${ }^{1}$ dü or
The realm of the gods.

This is the realm of the devas or gods in which a man may be reborn after his demise. He can be assisted by the ${ }^{2}$ dto $^{1}$ mbas by the chanting of the Dhāraṇis contained in this book.

The realm of the gods has 18 divisions, and in this ms., one folio is devoted to each of these 18 sub-realms as they may be called. The recto of each of the 18 folios has a painting of either a deity or a ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba, except folios 16 and 17 which have, the first 6 sacred emblems, and the second a large butter lamp resting on a cloud. The figure of the 13th realm is a yellow-colored deity holding a rosary, and is overshadowed by a Garuḍa. (See l.c., pp. 97-108, also p. 118, Plate 41.) There are three mss., in the collection nos. 1728,4101 and 8074. The first is in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute, the other two belong to me personally. Ms. 4101 is the last of the set beautifully illuminated.

Someday it may be possible to identify these many Dhārani, but they would have to be transcribed first and published, each folio with its deity, to preserve it for future students. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{}{ }^{\text {wùa }}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ch}$ 'wua ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{dü}$ books are very rare, and I have come across only very few complete sets.

${ }^{1}$ DTV ${ }^{3} \mathrm{KHI}$ or
THE LOWERING OF THE 'DTV

The last act of the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas after the funeral ceremony is the lowering of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$ tree when at the same time this book is chanted by one of the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas.

It becomes clear from the text of this ms., that the main function of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$ tree is to suppress the ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~T} \mathrm{~s}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{2}{ }^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{2}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzěr or the sword-tree in hell on which the souls of the deceased become impaled as they must pass from one realm in hell to the other. Also to escort the deceased over the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}^{2}{ }^{2} / v^{1}$ and the ${ }^{1} d t v$ tree on high to the realm of the gods.

Of this text there are two mss., in the collection no 4230 and the one from which the translation has been made no 1074 which is in the Library of Har-vard-Yenching Institute.

Translation of text

Page 1

Rubric 1) I, the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba, like the chief, pronounce to you born of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Y}_{u}$ clan, 2) that you have been escorted to ${ }^{2} S s u-{ }^{2} b b u ̆-{ }^{2} l o-{ }^{3} k h y u ̈$ and ${ }^{1} P \cdot \ddot{a}-{ }^{2} m b e-{ }^{3} l o-$ ${ }^{1}$ nddü; 3) like the crane which has gone to the horizon of the white clouds, 4) and like the tiger which has again gone romping over the high mountain, 5) like the stag which has departed to the horizon of the black spurs, 6) and the fish to the dark, deep waters; 7) like the yak who has again rejoined the green alpine meadows over which the clouds gather. 8) You have gone riding your horse to ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{yi} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{mbu}$

Page 2

Rubric 1) and gone to the top of Mount Kailas where you liberated your dog. 2) ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}{ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo's 360 disciples have escorted him 3 ) on high to the 33 realms of the ${ }^{2} \delta{ }^{1}$ nä ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}^{2}$. 4) He has been escorted on high to his father corted on high to his grandfather ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{3} \mathrm{ds} \ddot{a}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{bbu}{ }^{4}, 8$ ) and to his grandmother ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La}^{-}{ }^{9} \mathrm{dsä}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{gyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{mun}^{\mathbf{3}} ;$ 9) he has been escorted on high to the 18 th storey heaven. 10) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo

Page 3

Rubric 1) was escorted on high to the house of the gods, 2) to his great grandparents and 3) his parents, 4-5) escorted out of the 18 realins in hell on high, 6) he has gone on high, escorted over the 18 faces (sides) of ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{B}^{2} \cdot{ }^{2}$ ssi-
 ${ }^{3} \mathrm{ch}^{\prime} \mathrm{j}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{din}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{ddo}^{0}$ erected the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dtv}$ tree and the white ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}^{-} \cdot{ }^{2} \mid \mathrm{v}^{7}$ and with them

Page 4

Rubric 1) he suppressed the ${ }^{3}$ Ts' $\cdot \cdot^{2}$ ssi- $\cdot{ }^{2}$ na-'bpŭ and his spiny tree, and the thousand hundred 'Lä. ${ }^{8} \mathrm{ch'ou}$ of the 18 realms of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa ( $=$ hell). 2) ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Yü}$ ${ }^{8}$ mun- $\left.{ }^{2}\right]$ lui- ${ }^{2}$ ssic your soul has been escorted to the 33 realms of the swastika gods, 3) on the arrow 4) to ${ }^{2}$ mbu- ${ }^{1} n a . .$. ? 5) One day on the horizon of the celestial gods on high, 6) there died ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}^{\prime}$ wua- ${ }^{1}$ dtv- ${ }^{1}$ mberr ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ ddv ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gyi}^{8}{ }^{7}$ ) and his ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ $-{ }^{2}$ ssä. ${ }^{3}$ ngu ${ }^{9}$ over the turquoise plowshare, 8) and over the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv} 9$ ) he led the deceased on high 10) and suppressed the nine celestial ${ }^{1}$ Ddv and ${ }^{1} D_{s}$ ä

Page 5
Rubric 1) over the golden plow share and the great 'dtv tree 2) he led the deceased on high 3) and suppressed the 9 terrestrial ${ }^{2}$ Mun and ${ }^{1}$ Ghügh demons. 4) One generation on the top of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{na} \cdot{ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ shi. ${ }^{2} \mathrm{lo}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$ ( $=$ Mount Sumeru, and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{dtv}$ tree on high, 8 ) and with them he suppressed the nine ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ sur $\cdot{ }^{1}$ ndo demons ${ }^{14}$. 9) One generation ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ Mùan. $^{2}$ zo- ${ }^{-}$bpä- ${ }^{2}$ dsä died 10) his ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{D}$ sä-ebcorted the deceased on high,

Page 6

Rubric 1) and with them he suppressed the ${ }^{1}$ Ddv and ${ }^{1}$ Dsä demons. 2) One generation ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~L}$ lü- ${ }^{2}$ mun ${ }^{2}{ }^{1}$ 'ö- ${ }^{1}$ ssi died in the dense black forest; 3) his ${ }^{2}$ diocorted the deceased on high 5) and suppressed the demons of the black cloud the deceased on high 9) and suppressed his enemy ${ }^{2}$ Mùan- ${ }^{-l / u ̈} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2}$ ndzĭ.

Page 7

Kubric 1) he escorted the deceased on high 2) and he suppressed the nine wood element 'ddv demons. 3) One generation died on the top of Mount Su - quoise ${ }^{1}$ zhi- ${ }^{2}$ lv and the ${ }^{1}$ dtv tree 6) on high, 7) and they suppressed ${ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}$ - the 1000 million 'Ddv and 'Dsä demons. 9) One generation ${ }^{2}$ Gkaw-llä-'ta'ü corted him over the silver ${ }^{1}$ ghi. $\cdot \frac{2}{}$ v and the ${ }^{1}$ dtv tree 11) on high,

Page 8

Rubric 1) and he suppressed the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Yi}^{-3}{ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{ndaw}{ }^{20}$, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyü}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{dso}^{21}$ the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'o and ${ }^{2}$ ndshi ${ }^{22}$ and ${ }^{1}$ Ndo and ${ }^{1} k h y i u$ demons ${ }^{23}$. 2) This is now repeated for the family of the to-day who at the death of a member call 3) the ${ }^{2}$ dto. ${ }^{2}$ mba, give him silver, gold, turquoise, carnelian, a conch, 4) precious objects, coral, shoes, garments 9 kinds of cloth, ${ }^{3}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}(u, 5)$ leopard and tiger skins 6) and escort the deceased over the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{zhi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{l}$ v and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Dtv}$ tree 7) from the place where the ceremony is performed on high, 8) he suppressed the thousands of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ddv}$ and ${ }^{1}$ Dsä demons Rubric 1) and the 360 demons of one bone (origin). 2) The deceased's soul is at peace and his horse's mane is beautiful. 3) All this is now repeated for the mourning son who does like the ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba previously. He asks for ${ }^{1}$ nnui and ${ }^{1} \bar{o}^{24}$ from the Life-god ${ }^{25}$. 9) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo while meditating on the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{P}^{\prime}{ }^{1}{ }^{2}{ }^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ssan}^{28}$, is led on high

Page 9

Page 10
Rubric 1) to the $360{ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ- ${ }^{1}$ yü- ${ }^{2}$ ngaw- ${ }^{1}$ la ${ }^{31}$. 2) ${ }^{3}$ Shi- $-{ }^{-1}$ o is led on high on his white horse, 3) escorted to the 18 th heaven of ${ }^{1}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{2}$ yi $^{2}{ }^{2}$ wùa- ${ }^{2} d^{32}, 4$ ) 18 th in the 18th heaven brilliant as the sun and the moon; 7) led on high to the golden house in the 18 th storey heaven, 11) to the 13 brilliant scintillating ${ }^{2}$ Ghügh- ${ }^{2}$ ddo (Swastika) ${ }^{2}$ La- ${ }^{2}$ mun- ${ }^{3}$ mi $^{37}$,

Page 11
Rubric 1) may they protect the deceased. 2) He is led on high to the 13 storey high heaven, to the house of the brilliant sun, moon, stars and ${ }^{1}$ zaw (= planets). 3-4) Led on high to within the flaming houses of the $360^{2} \mathbf{Y u}-{ }^{1}$ ma of ${ }^{1} \mathbf{P}^{\prime}$ err ${ }^{3}$ na${ }^{1}$ nddü- ${ }^{2}{ }^{2} k a n-{ }^{3}$ chung ${ }^{98}$ 5) escorted on high to the all-seeing, all-wise and able ${ }^{8}$ Dtěr- ${ }^{1}$ gko to their 360 terrestrial mansions and celestial brilliant sun, moon, stars and ${ }^{1}$ zaw ( $=$ planets). 6) ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2} l o$ is led on high on the ${ }^{2}$ ds${ }^{1}$ lěr ${ }^{3 y}$ the size of the sun and on the 7 ) ${ }^{2}$ ndaw- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{k}^{\prime} \mathbf{o}^{40}$ the size of the moon; 8) led on high on the trident ${ }^{41}$, the butter lamp, and on the white hemp bridge to the top of Mount Kailas. ${ }^{\mathbf{a}} \mathrm{Shi}^{-}{ }^{2} l o$ is escorted to his father in the 18 th storey heaven. 7) Let us have ${ }^{1} n n u$ and ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{5}, 8$ ) let us hear only good tidings, and let there be plenty of offspring.

Page 12

NOTES

${ }^{1}$ See page 9 of Introduction.
${ }^{2}{ }^{2} \delta^{1}{ }^{1}$ ä ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$, the ${ }^{9} \mathrm{O}$ and the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}$, i. e., all the gods. No ${ }^{2} d t o-{ }^{1}$ mba that I have questioned could give me the exact definition of who is meant by the ${ }^{2} 0$ and who by the ${ }^{1} H$ exeept that all the gods are meant. ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}$ always stands for god, deity, ${ }^{2} \mathbf{H a ̈}-{ }^{2} d d i j=$ great god, the Tibetan Lha-chhen, ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{mi}=$ goddess. Whether ${ }^{2} \mathbf{O}$ stands for ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{0} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{~g} k \mathrm{o} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{aw} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{gko}$ they could not state. See NNCRC, p. 91, note 42.
 former is stated to have been his grandfather. Yet in rubric 6-7) it atates that hia grandfather was ${ }^{1}$ La- ${ }^{9}$ dë̈- ${ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ. Hoffmann in his Quellen zur Bon Religion, p. 234 sarcastically remarks he was given the name of Myi-bon-lha-bon-yo-bon-rgyal-bon-thod-dkar. We have here both correct and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{La} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{~d}_{\mathrm{a}}{ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ gyi- ${ }^{2}$ bbŭ may after all be the name of his grandfather, although that name occurs not often in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2}$ khi mss.

${ }^{4-5}$ This is the only place where $I$ have ever come across these names for the grandparents of ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2} l o$, it may be however that they are his maternal grandparenta, but nothing is indicated, all other mss., mention only those I published in SNL, Part I, p. 12.
 note 166.

7 See l. c., p. 120, note 84.

${ }^{10}$ See l.c., p. 368, note 745.
${ }^{11}$ See note 74 of ${ }^{2}$ Ts'u ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{yi}^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{gkv} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{shu}{ }^{\mathbf{y}} \mathrm{la}$.
${ }^{12}$ See l.c., p. 148, note 155. He wan a terrestrial ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mba; and in alwaya mentioned together with the one in note 9 .

${ }^{14}$ The $9{ }^{2}$ Ssu- ${ }^{1}$ ndo are Näga demons; see $l$. c., pp. 73-78.
${ }^{15}$ See note 93 of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ts}^{\prime} \mathrm{u}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkv}$ - $\mathbf{3}_{\mathrm{sh}}{ }^{3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{la}$.
${ }^{16}$ See l.c., p. 526, note 807, also p. 216, note 377.
${ }^{17}$ Nothing is known of the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dio- ${ }^{1}$ mba nor the person whom he served.
${ }^{18}$ These three ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ dto ${ }^{1}$ mbas are always mentioned together, although the last one who controls the hell-beings in ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nyi}^{2}{ }^{2}$ wua is often mentioned alone. They were disciples of ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo.
${ }^{10}$ She was the demon wife of ${ }^{\text {S Shi-3lo (gShen-rab), see NNCRC, pp. 72l-725, note } 983 . ~}$

${ }^{20}$ This is the Preta world in hell. See l. c., p. 86, note 29; SNL, Part II, pp. 82-85.
${ }^{21}{ }^{1}$ Khyü- ${ }^{2}$ dso is the Brute world in which man may be reborn. See l.c., pp. 85-88; also NNCRC, p.86, note 23.
${ }^{22}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{~K}$ 'o and ${ }^{2}$ Ndshi demons are described in $M B C$, pp. 71-88, and p. 80, note 204; alpo NNCRC, p. 214, note 369.
${ }^{12}$ The ${ }^{1}$ Ndo demons are fully described and their origin related in l.c., pp. 450-451. note 775. The ${ }^{1}$ Khyui are the companions of the ${ }^{\mathbf{t}}$ Ndo demons. They cause people to see demons in the day time, and make them hear all kinds of noises at night.
${ }^{24}$ See l. c., p. 91, note 43.
${ }^{26}$ See l.c., pp. 250-251, note 527.
${ }^{26}$ See l.c., p.91, note 40.
${ }^{81}$ See l.c., p. 91, note 41.
${ }^{28}$ See l. c., p. 91, note 42.
${ }^{20}$ See l. c., p. 139, note 130.
${ }^{20}$ See l. c., pp. 135-137, note 123.
${ }^{31}$ These are the ancestral ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ngaw}^{1}$ la and are described in $l$. c., p. 276, note 582.
${ }^{22}$ He is one of the supreme deities of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} .{ }^{2} \mathbf{k h i}$, his origin is related in $l$. $c$., p. 129, note 108 , see also Plate 29.
${ }^{35}$ See l. c., p. 130, note 109, Plate 30.
${ }^{34}$ See l.c., p. 133, note 117, Plate 40.
3s30 See l.c., p. 134, note 118.
${ }^{27}$ See l.c., p. 152, note 169, Plate 49.
ss Where the black lands of the demons and the white lands of the gods adjoin. See I.c., p. 345, note 735.
${ }^{21}$ See l. c., p. 94, note 49.
40 The 'ndaw. ${ }^{1}$ k'o is the hand-drum, see l. c., p. 227, note 408.
${ }^{41}$ The trident is called ${ }^{2}$ shhu ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr $=$ iron white (ateel) ${ }^{3}$ ta'an- ${ }^{2}$ gkyi; see l.c., p. 267, note 550.
${ }^{42}$ Here he is called by his correct name.
${ }^{43}$ His mother's name is here spelled differently, see page 2, rubric 5 , the latter spelling is correct.

APPENDIX
$\begin{array}{cccccc}\text { 笔 } & \text { 撲 } & \text { 南山 } & \text { 木裏 } & \text { 永窰 } & \text { 通安州 } \\ 1 & 2 & 3 & 4 & 5 & 6\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{ccccccc}\text { 筰國 } & \text { 三賧 } & \text { 所 } & \text { 五所 } & \text { 阿土司 } & \text { 泥用鳥 } \\ 7 & 8 & 9 & 10 & 11 & 12\end{array}$

磨些象形文字字典 $\begin{array}{cccc}\text { 木亳 西康 無量河 } \\ 17 & 18 & 19 & 20\end{array}$

$\begin{array}{cccccc}\text { 押赤 } & \text { 昆明 } & \text { 再 } & \text { 中甸 } & \text { 北地 } & \text { 打 鼓 } \\ 33 & 34 & 35 & 36 & 37 & 38\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{cccccc}\text { 扇子陡 } & \text { 白水 } & \text { 木增 } & \text { 木生白 } & \text { 白沙 鄉 } \\ 39 & 40 & 41 & 42 & 43 & 44\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{cccccc}\text { 昆明 } \\ 45 & \text { 雲南 } & \text { 押赤城 } & \text { 鸟蛮 } & \text { 然 } & \text { 麼些 } \\ 47 & 48 & 49 & 50\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{cccccccc}\text { 永寧 } & \text { 塔 } & \text { 滇池 } & \text { 24 } & \text { 去 } & \text { 陽 } & \text { 夫 } & \text { 估 猔 } \\ 51 & 52 & 53 & 54 & 55 & 56 & 57 & 58\end{array}$
$\begin{array}{ccccc}\text { 民家 } & \text { 金沙江 } & \text { 泡菜 or 西茔菜 } & \text { 左所 } \\ 60 & 61 & 69 & 62\end{array}$
水酒 添
6364

PLATE I
 the foot of the Li-chiang Snow Range. All the close relatives are dressed in rough, whitish-grey hemp-cloth and accompany the coffin to the grave, except the women who are only allowed to go a certain distance outside the village. There they prostrate themselves before the coffin, while sons crawl beneath the coffin to receive the last blessings of the deceased. Distant relatives are only furnished white turbans, these are worn for weeks thereafter; sons, brothers, or other close male relatives refrain from shaving and cutting of hair for 100 days.

PLATE II

PLATE II: This type of blade armor described in a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ manuscript entitled ${ }^{\mathbf{n}} \mathrm{Ndzĕr}$ - ${ }^{1}$ ssu ${ }^{2}$ 't'u or the origin of the weapons, a book chanted at the funeral of a brave warrior, was in use during the Nan-chao Kingdom and especially during the Liu-chao. It was the dress of Mo-so (Hli-khin) and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{-2}$ khi warriors and survived for ceremonial purposes until recent days. The armor is composed of rhinoceros hide laminae lacquered red and tied together with strips of serow or deer leather. The lower edge of the armor is decorated with bunches of hair from yak tails alternating black and red. The head is protected by an iron helmet composed of narrow blades tied together with the same material. On the top of the helmet is a short nozzlelike projection which served for the tail feathers of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}^{-}{ }^{\mathrm{g} g u}-{ }^{\mathbf{g}} \mathrm{gko}-{ }^{1}$ na the black vulture of the northern grasslands, and later for those of the ${ }^{1}$ Khü̈ or Amherst pheasant. A sword of special design is carried by means of long thick leather straps, studded with bits of white conch (Turbinella pyrum L.), suspended from the shoulders. Another smaller sword was stuck in a leather girdle also studded with knobs of the white conch, while a conch-shell, reduced in size by being cut to its last whorl, was fastened to the surface of the sword sheath by means of leather straps. When a warrior fell in battle this shell was tied to his forehead.

Only five such armors survived and were used at the funeral of Mo-so and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ chiefs as described. The armor and accoutrement worn by the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} . \mathrm{r}^{2}$ khi boy shown in the picture were presented to the author by the last Mo-so chief of Yun-ning. See DNFCONKW, Plates 2-5.

PLATE III

PLATE III: ${ }^{2} \mathrm{La}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{lo}-{ }^{3}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ gko a hill and ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-}{ }^{2} k h i$ burial ground which served the village of ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{lv}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'ö, at the foot of the Li-chiang Snow Range at an elevation of 9000 feet. It is by no means a cemetary in our sense of the word, but was the place where the ashes of cremated peasants were interred after the performance of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ funerary ceremony, during the Ming Dynasty; the inscriptions on the stones are no more legible, the last ones dated back to the first Emperor of the Ch'ing Dynasty 1644.

In a ravine at the foot of the hill (actually an ancient crater), women who died in childbirth or 100 days before or after, were, and are still cre. mated there, the ashes were left in place uninterred.

PLATE IV
 ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nv} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{gkyi}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k} \cdot \mathrm{o}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{ndv}$ situated north of Li -chiang and the last ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ village of ${ }^{2}$ Ssaw- ${ }^{1}$ ssu- ${ }^{2} k$ 'a on the way to ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Nga-} \cdot{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{ba}$ on the eastern foot of the Yülung Shan (Li-chiang Snow Range). Here in these caves were deposited in former times the ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{nv}$ or effigies of departed in the shape of pine branches after the performance of the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Khi}{ }^{3} \mathrm{Nv}$ ceremony. Formerly a caretaker lived here, he was however never again replaced, and the caves have ceased to be the depository of the ${ }^{2} n v$.

In the distance the highest peak Shan-tzu-tou of the Li-chiang Snow Range.

ILLATE V: The Spirit homes of departed Mo-so erected by the peasants of Yung-ning on the southern slopes of Mount Chha-na-do-rje (Phyag-nag. rdo-rje) the Holder of the Thunderbolt in the valley of La-wa-thang at an elevation of 17,200 feet in Hsi-k'ang, west of Mu-li. The Mountain forms with two others the Rigs-gsum-mgon-po or Trimurti of the Mahāyana Buddhists in Gangs-dkar-gling territory.

These primitive structures consisting of ten of one single block of rock with a flat slab on top as roof serve as home for departed Mo-so spirits on this sacred mountain.

The ${ }^{1} H a ̈{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \boldsymbol{z h i}{ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathbf{p}$ 'i

The sections here reproduced on Plates VI to $X$ are from ${ }^{1} \mathbf{H a ̈}{ }^{\mathbf{2} z h i}{ }^{1} p$ ' $i$ which once belonged to an old ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} m b a$ of the village of ${ }^{1}$ La- ${ }^{3} t$ ' $^{\prime} \dot{u}-{ }^{2}$ wùa near An Shan or Table Mountain 15 li south of Li-chiang. It was purchased from the ${ }^{2}$ Dto- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ 's son after the demise of the former in 1940. It is now in the Library of Harvard-Yenching Institute of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

PLATE VI

PLATE VI: The two sections here reproduced are equal to nos 50 and 49 of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{H} \boldsymbol{a}{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathbf{z h i}{ }^{1} \mathbf{p}$ 'i published in $S N L$, loc.cit. In the upper part of the Plate the dragon, roaming among the clouds. Immediately below, left, is $a^{2} \mathrm{Mb}^{\mathbf{6}} \mathbf{a}^{-2} \mathrm{mi}$ or butterlamp, to the right a ${ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{dto}^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mba}$ riding a white horse, holding in his left a spear with a flag attached, and in his right he is ringing a ${ }^{2} d s-{ }^{1}$ leer, a flat, cymbal-like, metal bell with a beetle; it is also used by Tibetan Bön Lamas who call it gshang. In front of the horse is the white, winged sheep of the gods led by the white horse of ${ }^{3}$ Shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo (Gshenrab(s) changed into a ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wai or ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{k}$ 'wa. Immediately below the section is a strip representing water conventionalized as it appears on Chinese embroidery. In the section below are represented ten of the 18 blows a conch, two horns or trumpets, two carry flags, others the ${ }^{2}$ ndaw${ }^{1} k$ 'o or hand-drums and ${ }^{2}$ ds. ${ }^{1}$ lĕr. One beats a Chinese-type flat gong, and the last one the Bön-type drum struck with a curved stick.

PLATE VII: The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha} \cdot{ }^{1}$ ngyu- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{sh}$ err ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$ or the seven golden mountains, ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O}$. ${ }^{1}$ hăr- ${ }^{2}$ shĕr ${ }^{3} \mathrm{~K} h \mathrm{hu}$ or the seven turquoise-blue lakes (seas) which encircle Mount Sumeru, the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}-{ }^{3}$ na ${ }^{3}$ shi- ${ }^{2}$ lo ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ngyu}$. To the left of each mountain is a tree with a bird perched upon it, and a tiger below. On the right are seven ${ }^{2} b p \ddot{ }{ }^{-1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{mb}$ ö, deified ${ }^{2}$ dto- ${ }^{1}$ mbas. For further explanation see note 8 of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Hä}^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{zhi}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}^{\prime} \mathrm{i},{ }^{3}$ mann ${ }^{-3}$ chung of this book. The order of the animals on the mountains and in the lakes differs from that described in note 8.

On the first golden mountain we have here the peacock, and in the lake the ${ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathbf{d a u}^{-1} \mathbf{p}^{1}$ 'ĕr or white diving bird (Proctopus nigricollis) or grebe. On the second the tiger, and in the lake the white conch. On the third the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{-} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{dta} \cdot{ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{l}$ u a black horse; the mountain on which this horse is figured is called rTa-sna-ri in Tibetan and Ásivakarna or Horse-ear mountain in Sanskrit. On the fourth is the white ox of the gods, and in the lake also an ox which is a mistake, on other ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'i are two conchthe lake the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ha}$. ${ }^{1}$ shi ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{1}$ shi or two golden fishes. On the sixth is the ${ }^{1}$ Khyu- ${ }^{3} \mathrm{gu}$ the wife of the Garuda ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv}-{ }^{-1} \mathrm{p}^{\prime}$ ér ${ }^{1}$ Khyu- ${ }^{3}{ }^{3}$ 'khyu instead of the latter, in the lake is the golden duck. On the last mountain sits ${ }^{2} \mathbf{\sigma}^{1}{ }^{1}$ hăr ${ }^{3}$ tgkye- ${ }^{2}$ bpur the blue cuckoo, but nothing is visible in the lake.

PLATE VIII

PLATE VIII: The city of Mahäsudassana the 33 realms of the gods. Thirty two surround the square with the thirty third, the Palace of Indra in the centre. In ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2}{ }^{2}$ khi manuscripts nothing is mentioned about Indra. The city is simply termed the thirty three realms ( ${ }^{1} \mathbf{d u ̈}=$ lands) of the gods. Below the central building is the elephant with the 33 heads (Erāvana). Of this elephant nothing is mentioned in particular. Above the city is a row of figures; those on the left represent ${ }^{2}$ dto $^{1}{ }^{1}$ mbas holding arrows, in the centre is ${ }^{2}$ Dto. ${ }^{1}$ mba ${ }^{\mathbf{3}}{ }^{3}$ hi- ${ }^{2}$ lo, and to the right two unknown deities.

PLATE IX

PLATE IX: This is the realm of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha} \cdot{ }^{2}{ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}{ }^{2}$ boa- ${ }^{-}$daw ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ndzĕr}$ or the Wish-granting tree. On the top of the tree sits the Garuda devouring a snake. To his left is his wife the ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ddv}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Khyu}-{ }^{3}$ gu, and to his right ${ }^{2} \mathrm{O} .{ }^{1}$ hăr ${ }^{3}$ tgkye- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{bpu}$ the cuckoo which plays a big role in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2}$ khi Bönism. Under the tree on the right is a ${ }^{2}$ bpöo ${ }^{1}$ mba or Amrta vase, and riding a cow (ox?) is ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ ${ }^{2} k$ 'aw- ${ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{3}$ bpŭ or king ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}$ - ${ }^{2}$ k'aw ruler over all creatures having blood. He holds a flag in one hand and in the other a flower. On the extreme left is ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{1}$ shi. ${ }^{1}$ ts' ${ }^{\text {o }}{ }^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{ndzr}$ the golden elephant of Indra, Erāvaṇa. Above it is the celestial ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{3} \mathrm{dta}-{ }^{1} \mathrm{dgyu} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{lu}$, the Indian Uchchaiḥ́ravas the mooncolored horse of fore-knowledge which carries the rider wherever wished throughout the worlds of the past, the present and the future. Between the two, near the trunk is the white cow of the gods, Kämadhenu the Wishgranting cow which yields any drink wished for. Above the tree are two rows of gods whose names are not known.

PLATE X

PLATE X: The realm of ${ }^{9}$ Ts'u $\mathbf{-}^{2}$ ssi ${ }^{3}$ ndaw ${ }^{1}$ ndzĕr the Sword tree in hell. This tree of swords over which the hell-beings are obliged to constantly ascend and descend grows out of the mouth of ${ }^{3}$ Ts'u- ${ }^{2}$ ssī (Makara) the Tibetan the demons. At the foot of the sword tree are two dogs who bite the hellbeings as they are forced to climb and become impaled. They are assisted in this torture by a demon and his demon wife, the latter is depicted on the right, she carries a ${ }^{2}$ ndaw or serrated sickle with which she chops the females are led up the swords. A female awaiting the ordeal is in the wielding an axe. All males are escorted up the tree on his side. Near the top of the tree are two crows attacking the tortured. In the extreme upper right a creature who has passed through the ordeal. On other ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Häa}{ }^{2}$ zhi ${ }^{1}$ p'i a bird called ${ }^{3}$ Shou- ${ }^{2}$ shou- ${ }^{2}$ lo- ${ }^{1}$ na, the ${ }^{3}$ Shou- ${ }^{2}$ shou with the black throat sits on top of the tree. The section above shows demons torturing a hunter who is also attacked by the wild animals he has killed.

[^0]:    * See Appendix, list of Chinese characters.
    ${ }^{1}$ See: Bibliography; for History and Geography see: ANKSWC.
    - The 'Boa are the Hei-fan of the Chinese, the latter term howevor embracea many diatinct tribe with a language of their own but no written cheracter.
    - See: Tu-shih Fang-yü chi-yao [16] chapt. 117. fol. 19b.

    4 See NNCRC, p. 142, note 137, Plate 58.

    - See ANKSWC, p. 471.

[^1]:    - ${ }^{2}$ Nda- ${ }^{1}$ pa is the name whereby the Yung-ning Mo-so designate their sorcerers. They number is very small. All is chanted from memory for they have no written language. They

[^2]:    ${ }^{1}$ For deacription and figure of ${ }^{1}$ Dau- ${ }^{2} g k a w-1$ lä see $l$ l. c., pp. 63-69, Plate A.

[^3]:    17 This animal was considered the mother of all the animals domostic and wild and in

    ${ }^{18}$ The ${ }^{2} \mathrm{Gko}^{1}$ shwua ${ }^{4} \mathrm{yu}^{1}{ }^{1} \mathrm{dzin}^{-1} \mathrm{~b}$ aw is a name for several small-leaved species of Rhodo. dendron like Rh. litangense, Rh. palludosum, etc., they are low shrubs from the ${ }^{\text {g gko. }}{ }^{1}$ ghwua shepherd, ${ }^{4} y u-{ }^{1} d z i=$ is the name of the plant, and ${ }^{1}$ baw is flower.
    ${ }^{10}$ This animal does not occur in the region in which the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ now dwell, it is the very large horn sheep of the rocky region of the T'ien Shan and Amnye Machhen; it is the ${ }^{\mathbf{s}}$ Gkyi- ${ }^{2}$ yu with horns sweeping (the ground).
    ${ }^{20}$ See note 17. It is mentioned as having been killed; see the previous page.
    ${ }^{21}{ }^{2} \mathrm{Bi}$ - ${ }^{1}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ pèr is the upper detachable part of the ${ }^{3}$ Mùn- ${ }^{1}$ t' $u$, see figure 1 , thia part
     ${ }^{s}$ diung has been chanted. Tied to the staff are strips of five different colored cloths, a small bat made of copper and a small conch. The word ${ }^{2} b i$ means to fly and ${ }^{1}$ boa- ${ }^{1}$ p'èr refers to the bat which is known in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} \mathrm{khi}$ literature as ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Ha}-{ }^{\mathbf{2}} \mathrm{yi} \cdot{ }^{2} \mathrm{dzi}-{ }^{1}$ boa- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{p}$ 'ĕr.

[^4]:    ${ }^{1}$ In the spring months food is scarce in ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-\mathrm{m}$ ki land as nothing is being harvested, and the crops of the previous year have already been eaten; landholdings are amall and the fields of ten very rocky and not very productive. It happens sometimes that the grain saved for planting is being consumed, or children are sent out to search for young fronds of the Bracken fern to sustain life. See NNCRC, p. 651, note 947.
    ${ }^{2}$ This is an honorific term for a man or boy.
    ${ }^{3}$ The ${ }^{2}$ to- ${ }^{1}$ p'ĕr is the large pine of the Yünnen uplands, Pinus armandi. Its seeds are roasted and eaten. See also NNCRC, p. 241, note 433.

    4The ${ }^{1}$ Ndsherr- ${ }^{2} g k v$ is the main shaft of the ${ }^{1} \mathrm{~N}_{\mathrm{a}}-{ }^{2} k h i$ plow. For detailed description of the ${ }^{\mathbf{1}} \mathrm{Na}-\mathbf{2}^{2} \mathrm{ki}$ plow and the names for all its various parts, see $\mathrm{N} N \mathrm{CRC}, \mathrm{p} .445$, note 774.
    ${ }^{5}$ See l.c., p. 206, note 353, it is Populus tibeticus.
    ${ }^{0}$ The ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Nyi}$ - ${ }^{2}$ ěrh better known as ${ }^{3}$ Gko- ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{3}$ mùn- ${ }^{2}$ nyi- ${ }^{1}$ ěrh, a strong vine Clematis montana; the plant when winding around trees forms sometimes natural, almost complete, loopes, these the ${ }^{7}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{\mathbf{8}} \mathrm{khi}$ cut and use to hook the plow to the yoke, the loop is called ${ }^{2}$ yi- ${ }^{3}$ dshi. Now-a-days the loop is cut from another vine called ${ }^{\mathbf{2}}$ tasan- ${ }^{2} \mathrm{yi}^{\mathbf{3}} \mathrm{B}^{\mathrm{dsh}}=$ Holboellia fargesii.
    ${ }^{8}$ The lead rope is made from the small canebrake Arundinaria faberi which is very conmon in the spruce forest and clearings; it is fastened to a ring in the perforated nose

[^5]:    1 This is written thus: The head of a horse with aaddle below and the symbol ${ }^{3} p$ ' $u=$ to throw off, to divest. Then the ox head and the yoke plus ${ }^{3} p$ 'u of the same meaning.

    ${ }^{2}$ This is called ${ }^{1}{ }^{1}{ }^{\prime}{ }^{-3}{ }^{3} \mathrm{khyu}$, see $N N C R C$, p. 199, note 303.
    ${ }^{3}$ This is a female mythical animal and is said to be the mother of all domestic and wild animals. However I believe the ${ }^{2}$ dto ${ }^{-1} \mathrm{mba}$ who read this passage with me may be mistaken, the symbol should here perhaps read ${ }^{1}$ gyi- ${ }^{2}$ ghügh $=$ water buffalo, as the horns are not curved

[^6]:    " A pocket of musk coming from the musk-deer which is common in the mountains of ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}-{ }^{2} k h i$ land. The ${ }^{1} \mathrm{Na}^{2} k h i$ call the deer ${ }^{2}{ }^{2}$ lä, and its musk pocket ${ }^{3} \mathrm{Lä}-{ }^{2}$ gkv.
     ceremony is performed.
    ${ }^{5}{ }^{1} \mathrm{Zhi}-{ }^{2}$ ghügh $\cdot{ }^{2}$ mùen $\cdot{ }^{3}$ dsu- ${ }^{1} \mathrm{y}$ v is the name of the cremation ground. Apparently three large stones were used on whidh the body was placed, not like in the north were brick ovens are specially built for each cremation.

